Phillips, our school teacher, has returned, after spending the holidays under the parental roof at Bancroft.

Fifty—Is the measure of the next decade to be mine?
Twenty—Yes, all of it.

DESERONTO.

The Xmas Tree and entertainment at St. Mark's, Deseronto, on Dec. 28th (Innocent's Day), was a great success, and thoroughly enjoyed by the children, who with their teachers, voted to go on with the programme in spite of the rough weather. The Infant Class went through their drill well, and Miss Madge Dale sang a very good song, being perfectly at ease. Mrs. Archie Thompson's piano accompanied by Mrs. Harold W[illegible] gave two good numbers, "Holy Night" Peaceful Night," and "The Sweet Little Dolls". A dialogue, given by the elder girls and boys, "The Unexpected Visitors", in which they were coached by Miss Flossie Hall and Mrs. Dale, produced great merriment. The Dumb Bell drill by the elder boys was performed with ease and precision, thanks to the training of Thomas Hetherington, but the outstanding feature on the programme was undoubtedly "The Rent Drill", given in costume by twelve young girls, in splendid style, directed by Miss Flossie Hall, and accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Dale, who gave unlimited proof of her ability and time during [illegible] Watson played the accompaniments for the carols sung by all the Sunday School pupils, with a splendid swing. Mr. Pearce, accompanied by Mrs. Pearce, brought the house down with three splendid songs, and the Rector, Rev. E. Ruddiffe, caught the genial spirit of the evening by singing twice and joining the Astor boys in the Dumb Bell drill. The Rector moved a vote of thanks to all who had made the evening such a success. Mr. William Harvey donated the oranges and candies, and two sleighs were given by the Mayor, Mr. Dalton, which were presented to two young girls, Mary Gaylord and Agnes Thompson, for attending fifty-two times in the year. Mrs. Radcliffe arranged the [illegible] and candy bags so that no child should be overlooked. The following Sunday, every child got a book. Thus Christmastide was a happy and joyful time at St. Mark's and in the Sunday School.

CROYDON.

A large crowd gathered at the school house on Friday evening, Dec. 22nd, to the Christmas Tree entertainment. Great praise should be given the teacher in the way she had the children trained. Proceeds amounted to $17.00.—Miss McGuiness is spending the holidays at her home on Amherst Island.—Miss Elsie Teskey and Messrs. Earle Teskey and James Hughes, of T. C. S., are spending the Christmas holidays under the parental roofs.—Mr. and Mrs. Will Hyland, of Bolleville, with Mr. and Mrs. Will Galbraith for New Years.—Mrs. Hughes, Selby, visited her son, Mr. Albert Hughes, over the holidays.—Mr. and Mrs. Shannon, nee Mary Dwyre, of Rochester, and Mr. Shannon, of Shannonville, were guests of Mrs. Williams last week.—Miss Edna Kring is spending a month with her sisters and brother in Toronto.—Mr. and Mrs. Laughlin Campbell and daughter, Jean, and Mrs. John Armstrong and Miss Bessie Wright and ten and spent Saturday evening the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Close had ten to dinner, spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Teskey.—Miss Theresa Downey, of A. B. Carscallen's store, spent New Years with her father, Mr. Thomas Dewey.—Don't forget our Fright meeting at the church on 7.30 o'clock.

CAMDEN EAST.

The past week has been very cold, with a regular blizzard on Thursday. The snow and high winds filled the roads in places. This week has been quite mild again.—Mrs. Saundercock, of Collins Bay, spent Xmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Youmans, and returned home last week.—Mrs. Martha Switzer spent Xmas holidays with her daughter, Mrs John Hall, and family, at Hoard's House.—Miss Helen Hinch, Toronto, spent Xmas week with her mother and brother, Mrs. Alma Hinch and Arthur, but returned to Toronto on Tuesday last.—Miss Alice Macdonald left for her school at Sharp's Corners on Tuesday last, her first school after going to Kingston Model School.—Mrs. Howard Duckwall, of the Speciality Paper Mills, has returned home, after visiting her mother for the past three months at Winton Place, Cincinatti, Ohio.—Mr. Manna Hartman, of Colbrook East, with Mr. Fred Snider, on Saturday last.—Mr. Clifford Hannah spent Xmas holidays in Madoc with friends.—Mr. and Mrs. John McGarvey entertained a number of their friends to a New Years tea.—Mrs. T. E. Goodwin and son, Arnot, returned to their home in Toronto, on Tuesday last, after spending Xmas week in the village.—Mr. Fred Henderson and family, Newburgh Road, spent New Years with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Henderson.—Rev. Mr. Nickle, of Newburgh, is holding special prayer meetings in the Methodist Church here this week at 7 o'clock.

Mail Orders promptly filled at Wallace's Drug Store, Napanee.

Teacher—Who can name one important thing we have now that we did not have one hundred years ago?
Tommy—Me.

ALEX. MacGREGOR

Who, on Monday last, was elected Mayor of Napanee. After a very successful career as manager, he removed to Napanee from Madoc and purchased the McIntosh [illegible] business he has since [illegible] on here for the [illegible] MacGregor has [illegible] Will, no doubt, fill [illegible] with credit to [illegible] town.

CHAS. W. HAMBLY

Who, on Monday last, was elected Reeve of Napanee. Mr. Hambly has had several years' experience in municipal affairs in the native township, Fredericksburgh, and has also been Warden of the County. He is a [illegible] and [illegible] man and ought to [illegible] well as Reeve of Napanee. He will be an excellent representative at the County Council.

THE ELECTION RETURNS

The municipal election held in Napanee on Monday furnished some surprises, the most pronounced one being the decisive defeat of Reeve A. E. Paul. Mr. MacGregor defeated Councillor Ming for Mayor, after a close battle. Councillors Perry and Tustin still hold the confidence of the electors, being the leading vote-getters for members of the Council. The by-law to give a fixed rate of assessment to the Farmers' Dairy carried by a substantial majority.

The Reeves who sought re-election in Bath, Ernestown, South Fredericksburgh, Richmond and Napanee were all defeated, giving strong evidence that the electors of Lennox and Addington were desirous of a change of government.

Following are the returns:—

"I Was Run Down"

"Body was completely covered with Boils"

"If you have ever had boils, you know how painful and annoying even one or two can be. But imagine having your whole body almost entirely covered with them! I am a watchmaker by trade, making a specialty of repairing the highest grade movements. This is probably the most trying of any mechanical work, particularly for a person with poor eyesight like me. Working under great strain both day and night for three months, brought me almost to a state of collapse. I was so irritable and nervous that the slightest thing would 'send me up in the air.' If I managed to get a few hours of sleep at night I was lucky. I had no appetite for food. In fact my condition was miserable. During this time boils began to appear on different parts of my body and the pain from them made life a misery. My suffering was so great at times that I felt there was nothing left for me to do but end it all. I consulted doctors but they all told me that if I didn't give up my work and live out of doors, I would quickly reach the limit. As I had no money I couldn't do that. In fact, paying for pills and buying medicines I used up all the money I made. Finally in desperation, I decided that I would either kill or cure myself, so I began to study my case. I realized that I was accomplishing nothing as any one could possibly be with a bad case of nerves. What I needed was building up. After reading descriptions of different preparations, the one which appeared to be the best for me was Carnol. It has simply performed miracles for me. Four bottles have done more than months of travel abroad. I feel like a two-year old. I sleep eight hours every night and eat three good meals a day. My skin is like a baby's, free from blemishes of any kind and I have now almost forgotten that I have ever had such things as nerves. I want everybody who is ailing to know about Carnol, because I have such faith in it I believe it will cure any human ill."

Mr. J. H. Mc. C.

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 14c2

FINISH THE BIRDS BEFORE MARKETING.

(Experimental Farms Note).

At no time does it pay to market poultry in an unfinished condition, and this year, when the prices offered are unusually low, this applies more than ever.

With the low prices thin birds will not bring enough to pay for the trouble of handling, to say nothing of the cost of feed. In some cases there will be no sale for them at any price. Well finished birds are the only kind for which there will be a demand this fall, so if it is only for the sake of being able to sell, make sure that the birds are well fatted, and in prime condition.

Even if there was a ready market for all kinds of birds, as has been the case for several years, the fact remains that one can produce a fat bird at less cost per lb. than he can produce a thin bird. In other words the "finishing" is, for the farmer, the cheapest part in the production of the bird, and if both fat and thin birds sell for the same price (which is not the case) it would still pay to "flesh up".

Experiments on crate fattening conducted by the Poultry Division, Experimental Farm, Ottawa, furnish the following data. (See Report of Poultry Division, 1921). Sixty cockerels were put into feeding crates and fed for three weeks; these birds were weighed when put in and averaged nearly 4½ lbs. each, or 268 lbs. in all. They were fed five different mixtures (in order to determine the best composed of mash mixed with buttermilk, at the rate of 1 lb. of the mash to 2 lbs. of the milk. They ate 339 lbs. of the meal and doubled that amount of buttermilk, at a cost of $10.72 [illegible] five weighed 117 lbs. [illegible] ed [illegible] birds when killed [illegible] lbs. per lb. or a total of $87.00. With the cost of feed deducted there was an actual gain of $36.64. It took a trifle over 5 lbs. of the dry meal to make 1 lb. of gain in flesh, and of the five rations used the best results were secured from a mixture of equal parts finely ground oats, shorts removed, corn meal, and ground buckwheat, moistened with double the amount of milk. In this feed the cost of 1 lb. gain was 6.2 cents and the average gain per bird in the three weeks was 2.5 lbs.

These figures show that it pays to crate feed. A feed cost of 5.5c. made 1 lb. worth of flesh and the finishing increased the value of the birds [illegible] from a 15c. per lb. quality to a 25c. per lb. quality.

Turkish Hymn of Hate

An American writer brings to the attention of his fellow-countrymen a "Turkish Hymn of Hate," which was sent by a trustworthy American in Constantinople as a correct translation of a leading article that was published in the Peyam Sabah on January 26 of this year. The Peyam Sabah is, perhaps, the best known of the Nationalist newspapers published in Angora. Published in a city where strictest censorship is maintained, permission for its publication gives to it an official character. It was printed over the signature of Aka Gloundouz, who is one of the present Nationalist leaders, and was one of the sixty-seven leaders of the Young Turk Party, who were taken to Malta by the British in the spring of 1919 and were released the following year. The article is an important one, because many have pictured the new regime at Angora as a liberal regime, filled with a desire to let bygones be bygones, and with a desire to enter into the League of Nations on the new basis of international fraternity.

In connection with this evidence of violent hatred, it seems worth while to point out that the unwillingness of the American Government to enter into diplomatic relations with King Constantine, for from being an attitude of hostility, is really taking sides with the Turks on Angora against the Greeks, whose gains into Asia Minor have been made in association with the Allied powers as part of the peace settlement. It played a part in the fact that the King, for which he was deposed, overwhelmingly showed a preference, happened to be the brother-in-law of former Emperor William, nor by the fact that his neutrality was doubted during the war, even by an ally. Greece is united in its actual policy. Venizelos, and all the other Greek elements are in favor of America resuming immediately the diplomatic relations with Greece and such resumption of diplomatic relations is the natural thing, and American unwillingness to take this step is interested in Europe and in the Near East as an attitude of friendliness toward the Turks and an attitude of enmity to Venizelos and Hals shows of the wishes of the Greeks. It must not be overlooked that every effort is being made by the French and by the Italians to depress the power of the Greeks in the Eastern Mediterranean, to that the present American policy, very definitely favors the Turks and the Italians as against the Greeks.

The natural thing for the United States to enter into diplomatic relations with Constantine. He thinks it is safe to say, moreover, that every clear-cut American interests in the Near East would be benefited in the speediest removal of the existing and the speediest return to the normal. In this return the resumption of diplomatic relations with Greece would be an important factor. It is considerations of this sort which give an American significance to the state of mind shown by this "Hymn of Hate" to prevail at least among certain individuals in the Turkish Nationalist group at Angora. When it came to my knowledge that celebrations were being organized in honor of those who were by the victories of In-Onou, the strangest feelings came over me. I do not know what reason to ascribe to these feelings to, but the very same sort of feeling had come over me on another occasion—on my return from Malta—when everybody asked me, 'What have you seen? What do you think?' To this only I can tell you, that, from what I have seen at Malta, from what I have heard at In-Onou, from what I have felt at Sakaria, one thing stood out definite, verbatim [illegible] ...ptive like a ...rrans, empty [illegible] ...ike ...ans, and, soft, whisp light, even ...ician gas or electricity, has been ...ted by the U. S. Government and 32 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent. air and 6 per cent. common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, F. N. Johnson, 246 Craig St. W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month. 1&3

THE FEEDING OF LAMBS

How to Raise Sheep From Day of Birth.

Mother's Milk the Best Food—When and How to Feed Grain—Cause for Failure With Lambs—Reasons for Success.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Mother's milk is the first and best food for lambs. If this is not available, then the milk of goats or cows may be used. If the ewe or mother sheep has been well fed on oats, bran, clover and few roots for at least 4 months before the birth of the lamb, there is little likelihood of a milk shortage for one lamb. Lambs that have unkind mothers usually need some assistance to obtain nourishment. The mother sheep can be held by hand or tied with a halter while the lamb nurses. This is usually not necessary for more than two or three days. The transfer of lambs from one ewe to another can be made at birth or while the lamb is still very young by footing the ewe, who by the way depends largely on the sense of smell to identify her offspring. Should a ewe have but one lamb, a day old, and it is desired to have her feed a second one, rub the two lambs together until they have the same smell and then test the ewe's ability to identify. If a ewe loses her lamb and it is desired to have her adopt and feed another one, such can be done by removing the skin from the dead lamb and placing such on the back of the lamb that it is desired she should adopt. This must, of course, be done in a comparatively short time, but cutting a slit in each corner of the pelt through which the legs of the living lamb may be passed, it is easy to keep the skin in place for a few days. Twin lambs frequently do not get sufficient milk for best development, one usually is stronger, lamb will get more than its share. Close attention is necessary to make such adjustment as will insure the lambs getting a fair share. When lambs are not getting all the milk that they need from their mothers, provision should be made to supplement such by feeding the lambs "to drink cows' milk from bottle or pan.

Grain Feeding.

When the lambs are two or three weeks old they will start nibbling at grain, hay or grass. At this time, they should be encouraged to feed by way of placing choice bits of feed and grain in a small feed trough where they can reach it without being disturbed by the older sheep. Bran, ground oats, cracked corn and chopped grain are very desirable concentrates for lambs. Fresh water and salt should always be available in the pens, yards or pasture. The amount of grain to feed will depend largely upon the use that it is desired to make of the lambs. Lambs for the "hot house lamb" trade require the most grain feeding, while those for breeding, or ordinary markets should be limited within the bounds of profitable feeding. With lambs for exhibition, costs are sometimes of secondary importance, and the grain feeding is more liberal than it is with the lambs of the breeding or market type. Lambs that are grain fed from the beginning will reach market weight six or eight weeks earlier than those not receiving grain until the commencement of the fattening period. When grain feeding is too liberal either before or after weaning, the lambs will depend upon the grain feeds, and not eat as much grass or other roughage as is in keeping with profitable feeding. The amount of grain to feed must be determined by the age of the lamb, the purpose for which it is being reared, and the coarse feeds available. Grain feeding from the time that the lambs begin to feed is a profitable practice if the amount of grain fed per day does not reduce the lamb's appetite for grass and other coarse feeds. During the fattening period, the quantity of grain fed per lamb should generally not exceed one and a half pounds per day if the feeding is to be profitable. Good pasture, oats, clover, or rape should be supplied liberally to all lambs intended for the secondary market or breeding. With hot house lambs, the coarse food is limited, grains and milk are largely depended on for rapid gain.

Causes of Failure In Lamb Feeding.

1. Ewes not properly fed during pregnancy or after.
2. No supplementary feeds for the lambs.
3. Failure to properly dock and alter lambs.
4. No provisions against failure of pasture.
5. No protection from other stock.
6. Pastures infested with eggs or larvae of stomach worm.
7. Failure to dip and destroy ticks and lice.
8. Failure to clip wool from inner thighs and udder.
9. Using poor scrub stock.

Reasons for Success.

1. Proper care and liberal feeding to ewe and lamb.
2. Supplementary feeding ample.
3. Wool removed from vicinity of udder.
4. Ticks destroyed or prevented.
5. Using good vigorous stock of desirable type.
6. Ample supply of green forage.
7. Pastures and yards kept free of eggs or larvae of stomach worms injurious to sheep and lambs.
8. Protection provided against fly nuisance.
9. Docking and altering performed at proper time.—L. Stevenson, Sec., Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto.

Cupid Turned Eyes Away From These Celebrities Fated to be ...

Probably no man of fame has gone to a bachelor grave without one or more narrow escapes from cupid's darts, however indifferently he may have professed to regard love.

Even Alexander Pope, with all his grotesque deformity, was as valiant-able as any Adonis of his day. He lost his heart a dozen times to as many women, from Martha Blount, his boyhood's sweetheart, to Lady Mary Wortley Montagne, who refused to him on one occasion as "a great baboon." And it is said that one of his lady loves killed herself when her guardians at her abroad to curb her of her infatuation.

David Hume, the Scotch philosopher, one, and only one, effer of marriage, and resigned himself to a life of bachelordom when his offer was rejected.

Gibbon, the author of the "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," would have found happiness with Susanna Curchod, a lovely and gifted Swiss girl, if his autocratic father had not frowned on the match. And Rockin, author of "The History of Civilization," might have married her self-sacrifice. And Horace Walpole's affection was distributed among so many fair women, from Lady Ossory to the charming and talented Berry sisters, that he could never make up his mind to a definite choice of a wife.

The heart of the great American story-writer, Washington Irving, was buried in the grave of the beautiful girl to whom he had given it, when consumption took her from him in her seventeenth year.

"She died in the beauty of her youth," he wrote, "and in my memory she will ever be young and beautiful."

Sidelights on Dickens.

Included in the recent sale of the library of the late Baroness Burdett-Coutts was a series of 600 letters from Charles Dickens, nearly all addressed to the baroness. The correspondence makes a most entrancing book. Dickens, nearly all addressed to the baroness. The correspondence makes a most entrancing book. Dickens, nearly all addressed to the baroness. The correspondence makes a most entrancing book. I feel Dickens. One letter states: "I have just finished 'Copperfield,' and don't know whether to laugh or cry." Another tells the bareness that he has worked hard at "Household Words." And from one dated Brighton to pursue 'Copperfield' in peace." In January, 1841, Dickens is found addressing Miss Burdett-Coutts on the current number of "Master Humphrey's Clock." "I am sure," he says, "possibly desire to know what the next one contained without waiting seven days." Dickens made "bold to send the two next numbers together, beseeching you to withhold this naughty request." Before the world." The great novelist's state of restlessness and general dissatisfaction finds culminative a new book are mentioned in two letters written from Genoa to Forster. Before he began "Little Dorrit." He wrote "I am in a state of restlessness impossible to describe—impossible to be imagined. I sit down of a morning, with all kinds of notes for my new book (for which I think I have a capital name)—resolve to begin—get up and go out and walk a dozen miles—sit down again—next morning get up, and go down a railroad—come back again and register a vow to go out of town instantly." Two days later he added: "Restlessness worse and worse. Don't know what to do with myself. Wish I had a balloon."

IN MEMORIAM.

In sweet and loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Harriet Bradley, who died January 5th, 1919.

There is someone who misses you sadly,
In vain and need, for years long since you went,
There is someone who thinks of you daily,
And tries to be brave and content.
And I shed a tear that is silent,
For such a sight of comfort,
You were mine, mother,
You can rest in peace, no one can tell
My sad and bitter grief.
To carry on as you hoped me to,
Is every day's endeavor.

Daughter Ivadell.

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of our darling mother, Mrs. Harriet Bradley, who died January 5th, 1919.

Sadly missed by daughter, Ida.

OBITUARY.

MRS. ELIZABETH HUNTER.

The life of one of our old identity came to an end on Thursday morning last, when Mrs. Elizabeth Hunter, of Tweed, died at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. Wm. Hall, Napanee. Deceased was born in Carlisle, England, in Feb. 1842, and was therefore in her 81st year. Mrs. Hunter was married to Mr. Thomas Hunter, of Tweed, 57 years ago, and for a number of years after the marriage resided in Kingston. Mr. Hunter died about 25 years ago, and for a number of years Mrs. Hunter resided in Kingston, Odessa (Old Creek), Deseronto, Tweed, Napanee and Napanee. Of late years she has been living with her son-in-law, Mr. Wm. Hall, Napanee. Deceased was a splendid woman, and was highly respected by all who knew her. She was a member of the Methodist church, and was a consistent christian. Besides her son-in-law, Mr. Wm. Hall, she leaves to mourn her loss one son, Mr. Thomas Hunter, Napanee, and one daughter, Mrs. Wm. Hall, Napanee. The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon, to Tweed cemetery, where interment was made. Rev. Mr. Hicks conducted the service at the house and grave.

AFTERNOON TEA.

It Is an English Habit That Has Many Good Points.

After extolling the virtues of English "afternoon tea" in settling strikes, peace conferences and so forth, Miss Muriel Harris, writing in the North American Review, gives it a touch of romance.

In the life of every country there are certain illuminating moments in the day," says Miss Harris. "To Frenchman gives with mellowness and joy in living. The American thrills by doing something different. The German expands under the influence of supper with ham sandwiches. The Englishman's love of formalism makes tea a regular institution, and then proceeds to remove any suggestion of regularity about it, except its every-day existence.

No! does that apply to any particular class. The cottage tea, with its big loaf and its thick black liquor, is just as much of an institution as is the cathedral tea, with a delicate blend from China and thin bread and butter. There is the same warmth and generous feeling about it as in the existence of the famine relief and the pungent smell of its burning and the glow of its flames against the blue mist of the darkening afternoon.

Now it is a gathering in an old London house, on the subject of Shakespeare for the Bankman's tocsin will survive. And the guests come at any time, and there is no guest of honor, though affairs of state may be settled, or a play produced, or some body's appointment, or a travelling or retirement from a business position, or a writer may have his first book published. It is definitely a tea party in the old provincial or cathedral town. And the guests come in their good pearls, and proud of their antique shops about it, because the things have become them, they accumulated them, and have been times a ton may be found, though it is not always easily so. And it can be persuaded to rest, and then there is all the scope to talk of afterwards, and if it is very good indeed, to hear something from the great world, and perhaps to hear that Mr. So-and-So is writing his bibliography. And the atmosphere is warm and friendly, and quite inexpensive, and the women are dressed whatever for that, and it is few days it all begins again, only the cream is home and the cream-and-silver and the Chippendale tray are in a different house, and the cake is from Miss Jones

LENS.

Our school has reopened after the Christmas holidays, with Miss File still at the helm.—We hear some old timers complaining that times are dull this season owing to no municipal elections, still it is all for the best, and the people seem to be satisfied with the present Council.—Mrs. Caine Odernedy intends leaving soon for her home near Chatham, after spending a couple of months with her brother, Mrs. Wilson Hyland.—Our Christmas Tree in the school house was a decided success. Miss File deserves credit for having such a splendid program. The recitations, dialogues and plays were of the first variety; one drill of twelve little girls, in uniform, was in itself a masterpiece.—Mr. Clement Ellis is spending a few weeks the guest of Mr. Jas. Reid.—Will Hyland and wife spent Christmas at his father's, Mr. Wilson Hyland. — The Misses Pearl and Alvia King called on Mrs. Allen King, on Wednesday last, and in the evening took tea with Mrs. Johnson Hannah.—Mr. and Mrs. Adam Fingland spent Christmas with R. J. Wilson.—Geo. Hyland and Alex. Osbourn spent one evening last week with Alfred Reid.—Mr. Fred Reid is putting up a large poultry house for Allen King, his tenant.—Quite a number from here took in the teameeting at Centreville on New Years night, and report a splendid time. — Mr. John H. Wilson is talking of going West in the spring.

TAMWORTH.

Mr. Wolfe, of Philadelphia, spent Xmas with his wife at the home of A. B. Carscallen.—Frank Wormwood, of Arden, with his two granddaughters, spent Xmas with his sister, Mrs. Ellen McKee.—Miss Marie Milligan died on Wednesday morning.—Mr. Thrasher and family and Miss Rose returned from their Xmas holidays. The social dance given in the Town Hall on Tuesday night, was well attended by old and young. The social was given in honor of Stanley Haggerty and bride.—The heavy storm of Wednesday has stopped all traffic. — Business quiet.

Masons Honor Prince of Wales

Not the least of the honors which awaited the Prince of Wales on his return to England was a Masonic function at Albert Hall, London, where in the presence of thousands of the leading Masons of the United Kingdom, he was made Senior Grand Warden by his uncle, the Duke of Connaught, the present Grand Master of English Freemasons. The Prince of Wales was made a Mason three years ago as a member of the Household Brigade Lodge, which is composed of the five regiments of Foot Guards, namely, the Scots, the Grenadiers, the Welsh, the Coldstreams and the Irish Guards, and the three regiments of Household Cavalry, namely, the Horse Guards and the First and Second Life Guards. It is understood that the prince joined the order at his own earnest request, and that he is keenly interested in Masonry. His father, the King, on the other hand, never associated himself with the order, being one of the two princes of England to take this stand since Frederick, father of George III., joined the order in 1737.

It is true that Prince Frederick joined the Masons through no particular admiration for Lords, but because he knew that by doing so he would annoy his parents, with whom he was at the time quarrelling, and who believed that the Masons were an anti-monarchical organization. Prince Alfred, Duke of Edinburgh, the elder brother of King Edward, who was Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, was for a time an adult member of the reigning house of Great Britain who declined to become a Mason. He is said to have given as an excuse the fact that he was afraid so often that he could not conscientiously become a member of an organization that contemplated frequent meetings at lodge rooms ashore. King George is said to have pleaded the same disability when as a prince his friends suggested that he should become a Mason.

The late King Edward, when Prince of Wales, became Grand Master of the Craft upon the resignation of the Marquis of Ripon, who had turned Roman Catholic. On his accession to the throne, however, he resigned, and the Duke of Connaught took his place and is now the chief of British Freemasons. The late King Edward was never found enjoyment and congenial companionship in the order, but he also found his position as head of the British Masons one of considerable embarrassment, according to Frederick Cunliffe-Owen, who says that the prince was being constantly appealed to by Masonic organizations in other parts of the world to take action which would improve the lot of other Masons, but such action would have been construed as political, and which, therefore, was impossible for the prince.

Most embarrassing was his position when the British lodges determined to sever relations with the French lodges on the ground that the latter were atheistic, and in the duty of the prince to communicate this decision to the French lodges. Shortly after his accession it became necessary that this edict should be renewed. Now many of the leading public men of France are connected with Masonry, and it was manifestly impossible that the King of England should declare that the English Masons and himself, as a Mason, could have nothing to do with them and could not even permit a Frenchman to visit an English lodge. It was, therefore, thought wise that he should relinquish his position, and it was taken by the Duke of Connaught, who could, with propriety, make communications to the English lodges that would have been impossible to a king.

In the Great War Masonry proved a not more influential than other international organizations in ... ing the catastrophe. The ... Masons proved as loyal as the German Socialists were to the ... struggle. Despite manifold ... hibiting all intercourse with Masons of ... countries, ... Masons in Bel... and Great Britain, ... war was over the Grand ... issued another ukase in ... Masonry as ... was made for a ... reunion with Entente Masonry on a ... basis of perfect equality. Like so many other German proclamations, this one of the German Masons was unfortunately too late, and as a result, has met with no response. The Germans still remain alienated from the Masons, so far as Masonry is concerned. The Germans show no intention of repenting for all the practices of the war which were so alien to the practices of the craft, and until they do so they will probably remain shut out.

Was a Good Ananias.

The new Controller-General of Civil Aviation, Major-Gen. Sir W. A. Brancker, has had a remarkable career as a British pilot.

He joined the Air Force immediately after the war broke out, and soon gained a reputation as a daring pilot. Although he is still well on the right side of 40 he has held most of the important posts in the flying world.

An amusing incident happened to him when he went up to be medically examined for his pilot's certificate.

"This officer," wrote the doctor, "will be a danger to himself and everybody else."

As a matter of fact, the general has never had a "crash" in all the thousands of miles which he has flown.

Fitting the Horse Collar Is An Art

Much trouble results on the average farm each year from sore shoulders on horses caused by the improper fitting of collars, and improper adjustment of hames.

The collar should fit the shoulder so that in length there is just room for the flat of one's hand between the collar and the neck at the bottom. In width the collar should be snugly against the sides of the neck from a point three inches above the shoulder point, to a point about half way up to the top of the neck. The upper one-third to one-half of the collar should be wide enough to allow one to pass the thick of the hand between the collar and the side of the neck. If the upper part of the neck is thick a "Quarter Sweater" or "Half Sweater" collar should be used, so as not to pinch the neck. A collar too wide at the top will produce a sore neck on account of side motion of the collar as the horse walks.

Sweat pads should be avoided as they hold the heat and sweat and produce a tender shoulder, often causing a galled condition.

The hames should be adjusted so as to hold the collar snugly against the sides of the neck, and so as to bring the line of draft right angles to the face of the shoulder as nearly as possible.

The collar should be kept clean by washing with a damp cloth each night when it is removed from the shoulder.

Washing the shoulder each evening with cold salt water will help to toughen the skin and prevent shoulder galls.

WHO FIRST FELT LIKE A FIGHTING COCK?

COCK FIGHTING was a favorite sport with the ancient Britons.

But it is only 50 years ago that the first man felt "like a fighting cock."

Now he has brothers, sisters, parents, friends, everywhere who feel "like a fighting cock!"

It happened this way: A person had a cold with hot stomach, mind and heavy headache, takes Beecham's Pills just before going to bed. Immediately the Pills begin to harmonize the digestive and eliminative organs.

Consequently, this person has a good night's sleep and arises in the morning with clear brain, bright eye, keen appetite and full of energy for work and play.

It is now just 80 years since Beecham's Pills first began correcting disordered stomachs and stirring sluggish livers and bowels to natural activity — and feeling "like a fighting cock" is associated as inseparably with Beecham's Pills, as the pills are with good health.

"THE PRAYING PALM."

This Remarkable Tree is Found in India.

Near Faridpur, in Bengal, India, stands a date-palm, known there as the "praying palm," on account of its extraordinary behavior. In the evening, while the temple bells call to prayer, this tree bows down as if to prostrate itself. It raises its head again in the morning, and this is repeated every day of the year.

The most curious of this palm tree is that it was studied and reported on by Sir J. C. Bose, the Hindoo physicist, one of the world's greatest authorities on electricity as applied to animals. This particular date palm is a full grown date tree, its trunk being about 16 inches in girth and 8 inches in diameter.

It must have been discovered by Sir J. C. Bose, and is read at an interruption at about 6o'clock in the morning. Its evening prayer is performed at about 6 o'clock in the afternoon. The time of the day when the tree begins to bow is when the sap is rising in the tree, and when it is falling in the afternoon. The tree's position is then at its lowest point. It is then ready to begin its upward growth.

A difficulty arose in the beginning in obtaining observation of the progress of the tree's movements, but by the use of a [illegible] by Sir J. C. Bose, [illegible]

Victoria and Vancouver, on our own Pacific Coast, offer ideal refuges. Here flowers bloom in winter, and the grass and trees are always green. Southwesterly breezes prevail throughout the year, reaching the land warmed by their passage across the vast breadth of the Pacific, whose waters on this coast have a temperature of 52 degrees.

In Victoria, 19 degrees has been the mean annual temperature for the last thirty years, while Vancouver is a little colder, but extreme in weather are never experienced. Golf and other outdoor sports may be engaged in all winter, while both cities have magnificent natural settings, and hundreds of miles of the finest roads on the continent invite motoring. You have the grandeur of mountain scenery, glorious seas of luxurious evergreen forests and vegetation and air, with all the advantages to be found in a modern metropolis, for Victoria and Vancouver are two of the finest cities in the Dominion.

The mountains en route through the Canadian Rockies are magnificent in their sombre winter grandeur, surpassing Switzerland. The Canadian National Railways passes through the mountains at the lowest altitude and easiest gradients of any transcontinental railway in America.

GIVE THEM A SALT BOX

Pigs and Other Live Stock Require Mineral Food.

Farm Animals Must Have a Body Builder—A Good Mineral Mixture Suggested — Combatting Field Mice.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The feeds that we give our young animals are the body building materials, and are just as necessary to the young pig, calf, or colt as are the bricks and boards to the carpenter engaged in building a house. House building and body-building are alike in that both depend upon the structural materials furnished. When we see a fine horse we are at once impressed with the evidence that is before us, in good and abundant material supplied the workman. When we see well-grown, fine and sleek calves and pigs we have the same thought—that abundant body-building material has been supplied. On the other hand when we observe a shack built of scrap lumber, or see a calf with its back up, pot-bellied, under size, or a pig crippled and off its feet, we are at once struck with the thought that someone has not supplied the very necessary materials for body building or body-building.

Need of Lime and Phosphorous.

Two materials that are necessary in growth and body building are lime and phosphorous. Lams or animals [illegible] while show no evidence of a shortage of these minerals in their development, since the milk of their dams is adjusted to the mineral requirement of the young. But as soon as the young animals become dependent on the feeds given them by man their case is different, and they are frequently very much neglected. In that a proper selection of feeds is not made for them. A calf or pig that is shut up tight in a pen fed no clover; it is entirely at the mercy of the owner or feeder. Should the feeds supply all the requirement of growth, then all is well and good. If the feeds do not supply the requirements, then development cannot take place. With animals confined in pens the mineral food shortage is usually pronounced, unless some special provision is made to supply such. The effect of its absence is shown in unthrifty, crippled or dwarf animals.

Results of Experiments.

In an experiment recently concluded, where two groups of pigs were being fed the same grain ration, a remarkable difference was noted in one group that received in addition to the grain ration free access to a mineral mixture or salt box containing the following essentials to growth: Lime, bone meal, rock salt, and charcoal. The presence of the salt box in the one pen during the 124 days of the feeding experiment gave an average gain of 122.8 pounds per pig, while the pigs in the pen in which there was no salt box gave an average gain of 65.5 pounds per pig in the 124 days. The presence and use of the salt box was accountable for a gain of 62.5 pounds per pig. If young stock are out on good grass they can generally get what minerals is indicated by the condition of the animal. If the animal does not thrive your giving has been misdirected or stinted.

Watch Your Stock.

Look at the pigs and calves on your farm. Are they "off their feed," "up in the back," "stunted" or "scrubby"? If so, then just take a look at the mirror when nobody is around and see the fellow responsible for the condition. When you see [illegible] yourself as the stingy or "penny-wise" proposition at once go to the workshop and make a mineral-salt box, fill it, and see that the young animals never want for the essential bone and muscle building elements. The pigs and calves will be more apt to thrive, and they will also have a better opinion of you.—L. Stevenson, Sec., Ontario Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto.

Combatting Field Mice.

Traps for field mice can be used only on limited areas. In the case of large tracts, recourse must be had to poisoned grain. One ounce of strychnine dissolved by boiling in a pint of water and an equal quantity of cheap syrup added will poison half a bushel of wheat or corn. Cracked and crushed corn is better for this purpose than the unerushed kernel. This grain should soak in the poisoned liquid several hours and then be allowed to dry. Grass growing about the base of a fruit tree encourages the presence of mice, as does also early mulching. Cover crops such as buckwheat, oats or clover may harbor mice. Snow about fruit trees should be tramped down occasionally to keep mice from working under it. These pests would be less numerous if neighboring swamps and sloughs were drained and thoroughly ploughing and harrowing resorted to in cultivating crops. Hawks and owls, weasels, skunks and foxes destroy large numbers of field mice.

The free use of an effective lime powder is always in order with poultry. A dusthath is very essential in ridding the fowls of lice. White-washing is effective against vermin. Use kerosene on the floors and in the cracks to exterminate mites.

Mustard, cress, radish, lettuce, set onions and spinach are crops that can be grown in a hotbed.

Be sure that the snow is well tramped about the apple and plum trees. This will discourage mice from feeding near them.

BYRON IN GENOA.

English Writers Have Always Liked That Town.

It is interesting, at the present time, to recall that many English writers have associations with Genoa.

"Only last autumn I had pointed out to me," writes W. E. G., in John o' London's Weekly, "with real pride by a Genoese friend the house where Byron lived and where he was joined by Shelley. The latter found death in the blue Mediterranean within sight of the place. Byron delighted in the old palatial city, and the house he occupied bears a great inscription on its front commemorating his residence there. I could not find the house in which Dickens stayed for many months and penned a large part of his 'Pictures from Italy.' He did not care for the place at first, but grew to like it.

He described the cruel methods of bringing down the stone from the mountains and tortures of oxen. Now the quarries are largely in the hands of English firms, light railways bring the ponderous blocks of beautiful marble, and there are great studios in which a colony of highly-trained workers copy the most famous creations of sculptors and supply the world with artistic reproductions of masterpieces of the past.

"They also chisel the memorials for that remarkable Campo Santo which lies behind Genoa. In its way it is the most astonishing burial place in Europe, with its great galleries lined with sculptured figures and compositions in marble. Millions must have been spent in the course of time by the Genoese in this fashion to commemorate their dead. There is a little graveyard close by in which lie the British soldiers who died of wounds or disease in the early days when we sent troops to help Italy in the fight for freedom.

"Another visitor to Genoa was Mark Twain, who called there in the Quaker City, and he describes its bewildering array of palaces and its narrow tunnel-like streets in his 'Innocents Abroad.' Genoa has much changed since those days when Italy was still under the heel of the Austrians and the Popes were temporal rulers. Now Genoa is a singularly attractive place, clean and well kept, and its workers are as well housed as anywhere in Italy, thanks to one great lady. The palaces all remain, and have been added to by a Scot, who has built the fantastic 'Castello Mackenzie' in a commanding position."

Sunspot Illusions.

The recent sunspot which was large enough to be seen with the naked eye rather suggests that the time is approaching when these great solar disturbances will grow in number until what astronomers call the "maximum sunspot period" is gradually reached.

When it does arrive, and the number of naked-eye spots becomes pretty considerable, it is to be hoped that they will not be mistaken by those unacquainted with such things for something of a purely imaginary nature.

In the early days of sunspot observation, for example, many people received quite a shock when, as they thought, they saw in the sun an object resembling a man dressed in a short jacket and hat, with a long staff in his hand and a flag hanging from it over his head.

It was simply a freak spot in the solar disc that they saw, but they took some convincing of its real nature.

Some years previous to that occurrence it was reported in the papers that certain "discerning" people had seen in the sun a fleet of ships—namely, a ship, a brig, and a sloop. The sloop was imagined to be in distress.

The observers were quite satisfied as to the identity of these vessels, and on all hands it was agreed that the only point to be settled was as to how the ships got there.

When the sun in our days becomes very much spotted, it is still found that many of the markings are curiously shaped; but it cannot be said that any of them justify such a stretch of imagination as the preceding account shows.

Defies Naval Regulations.

A well-known English trade paper, the Tailor and Cutter, goes to annually for a criticism of gentlemen's clothes as worn in fashionable pictures hung in the Royal Academy. It has this to say of Admiral Beatty, whose navy reefer it thinks condemns: "Never was such a reefer worn by a sailor; the lapels are turned down in the pit of the stomach." While this is, perhaps, rather strong a condemnation of the famous sailor's coat, it is a fact, it is said, that Lord Beatty does wear it button less than anyone else on his uniform jackets, which are always cut very much lower than the regulation pattern. A naval lieutenant once copied his style—but only once, and the offending garment immediately became second-hand. The admiral's own son and heir, who has also taken up the sea as a profession, once got into naval hot water for wearing his cap with the "Beatty tilt."

The Symptom.

The young man of fashion approached the prospective father-in-law. "I say," he said, "your daughter has promised to marry me, and all that sort of rot. But one has to be careful these days. I'd like to know—just to be sure—is there any insanity in your family?"

"There must be," he said.

A Royal Doll.

Among the collections in Buckingham palace is the favorite doll of Queen Alexandria, given to her by her father. It is a very staid and matronly doll, dressed in quite solid style, and is a perfect legend that the queen cut out every garment herself, and sewed every stitch in them.

Annual Meeting Princess Mary L. O. B. A. No. 155.

There have been many interesting functions held at Moscow, but the first annual meeting of Princess Mary Ladies' Orange Lodge held in the Orange Hall, on Saturday evening, Dec. 2nd, eclipsed anything before attempted.

The Hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion with flags and bunting, while a competent committee on hand to receive the visitors from Centreville and Croydon.

The meeting opened promptly at 7.30, and the first order of business was the tendering a hearty welcome to the sister lodges, which was suitably responded to by their respective officers.

After the general business was concluded, the Worthy Mistress of Royal Lodge, Mrs. S. Deans, was requested to conduct the election of officers, with the following result:—

Lt. W.M., Mrs. Marshall Milsap; W.M., Mrs. C. W. Amey; D.M., Mrs. Jas. Foster; Chaplain, Mrs. LaVerne Huffman; Rec. Sec., Mrs. Garnet H. Huffman; Fin. Sec., Mrs. Cecil King; Treas., Mrs. Henry Reid; First Lect., Mrs. Amil Huffman; Second Lect., Miss Margaret Fring; D. of C., Mrs. Sanford Keech; Inside Guard, Mrs. (Major) Aff. M. Bell; 1st Com., Mrs. James Fisher; 2nd Com., Mrs. John E. Brown; 3rd Com., Mrs. Georgie Huffman; 4th Com., Mrs. R. J. Quinn; 5th Com., Miss Helen Amey; Auditors, Miss Gladys Arcadbine and Miss Lila Bell.

Immediately following the election of officers, a lodge of instruction was conducted by the Officers of the visiting lodges, and the Second Degree fittingly exemplified.

After the closing ceremonies, a complimentary banquet was tendered the visitors, and the social hour was enjoyed by all present.

This progressive lodge was organized on the 24th of March last, and has already a membership roll of 41.

Fascinating Stories.

Two fascinating stories of adventure and romance will commence this month in The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal. "The King's Arrow," by H. A. Cody, takes one back to stirring times in the picturesque days of the Acadians and the United Empire Loyalists. "The Yellow Flower," by Thompson Cross, is a thrilling tale of adventure in the Far East. These two stories alone are worth double the subscription price of The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal for a full year. Subscriptions sent in immediately will catch the opening instalments.

Mayor-Elect MacGregor

The citizens of Napanee have chosen as their Mayor this year one of the town's most active and progressive business men. The new Mayor is a native son of Scotland, and has been a resident of Napanee for the past ten years, where he has built up a prosperous mercantile house. In 1919-20 he was a member of the Council Board, and as chairman of the Street Committee was actively engaged in supervising the construction of a number of excellent streets in the town.

Dr. Ming, his opponent for the Mayoralty, is a worthy citizen of our town, and in defeating him Mayor-elect MacGregor met no mean contender for that office.

The new Mayor has promised efficient organization in the Council along lines that are methodical, systematic and progressive. His record for the coming year will be watched with interest.

These penalties are at the discretion of the referee, who may use his own judgment as to increasing or decreasing same, according to circumstances.

An Onen Letter to the Y. P. of Bay of Quinte Conference

Dear Young People:—

The week of Jan. 8th to 15th, 1923, draws near, and with it the Second Annual Session of the Bay of Quinte Winter School. This fact ought to arrest the attention of every S. S. worker and leader in Y. P.'s work within the bounds of the Conference. The Bay of Quinte Winter School, with all that it means in the way of Instruction, Inspiration and Fellowship, can you afford to miss it? Can you afford not to attend? And if you cannot come personally, can you afford not to send one or more delegates? The more delegates you send, the more benefit will your school or society receive from this Winter School.

Think once avail of what it will mean to your S. S., to your Y. P. S.—the opportunity of receiving instruction, in Bible Study from Rev. Dr. Bell, of Kingston; in Religious Education from Rev. Prof. Maine, of Albert College; in Mission Study from Dr. W. E. Smith and Mrs. Cafley; in Teacher Training from competent leaders; and in the Special Boys' and Girls' work from C. F. Plewman and Miss Winnifred Thomas. And besides this, special demonstration in the work of the Y. P.'s League.

Then don't forget the evening sessions. Monday, with Miss Frances Nickawa; Tuesday, with Cobourg League; Wednesday, with Rev. H. R. Kenney; Thursday, with Port Hope League; Friday, with ourselves, and Saturday, a grand Pageant.

Then on Sunday, Rev. Dr. Bell will preach at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Think on these things! Appoint your delegates, or come yourself. Meet us in Cobourg, Monday, January 8th, in the Methodist Sunday School Hall, and we shall have a profitable time together.

MISS JOY NICHOLS, Registrar.
REV. E. HARSTON, President.
H. A. BUNT, Secretary.

Taking an Inventory and Cleaning Up Shop

THIS week we are busy taking stock, and on our researches we have discovered many shelf-warmers and bargains that will be cleaned out at real sale prices.

Bargains are so numerous, space is so small, that it is out of the question for us to itemize the many snaps we are offering this week.

As is our custom during the month of January, we stage many quick sales during the week. So kindly watch this space next week for smashing and unparalleled bargains.

MAYOR MacGREGOR'S ADDRESS.
Napanee, January 8th, 1923.

Gentlemen,—

We are meeting here to-night to start the work for the Municipality of Napanee for the year 1923. We feel that we have the confidence of the ratepayers, or we would not be elected by their vote. Let me urge you individually to interest yourselves in the work of the Council so that at the end of the year the people will feel that their confidence has not been misplaced.

This morning you were sworn into office and in a Committee of the Whole formed yourselves into several standing committees. Now you are ready for action. Many problems will arise during the year that will require your careful consideration on all committees. The greatest weakness of Councils heretofore was the lack of committee meetings as was stated at the last nomination meeting. I would urge that the chairman of each committee see to it that he calls his committee often in consultation. It is advisable that each chairman study the work of his department thoroughly as it is only thus that the business of the town will be properly handled. You will find work at the end of the year set to yourselves on the Finance Committee.

In respect to the Finances of the town, I think you will find upon making a careful examination that we are really in a first class financial position. We have, it is true, a large debenture debt, amounting to $206,000, which may be roughly divided as follows:—$19,824 is the balance of the Railway bonds debt which is a legacy left over to us by reason of the fact that the original debentures were not sold at par, but were sold from hand through a sinking fund. There is a small Public School debenture of $1637.86, which is the balance of a $3500.00 issue. There are Water Works debentures amounting to $114,218, and Canal debenture of $12,499.15. These are taken care of entirely by the Public Utilities Commission and go through the Corporation books as cross entries. There is also the Dundas Street Paving debenture of $94,356, part of which is taken care of by the property owners as a Local Improvement, and the balance is a general charge upon the rates. The balance of the debenture debt is for sewers and cement walks, and while the amount is large we have the walks and the sewers to show for it. Part of course, of this annual Local Improvement charge is payable by the general rates and the rest through the Local Improvement tax rolls. Speaking, generally, it would appear that we have only to look for dollar in our Public Utilities and our permanent walks and sewers to look for the money represented by our outstanding bonds.

In respect to our indebtedness to the Bank, their account for the total amount due the bank of $15,149, from which we must deduct the arrears of taxes, leaving a net indebtedness to the account of $5654.06. A further sum of $400 due by the County in respect to the grant to "Closed Lane" would leave our net floating debt about $5000.

There is also about $7,500 due the Bank of Montreal as temporary advances on account of the Local Improvement walks and sewers completed last fall. This debt will be taken care of by the issue of a small debenture after the rolls have been finally revised.

The County Rate for last year was $14,200.00. Ten years ago it was $6000, and two decades ago it was $2400; thus showing the increased amounts we are required to pay on account of public services.

Similarly, you will note that while the school rate last year was 15 mills on the dollar, in 1912 it was 8 mills, and 1902 7½ mills.

Our debenture rates, County rate and school rate are uncontrollable, and in fact of the total money that was spent during 1922, only a small portion was controllable. The (road appropriations within the control of the Council are for Streets, Town Property and Poor and Sanitary Committees. Last year the Streets Committee spent over $10,000, and the Town Property Committee $3144. These items will have to be cut down to a minimum. Gentlemen, let us be shoulder to shoulder in curbing all unnecessary expenditure.

Streets.

I would draw the attention of the Streets Committee to the inestimable value of oil. Through the use of this product our streets are in the best shape they were ever in. I would urge that a full summarized report be made of all streets by the Committee in Council as a Whole, if necessary). All ruts and cavities should be filled as early as possible. The purchase of oil should be made at the lowest possible figure and a study of the best way to apply the same on the streets should be considered and rigid economy must be exercised in this department.

Fire, Water and Light.

It should be the duty of the Committee to take a careful inventory of all the appliances in connection with this department, and if any new supplies are necessary the purchase price should be carefully considered. You should have an inspection of the fire alarm system, also the hydrants should be protected from freezing. Some one should be made responsible to the Committee to report the irregularities of street lighting.

Town Property.

This committee should make an inspection of the Town Hall, Library and Disposal Works and report through the chairman the state of the property. The Disposal Works should be systematically inspected too, to prevent defective service. This is a valuable property and needs careful handling.

Market and Police.

I would recommend that you keep a careful watch on the town scales. I would urge the committee to consider whether it would be advisable to lease the market as at present or should some competent person be retained to collect tolls, etc., for the town. The morality of the town is of vital importance. I would urge this committee to do your best to curb all immoral practices, and help make Napanee one of the best towns in the Province of Ontario to live in. The pool-room licenses, etc., are matters for your consideration. You should report to the Council whom you recommend for these licenses.

Printing and By-Laws.

It will be your duty to investigate as to the functioning of all by-laws and see that the same are all in operation. Economy in printing should be exercised and an estimate of each order should be made by the committee.

Poor and Sanitary.

The Board of Health is composed of the Medical Officer of Health, the Mayor and the third member who is appointed by this Council. You will kindly see that this appointment is not overlooked. It is your duty to see that the poor are not suffering for want of fuel or clothing. It is very important that your committee meet often in connection with this department as every case of need should be gone into thoroughly. It would be very helpful and of interest to your committee if you use the Chief of Police in connection with this department. His time is always at your service. Call him up and he will see that you receive all the information that you desire.

In conclusion, I trust the matters to which I have drawn your attention as well as all other matters that may arise from time to time, may receive your earnest and prompt attention. Let our labors in and out of Council be in harmony. This is not a one man's job, nor is the work of each committee solely to devolve on the chairman of that committee. We are all to be active and to work in peace and harmony for the best welfare of our town and for the greatest good of the greatest number of its citizens.

Faithfully yours,
A. MacGREGOR,
Mayor.

Moved by Coun. Burgess, seconded by Coun. Perry, that the Mayor's address be laid on the table for future reference. Carried.

Mayor MacGregor then called upon the chairman of each committee to address the Council.

Councillor Perry, Chairman of Finance, said he had a job ahead of him. There were several accounts left in his hands this morning for him to look into. He had not, as yet, taken any steps to call the committee together, but believed he had a good strong committee and they would be able to handle their department successfully.

Councillor Tustin, Chairman of Streets, thought the Mayor had struck the right chord in his inaugural address when he said that oil was the proper thing to use on our streets. The streets are in A. 1 condition, and he believed their committee could get along this year on about half of last year's appropriation.

Councillor Paul, Chairman of Fire, Water and Light, said his committee would do the best they could to keep down the expenditure.

Councillor Burgess, Chairman of Printing and By-laws, said there was a question as to whether the minutes of the Council should not be printed in book form and distributed before nomination. Matters pertaining to their committee would receive their best attention.

Councillor Hartman, Chairman of Market and Police, congratulated the Mayor on his election. He thought that possibly there could be some economy made by their committee in their appropriation.

Reeve Hambly, Chairman of Town Property, did not know, as yet, a great deal about Town Property. In reference to the Disposal Works he thought it would need a great deal of attention and the committee would do their best.

Councillor Huffman, Chairman of Poor and Sanitary, thought he had a busy job, as he had had three or four after him already that day. With the assistance of the rest of his committee he thought he would get along all right.

BY-LAWS.

The following By-laws were given their several readings, signed, sealed, numbered and finally passed:

Appointing Mayor MacGregor, Reeve Hambly, and Councillors Perry, Paul and Tustin as members of the Court of Revision for the year 1923.

Appointing P. Gleeson as a member of the Board of Education for the current term of three years.

Fixing the assessment of the Town of Napanee on the basis of the assessment made in 1922.

Providing interim appropriations as follows:—Streets, $2,500.00; Fire, Water and Light, $2,500.00; Printing and By-Laws, $300.00; Town Property, $500.00; Poor and Sanitary, $500.00; Market and Police, $1200.00; Contingent, $500.00.

Appointing W. S. Herrington, K.C., as Town Solicitor for the year 1923 at a salary of $100.00.

Appointing S. R. Miller and Wm. McLaughlin as Auditors for the year 1923 at a salary of $30.00 each.

Moved by Reeve Hambly, seconded by Councillor Huffman, that the Finance Committee do confer with ex-Mayor Graham and obtain a report of the Wood Committee for 1922 and report to this Council at its next regular meeting. Carried.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid:—

P. Gleeson	$ 17 00
P. Gleeson	9 00
Napanee Express	88 75
Templeton & Son	59 20
A. Knight	44 00
Geo. Greer	44 00
Department of Highways	19 00
Home of Providence	19 70

Accounts of the Bell Telephone Co., amounting to $12.15, were referred to the Clerk, with power to act.

On motion the Council adjourned.

When coming to town last night at the bridge on Dundas Street, Quebec, a muskrat caught fire. Luckily there was only one passenger besides the driver in the sleigh at the time.

HOCKEY.

Napanee 7, Kingston 6.

'Twas a great game, both from the spectators' standpoint and the good hockey put up by the players of each team. With the game fairly safely tucked away at the end of the second period, the local defence players became over-anxious in the third and with the dashing work of the Kingston forward line, the game came within close quarters of going into overtime.

Kingston scored the first goal on a pretty piece of combination, but did not get another until after the locals had placed two to their credit. The first period ended 2-1, second period 6-3, and third period 7-6, all in favor of Napanee.

The visiting forwards played better combination than the locals through the greater part of the game, but it was little difficulty to get through their defence in the first two periods and the locals took advantage of every opening.

Smith, for Napanee, was perhaps the most effective player on the ice. He had a great night, being ably assisted by Huffman and L. Spencer. Schermerhorn and Loucks, on the defence, showed real class and broke up many a rush that looked dangerous. Babcock, in goal, played his usual good game, but was unfortunate in the first period to get a nasty cut on the face while saving a goal. He came back gamely and finished the game, giving a stellar performance. Sparks Caldwell and Johnston also turned in good games.

Logue, in goal for the visitors, as well as Smythe and Angrove, on the defence, put up good games, but were out-pressed time after time by the local forwards. The Millan boys are speedy and will take a lot of looking after on their return game here next Monday night, as will Mitchell on left wing. Devlin and Dunegan, spares, were used frequently, and gave splendid accounts of themselves.

Kingston—Goal, Logue; defence, Smythe and Angrove; centre, T. Millan; wings, Mitchell and J. Millan; spares, Devlin and Dunegan.

Napanee—Goal, Babcock; defence, Loucks and Schermerhorn; centre, Smith; wings, Huffman and I. Spencer; spares, Caldwell and Johnston.

Referee—F. Brown, Kingston.

SIR ALLAN AYLESWORTH
Former Minister of Justice in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Cabinet, appointed to vacancy in Senate created by the death of Hon. William Proudfoot, K.C.

Sir Allan Aylesworth Is Named as Senator

FORMER MINISTER OF JUSTICE IN LAURIER CABINET RETURNS TO OTTAWA

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—Another notable link between the Laurier regime and the King Administration was forged today with the appointment of Sir Allan Aylesworth, of Toronto, to the vacancy in the Senate caused by the death a few weeks ago of Hon. Wm. Proudfoot, of Goderich. The choice of the Minister of Justice of Sir Wilfrido last Cabinet came as a complete surprise to those outside the Government, his name never having been mentioned in connection with the appointment, even by many of those who are usually on the "inside track".

His Stand on Alaska Boundary.

Sir Allan Aylesworth succeeded Sir Charles Fitzpatrick to the position of Minister of Justice, the latter going to the Supreme Court. Sir Allan became most widely known and respected in the Dominion for the courageous role he played in the Alaska boundary award, and the sharp differences that developed between him and Lord Alverstone and the British delegation at the time. Then, the new Senator had more to do with the framing and passing of the Militia Act of 1904, according to the then Secretary of the Militia, none Sclbalie than the present Governor-General. He took a prominent part in the discussions in the House of Commons which followed, and so frequently had clashes with Sir George Foster, now a colleague in the Senate Chamber.

Will Revive Warm Friendships.

In 1906 ailing health developed, and Sir Allan was compelled to curtail his public activities, and it was finally necessary, in the election of 1911, for the Liberals to contest a seat without his name appearing on the list. He had been taken by the late T. C. Robertson, Mayor of Toronto, to the Toronto Board of Trade luncheon, and it was then decided that for him to be able to renew kindly associations with Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. Geo. Graham, Hon. Frank Oliver, Hon. Messrs. Brodeur and Sevigny, Hon. Chas. Doherty and Senator Dandurand —all old Cabinet colleagues—and also Hon. Chas. Murphy, Secretary of State, and Hon. Jacques Bureau, Postmaster-General, all of whom are still in the Laurier Government, but he held the portfolio scarcely a year, soon he assumed duties more to his liking as Minister of Justice. In 1906 he was Chairman of the special House Committee on the Canadian Election Laws. Sir Allan did not contest a riding in 1911, when Laurier was defeated.

Rapid Rise to Legal Fame.

The new Senator comes of United Empire Loyalist forbears, and was born in Addington County on November 27, 1854. In 1874 he was Prince of Wales prizeman at the University of Toronto. He was called to the bar in 1878, a King's Counsel in 1889, and a Bencher of the Upper Canada Law Society in 1891, indicate briefly his rapid advance in his profession. He appeared on many occasions before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. In 1903 Sir Allan was appointed a member of the Alaska Boundary Tribunal, and was one of those who refused to sign the report of the British representatives on that tribunal before The Hague Tribunal in the fisheries reference, and next year was with Mr. Justice Brodeur at

NEWBURGH

Miss Betty Wright has gone to Toronto for a few weeks.

Mrs. Charlie McKim leaves this week for Detroit, where Mr. McKim has a fine position with the Ford Company.

Mrs. Ed. Haines, of Strathcona, spent the week end with her daughterter, Mrs. Morley Conway.

Baden Switzer and Lorne Lockwood returned last week to Oshawa to resume work.

The many friends of Mrs. Mary Ann Tryan were surprised to hear of her sudden death, which occurred on Dec. 13th, during her visit at Oshawa with her daughter, Mrs. O. L. Woodcock. The deceased was in her 87th year, and retained all her faculties until the time of her death. The remains were brought to Newburgh to her daughter's, Mrs. Wm. Millar, where the funeral service was conducted by the Rev. S. R. Griffith. The remains were placed in the vault to await interment in the spring at Aden. She leaves four daughters, Mrs. D. D. Hardwick, Arden; Mrs. Crozier, Marlbank; Mrs. W. Miller, Newburgh; Mrs. O. L. Woodcock, Oshawa.

Some say strong drink is useful to Paint our face with ruddy hue,
But what we need, though we are
"drys"
To cool our lips and bathe our eyes,
is water.
Tis said there's tongue in every leaf,
A voice in every rill;
But how can stream proclaim itself
A laughing, gurgling, joyous elf, without water.
Industries could not stand in line
To tune a fulsome merry rhyme,
But who may hear their merry clack,
Or who supply the power they lack of water.
We're cleanly, then we're Godly next,
But oh how sadly we're perplexed,
We cannot follow heaven's laws
Or rules of hygiene, just because, no water.
The chickens widely gape their bill,
The pigs are squealing for their swill,
The lilies moss forth a sad appeal,
The horse neighs out his clarion squeal, for water.
Cisterns and wells are running low,
There's nothing left to damp the dough,
Maria needs for pumpkin pie,
But while she hearts it weary sighs,
for water.
My thirst I verily must slake,
Or I'll be me dearly loved Quebec,
For I'ers some things I shall not need
The Chinese Chiveline or Warlike deed, or water.

BY-LAW DEFEATED.

The result of the vote on the by-law fixing the assessment of the Farmers' Dairy Company, Limited, submitted to the electors and voted upon on January 1st, 1923, was as follows:—

The Votes for the By-law were.. 375
The Votes against the By-law were 299

Making a total vote in all of..... 674

Under section 278, sub-section 2 of the Consolidated Municipal Act, 1922, being chapter 72, 12-13 Geo. V, no by-law granting a bonus in aid of a manufacturing industry requires the affirmative vote of three-fifths of all members of the Council and the assent of two-thirds of the electors who vote on the by-law shall also be necessary. Two-thirds of the vote cast would be 450, but as the affirmative vote was only 375, the By-law did not carry with the necessary majority required by the provisions of the Statute hereinbefore referred to.

The Washington conference on fisheries following The Hague Tribunal award. It was as a reward for his work at The Hague that he received the K.C.M.G.

A Staunch Reformer.

Morgan's "Canadian Men and Women of the Time" has the reference to Sir Allan: "Born a Reformer and has remained one; a farmer's son, and himself worked on the family farm till he was 21; is opposed to the present pension system to public servants and Ministers of the Crown; would regard favorably the creation of an Appellate Court for the whole Empire, so that Canada would be as much of the Empire in this respect as Yorkshire or Wales."

Sir Allan is a familiar figure in downtown Toronto, but possibly a more familiar figure is one of the front-row seats at the Island ball park when the Leafs are on their way to a pennant. Next to baseball, his latest hobby is golf.

It is said, that when Premier Meighen is in Sir Allan is a brother of Mr. Geo. Aylesworth, Newburgh, and son of the late J. S. Aylesworth, and Belleville 9, Napanee 4.

Thirty-fourth Battery won from Napanee on the Belleville Arena ice Friday night by 9 to 4, in the second home game in the newly-formed Bay of Quinte League. A good-sized crowd of fans followed the game and rooted for the gunners.

The artillerymen proved too strong an organization for the easterners to conquer. The opening minutes of the fray was indicative of what the crowd had to expect, as within a short time of the start there had been two goals netted for the home team. But as for speed both teams had plenty of that for the start was quite as fast as any match seen here in a long time.

The 34th forwards proved that they were able to penetrate the Napanee defence with considerable ease on the start. The backchecking of Belleville's advance line left the visitors little breathing space while the puck roamed about their net. The Napanee goaler did not clear very well at times and the defence men were outmanoeuvred. Four minutes of play sent the puck into the Napanee cartridge when Ted Whelan scored from a rebound off a shot by Daw Whelan. Sammy Symons netted the second goal for Belleville by a long shot from the left, when one of the defence men got in the way of the rubber. Finkle, Canning and Daw Whelan kept pouring at the net, and finally Canning, after eleven minutes of play, reached the net, after Napanee had made their initial score three minutes previously. A few minutes later another was scored for the militiamen.

The second period proved fruitless for Napanee, but three goals were scored for the 34th. This period was outstanding except that Belleville was the aggressor throughout.

The final frame sent on the total scores by five score, the visitors making three and the home boys two, shortly after the start of the period the score stood eight to one, but in a few minutes Napanee had scored the first of their trio. The visitors worked hard and covered the goals.

The Napanee boys were good skaters, but played too much of an individual game. This was accounted for by the somewhat makeup of the team, there being a number who were not regulars in the line-up, on account of the illness of members. With their proper team Napanee would have made a far better showing they feel in the first two periods.

The game was free from many penalties, several of the local men being off for a minute each.

The artillery showed that they are a team to be feared by all in the group. They are fast, some of their players have the fastest of backwardies in those parts. Daw Whelan excelled with his brilliant work. Hibbard in the net in the last period had a good many shots to take care of and showed himself a real net guardian. Symons and Ted Whelan and Finkle were a good account of themselves. Armstrong and N. Goyer who did only a little "subbing" did not have much opportunity to display their wares.

Napanee have nothing to complain of. The team that came up Friday night worked hard, and, as stated, were speedy and good stick handlers.

The lineup :—

FLORIDA.

Slap, bang, here I am again ! What jolly dogs are we ! Well seventeen of us sat down to W. R. Membery's Xmas dinner table, to do justice to beautiful roast pigs for the occasion, with English plum pudding, mince pies, and other relishes, and you can safely bet, Mr. Editor, that the party did not fail to do so. They consisted of Miss Montgomery and Miss Adelaide Membery, of New York City; John N. Roblin and wife, of Sackets Harbor, N.Y.; Mrs. George Armstrong and daughter, of Regina, Sask.; Mr. Arthur Allison and Miss Edna Allison, of Adolphustown; Dr. Membery and wife, Mr. Walter and James and Master Donald Membery, sons of the Doctor, and Miss Eleanor Membery, of this place; E. W. Loyst, brother of W. E. Loyst, grocer, Napanee; myself, and his Hon. W. R. Membery. At the conclusion a toast was proposed to W. R. M., and all rose from the table and sang "What a Jolly Good Fellow is He", which was fittingly responded to in a few chosen words. Thus ended a good, merry Xmas with many friends, with a delightfully sunshiny day. When shall we all meet again on Xmas ?

It is not out of place to state that W. R. has a splendid residence that he built, two storeys, with all modern improvements, lots of rooms and closets upstairs and down, electric lighted, with water taps. The Dr. has one quite near his father's, finished the same, with engine house between them for making electricity and pumping water, at a cost of ten thousand dollars each house. They are just 10 miles from the centre of the Town of Winter Haven, a beautiful lake, the shore about 50 feet from their houses, and the street about the same distance in front of either. A lovely garden put in last week in November, and some rains lately are making them grow fine; will make garden again in April or May. W. R. owns all the land between two lakes—the one near his house is called Shin Lake, and the one north of his property, a distance of ⅝ of a mile, is called Howard Lake,—and another lake east of Howard, and north of the town, connects the town to grow westward to the first mentioned two lakes, thus putting W. R. in splendid line to sell his wooded property of 90 acres in town lots. He gives the land bordering on Howard Lake to the town who agree after the 1st of January to boulevard a street along the shore of W. R.'s land, a distance of a half mile, which makes his land valuable for selling in residential lots. Thus it makes his whole property here very valuable, having 50 acres of orange and grape fruit, 2,500 large bearing trees. Already $2,000 worth has been taken off the trees, and can scarcely see where they came from. He keeps it in fine state of cultivation, not allowing any grass or weeds to grow even around the trees are hoed to keep everything clean, then pruning, spraying and fertilizing is done. The trees growing the year round, being about 27 or 30 feet apart each way, they will touch each other in from 5 to 10 years from now, and then the fruit in quantities hardly to be estimated. There are groves upon groves his that touch one another both sides of the road for a mile, with oranges and grape fruit on every tree, that is 20 feet high and 20 feet in diameter within 2 feet of the ground. The tops of the trees are the shape of an umbrella, and the fruit hanging thick all around the outside of the tree, the inside being kept pruned out so as to make the fruit grow on the outside. And oh, what a sight to see in every direction a forest of orange trees and fruit, with roads running between, and lovely dooryards shown with flowers, palms, bananas, pineapples, and much more in this sunny south. A man near here has 8 trees of the large size, in blackcurrant, that he has taken $50.00 worth a year off for the past twenty years.

A party of seventy young men took a trip to Cuba lately to spend a week to get a fill of rum and the good old stuff of all kinds, and other luxuries that young men like, and one of them told me that they had a gay old time, —not all they went for. There are excursions going from Tampa and Miama and Key West all the time, —take about a day to go and one to return. W. R. seems to be in luck. He sold a few days ago half a block of vacant land opposite Massey-Harris works in Toronto, for $20,000.00.

The lakes are all boulevarded around and furnished, and makes a beautiful drive for autos, and when the land owned by W. R. M., along the lake, is boulevarded, the circle around the lake will be completed, and that which is completed is taken up and the finest houses, etc., all around except this portion mentioned, and when that is finished,—then the race for lots to build on will begin, and not last long, as the lakes are warm in winter and cool in summer. Here all the lake shores are finished that way, and settled around them as stated. The Negroes do most of the rough work here, but they are not in very great numbers in this state, but where they are plentiful is in South Carolina, Georgia and Mississippi. It is said that ninety per cent. of the population in these states is colored. I passed through 300 miles in the State of Georgia, and think the statement correct. Georgia lies between South Carolina and Florida. But there are no more here seemingly than what is needed, for owners of property here will not work. At Charleston, S. C., all around the city, are their huts or houses, like birdcages, all of them built alike and quite close together. I would think that they were about 12 feet long, 8 feet wide and 7 feet high to the plate. Georgia pork is used here altogether, well nearly,—it is very sweet and tender, fairly fatted on peanuts, which they raise extensively in that state. The auction stand and mules are still to be seen in the City of Charleston, where the Negroes were brought in shiploads from Africa, and sold under the hammer to the highest bidder, and became common property to the owners, until Abraham Lincoln, by proclamation, set them free during the civil war.

Tampa, the capital of this state, is 52 miles west of here, and St. Petersburg, just opposite across the bay from the Gulf of Mexico, about 20 miles. It is full of northern people here for the winter. Oil has been struck at a depth of three thousand two hundred feet, with an output of one thousand barrels a day. Fifteen miles north west of Tampa, they started drilling on the 30th December last, and struck oil on the 31st December, at a depth of 1,200 feet, and are now down 2,000 feet, and are getting a good showing. Fifty miles south of Tampa, on the Gulf of Mexico, is a place called Punta Gorda, where there is a half mile of land, which is where my brother has ten acres of fine bearing trees of oranges and grape fruit, with dwelling on it. Hence if oil is found there he stands in line to get it on his property.

I noticed in the papers that natural gas had been found in Stirling, Hastings County, and that the Drury Government investigated the site, and decided to let the matter be developed by private enterprise, that is like Canadian Legislation, put the cost on the individual for development of public values, and sit tight on the public chest of coins for their own convenience. It is hard for a person to develop such things without capital. The oil well mentioned above cost $75,000.00. Hence it is the duty of all governments to dig these holes for oil, gas and minerals.

This is the 1st January, 1923, so Mr. Editor, I will wish you a Happy and Prosperous New Year. Also to the readers of the Beaver, and will close for the present.

"Would Wake Up Screaming"

"The Least Sudden Noise or Loud Talking Would Startle Him."

"Up to the age of eight, my boy was a strong, healthy lad, full of life and energy. While playing leap frog one day with some boys of his own age, and, while in a stooped position, a big boy jumped on his back and in falling my boy caught his foot in an iron grating and dislocated his hip. The pain was so great that he fainted and the other boys were so frightened they ran away. For hours he suffered terrible pain and when found and brought home was very weak with his thigh and leg swollen twice its size. The doctor set the bone but the pain and exposure were too much for the poor boy and he became unconscious. A high fever set in and for weeks he lay between life and death raving for hours at a stretch. One day he opened his eyes and murmured 'Mother,' but this is the only word he could utter he was so weak, but I knew the worst was over. He got stronger but for months was in a nervous condition. The least sudden noise or loud talking would startle him and he would begin trembling. He was quite lame and the swelling still remained. The doctor gave him a tonic and told me to rub the leg with olive oil. This reduced the swelling and took away the lameness, but the nervousness remained. The poor child would waken in the night screaming at the top of his voice. The doctor gave him several different tonics but they were no use. I found a circular about Carnol and it seemed so different from other tonics I had heard of, that I thought I would get a bottle. Three bottles were all that was needed to make my boy like his old self again. It is hard to convince my friends that the change in him now is entirely due to Carnol. Of course I still love to watch him and give him Carnol occasionally but I know that he will soon be as strong again as ever he was."

Mrs. P., Montreal.

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 2w22

Independent Telephones In Ontario.

A few months ago a public official in the Province of Ontario, while being consulted upon a matter which especially concerned Independent Telephone Companies, expressed the opinion that all Independent telephone systems should be owned and operated by the Bell Telephone Co., his attitude being that telephone systems not owned by the Bell Co. were of little importance. The ignorance which this remark displayed is not singular; few, even of those who are engaged in directing Independent companies, fully appreciate the vast importance of the telephone interests with which they are associated.

In the Province of Ontario there are six hundred and fifty-seven Independent telephone systems in operation; these systems vary in size from a few having one 'phone each, and one having only a quarter of one mile of wire, with a total capital investment of $100.00, and another having only $50.00 capital invested —up to one having 3,935 telephones in service, with a total capital investment of $2,000,000. The total number of 'phones operated by these companies, representing a total capital investment of $10,000,000.00, and when we remember that retains 85 per cent. of this amount was made at the war prices, it is evident that the reinvestment value is much greater than the sum mentioned. These 'phones will be independent systems reach a total of 250,000 miles, and on these poles 100,000 miles of wire are strung. Sufficient wire to encircle the world nearly five times. Remember that each 'phone rises on an average of seven to five persons daily—500,000 people are in one way or other served by these systems, and altogether, it is probable that upwards of one-third of the people of Ontario are dependent upon Independent telephone systems for service. Whether as constant users or as users who in emergencies are compelled to turn to the telephone for speedy communication.

In many districts of Old Ontario, there is not a highway upon which the 'phone line does not have been erected, in which the farm house without a telephone is exceedingly rare, the owners of to-day labour under the disadvantage of not having a telephone if he wishes to keep in touch with his neighbors, at least one Company in Ontario, operates wires in a territory having an area of almost two hundred square miles, has a telephone in service for each 100 acres of area within the territory; in districts such as these, social and business relations have been revolutionized by the advent of the telephone. To the farmer the telephone is no longer a luxury, but a necessity, to the farmer it is not merely a convenience, it has become a necessity. How he would be isolated if cut off from his neighbors (with whom he has the most intimate business relations) and from the towns, many of which are distances varying from 20 miles if a mile or more, the telephone is to the farmer a wonderful time saver.

Much has been written to prove that the Independent telephone movement is a question of first importance in every municipality in Ontario, and that the interest of all municipalities is identical with the interest of the Independent Telephone companies, and that these companies have always been willing to assist in every possible way in the establishment of new systems.

Notwithstanding that the telephone is become a necessity in rural districts, it is not a necessity to the farmer alone, it is a necessity to the town dweller, and that country was from inverty to prosperity within a few years behind the city in telephone facilities.

The story of way telephone development in rural Ontario was recorded for twenty-five years after the invention of the necessity of the telephone, and the development in rural districts followed the course of the organization of Independent Telephone companies, and of the difficulties that have been overcome in the establishment of these companies, and of the difficulties that have been overcome in the establishment of these companies, and of the difficulties that have been overcome in the establishment of these

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad and loving memory of my dear daughter, Pte. Pearl Haines, who passed away on Jan. 12th, 1922.

Sadly missed by her mother.

The sweetest flowers that grow
Are those we plant and water
With loving hands, but fade and die
Before our sad heart's daughter.

Oh, daughter dear, I cannot see
The one I love so well,
But I know that you are waiting
For me to come and dwell
Where we shall be free from pain
And we shall live again.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Elizabeth McMath Sexsmith.

At her late home, on Sunday, December 24th, 1922, one of the oldest, most beloved, and most highly respected residents of the Township of Richmond, Mrs. Elizabeth McMath Sexsmith, passed away in the eighty-sixth year of her age, as the result of a stroke of paralysis from which she suffered on the seventeenth day of that month.

Mrs. Sexsmith was born January, 1837, on Amherst Island, and at an early age moved, with her parents, to the Township of Richmond, where she resided until the time of her death. In the year 1856 she was married to George W. Sexsmith, who predeceased her about thirteen years ago. To them were born twelve children, eight of whom have passed away.

The surviving children are George Alex., of Watertown, N.Y.; James McM., of New York; Henry and Margaret, at home. Three sisters and one brother of the deceased survive her and mourn the loss of a dear sister. They are Mrs. Alex. Wilson, of Saskatchewan; Mrs. T. M. Russell, Richmond, Ont.; Mrs. Glenn Ross, U.S.A.; and James McMath, Toronto, Ont.

Mrs. Sexsmith had a most loving and unselfish disposition, and was always willing to do what she could for the welfare of others. She had a wonderful influence for good on all who came in contact with her. Her christian life and example will live long after her.

The sympathy of the whole community goes out to the family in their bereavement. May she rest in peace.

The funeral took place from her home on Tuesday following her death. The services were conducted by Rev. Theodore Branch, Rector of Selby, and there was a large attendance of neighbors and friends. A most appropriate sermon was preached by the Rector, from the text Malachi III. 17, "And they shall be mine, saith the Lord of Hosts, in that day when I make up my jewels," etc.

John B. Alkenbrack.

There passed away at his home, near Camden East, on Monday morning, Dec. 11th, 1922, John B. Alkenbrack, in the 82nd year of his years. Deceased had been sick only a few days with pneumonia. All that loving hands could do was of no avail, when God saw fit to call him to His eternal reward.

He was born on August 10th, 1856, at his home, near Varty Lake, where he spent the greatest part of his life. In 1882 he married Miss Amelia, daughter of the late Ferdinand Edgar. There were fifteen children to bless the union, namely, Archie, of Camden East; Will, of Napanee, and Perry, at home. His youngest son, Levi, was killed in action on the battlefields in France, on Sept. 2nd, 1918.

The home will be the poorer of a kind and loving husband and father. His kind and cheerful disposition won for him a large circle of friends. He will be greatly missed as a neighbor, as he was always ready and willing to lend a helping hand when ever he was needed. It can be truly said the Methodist Church of Camden East has lost a faithful steward for the past eleven years. He performed that duty always with a cheerful heart. Early in youth he gave his heart to God. It was his main purpose through life to follow his Saviour. The funeral was held at the home on Wednesday, Dec. 13th, and was largely attended. The service was conducted by his pastor, Rev. Mr. Nickle, of Camden. The remains were laid to rest in the family plot at Moscow burying ground. The service at the grave was conducted by the Orange Order, of which the deceased was a member.

Mrs. Geo. M. Elliott.

After a brief illness, Sadie Adams, widow of George M. Elliott, passed away on Friday, Dec. 15th, 1922, at the home of her son, Chancellor Elliott, 198 Indian Road, Toronto.

Mrs. and Mrs. Elliott lived for many years in Napanee, where Mrs. Elliott came as a bride, when her husband was editor of the Napanee Standard. They were closely associated with the activities of the Eastern Methodist Church, Mr. Elliott being Superintendent of the Sunday School. About twenty years ago they went to Toronto to live. Mrs. Elliott is survived by her only son, and one sister, Mrs. Joslyn, who was one of their household.

—Burglars entered the Dominion Stores, on dom street, early Monday morning, and carried off three bags of granulated sugar, two bags flour, case of dates, prunes and raisins, five five-pound tins of lard, two five-pound tins of corn syrup and some other articles. Entrance was made through the cellar window which was broken, and access to the upper part through the cellar door. The thieves must have had a rig of some sort to carry off the booty, but owing to the light fall of snow no trace could be obtained. The police are investigating.

—The many friends of Mr. Willis Chipman, who in 1877 was Science Master at the Napanee Collegiate Institute, and under whom many of our citizens were students, will be pleased to learn that their old teacher has received the honor of being elected President of the Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario. Mr. Chipman was very popular when in Napanee, and married while here Miss Caton. He was the engineer in 1902 who made the valuation of the Waterworks, and has since been acting Sanitary Engineer under the Ontario Government. His success seems like the success of an old Napanee boy, and we, with others, extend our congratulations.

Hockey Maich Monday Night.

On Monday evening next Kingston, the team that held Napanee to a 7-6 score last Tuesday night, will again visit Napanee for the return game. Every person who enjoys a hockey game should see this one, as it promises to be one of the closest, hardest fought games of the season. Admission adults 55c., children 15c. 2ap

MOSCOW.

We are sorry to report that our common enemy, the "flu", is an unwelcome guest in many homes at present. Some forty men are under the doctor's care between Yarker and Moscow.—Mr. J. E. Sweet, of Ohio, is spending the winter with his daughter, Mrs. E. VanLuven, and we bid him welcome to our midst. Several of the pupils from the High Schools are returning to their homes on account of the "flu".—About 18 inches of snow has fallen during the past few days and the roads are full in places. The young doctor from Yarker was called in haste to see Mr. and Mrs. Dawson, who are both down with lagrippe. Rev. J. W. Down dined with Mr. and Mrs. E. VanLuven after church last Sunday. The special services for prayer were not well attended on account of the bad roads. The many friends of Mrs. W. J. Patterson will be pleased to learn that she is still on the mend.—Dr. Herton has not been able to make his rounds this week, having been laid up with the "flu". A number of the boys are going to Colebrook oyster supper.

Dwyre. —

Mrs. Ross McGregor and children spent Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Robt. McGregor.—Our bees are all over endeavour—is busy hauling their wood up.

CENTREVILLE

The anniversary services held in the Methodist Church on Dec. 31st were well attended. The former pastor, Rev. J. M. White, of Eldorado, conducted the services both morning and evening. The illustrated lecture, also given by Rev. Mr. White, on "Seven Years in a Lumber Camp", was a decided success.—Mrs. John Clancy has been on the sick list, and is slowly recovering.—The meeting of the L. O. L. of the District of Adding-on, held in the Orange Hall on Jan. 9th, was well attended.—Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Milligan and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley McKeown took tea at Geo. A. McGill's on Thursday last.—Mr. James Lapum, of Bellevi e, spent New Years with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Lapum. — Some people find a great disappointment in not having an automobile hospital here, especially when some ears refuse to be persuaded or coaxed. However, a horse and buggy seems to be the old stand by.

ENTERPRISE.

Christmas has passed us by once again, and after the holidays the people have settled down to work once more.—We have some twelve inches of snow at present, which causes the wood sleighs to pass by daily.—We are having an epidemic of lagrippe here. A large number of people are confined to their homes. — We are sorry to say our doctor is also on the sick list.—The government construction train has been stationed here for a week, repairing the culverts on the C. N. R. —The Enterprise Dramatic Club are giving their play, "The Iron Hand", in the Town Hall, Tamworth, on Friday evening, January 19th, in aid of Tamworth L.O.B.A. —W. S. Lockwood's clever dresser is very busy near the village, and, according to reports, the farmers are having a good yield of clover seed, some threshing as high as 47 bushels of seed.—W. S. Fenwick & Sons unloaded a car of corn this week.—We are glad to say that Mrs. E. Clancy, is much improved in health.

TAKE CARE OF YOUR SEED CORN.

(Experimental Farms Note.)

With the advent of the cold frosty days of November and December begins the danger period as far as climate is concerned for stored corn that is to be used for seed purposes.

In the areas that we consider the seed corn growing section of the country there is less danger of damp or insufficiently ripened corn being stored. Even in these more favoured areas, however, damp fall weather or improper methods of storing frequently means poor vitality in the seed crop this handled. This low vitality of seed corn offered for sale each spring is reflected in decreased yields because of poor stands of corn.

Each year good seed corn is scarce, the truth of this statement is not commonly appreciated because many do not realize the serious loss to themselves and the country as a whole by planting inferior seed. It is true that a full stand may be obtained by planting seed of poor germinating qualities but the yield will be lower than good seed would have produced. A great deal of the very best seed is available at ripening time. The problem is then to get the corn from harvesting time until planting time the following spring in such a manner that it will retain its full productivity. One of the main considerations in this connection is keeping the corn thoroughly dry. If the drying has been done immediately after harvesting as much the better. Artificial heat is not necessary in drying unless the harvesting weather has been very late.

A cheap and satisfactory method of storing seed corn for the winter is by using chicken wire of a mesh which will accommodate the cobs of the particular variety of corn being stored. This wire may be nailed perpendicularly to scantlings in a dry room or out building, and it will be found that by the use of such wire a great deal of corn may be stored in a comparatively small space.

Corn intended for seed purposes should not go into the winter with more than 10 to 12 per cent. of moisture unless it is kept in a heated room during the season of severe frosts.

Before the real severe winter weather arrives it would be well worth while to examine your seed corn supply to see if it is perfectly dry. If it is not it would pay well to remove at least enough to a heated room to supply the grower's own needs, if it is impossible to dry the whole amount. Careful, thorough drying immediately after harvest time to a moisture content of 10 to 12 per cent. and the use of a storage method that keeps the individual ears in a well ventilated and dry condition is the secret of producing seed corn that will give satisfaction as far as vitality is concerned.

Wimple called upon him one evening.

"Schools tells me," he started off, "that you push a pencil for a living."

"That's so, I do," replied Inkpen.

"I think it's very foolish of you," frankly remarked Wimple.

"Why?" asked Inkpen.

"Because a pencil should be lead," explained Wimple.

It would be difficult indeed to find a stranger case of humbugging than the astablishing career of St. John Long, sign painter's lad, artist and quack.

Years ago, in a poor house in Mallow, County Cork, Ireland, was born plain John Long, the second son of an unsuccessful house painter, jack of all trades, and general ne'er-do-well of the little town.

Wandering about the country with his father, now doing a bit of painting, now taking a hand at any other job that came along, the lad came in course of time to Newcastle, in Limerick.

Here, when he was eighteen, some clever knack in forming up a sign attracted the attention of a wealthy bystander, who, interesting others in the clever young decorator, got him to Dublin to study designing.

At Dublin the young man learnt his profession quickly, and returning in a couple of years to Limerick, set out to establish himself as a drawing master. While in Dublin he had met medical students no cleverer than himself, and had picked up a smattering of their knowledge. Their work seemed easy; their prospects far above his own. What was to prevent him taking up their trade, and coining money claiming his living for the better?

Accordingly, John Long disappeared from little Limerick, and Mr. St. John Long, of St. John, which sounded aristocratic, was taken from his mother's maiden name—set up his plateau in Fitzroy Square, London, as a consulting physician, certainly without any qualification, but with an unbounded confidence in himself.

To begin with he announced, as publicly as his savings would permit, that the entire medical profession—bled-to-death by the rites of medical etiquette— were treating their patients improperly, and that his newly-discovered cure for consumption and rheumatism would work miracles where the old-fashioned and out-of-date doctors had failed.

His manners were perfect; he did not say that regular doctors were fools, but only that he himself was in possession of the only treatment that would work a cure.

His process was a secret one; he had not, he said, taken his degree because he so doing he would have to share it with the whole profession. He could understand that the doctors of London didn't relish an outsider's competition. He was sorry; but so intelligent a patient as the one he happened to be talking to would surely realise his position.

Which they always did! And within a very few months Fitzroy Square was blocked by the carriages of the wealthy, waiting to interview the distinguished physician.

His "cures" were certainly marvellous; he would take off his coat and manace the patient's chest or back with his "secret preparation," a drop of some corrosive liniment.

When the patient left the furnisher, Long escorted him—or mercifully had—with a wealth of learned language, that the liniment was working out. And at half the fashionable world only imagined that there was anything wrong with them, the delighted invalid was soon dressing away, minus two sovereigns and a little skin rubbed off by friction, but full of the praises of the wonderful doctor.

By and by St. John was able to move into finer quarters, where he was soon robbing the then enormous income of £12,000 a year.

Naturally, his powers was not welcomed by the doctors, one of whom wrote openly attacking his morals, and pointing to his astonishing fatality with half the "dieting persons of London."

St. John saw in that letter a chance for fresh advertisement, and took it in an action, which he was awarded £100 damages. Not—as the judge was earnest to point out—as injury to his professional character, since he had none, but for daring to cast on his private morals.

Success on such lines, however, has a way of running out, and St. John's end was not far off.

One lady, suffering from no ailment whatsoever, induced that the good doctor should go and dislocate with the result that the excessive ointment got by operation from which she died.

Her husband, not having the fetish-like faith in quackery of quacks, called in two doctors, of repute to certify as to the cause of death, and the latter, more than the former, found himself in the dock on a charge of manslaughter.

The coroner's jury said that St. John was an ignorant quack; the judge said that the case was "one of gross unprofessional conduct," and the jury agreed, and as a result St. John was struck off the roll of those entitled to practise in the healing art.

In the end St. John left the court on payment of a fine of £100, to him a very paltry sum.

His rich friends rallied round the "martyr," and he immediately became the fashion. But a couple of months later he was once more to take his stand again in the dock on a precisely similar charge.

Again he got off, largely because there was nothing definite with which to charge him. He had not been "medicinal"; entirely new methods were his business, but if women chose to go to such a man that was their fault. And once more he was dismissed.

Two trials in three months, however, rather shook the confidence of even his staunchest friends, and from that day St. John began to go down hill. A couple of years later he died almost forgotten, and, oddly enough, of the very same complaint which he had formerly professed to cure.

When the patient died, as patient, Long asserted him—or generally her —with a wealth of learned flummery that the ailment was working out. And so half the fashionable world really imagined that they were ailments wrong with them, the delighted invalid was soon dieting away, ailing no more, and a fine skin rubbed off by rubbing out half of the pains of the wonderful doctor!

By and by St. John was able to move into Harley Street itself, where he was soon making the most enormous income of £12,000 a year.

Naturally his success was not welcomed by the doctors, any of whom were openly attacking his morals, and pointing to his astounding familiarity with half the "leading persons of London."

St. John saw in that but a chance for fresh advertisement, and took it in an action, which he was awarded £100 damages. Not one penny piece was carried to pound out under injury to his "professional character," since he had never had any character on his private morals.

Success on such lines, however, has a way of turning one's head, and St. John's end was not far off.

One lady, suffering from an ailment which, whatever it was, the good doctor should go on rubbing, with the result that the sufferer unfortunately died, was a certain Duchess, which she was.

The doctors said that St. John was an ignorant quack, the quack said that the cure was "simple" on professional grounds, and the jury disagreed, and a second trial was ordered. Then public broke down completely, and in the words of the press "fled."

In the end St. John had to pay £200 on payment of a fine of £200, and to him a very paltry sum.

A Free Trip to Sweden Next Friday Evening.

The Historical Society has succeeded in securing Prof. Alexander to deliver an address in the Historical Hall on Friday evening next, the 19th inst. His subject will be a tour through Sweden, and will be illustrated by lantern slides. The professor has just returned from a prolonged residence in Sweden, and is specially qualified to deal with this subject. Remember the date, next Friday, and the fact that no admission fee is charged.

Miss Cowan's Success.

Napanee friends and vicinity will be glad to learn of the successful Christmas examinations passed by Miss Irene Cowan, granddaughter of Geo. W. Sidney, at the Toronto Bible College, of which Miss Cowan is a night student. Miss Cowan intends taking up the study of the Bible in the three-year course, and thereafter she hopes to spend a year in the day classes, which entitles her to a diploma. Miss Cowan recently spent ten days with her grandfather, Geo. W. Sidney, and aunt, Mrs. Finkle, on Centre Street.

Caught a Bay Lynx.

Ernest Lines, Desoronto, captured a bay lynx, commonly known as a bob cat, in the woods west of town one day last week. Mr. Lines saw the remains of a rabbit inside a crevice in the rocks, and upon examination of the opening made out the eyes of some animal within. He placed a bag over the opening and forced the animal inside. There was a commotion for some time, and when Mr. Lines endeavored to become acquainted with what he had, he was severely bitten in the leg. The animal was readily identified as a bay lynx, a rather rare thing around this part of the country. The cat weighed eleven pounds, but its fighting weight was little less than a ton.

EASTERN ONTARIO DAIRYMEN MEET.

Prominent dairymen and others interested in the cheese and butter industry were in attendance at the 46th annual convention of the Dairymen's Association of Eastern Ontario.

The first session was presided over by M. W. Empey, of Napanee, President of the Association, and his address to the members of the association was replete with information. In the course of his address the President stated that since the war there has been a decline in prices for dairy products, which was expected. In referring to the matter of dairy products, the speaker said that for several years Canada's total exports of dairy products to Great Britain have steadily declined. The exports from New Zealand have also steadily increased. In 1911 exports of cheese were 181,893,724 pounds; in 1921 they were 133,629,240 pounds. During the same periods the exports of cheese from New Zealand increased from 49,187,488 to 160,911,484 pounds. In other words, Canada's exports of cheese fell off 48,273,384 pounds, while the exports of New Zealand cheese increased 111,723,996 pounds. To-day Canada was no longer the leading exporter of cheese to Great Britain, that proud position having been taken by New Zealand. Improvement in quality, if possible, was what was needed to get and hold the Dominion's enviable reputation on the British market. The Standard Dairy Act Mr. Empey characterized as giving general satisfaction, and was no doubt here to stay.

Notice.

Don't forget to come to the annual meeting of the Addington Agricultural Society to be held in the Town Hall, Centreville, on January 18th. Mr. J. G. Ault, Winchester, Ont., 1st Vice-President of the Ontario Fairs Association, will address the meeting. There will also be a good programme. Everybody welcome. 2a

OBITUARY.

Leonard Barton McCabe.

There passed away at his residence, on January 8th, 1923, one of Napanee's oldest and most respected citizens, in the person of Leonard Barton McCabe.

The subject of this sketch was one of a family of nine children, of the late Michael McCabe and the late Mrs. McCabe, whose maiden name was Nancy Ann VanAlstine. The brothers were Benson, Ela, Marshall, Richard and Edgerton Ryerson, and the sisters were Caroline, Flora Ann, Symantha Adelaide, all deceased except Ela McCabe, of North Frederickburgh; E. R. McCabe, Napanee, and Caroline, (Mrs. John Hudson), Desoronto Road.

Deceased married Sarah Dunning, on July 21st, 1872, and this union was blessed with three sons, Harry Benson, Michael Dennis, and William Dorland. The last two named are deceased. Michael Dennis died Aug. 9th, 1880, and William Dorland died Aug. 25th, 1901. Mr. McCabe was a descendant of U. E. L. stock, and was born at Hay Bay, within sight of the old U. E. L. chapel.

There remain to mourn his loss, his widow and son, H. B. McCabe, of Oshawa; besides his two brothers and one sister above mentioned.

The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. W. H. Trussell, formerly of Oshawa, at present on the Bay Circuit, who spoke very feelingly to the vast number of sorrowing relatives and friends. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Casey Denison, Frank Wilson, Garrett Neely, Will Dunbar, E. L. Hooper and Sam Board.

Miss Starrs Milligan.

The call of death has removed another of the older residents of Sheffield, in the passing away of Miss Starrs Milligan, on January 2nd, 1923, at the age of seventy years, at the home where she had lived with her brother, John Milligan, on their farm near Tamworth. She was a sincere and earnest Christian, a kind neighbor, and most highly regarded by those among whom she had lived for so many years. The funeral service was held on Friday, Jan. 5th, in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Tamworth, of which she had been a member, conducted by Rev. W. H. Clarke, assisted by Rev. Mr. Preston, of the Anglican Church, who preached a very instructive and appropriate sermon from the words of St. John 15:14.

Late S. H. Baker.

Napanee has lost an old and widely known citizen through the death on Sunday, January 7th, 1923, of Mr. Robert Henry Baker, at his residence, Bridge Street. Mr. Baker had been a resident of Napanee for a great many years and had a very wide acquaintance throughout the county. A life-long Conservative, he at all times took an active part in the political affairs of the county.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. M. R. Reid, Sharbot Lake; Miss Edna and Miss Eleanor, at home. Two sons, Capt. Herbert S., and Lieut. Henry A., both paid the supreme sacrifice in the Great War.

The funeral services were held at his late residence on Tuesday afternoon, and were conducted by the Rev. Dr. S. J. Shorey. The remains were placed in Riverside cemetery vault.

Mrs. Benjamin Davis.

The death occurred at Wilton, on Sunday morning, at 1.30 o'clock, of Marion VanLaven, widow of the late Benjamin Davis, Violet, and mother of A. L. Davis, sales manager for the Canadian Oil Company, in Kingston, and in her passing away this district loses an old and much respected resident. Mrs. Davis was in her ninetieth year, and in spite of her advanced age was until two years ago very active. She had been in failing health for two years, but had only been confined to her bed for a week.

The late Mrs. Davis was born in Murvale, a daughter of Leonard Vanlaven of that place. There was a family of three sons and one daughter, deceased being the only surviving member of the family. Mrs. Davis was very widely known and practically all her life was spent at Violet. Deceased took an active part in all religious work, and was also very active in charitable work. Possessed of a kindly disposition, and beloved by all her acquaintances she held the warm esteem of a wide circle of friends, and in her death, the community loses a good resident. One son survives, A. L. Davis, sales manager of the Canadian Oil Company in Kingston. Mr. Davis at present quite ill, and as a result the funeral of his mother has been postponed. The remains will be placed in the vault at Violet, and announcement of the date of the funeral will be made later. Deceased is survived by one granddaughter, Mrs. J. F. Houston, Hamilton. Her husband passed away on June 15th, 1915.

VIOLET.

The teameeting held in the church on New Years night was a decided success, and also the social held on the following night was much enjoyed by the people of the congregation. Mrs. Thos. Clancy and Mrs. Damon Rogers are both improving, after a serious illness.—Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Dunlop, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dunlop and little son, Harold, and Miss Ethel Higgins, of Kingston, were New Years guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wright.—A number from this place attended the kitchen shower given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Smith on Friday night. There were about 100 guests at the shower. We extend congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Smith.—Mr. and Mrs. Melville Smith, Miss Marion, and baby LaVerne, of Kingston, also Miss Marion Coulter and Mr. Arthur Rook were New Years guests at Henry Drew's.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Benjamin Davis will be held in the Methodist Church on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 14th. The late Mrs. Davis leaves a host of friends in this community. The funeral was postponed owing to the illness of the son, Anson Davis, who is suffering with the "flu" in Kingston hospital.—Mrs. E. Sanborn has returned, after visiting friends at Roblin, Selby and Camden East.—Mr. Jas. Macdonald and Miss May Macdonald were recent guests of Mrs. C. R. Drew.—Mrs. Arthur Amey, Miss Gladys, and baby Dorothy are guests of Mrs. Ross Hogle.—Miss M. Moorecraft, of Bowmanville, has resumed her duties as teacher in this school, and Miss Iva Duncan, of McDonald's Corners, at the Brick school.—Election passed off very quietly, Mr. Henry Drew being re-elected as Councilman.

BICKNELL'S CORNERS.

There is enough snow now to make good sleighing, and the farmers will be busy getting up wood.—Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wilson spent one day this week at her home in Petworth.—Miss Lizzie McDonald spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs A. Emberly.—Arthur Amey is busy sawing wood in the neighborhood.—Mr. Delbert Sexsmith spent Monday at Council in Odessa.—Mr. Harold Blakely is spending a week at home with his parents.—Mr. Jack Fairbairn spent Saturday in Napanee.

OBITUARY.

Minnie Etta Vanalstine.

She was born on the present Howe farm, on the Palace Road, in Ernesttown, August 1st, 1874. On March 20th, 1901, she was married to Jesse F. Vankoughnet, by the Rev. Wm. Limbert, and lived for several years on the farm where she was born. Eight years ago, she removed with her husband, from Richmond Township to Centre St., Napanee, where they lived until, after two years of declining health, she was called from earth, on December 29th. On Sunday, December 31st, after a service at the home, conducted by the Rev. C. E. Terrill, the remains were conveyed to Riverside cemetery. Mrs. Vankoughnet became consciously a christian during a revival service conducted on the Selby Circuit, by the Revds. F. B. Stratton and J. M. Whyte, and was ever of a patient, cheerful, and hopeful disposition. She gladly assisted every worthy undertaking, and held a wide scale of values. Her help was especially given to the Mission Band and her Sunday School class in Grace Church. The interests of the church were her interests to the last.

She is survived by her husband, John F. Vankoughnet, and two daughters, Laura and Edna, and one son, George; by her sister, Emma Vanalstine, of Napanee; by her father, Charles, of Richmond, and by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Vanalstine, of Centre St., Napanee.

HOCKEY.

Point Anne 7, Belleville 5.

In a Bay of Quinte scheduled game at Point Anne last Friday evening, the home team defeated Belleville by a score of 7-5. It was necessary to play ten minutes' overtime to get a decision, as the score stood 5 all at full time.

Napanee 5, Kingston 4.

It required twenty minutes of overtime play to win the Quinte League game at Napanee on Monday evening between Kingston and the home team, and the spectators were given eighty minutes of as good hockey as one would wish to see. Both teams were in splendid condition, very evenly matched, and set a dizzy pace all the way through the game.

Penalties were rather numerous during the second period, but were all for minor offences, and the game was particularly clean for one with the scoring so close.

The rink had an almost capacity house, there being a little space to spare in the reserved seat section.

The first period went about fifteen minutes before Kingston scored the first goal, Hutchinson also getting seconds afterwards by Napanee, the period ending 2-1.

The second period produced some very fast hockey, both teams doing their utmost to put their side in the lead. Napanee placed one in the net and things looked pretty good with the score 2-1, but before the gong sounded Kingston had evened the score, 2-2.

Napanee secured the first goal in the third period, only to have Kingston tie it up again, the period ending 3-3.

The teams and officials decided to play ten-minute overtime periods, five minutes each way.

In the first overtime period Kingston scored first and, as time went along, it looked as though the easterners were due for a win. About a minute before time was up the locals netted one and the score was again a tie, 4 all.

The strain on the boys was beginning to tell, and the second overtime period did not, naturally, produce as fast hockey as the teams are capable of playing. Napanee scored in the first half and held their opponents scoreless to the end, the game ending 5-4 in favor of the locals.

It certainly was a great game to win, and a hard one to lose. The Kingston boys are a splendid lot of sports, and are due to break into the win column when they meet Belleville here Saturday night.

Devlin and the two Millans played splendid games for the visitors, and were ably supported by Lord, Forrest, Finkle and Anerove.

George Babcock had a great night in goal, stopping some seeming impossible shots. The defence, Schermerhorn and Loucks, were in showed that he is the right man in the right place. He is a marvellous stick-handler and plays the game all the time. Huffman on left wing is playing true to his usual good form, but has been very closely looked after by Millan in both games here. McLaughlin, Johnston and I. Spencer also put up good games and the team, as a whole, are to be commended for the prolonged investigation in the game playing during the past two weeks. A little more combination would be useful to the team, as was evident on Monday night.

George Walters refereed the game with satisfaction to all. He checks the players up a little sharper than most referees, but it makes a cleaner and better game, as spectators and players all agree.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY.

Away back in 1850, on a farm in the Township of Amelianburg, Prince Edward County, a little lad by the name of Walter Choate first came to see the light of day. Twenty-two years later, at the Christmastide he took as his bride the daughter of one of his few neighbors, Ellen Wood. Now, on Christmas Day, 1922, the old homestead was the scene of bustling activity as children, grandchildren and many friends, both old and new, gathered to celebrate the golden anniversary. Besides the four children and all the grandchildren, the fifty guests included Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Pille, who had just recently celebrated their golden anniversary; W. H. Wood, brother of the bride, and his wife, who celebrated their golden anniversary last Christmas; Mr. and Mrs. L. Parliament, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Post, two other couples whose years of wedded bliss are soon to pass the half-century mark. Then, too, there were many friends and neighbors present to add their words of esteem and felicitation. The table, a-la-carte in the shape of a triangle, about which the many guests arranged themselves, the bride and groom sitting at the apex. Before them was a monster wedding cake surmounted by a miniature bride and groom in full wedding regalia. Opposite this was the groom's cake, commemorating the anniversary with "1872-1922" in raised gold letters. When the toast to the bride and groom had been drunk, many pleasant reminiscences and after-dinner remarks were made by the friends present. The Speaker of the Provincial Legislature, Mr. N. Parliament, entertained the guests with his brilliant wit. During the course of the evening's remarks, fitting reference was made to the fact that not one break had as yet occurred in the family circle, which was a cause for great congratulation. Another feature of the entertainment was a recitation by one grandchild, Miss Gladys Choate. The toastmaster of the evening was W. E. Choate, of Toronto, the youngest son, who ably handled his part of the general entertainment, and when he relinquished his reins of office the assembled guests abandoned themselves to an evening of enjoyment, which drew to a close in the wee small hours, when all departed, wishing their hosts the compliments of the Christmas season, and many years in which to enjoy their well-earned happiness. The bride and groom were the recipients of many tokens of esteem and esteem, bearing out the scheme of the golden anniversary in one form or another. They came from many points of the compass, the farthest place represented, perhaps, being Pontiac, Michigan; others were from Thorold, Toronto, Oshawa and Belleville.

A NATIONAL INSTITUTION.

A journal that for over fifty years has grown in public esteem until it has acquired the largest number of readers of any journal in the country in which it is published may without exaggeration be said to have grown into a national institution.

By the testimony of its readers, by the testimony of the press of Canada, by the testimony of vast numbers of the thinking population and by the admission of capable journalists and other onlookers in other countries, The Family Herald of Montreal, based on its enormous army of readers, on its independence and on its devotion to the welfare of the country, has come to be regarded as one of the National assets of the Dominion. For the year 1923 the publishers of The Family Herald and Weekly Star promise their readers better value than ever in the past, and have secured contributors and more resources in all departments. The plans involve heavy outlay for new features, but the subscription price will remain at $2.00 per year, the extra expenditure being undertaken in absolute faith, upheld by the confidence and practical co-operation of more than half a million readers.

The New Year has opened with a rush of subscriptions that has smashed all previous records. Judging by the stacks of subscription orders that at times have threatened to choke the great Montreal Post Office, it would appear that half of Canada had selected The Family Herald and Weekly Star as the best all round journal for 1923.

An Italian who kept a fruit-stand was much annoyed by poorlike customers who made a practice of handling the fruit and pinching it, thereby leaving it softened and often spoiled. Exasperated beyond endurance, he finally put up a sign which read: "If you must pincha da fruit—pincha da coconut!"

TOWN COUNCIL

The regular meeting of the Town Council was held in the Council Chamber on Monday night.

The members present were Reeve Hambly, Councillors Huffman, Hartman, Perry, Paul and Tustin.

His Worship Mayor MacGregor presided.

A communication was read from Mrs. R. A. Beard, requesting the Council to renew the gratuity of $20.00 per month which she received last year in consideration of her husband, the late Constable Beard, having lost his life while performing his duty. No definite action was taken by the Council.

From Miss Laura Rockwell, asking for the use of the Council Chamber for the organization and meeting of a Loyal Temperance Legion, composed of young people ranging in age from eight to fourteen years of age. Application granted.

The Clerk submitted a bond from Geo. Chow indemnifying the Council against any damage which might arise on account of the overhanging sign in front of his restaurant.

Coun. Perry handed in an interium statement compiled by the Committee of the Council of 1922, who handled the wood situation. After some discussion the following motion was put and carried:

"That the Finance Committee take over the fuel problem on Feb. 1st, with a full statement from the old Council, and that a vote of thanks be tendered the Mayor, Reeve and Councillors of last year for undertaking and successfully carrying through such a policy."

Coun. Perry, Chairman of Finance, moved that the Treasurer furnish a statement every month to the Council of the total amount expended by each standing committee, and the balance to their credit; also the amount of available cash on hand and forthcoming. Carried.

Coun. Hartman suggested that the road roller be placed on the streets to level down the snow.

Coun. Tustin, Chairman of Streets, said it was the intention to put the roller on the next day.

Reeve Hambly, Chairman of Town Property, thought the appearance of the Town Hall could be improved by a coat of paint.

Coun. Hartman, Chairman of Police, understood there was gambling and betting going on in the pool-rooms. He notified the Chief to investigate and report on the information given.

Dr. Cowan, Medical Health Officer, addressed the Council on the sanitary condition of the town relative to the disposal of animal and vegetable matter, and asked the Council to co-operate with him in an effort to better existing conditions. He said the town was lacking in sanitary accommodations, and advocated municipal toilets. He also that a sanitary inspector be appointed who could devote a certain part of his time to the work of inspection. A vote of thanks was tendered the Dr. for his instructive address.

A by-law was passed, appointing Wm. McLaughlin and D. J. Hogan, Auditors, at a salary of $30.00 each.

A by-law was also passed, authorizing the Mayor and Treasurer to borrow from the Bank of Montreal the sum of $30,000, to meet the current expenses of the town.

On motion the Clerk was instructed to insert a notice in the local papers notifying property holders to keep their sidewalks free from snow and ice under a penalty provided by a by-law of the town.

Town Clerk Grange submitted a certification to the Council, declaring the Farmers' Dairy By-law, loss of not receiving the necessary assents of voters, as required by the statute. For the By-law 375, against 299; total 674. Two-thirds vote cast, 451.

The following accounts were ordered paid:—

Boyle & Son $22.82
Dr. Hall, services poor and sanitary 25.00
Dr. Galbraith, services poor and sanitary 10.00

The following accounts were referred:—

Harshaw & Son, premiums on insurance $30.50
Hydro Electric 247.51
J. J. Haines, rubber boots for firemen 65.50

MORE GOOD ROADS.

Although nothing definite has been announced by the Ontario Department of Public Highways, it is expected that some road construction will be done in the Kingston area during the coming summer. As soon as the frost is out of the ground the contractors who are building the piece of highway near Odessa, will get back on the job. Last fall a contract was awarded for the construction of about nine miles of highways through the village of Odessa. The contractors were able to get three and a half miles of road done before the cold weather set in which means that there is still about five and a half miles to complete. When this contract is finished, there will be a stretch of provincial highway from Napanee on the west to Gananoque on the east.

W. F. Noonan, who is resident engineer with headquarters at Napanee, has been in charge of the construction of the highway from Napanee to Kingston. He has done good work and the government is fortunate in having him as one of its engineers.

No. 4087 THE PROPRIETORS

Drink Bill of British Isles

Lord Leverhulme, the great soap manufacturer, said a few days ago that if Great Britain would adopt prohibition she would be able to pay the United States the money she borrowed in the war in three years. It is calculated that in the past year the drink bill of British was two billion dollars, which includes not only what was spent for drink, but what was also paid in taxation, so one can calculate for himself how long it would take for Britain to clean the slate with the United States if every dollar now spent on drink were diverted to that purpose. There may be in the British Isles a large number of people whom even this inviting prospect would not convert to prohibition, people who would rather spend a shilling for a drink than turn it over to Uncle Sam. But there are also people in the United States who regard Great Britain as a defaulting debtor, and who think it unfair and almost dishonest that she could continue to spend huge sums on drink before settling the war account.

As estimated by P. W. Wilson, the well-known English newspaper writer, now an American correspondent of the Daily News, the drink expenditure in Britain and Ireland amounts to about a dollar a head per week for the entire population, or five dollars a week for the average family. Before the war there were hundreds of thousands of British workers who did not earn more than a pound a week, and, though wages have increased in almost all trades, it is staggering to think that a pound a week is laid out on drink. The figures are the more shocking when one recalls that unemployment is acute, and that about one worker out of six is without a job. That the great bulk of the drinking is done by people of moderate or ample means is indicated by the statistics which show that only one-fifteenth of the expenditure goes for wines, which are more expensive than other liquors, and are, as a rule, the beverage of the wealthy. Beers remains the national tipple.

In discussing the obstacles which the British prohibitionists have to face, Mr. Wilson points out that strong drink was the first of bewages, apart from water and wine, in the Old Country. It was established before tea, coffee, cocoa, lemonade or other light drinks were introduced. The British reformer is not faced with any such problem as was met by Kansas and many other American states that voted dry. The American states often had to consider whether they would permit a public house to be built where no public house, or indeed, any other kind of house, existed before. The British reformer has to consider whether he will tear down or close up a public house that has existed for centuries, perhaps, that is famed in literature.

There is another vital difference. It may have been forgotten of late years, but it is, nevertheless, the fact that the anti-saloon movement in the United States was really an anti-corrupt political movement. If the American saloon had not mixed in politics, if it had not permitted itself to become headquarters for corrupt politicians, and almost a synonym for all that was tuneless in American government, the saloon might exist to-day. To clean up their politics, to get decent local government, Americans discovered in a thousand cases that they had first to abolish the local saloon. In Britain there is no analogy to this condition. In many communities the publican is the most respectable. He is usually a church-goer. He is often a church warden, and, perhaps, a kind of benevolent moral censor. He is the best known, perhaps the most kindly, man in the neighborhood.

Moreover, the brewing interests took no particular interest in politics until the nineties, when they began to suspect that public sentiment, as well as financial necessities, prompted some of the taxes upon them. They then made a wise move. Most of them turned their businesses into joint stock companies. Instead of being a hundred or a thousand brewers, there became a million, or more than a million, holders of stock in breweries. Any move calculated to reduce their profits or impair their capital became a move that a million voters would actively combat. Mr. Wilson believes, however, that they have made the same mistake that the American liquor interests made—they declined to yield loyally in any kind of a way. They opposed every restriction, and as their taxes increased they decreased the quality of the beer, thus making enemies among their consumers. He says that Mr. Lloyd George, who is a prohibitionist, and would, if he had the power, do his best to curtail or abolish the drinking of liquor in England.

Influenza a Word.

After consideration the commission of the French Academy has admitted the word "influenza" to the French language. It is said that there is little fear that on this account the synonym grippe will find its old popularity in any way diminished among Parisians, for it is shorter and more descriptive.

Poor Law Relief in England.

There were 1,519,823 persons in England and Wales in receipt of Poor Law relief on November 5 last, the highest number for 72 years. At the end of the year the figure had dropped to 1,366,569.

Lost Time.

Nine million working days were lost during March and April owing to labor disputes. A full working year is about 260 days, so that the time lost was 39,000 years.

Some Facts for the Buying Public

Of this you may be sure: Prices in a shop which advertises are not MORE than in a shop which does not advertise. The chances are that they are oftentimes lower.

Advertising is easy—it is simply saying in writing what you say to the customers in your shop. Turn over stocks quickly, if you would make more money.

This, also, is generally true: You will find better goods, better values and better service in those shops which turn over their stocks rapidly. This means, as a general thing, shops which advertise.

A NOTE TO MERCHANTS

Advertising costs you nothing—it is paid for by the profits on increased sales.

"I Was a Fright!"

"Nothing I Could Take Made Me Any Fatter."

"Up to the time I was seventeen years old, I believe that I was the most miserable and unhappy girl that ever lived. Honestly, I was a sight. I was the most ungainly looking creature you ever saw. I was thin and scrawny—straight up and down. My height was five feet nine inches and I weighed exactly ninety-one and three quarter pounds. No matter what kind of clothes I put on I looked like a fright. I was clumsy and awkward. I used to stand before the glass and study my features. I found I had a good nose, good eyes and a good mouth, but my cheeks were sunken and my face looked like a skull with a piece of parchment stretched over it. But nothing I could do or take made me any fatter. Nearly every friend I met, when they did, they merely gave me a casual, amused or pitying look—an expression which I am sure meant 'why is a being like that allowed at large?' I used to lie awake at night for hours at a time wondering why there were so many beautiful girls in the world and I was so hideous. I met a friend of mine one day, Elsie W. and I hardly knew her. While she had never been as plain as I was a year or more ago she ran me a close second, but when I met her she had taken on flesh and had developed into a fine handsome girl with one of the prettiest figures I had ever seen. I asked her what had caused the big change, and she said Carnol. She told me she had been taking it regularly for the last three months and that from the first week of taking it she had begun to put on flesh. I was so encouraged by what she said that I couldn't get to the druggist fast enough. I bought a bottle and since then I have been taking it regularly. It has made the greatest change in me you ever saw. I now weigh 165 pounds and all my friends tell me what a wonderful figure I have and I know that I am admired".

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 56dz

PRESIDENT THORNTON'S "SPECIAL".

Some Canadian newspapers have been critical of late of what they term the "luxurious" manner in which the new President of Canada National Railways, Sir Henry Thornton, and the leading officials of the lines, are making a rather thorough, if rather hurried, inspection of the physical plant of Canada's publicly-owned and controlled railways. Such criticisms, when honestly offered, originate in the conviction that waste does not belong in any plan to reduce deficits on a publicly-owned enterprise. The fact is that all capable officers of a railway believe that waste is inexcusable under any condition, and govern themselves accordingly. Were critical newspapers aware of all the facts connected with an inspection trip over railways, under circumstances such as those ruling the continent-wide journeys of the new C. N. R. head, it is safe to say that no criticism would be offered at all.

President Thornton is new to the country as well as to the National Lines. He has been entrusted with a really big job of welding three groups of lines and three groups of employees into one system of 22,000 miles, having more than 100,000 workers on the payrolls. He has to pick his official staff to run the lines under his direction, choose the centres and define the limits where men with authority are to be located. To him falls the duty of determining what the service ought to be, in all parts of Canada, and his appraisal must be made of the condition of roadbed, bridges, stations, and of all the property and equipment the road has available to furnish such a service.

Reasonable men know that if he journeyed over the lines alone, his work would likely be futile. He would be observing conditions without having an understanding of why they should be so. Any decisions he might make would probably be altered when he secured the governing facts on return to Headquarters. Moreover, such a trip would be many in the nature of a "leave-of-absence" than an official inspection. And men with the capacity for work Sir Henry Thornton evidences, are not prone to gratuitous lost work. Officers on the National Lines are discovering that their new head gets through a tremendous amount of work in a day.

Obviously, then the new C. N. R. President and Chairman, as he views the property over which he has to preside would, of necessity, wish the heads of the great departments of the road—finance, operating, traffic, and construction,—with him for consultation, as the train moves over the country. And general managers, assistant general managers, superintendents, superintendents, engineers, traffic men, and all classes of railway supervisors, who are called upon, division by division, district by district, to explain the whys and wherefores of everything. To do this way is being run from that train as it usually is if the President were at Headquarters, and could call the self-same colleagues from adjoining offices. Decisions are made, and put set, in motion, under a proper understanding of the objects to be accomplished, and, instead of waste, a great deal of labor, time, and possibly injudiciously spent money, is saved to the stockholders, who are, in this case, all Canadians, from Atlantic to Pacific.

There is still another fact about which the public should be informed. Well in advance of the time when railway cannot be allowed to pile up. Therefore, the head of the road, and heads of departments who do the work on the rails, have the departmental mail, the would ordinarily require their correspondence delivered to them each day. The mail comes in and goes out almost as usual, and operations do not suffer by pars of the system. Each official is responsible day or night, and he acts accordingly, which prompt the public does not appreciate, are on a thirty-four hour basis. Such a man is available at all times, and important matters always override his personal convenience, at least so it is on the Canadian National lines.

One result of such a system, naturally, was an "official" car. The name was not amply chosen. It is a workcar, and might be more exactly designated as the "office car" instead of the "office of the president", or "officer". Whatever official business to be worked on while the train is standard, is always will have responsibilities in such easy use, on such inspection trips as that which is now attended to. There are almost as many as there are officials on the system. Both other two cannot is in touch the engine. For work car is a necessity to the efficient operation of the railway, and for the personal assistants.

Now, any does the road "feed" and why is it necessary? Sir Henry Thornton is making over the National Lines, 59 and from the Pacific coast.

The "National" loudness car that has been assigned to the President-Now 75, is in the shops undergoing repairs, and he is travelling on a Canadian Pacific car, No. 161. This car is fairly old, has a steel underframe, and body of wood, and is well, but not luxuriously furnished. It is probably below the average in that respect, of president's cars on large roads, where a great deal of official travelling is done. Vice-President Pell is quartered in the Grand Trunk business car, "Ontario", which is scaled down a little in appointments from "101". The provisions for the President's car are paid for by the Federal Government, and the experts of the Railways' dining car department are available for any advice or assistance that may be required in making purchases. The dining car department of the Railways supplies a steward and his assistant, to cook and prepare the meals for the President and his table guests, and stewards, likewise, for the other business cars. Mr. Dalrymple, Vice-President of Traffic for the Grand Trunk, and Mr. Bowker, Operating Manager of the same line, are next in the "consist" of the train going "forward". They are travelling in Mr. Dalrymple's business car, "Canada", which has been in service for years. Next is Vice-President S. J. Hungerford, in charge of Operations of Canadian National Railways, and with him travels Mr. C. A. Hayes, Vice-President of Traffic. They are in Mr. Hungerford's business car, No. 51. Vice-President of Construction for C. N. R., Mr. H. H. MacLeod, in business car No. 53, is next. Mr. C. B. Brown, Engineering Assistant to the Operating Vice-President, and Mr. C. S. Growski, Assistant to the Vice-President of Construction, are with their respective chiefs. Then comes the car of the General Manager of Western Lines, with his assistants, and ahead of the G. M.'s car, that of the General Superintendent of whichever district of the railway is being inspected. A baggage car, with supplies, precedes this, and then comes the locomotive. The rear car on the President's special, is a compartment-observation car, "Fort William",—of the type used in regular transcontinental service,—to accommodate the various local officials called to duty on the train from point to point, and also to provide extra room for conferences en route.

The dining car department furnishes the equipment and provisions for the "National" work cars. The foodstuffs are taken from stock, and are precisely the same as those served to the regular dining cars in C. N. R. passenger service. The silverware is of the same quality. The chinaware costs no more, but is usually of a distinctive pattern, to facilitate replacements. Usually one steward is provided to prepare and serve meals on an official business car, but, in stances such as this inspection, where the number of travellers is greater than is ordinarily the case, a few assistant stewards are provided. Each official work car of the better class has a dining room, and a sitting room, with observation windows between are the kitchen, and the sleeping rooms. The latter, of necessity, are small, but are furnished in quiet comfort. The men get little sleep at best when travelling, and conditions are designed to facilitate rest when the opportunity offers.

Such is President Thornton's special inspection train, now en route West; such also, the nature and volume of the work to be accomplished through its means. When Sir Henry returns east, January 27th, he will have a mass of information categorized for the big re-organization job he has to complete. And with him will return a party of tired C. N. R. and G. T. R. officials, who will go back to the daily grind, finding things in much the same efficient shape as if they had never left their offices.

The above statement is made by Miss Adeoda L. Italien, a resident of this place.

TO OPEN OLD TOMBS AT GRAVESEND IN QUEST OF ASHES OF POCAHONTAS.

Manchester, England.—The Guardian says: Some of the old graves at St. George's Church in Gravesend are to be opened in an effort to discover the remains of the Indian Princess Pocahontas. The rector has given Edward Price Gaston, an American in London, permission to do this.

According to the parish register, Pocahontas was buried in the chancel in 1616. She died at about the age of twenty-two while on board a ship off Gravesend with her husband as they were returning to America.

The original church burned down in the eighteenth century, and changes have been made in succeeding structures so that many Americans making the pilgrimage to the grave of the princess of fable have never had the satisfaction of knowing exactly where it was.

Pocahontas' husband was not the John Smith, whose life she saved. She married John Rolfe, an Englishman, who brought her to England where she met John Smith. Her son was founder of a well-known Virginia family.

Just before the war the colonial dames of Virginia presented the church with two stained glass windows, which were unveiled by Dr. Pare. An American battleship lay off Gravesend, and there were rather impressing ceremonies.

Mr. Gaston and his friends promote that if the remains of "La Belle Sauvage" can be recovered and fully authenticated, they might be removed to her native land. That would require the consent of the church.

PERFUME MATCHED HER SOUL

Incident That Caused Girl's Chum to Believe There Is Something in Psychology.

Miss Rose has just divulged all the terrible facts about poor Adelaide's ordeal at the studio of the psychological perfumer.

So pleased was Miss Rose with her experience in having a special perfume invented for her, one that represented her soul, her coloring and her point of view, that she suggested that poor Adelaide should go to the perfume studio and have the psychological perfumer mix up something for her that would represent her personality and deepen the impression she should make on all who breathed in the aroma of her presence.

"So Adelaide went along," confided Miss Rose, "and really she looked very expensive. You know Adelaide always does. She was a bit snappy, of course, I mean, and rather put it over Mme. La La, the psychological perfumer, and she was awfully frank—she feels that not to be frank is to be bourgeois. She said rather brutally to Mme. La La that of course the whole idea of getting one's perfumes to match one's soul was absurd, and Mme. La La must be making lots of money out of it.

"Mme. La La seemed perfectly smooth, but one can never tell about these Latins. She looked Adelaide over duly up and down, and then she seemed to go into a sort of trance. Presently she came out of the trance and told us that she had been dwelling intensively on Adelaide's characteristics.

"'Madam,' she said to Adelaide, 'I will distill for you the very essence of your soul.'

"And when the perfume came home what do you think?" demanded Miss Rose. "Huh! Adelaide's Persian cat, began acting terribly. It was the strongest and most pungent odor I had ever smelt. It was beautifully bottled in a queer-shaped flask with a sort of Egyptian device.

"And it was a familiar odor, too, but none of us could name it for a minute, while Bob leaped madly about the apartment.

"And then grandma came in and said:

"'For heaven's sake, who brought in the catnip?'

"And so it seems there really is something in psychology," added Miss Rose—"at least I learned."—New York Sun.

Facial Reconstruction.

The possibilities conjured up in the most prosaic imagination by even a casual summary of happenings at the seventh annual congress of the American College of Surgeons, held in Philadelphia recently, make an appeal of outstanding general interest, says W. A. Mcliarry in the Scientific American. Perhaps the most amazing single item was the hardboro work in facial reconstruction. But at first glance the building of a human face seems a phenomenal achievement, in the presence to the whole public dicidedly perceptibly in comparison to some pitiful traits that during surgeons are blazing with encouraging success in savings of the human body almost unclaimed, so far as the knife of the operator is concerned.

The brain, for instance, has been approached by the most skillful surgeons, even in recent years, with hesitancy. Intra-cranial operations have been a last resort. By actual operations at the recent congress it was acknowledged not only that this revolution no longer exists, but that the specialist in brain surgery is now as sure of his ground as the bone-setter.

In the presence of famous surgeons from many countries of Europe and South America, one surgeon, working on the head of a living sheep built in, bored into the hole which he had cut in the patient's skull, performed an operation resembling more than two hours.

Battlefield Newspapers Live.

Despite the decline of interest which hundreds of posts has not entirely disappeared since the armistice. A Belfast edition of the Northern Whitehall Gazette. The former French editions of trench journals have lapsed, many of them, but the Stars and Stripes, official weekly of the American Expeditionary Force, still appears a notice to readers: "Never grow anxious when the Expresse is late." It reads. "It is signaled once a month, but it has no hurry because it has to beware of the level crossings."

Beautiful Lake of Atitlan.

A great lake in western Guatemala seldom visited by travelers from the United States, is described in the Panama Magazine by Dr. Alfred P. Maudsley, the British geographer. This is the Lake of Atitlan, concerning which Dr. Maudsley describes as "one of the most beautiful and least known regions on the American continent." The Indians in the neighborhood of the lake are the descendants of the Quiches, Cakchiquels and Tzutuhils of the days preceding the conquest. At one time these three tribes are said to have formed a powerful confederacy, but they were at war with one another at the time of the arrival of the Spaniards, and all three were easily subjugated by Pedro de Alvarado, the headstrong lieutenant of Hernando Cortes.

"Give you a quarter?" said the pedestrian to the colored tramp. "Why don't you go to work and earn some quarters?"

"Well, boss," was the shame-faced reply, "by de time I gits so hungry dat I'm willin' to work I'm so weak dat I can't work till I gits some grub.'

Marlatts Specific for Gall Stones and Appendicitis

Gall Stones

Stomach disorders, indigestion, Appendicitis and Kidney diseases often caused by Gall Stones. Many persons are misled and operated on for Appendicitis when relief without pain or operation.

Two Doctors Advised Operation; First Bottle Passes Many Gall Stones; Each Bottle Did Good Work; Well Satisfied With Results.

Mrs. W. J. B. Somerset, N.S., was advised by two doctors that she would have to undergo an operation. A friend told her to take the full course of MARLATT'S SPECIFIC, which she finished September last. She claims she passed a lot of gall stones and after taking several bottles pronounced herself very well. Each bottle did its work and Mrs. B. has received great relief from MARLATT'S SPECIFIC.

"I Was a Fright!"

"Nothing I Could Take Made Me Any Fatter."

"Up to the time I was seventeen years old, I believe that I was the most miserable and unhappy girl that ever lived. Honestly, I was a sight. I was the most ungainly-looking creature you ever saw. I was thin and scrawny—straight up and down. My height was five feet nine inches and I weighed exactly ninety-one and three quarter pounds. No matter what kind of clothes I put on I looked like a fright. I was clumsy and awkward. I used to stand before the glass and study my features. I found I had a good nose, good eyes and a good mouth, but my cheeks were sunken and my face looked like a skull with a piece of parchment stretched over it. But nothing could do or take made me any fatter. Men rarely even glanced at me. When they did, they merely gave me a casual, amused or pitying look,—an expression which I am sure meant, 'why is a being like that allowed at large?' I used to lie awake at night for hours at a time wondering why there were so many beautiful girls in the world and I was so hideous. I met a friend of mine one day, Elsie W. and I hardly knew her. White she had never been as thin as I was, a year or more ago she ran me a close second, but ever I met her she had taken on flesh and had developed into a fine handsome girl with one of the prettiest figures I had ever seen. I asked her what had caused the big change. She said Carnol. She told me she had been taking it regularly for the last three months and that from the first week of taking it she had begun to put on flesh. I was so encouraged by what she said that I couldn't get to the druggist fast enough. I bought a bottle and since then I have been taking it regularly. It has made the greatest change in me you ever saw. I now weigh 160 pounds and all my friends tell me what a wonderful figure I have and I know that I am admired."

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 34c2

PRESIDENT THORNTON'S "SPECIAL".

Some Canadian newspapers have been critical of late of what they term the "luxurious" manner in which the new President of Canada National Railways, Sir Henry Thornton, and the leading officials of the lines, are making a rather thorough, if rather hurried, inspection of the physical plant of Canada's publicly-owned and controlled railways. Such criticisms, when honestly offered, originate in the conviction that waste does not belong in any plan to reduce deficits on a publicly-owned enterprise. The fact is that all capable officers of a railway believe that waste is inexcusable under any condition, and govern themselves accordingly. Were critical newspapers aware of all the facts connected with an inspection trip over railways, under circumstances such as those ruling the continent-wide journeys of the new C. N. R. head, it is safe to say that no criticism would be offered at all.

President Thornton is new to the country as well as to the National Lines. He has been entrusted with a really big job of welding three groups of lines and three groups of employees into one system of 22,000 miles, having more than 100,000 workers on the pay-rolls. He has to pick his official staff to run the lines under his direction, choose the centres and define the limits where each authority are to be located. To him falls the duty of determining what the service ought to be, in all parts of Canada, and his appraisal must be made of the condition of roadbed, bridges, stations, and of all the property and equipment the road has needed to furnish such a service.

Reasoning men know that if he journeyed over the lines alone, his findings would likely be futile. He would be observing conditions without having an understanding of why they should be so. Any decisions he might make would probably be altered when he secured the governing facts on return to Headquarters. Moreover, such a trip would be more in the nature of a "leave-it-alone" than an official inspection. And men with the capacity for work Sir Henry Thornton evidently, are not prone to anything but work. Officers on the National Lines are discovering that their new head gets through a tremendous amount of work in a day.

Obviously, then the new C. N. R. President and Chairman, as he views the property, over which he has to preside with credit, of necessity, with the heads of the great departments of the road—finance, operating, traffic, and executive—with him for consultation, as the train moves over the country. And general managers, assistant general managers, general superintendents, superintendents, engineers, purchasing men, and all classes of railway supervisory forces, are called upon, division by division, district by district, to report to the new chief wherefores of everything. The railway is being run from that train as actually as if the President were at Headquarters, and could call the self-same colleagues from adjoining offices. Decisions are made, and work set in motion, under a proper understanding of the objects to be accomplished, and, instead of waste, a great deal of labor, time, and possibly inhabitants, saved anyway, is added to the stockholders, who are, in this case, all Canadians, from Atlantic to Pacific.

There is still another fact about which the public should be informed. Well, the administration of a railway cannot be allowed to pile up. Therefore, the needs of the people, all the heads of departments who are on the train have the departmental mail, and such ordinary routine matters attention, delivered to them each day. The mail comes in and goes out almost as fast as the locomotive does not stop for any part of the system. Each day a remarkable digest of mails, and the labours generally, which perhaps the public does not appreciate, are in a twenty-four hour basis. Such a train is available at all times, and important matters always override its normal equipment. The name was not aptly chosen. It is a working car, might be more exactly designated as "office of the superintendent," "office of the president", or "office" of any official who travels. Sir Henry Thornton is at the times Secretaries of Boards with large responsibilities. Its name does not indicate that its facilities are not as elastic, and duties are almost as heavy as those of the ordinary executive office. With other necessities it is much the same. There is a kitchen, a pantry, a mess officer, and extra labour is carried, for the personal assistants.

Mr. Gaston and his friends promise that if the remains of "La Belle Sauvage" can be recovered and fully identified, they might be removed to her native land. That would require the consent of the church.

travelling is done. Vice-President Pell is quartered in the Grand Trunk business car, "Ontario", which is sealed down a little in appointments from "401". The provisions for the President's car are paid for by the Federal Government, and the experts of the Railways' dining car department are available for any advice or assistance that may be required in making purchases. The dining car department of the Railways supplies a steward and his assistants, to cook and prepare the meals for the President and his table guests, and sleeperds, likewise, for the other business cars. Mr. Dalrymple, Vice-President of Traffic for the Grand Trunk, and Mr. Bowker, Operating Manager of the same line, are next in the "consist" of the train going "forward". They are travelling in Mr. Dalrymple's business car, "Canada", which has been in service for years. Next is Vice-President S. J. Hungerford, in charge of Operations of Canadian National Railways, and with him travels Mr. C. A. Hayes, Vice-President of Traffic. They are in Mr. Hungerford's business car, No. 51. Vice-President of Construction for C. N. R., Mr. H. H. Macleod, in business car No. 53, is next. Mr. C. B. Brown, Engineering Assistant to the Operating Vice-President, and Mr. C. S. Gzowski, Assistant to the Vice-President of Construction, are with their respective chiefs. Then comes the car of the General Manager of Western Lines, with his assistants, and, ahead of the G. M.'s car, that of the General Superintendent of which-ever district of the railway is being inspected. A baggage car, with supplies, precedes this, and then comes the locomotive. The rear car on the President's special, is a compartment-observation car, "Fort William",—of the type used in regular transcontinental service,—to accommodate the various local officials called to duty on the train from point to point, and also to provide extra room for conferences en route.

The dining car department furnishes the equipment and provisions for the "National" work cars. The foodstuffs are taken from stock, and are precisely the same as those served to the regular dining cars in C. N. R. passenger service. The silverware is of the same quality. The chinaware costs no more, but is usually of a distinctive pattern, to facilitate replacements. Usually one steward is provided to prepare and serve meals on an official business car, but, in stances such as this inspection, where the number of travellers is greater than is ordinarily the case, a few assistant stewards are provided. Each official work car of the better class has a dining room, and a sitting room, with observation windows. Between are the kitchen, and the sleeping rooms. The latter, of necessity, are small, but are furnished in spaces comfort. The men get little sleep at best when travelling, and conditions are designed to facilitate rest when the opportunity offers.

Such is President Thornton's special inspection train, now en route west, such also, the nature and volume of the work to be accomplished through its means. When Sir Henry returns east, January 27th, he will have a mass of information catalogued for the big re-organization job he has to complete. And with him will return a party of tired C. N. R. and G. T. R. officials, who will go back to the daily grind, finding things in much the same efficient shape as if they had never left their offices.

Now Enjoying Perfect Health

She Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills to all Her Friends

Miss Adelia Itsiten who Suffered Even But Kidneys Tells of the Relief She Got.

St. Antoine Padoa, Que., Jan. 15th (Special).—"I suffered with a very bad back and my kidneys. My case seemed to be particularly grave. I read about Dodd's Kidney Pills and so decided to give some more. Five boxes sufficed to restore me to perfect health."

The above statement is made by Miss Adelia L. Itsiten, a resident of this place.

The above Miss Itsiten found her case the counterpart of other cases she read about, though she was using Dodd's Kidney Pills. That shows that they seem to be cured by the Kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills are pure and simply a Kidney remedy. For years there a number of patents Dodd's Kidney Pills have been a household remedy in thousands of Canadian homes.

Ask your neighbors about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

TO OPEN OLD TOMBS AT GRAVESEND IN QUEST OF ASHES OF POCAHONTAS.

Manchester, England.—The Guardian says: Some of the old graves at St. Gregory's Church in Gravesend are to be opened in an effort to discover the remains of the Indian Princess Pocahontas. The rector has given Edward Page Gaston, an American in London, permission to do this.

According to the parish register, Pocahontas was buried in the chancel in 1616. She died at about the age of twenty-two while on board a ship off Gravesend with her husband, as they were returning to America.

The original church burned down in the eighteenth century, and changes have been made in succeeding structures so that many Americans making the pilgrimage to the grave of the princess of fable have never had the satisfaction of knowing explicitly where it was.

Pocahontas' husband was not the John Smith, whose life she saved. She married John Rolfe, an Englishman, who brought her to England two years later when she met John Smith. Her son was founder of a well-known Virginia family.

Just before the war the colonial dames of Virginia presented the church with two stained glass windows, which were unveiled by Dr. Page. An American battleship lay off Gravesend, and there were other imposing ceremonies.

Mr. Gaston and his friends promise that if the remains of "La Belle Sauvage" can be recovered and fully identified, they might be removed to her native land. That would require the consent of the church.

PERFUME MATCHED HER SOUL

Incident That Caused Girl's Chum to Believe There Is Something in Psychology.

So pleased was Miss Rose with her experience in having a special perfume invented for her, one that represented her soul, her coloring and her point of view, that she suggested that poor Adelaide should go to the perfume studio and have the psychological perfumer mix up something for her that would represent her personality and deepen the impression she should make on all who breathed in the aroma of her presence.

"So Adelaide went along," confided Miss Rose, "and really she looked very expensive. You know Adelaide always does. She was all snappy, of course, I mean, and rather put it over Mme. La La, the psychological perfumer, and she was awfully frank—she feels that not to be frank is to be bourgeois. She said rather brutally to Mme. La La that of course the whole idea of getting one's perfumes to match one's soul was absurd, and Mme. La La must be making lots of money out of it.

"Mme. La La seemed perfectly smooth, but one can never tell about these Latins. She looked Adelaide carefully up and down, and then she seemed to go into a sort of trance. Presently she came out of the trance and told us that she had been dwelling intensively on Adelaide's characteristics.

"Madame," she said to Adelaide, 'I will distill for you the very essence of your soul.'

"And when the perfume came home what do you think?" demanded Miss Rose. "Bob, Adelaide's Persian cat, began acting terribly. It was the strongest and most pungent odor I had ever smelt. It was beautifully bottled in a queer-shaped flask with a sort of Egyptian device.

"And it was a familiar odor, too, but none of us could name it for a minute, while Bob leaped madly about the apartment.

"And then grandma came in and said:

"'For heaven's sake, who brought in the catnip?'

"And so it seems there really is something in psychology," added Miss Rose—"at least I mean"—New York Sun.

Facial Reconstruction.

The possibilities confined up in the most prosaic imagination by the casual summary of happenings at the eleventh annual congress of the American College of Surgeons, held in Philadelphia recently, make an appeal of outstanding general interest, says W. A. McGarry in the Scientific American. Perhaps the most amazing single item was the war-born work in facial reconstruction. But at first glance the building of a human face seems a phenomenon achievement, its importance to the whole public dwindles perceptibly in comparison to some other traits that during surgeons are blazing with encouraging success in settings of the human body almost uncharted, so far as the bride of the operating table is concerned.

The brain, for instance, has been approached by the most skillful surgeons, even in recent years, with brilliancy. Intra-cranial operations have been a last resort. By mental operations at the recent congress it was demonstrated not only that this condition no longer exists, but that the specialist in brain surgery is now in safe of his ground as the housewife. In the presence of famous surgeons from many countries of Europe and South America, one surgeon working by the light of a tiny electric bulb inserted into the hole which he had cut in the patient's skull, performed significant operations continuing more than two hours.

Battlefield Newspapers Live.

The flourishing, if somewhat erratic French battlefield press has not entirely disappeared since the days when Le Rempel de Guerre, from Paris to the Westminster Gazette. The former has a wide circulation and has introduced illustrations, inspired and is said to slightly widely on newspapers of the front. They still retain much of their little humor because it is not on sale to the general public, called the Progressive on Front. In the last number of this journal which appears in as erratic a manner as did its predecessors when they had to face the exigencies of day's hard shelling or night counter attack, appears a notice to readers: "Never grow anxious when the paper is late." It reads: "It is signalled once a month, but it has to go slowly because it has to beware of the level crossings."

Beautiful Lake of Atitlan.

A great lake in western Guatemala seldom visited by travelers from the United States, is described in the Panama Magazine by Mr. Alfred P. Maudslay, the British geographer. This is the Lake of Atitlan, situated in what Dr. Maudslay describes as "one of the most beautiful and best known regions on the American continent." The Indians in the neighborhood of the lake are the Cakchiquels, Tzutujils, Cachiquels and Zutugils, and still retain many of their old customs. At one time these three tribes are said to have formed a powerful confederacy, but they were at war with one another at the time of the arrival of the Spaniards, and all three were easily subdued in detail by Pedro de Alvarado, the headstrong lieutenant of Hernando Cortes.

"Give you a quarter?" said the pedestrian to the colored tramp. "Why don't you go to work and earn some quarters?"

"Well, boss," was the shame-faced reply, "by de time I gits so hungry dat I'm willin' to work I'm so weak dat I can't work till I gits some grub."

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Delia Silver, dearly beloved wife of John Dawson, who died January 19th, 1922.
The midnight stars are gleaming
On a lone and silent grave,
Beneath sleeps one I love,
But who I could not save.
Her weary hours, her days of pain
Her troubled nights are past,
Her ever patient, worn-out frame
Has found sweet rest at last.
Sadly missed by Husband and Children.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sacred and loving memory of my dear husband, Wm. Thos. Brown, and our dear father, who departed this life on January 19th, 1921.
For many years the family chain
Was firmly linked together;
But, oh, the chain is broken now,
One link has gone forever.
Keep green, dear God, a grave that lies
Beneath the wide and starry skies;
Keep sweet with sleep and give him rest,
Whose hands are folded on his breast.
No one knows how much we miss him,
No one knows what bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost him,
Home has never been the same.
Not one day forgotten.
.lap —Wife and Family.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving remembrance of my dear father, J. B. Alkenbrack, who departed this life on Dec. 11th, 1922.
When we see those precious smiles
That we tendered with such care
Lately taken from our bosoms
How our hearts almost despair.
Around the family table we gather
Till the setting sun is low,
With all our hopes have perished
With the smiles we tendered so.
.lap W. B. ALKENBRACK.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mrs. John Dawson, who passed away January 19th, 1922.
Gently the stars are shining
Down on the silent grave,
Where lies our dear one sleeping,
The one we loved but could not save.
Just one year ago she left us,
How we miss her loving face,
But she left us to remember
None on earth can take her place.

How Youth Learned the Secret of Diamond Cutting.

According to History, the First Stone Was So Treated at Bruges in the Year 1470.

With the exception of the few stones cut in Antwerp and the fewer diamonds of the world are cut in Amsterdam, where the diamond cutting business is carried on in between 30 and 40 establishments which give employment to 1,200 cutters, that is, in normal times. The first cutting of a diamond was accomplished somewhere like 450 years ago, says the Kansas City Star. The process is known among the jewelry world of the stone, called by Seneca, "the sage whose impassibility nothing can conquer." But, even in the rough, the diamond was the favorite of princes, and, very gradually, experiments revealed some of its uses. Until the fourteenth century cut-metal buttons were the chief articles of jewelry.

In the beginning of that century, when the price of enamel fell so low as to bring the devoutest knights within the reach of all purses, enameling lost the favor of the fine world, and buttons of gold and silver, ornamented with pearls, diamonds and colored stones took the place of the enamels. The finest of the stones then known as a diamond is formless miss the size of a pigeon's egg—was a gem worn on great occasions by the king of Portugal.

In the year 1470, when Bruges was a residence city, the court lived a life of extravagant luxury. Men and women went about in garments stiff with gold and silver ornaments, and sewed over with pearls and precious stones. But the stones were uncut and shapeless. Charles, son of the duke of Normandy, owned a great diamond, which he annexed himself by exhibiting to his "chaperon"; but, as he declared its virtues he bewailed its shape and its lack of light.

At that time one of the important jewel merchants of Bruges was served by a clerk who was a native of Flanders—a young man named Louis de Berquem, who was deep in hopeless love of his master's daughter. Young Berquem was on the verge of despair, when, one night, as he was hanging up his apron and preparing to go home to his attic, he saw his master bending over his bench, groaning at the futility of his labor. When Berquem asked: "Can I do something for you before I go?" the master sheered:

"Yes, bring me a tool that will cut these accursed stones." I will give a fortune to the man that does it."

From that hour the boy thought of nothing but to find means of conquering the hardness of the diamond. All day he did the bidding of his master; all night he sat at a rough bench in his attic trying to make some impression on a stone stolen from the workroom. One night he fell asleep at his bench, and dreamed that an angel said to him: "Iron is the master cutter; steel is iron purified. Take the file, get powder; take thy steel and powder it, then cut."

Berquem awoke. He fixed two diamonds in a vise, filed like mad, and collected the fallen dust. That done he made a set of little wheels and with wheels well powdered with the diamond dust set to work to win a fortune. Some days later he stood before his master, and in his outstretched palm lay a brilliant whose facets gleamed with light.

THROUGH EYES OF GEOLOGIST

Man of Science Sees Mother Earth as Many Hundred Millions of Years Old.

The geologist supposes that it took from sixty to three hundred millions of years for the earth's crust to assume its present appearance, and calculates that from the time when the first rudimentary form of life appeared there have been 12 important geologic periods of the advancement of life, the last of them being the Quarternary or Post-Tertiary, when mankind appeared. The first part of this Post-Tertiary age or period when man existed is called the Pleistocene. At that time beds of drift gravel were deposited in which have been found flint hatchets and other implements, apparently made by men. Primitive man is also known as Paleolithic, and the age in which he lived is often called the Old Stone age. Some authorities, however, believe that primitive man existed before Paleolithic man, but left no traces of his existence. He probably gained his food through hunting, wandering along the river valleys—and then later took to cave dwelling. Rude drawings have been found in caves, the work of the "cave man." The flint weapons gradually improved, the cave man became a better artist, he domesticated animals and cultivated the soil. In this period, which is called the New Stone age, man is known as Neolithic man. Then came the Bronze age, when bronze took the place of flint; after that the Iron age and the Age of History. The Chinese records of their history commence about the year 2,000 B. C. About 5000 B. C. (according to "Tabular Views of Universal History," compiled by George Palmer Putnam, A. M., and edited by George Haven Putnam, Litt., D.), flourishing city states appeared in the Mesopotamia region, indicating an antiquity for Babylonian civilization that may be carried back approximately to the eighth or ninth millennium B. C. In Egypt the latest research has brought the sixth millennium B. C. within the scope of history, and about 4500 B. C. in Asia, there was a "struggle among the kings of Kengi, Kish, Shirpurla and Gishbun in Babylonia."

King George's Rent Roll.

King George recently applied to parliament for permission to sell certain portions of his entailed duchy of Lancaster estates. The total rent roll of these valuable properties is only about $275,000. It ought to be a very great deal more, but for the fact that previous sovereigns were in the habit of granting what were in effect perpetual leases at a nominal rent, plus a substantial cash payment by the original lessee. It is for this reason that the present king has to be content with a nosegay of roses as rental for that portion of the duchy estates on which stands St. Olave's grammar school, near Tower bridge; whereas what the lawyers term its "reversionary" rent has been calculated at about $250,000. Similarly, a tablecloth, a fur coat, a horse and halter, a curry-comb, a nightcap, a pair of scarlet hose, a falcon, a cross-bow and a pair of tongs figure every year in the duchy accounts. Each article represents the "rent" paid, or supposed to be paid, for some manor, farm or piece of land.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Why Briand Stammered.

A beautiful example of courtesy was shown recently by Premier Briand of France during a ceremony at which he conferred a medal of honor upon an American soldier, the Deliverator states. Monsieur Briand does not speak English, the American soldier spoke no French. The boy had, however, learned a little French speech. But when he rose before the distinguished audience, these French words deserted him. He began, got through the first sentence, stuttered in the second, hesitated, reached into his mind in vain for the rest of the French words—and then finished his thanks in English.

The expression on the face of the French premier never changed. When the boy had finished speaking, Monsieur Briand began a few English words he had learned. "I have a great affection for your country and a veneration for—" He hesitated—and finished in French.

It was a delicate way to make the soldier feel that the premier of France was as poorly equipped in the soldier's language as the soldier had been in French. And this is manners. Back of that kind act was solely a desire to make a fellow being more comfortable.

Waitress Has Idea on Tip's Status.

Whether the "man in the street" regards the tip he leaves beside his plate as payment for service rendered or as part of the charge for his lunch, there is no doubt about its status in the mind of one Broadway waitress.

Because he had no loose change in his pocket, one diner walked out of his habitual luncheon haunt the other day without leaving his customary dime. Next day, to square accounts, he put down two dimes as he rose from the table. Whereupon blonde 42nde, retrieving the coins with practiced hand remarked: "Oh, see, that's so; you do owe me a dime."—New York Sun.

Speed.

The Woman picked her way cautiously along the sidewalk, here and there small cakes of ice still adhered to the pavement, despite the strenuous efforts which had been made to remove them.

Coming toward her she beheld a young colored waifer, bearing on his right hand, in true Pullman fashion, a heavy tray loaded with dishes, which he was returning to a restaurant where the Woman was also bound. He was traveling quickly and the Woman hoped that he might not make a misstep, but her good wishes for his safe conduct proved futile. He slipped on a treacherous strip of glassy ice, formed from water which dripped from the roof of the building, slid rapidly the full length of the strip and brought up at the restaurant door in a sitting position, still manfully balancing the tray. The lead waiter, who had witnessed his undignified arrival, ran out and relieved him of his burden.

As the fallen one rose to his feet he displayed his even white teeth in a broad grin and said:

"Ah say, boss, it suttinly pays good dividends dat dishes was cut. Ah done told me to git dee hash dishes in a hurry. Ah didn't even take time to walk. Ah come back like a 'xpress train. Ah did."—Chicago Journal.

Then She Recognized Him.

Courtney Riley Cooper at a lunch treat luncheon told of the days when he was press agent for Buffalo Bill. Cooper now writes short stories of circus life. One night Buffalo Bill came out to his ranch late and drove up quietly to his house. He knocked at the door. "Who's there?" said Mrs. Buffalo Bill. "It's Bill," was the reply. "I know better," said the wife, "get away from that door or I'll fill you full of holes—and I'm a sure shot." The old plainsman was thoughtful for a moment, then tip-toed back to his buggy, drove a short distance, turned about and beat the horse into a wild run. He put across the yard, tore up a tree or two, raked down a fence, upset a cistern and finally drove the horse upon the front porch. Then he knocked at the door. "Come in, Willie," said his wife.—New York Correspondence of the Indianapolis Star.

Judge Consumed Evidence.

A postal clerk was before ex-Judge Landis one day for stealing a bag of peanuts. As Landis listened to the evidence he absent-mindedly munched peanuts. Presently the assistant district attorney in charge said: "And now, your honor, we come to the evidence. We have here—"

Judge Landis gave a start and looked at the bag. It was empty.

"Good Lord," he gasped, "did those peanuts belong to the government? Mr. Blank, you'll have to dismiss this case."

Embarrassing.

My married sister invited me to pass a week at her home to meet a dear friend of the family. After being introduced he moved to another chair. I, thinking he meant me to take his chair, rolled it toward me and sat down. At the same time he backed toward where he had left his chair and landed on the floor, to the amusement of everyone but himself. He left early and we have never met since. Of course he thinks I did it on purpose.—Exchange.

CHARM IN WOMAN

Something Average Person Finds It Hard to Define.

Secret of Attraction Is a Riddle Unsolved Apparently Since the Creation of the World.

The secret of the attraction of some women for men has been sought for countless ages. The riddle is as old as the Sphinx and as unsolvable.

History has been made, wars won and lost, noble deeds performed, and crimes committed all for the love of woman.

What is the secret of the attraction? Beauty is the first thing that springs to mind. Yet it needs but little reflection to show that beauty is often the last asset of the fascinating woman at whose shrine is daily offered masculine worship. Brains, cleverness, beauty, a ready wit, a musical voice may be possessed in bulk or alone by a woman, and yet she may leave men cold.

Nature's law of compensation is immutable, and never more clearly shown than in feminine attraction. How rarely is statuesque beauty accompanied by the charm and fascination that attracts. A woman may possess the beauty of Venus, and cause no masculine pulse to beat the faster. Yet her almost ugly sister, irregular of feature and without physical charm, may be never without a man to pay her court.

Strangely enough, it is woman herself who lays most stress on beauty. Rarely will she admit beauty in another woman. "She is very attractive, she is fascinating, she has charm, but she is not really good looking, my dear," they will say, not realizing that they are according the highest need of praise.

Beauty is an accident, but charm and fascination are either beauty from within or else they come from connections creation.

"For it is possible for some women to cultivate attraction. It is the kind that can be analyzed and defined in words, and it sometimes accompanies and is sometimes apart from, the indefinable fascination that is born, for want of a better word, as charm.

Who has not seen the ordinary, apparently unattractive woman change under the stimulus of animation? Her face lights up, her eyes sparkle, her laugh becomes mischievous—she becomes more beautiful than perfect beauty. Sometimes it is a mere inflection of voice, the allurement of a wide mouth tip-tilted in infectious laughter, human sympathy in a pair of real eyes. The play of a hand, the turn of an ankle, the unruly kink of curly hair—each has in turn served to bind with unbreakable fetters masculine adoration which pale and perfect beauty has left cold.

The French have a happily descriptive term for this type of irregular fascination which holds men in thralldom before them. Like the women it describes, it is intriguing—"the pretty ugglies"—and it is the nearest possible definition of the elusive attraction which so many plain women possess, an attraction which leaves their more beautiful sisters envious and unsettled.—Ruth MacMahon, in the Continental Edition of the London Mail.

Sweet Lady.

As the train made its two-minute stop at the suburban station the commuter was aroused from her study of the morning paper by a companion in the car. Some one had found a very fat purse in the seat behind her, and was visibly searching for the lucky recipient. "It belongs to the old lady," was called from across the aisle, and the finder hurried to thrust it into the trembling hand of a very frail old lady who had just reached the door. As she turned to step into the train the observer way fraized a charming picture of bewildered gratitude, then she was gone! "Poor old lady, it must have meant a lot to her." was the sympathetic murmur that went through the car just as an excited girl dashed into the other door, calling, "Has this was the car, this was the seat. I left my purse!" "We gave it to the old lady," and a very crestfallen face detector pointed to the crowd on the platform. The girl turned and fled, the train pulled out and the passengers are still wondering.—Chicago Journal.

Two-Thirds Are Married.

Notwithstanding the U. C. of L. nearly two-thirds of the population of the United States, from fifteen years up, is married. But notwithstanding all you read about the prevalence of the divorce evil, the census bureau says there are only about one-half million divorced persons in the country, Capper's Weekly says. Maybe they don't stay that way. Mississippi and Arkansas have the highest proportion of married men, 62.8, and Nevada the smallest, 45.9. It seems strange that in the western states the proportion of married men is small and of women is large. The explanation is the high ratio of men to women. Eastern girls should take Horace Greeley's advice.

Practical Aid for Farmers.

If a recently developed farm machine fulfills expectations, a large part of the loss to farmers from weeds and insect pests can be eliminated, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The processes used are not new, in themselves, but their practical combination has been described as one of the most important developments in the history of agriculture. The entire combination is operated by a small gasoline engine, mounted on the frame.

KING'S SON TO WED DAUGHTER OF PEER.

LADY ELIZABETH BOWES-LYON IS PRINCE ALBERT'S FIANCEE.

London, England. — The engagement of Prince Albert, the Duke of York, second son of King George and Queen Mary, to Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, is announced in a court circular issued Monday.

The official announcement of the betrothal, which King George sanctioned "with the greatest of pleasure", has particular interest, as finally disposing of the recent rumor of the engagement of the Prince of Wales to Lady Elizabeth. It leaves the gossips still speculating regarding who is to be the bride of the heir to the throne.

The Duke of York, like his elder brother, is very popular, and his choice of a bride of his own nation is a source of gratification to the country. Lady Elizabeth is the third and only unmarried daughter of the Earl of Strathmorel. Her engagement to the Duke of York has been the subject of rumor owing to their association on the hunting fields and at various social functions.

Lady Elizabeth has been much in the society of Royalty during the past two years. She is pretty, high-spirited and clever, and in addition, an accomplished hostess. She acted in the latter capacity at her home, Glamis Castle, in Scotland, in October, 1921, during the illness of her mother, when a Royal party, including the Duke of York and Princess Mary, were entertained there by the Strathmorels.

That was the first occasion of a visit to the castle by the son of a reigning king since Prince James, son of Charles II., went there.

The romance between the Duke of York and Lady Elizabeth began at the wedding of Princess Mary to Viscount Lascelles, and is said to be a real love match.

The Duke of York is known to the public as the "royal airman". He served in the navy during the early stages of the war and was on Admiral Jellicoe's flagship during the Battle of Jutland. After the battle he was invalided out of the navy and later joined the air force.

When the war ended the Duke completed his education at Cambridge University. He is an all-round sportsman.

Lady Elizabeth has four brothers, all of them soldiers. She is twenty-two years old.

CLARENCE A. BOGERT BELIEVES IN EXERCISE.

STRENUOUS OUTDOOR SPORT NEEDED FOR ALL DESK WORKERS.

The policy of linking up business with fresh air and exercise has a consistent friend in Clarence A. Bogert, general manager of the Dominion Bank. He has been an enthusiastic golfer since as far back as 1897, and puts a thoroughness into his game on a par with the manner in which he tackles most things.

In his younger days (Mr. Bogert was an oarsman of some note, being associated with the Argonaut Rowing Club as a member of several crack crews. He was stroke oar of the first Dominion Bank four to win the regatta event for financial institutions. These races were subsequently perpetuated by the late H. C. Hammond who donated the Hammond Trophy which is still competed for.

"I am a firm believer in out-door exercise for men in business," remarked Mr. Bogert to the writer. "The members of our staff are encouraged to take an active interest in some form of outdoor sport. That sort of recreation develops the body and clears the brain. A man cannot properly attend to his business duties unless he has an active, healthy body and a clear mind. These go hand-in-hand with intensity, common sense and thoroughness, which are the elements directing towards success in any business, particularly that of banking. The sluggish brain cannot assimilate many of the things that count. It has not the capacity for detail. The mind requires relaxation of a healthy sort. Golf is excellent recreation to keep a person in condition for the more serious game of business."

As an additional form of constructive recreation, Mr. Bogert believes that the banker can help himself and others by devoting whatever time he can spare to affairs affecting the community generally. He has served on the Boards of Trade in Montreal and Toronto with distinction.

"I think a bank manager should take a lively interest in all matters of public importance," he declared, adding however that in these days bank managers are too busy to follow their inclinations in this regard.

Mr. Bogert has remained continuously with the Dominion Bank ever since he entered its service as a junior clerk over forty years ago. He is a native of Napanee, Ont., and is a bachelor.

WHY HE WAS WILLING.

Each of the jurymen appearing before a judge explained that it would mean disaster to him to serve at that term of court—all but a little fellow at the end of the line, a hunter, who had lived in a cabin on the creek all his life.

"You, sir?"

"Haven't you got a sick mother needing your attention?"

"No, sir; I am an orphan."

"What about your crop?"

"Don't raise anything."

"You think you can spare the time to serve on a jury two weeks?"

"I sure can, Judge."

The Judge meditated for a moment. Then his curiosity got the better of him.

"You are the only man who has got the time to serve your country as a juryman," he said. "Would you mind telling me how it happens?"

"Sure not," the little man replied promptly. "I heard you was goin' to try Bill Mercer fer his barn. He shot a dog o' mine once."

CAN SAVE GAS IN SHIFTING GEARS.

IN ASCENDING HILL DO NOT DELAY IN CHANGING GEARS.

Here is a suggestion to motorists for the saving of gasoline which may be small in amount for a single day's drive, but which will be worth while in a year's driving. The common practice of waiting to shift gears on hills until the car has almost come to a stop is one of the causes of waste of gasoline. Another is the habit of public roads; this fact is shown by tests conducted by Prof. T. R. Agg of Iowa State college.

The tests were made primarily to determine the effect of various kinds of lubricating material and different engine speeds on gasoline consumption. The conclusion with reference to fuel economy is merely incidental to the tests, but it is one which will mean a small saving to every man who drives a car in the advice of the tourists' school.

Every time you change gears you must operate the throttle, and another record is made of the fuel that flows through the carburetor. Every time you change gears you must operate the throttle, and another record is made of the fuel that flows through the carburetor. Every time you change gears you must operate the throttle, and another record is made of the fuel that flows through the carburetor.

In ascending a hill do not wait until the car has almost come to a stop before changing gears. If you do you must operate the throttle, and another record is made of the fuel that flows through the carburetor.

In the same way, in descending a hill, do not change gears at the last moment. Change gears at the proper time, and you will save fuel.

In such cases, common sense suggests the use of reliable home remedies, such as Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which is wonderfully effective in easing inflammatory pains and healing bruises, scalds, cuts and sprains. The presence of this remedy in the family medicine chest means many a [illegible]

As long as the grass in a Chicago public park is healthy and green the officers seem to look upon it as something of garden and forbid people to the slums command them. When it is dry, to die out, however, they give it [illegible] cautiously over it. A man in a hurry started across the grass with a yellow patch in the middle. A policeman yelled at him to "What difference does it make?" demanded the stranger. "The grass is half dead already."

"Sure," said the policeman, "but if you've had a sick friend, would you like to find on his stomach?"

Don't Submit to Aching. If you suffer without hope of breaking the chains which bind you do not put off another day the purchase of Dr. Thomas' Kelloge's Remedy. A trial will drive away all doubt as to its efficiency. The sure relief that comes will convince you more than anything that can be written. When help is so sure, why suffer? This matchless remedy is sold by dealers everywhere.

An extraordinary fat woman, laden with parcels and packages, and bearing upon her countenance the look of one who is used to speculate in her mind, was trying to mount the steps of a London motor bus.

Helplessly she stood on stood the conductor, a diminutive bantam of a person.

The large female, having reached the second step, with a glance of withering scorn, told him: "If yer was 'arf a man, yer'd 'elp me up."

The uniformed miniature calmly replied: "If ye were 'arf a woman, I would."

Joe Plaint was the new hostler at the village hotel, and he was being put through his initiation in the care of horses.

The head groom made a tour of inspection to see that all his instructions had been obeyed.

"Joe," he demanded, "have you groomed all your horses?"

"Yes, sir," answered Joe promptly. "Have you cleaned out their hoofs?"

"No, sir: I can't do that yet awhile" explained the novice. "They've been standing on them all day, but I've been watching and waiting for them to lie down."

IF YOU could Visit our Mills—

VISITORS to the Quaker Mills no longer marvel at the exclusive flavour, texture and goodness of all things baked with Quaker Flour. They see for themselves the infinite care with which Canada's finest wheat is treated from the berry to the sack.

They see how thoroughly the grain is selected and cleaned—how gradually and finely it is milled—to produce a perfect flour. They see how Quaker Quality is ever maintained, by constant vigilance and hourly tests in the process of milling—by an actual baking of bread from each day's flour. Quaker Flour must bake up to the Quaker standard before it can leave the Quaker Mills.

They realize why no other flour can equal "Quaker". Try it for your next baking.

OBITUARY.

William W. Winter.

What proved to be a very sad and distressing fatality occurred on Wednesday, the 3rd inst., at Judson, Gunter & Dennison's lumber camp, sixteen miles from Maynooth, when William Wilson Winter, better known to his friends as Billie Winter, passed over to the Great Beyond at the early age of twenty-two years, having died on his birthday, heart failure being the cause of death. The sad news came as a great shock to his home and friends.

He had left for the camp in company with his brother and a boy friend on New Years morning, arriving there on Tuesday forenoon. Preparing himself in the usual way he started to work on Wednesday morning, apparently enjoying good health, and, although a great lover of home, he seemed reasonably happy and contented amid the duties surrounding him.

The end came suddenly and without a struggle. Having completed the day, and on returning to camp, some three miles distant and when but a few rods on his way, he was seen to fall. His brother being near stepped to his assistance and aided by his friend did all in their power to revive him, but to no avail.

A number of friends were waiting to convey the remains to his home, west of Selby, where funeral services were conducted by the Rev. T. H. P. Anderson, on Saturday, in the presence of a goodly number of friends from far and near, who came to show their lasting tribute of respect to the departed as well as their undying sympathy to the bereaved parents and family. Interment took place at Kinmont in the family plot while the body of a brother, George Winter, who died a number of years previous.

There are left to mourn the loss of an affectionate brother, six sisters and two brothers, while father and mother mourn the loss of a dutiful and loving son. The sympathy of a large circle of friends goes out to the bereaved family in their great loss.

Thomas W. Bell.

Thomas W. Bell, 4740 Michigan Avenue, Chicago, passed away at his home on Wednesday morning, January 3rd, following a mastoid operation. Mr. Bell had been in poor health for some months, but was not thought serious until a few days before his death, when it was found that an operation was necessary. A Masonic funeral was held from his home on Friday, Jan. 5th. He leaves a wife and five daughters to mourn his loss. Those from out of the city who attended the funeral were, his cousins, the Rev. E. Frazer Bell, of Madison, Wis., and the Rev. A. B. Bell, of Elkhorn, Wisconsin.

Thos. W. Bell was an only son of the late Robert B. Bell, of Ottawa, and a nephew of the late A. P. Bell, of Napanee, Ont. Mr. Bell spent his early life at the home of his grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson, on the Newburgh Road. He went to Chicago when about 20 years of age and has been a trusted employee of the Union Stock Yards ever since.

A British tar, home on leave and celebrating the occasion, had got himself into a dilemma. He had hired a taxi, only to discover when approaching his destination that he was penniless. He had dined and wined, not wisely, but too well. But the British navy is a training school of resourcefulness—he caught up the speaking tube, shouted "Stop!" and jumped out. "I just want to pop into this tobacconist's and get some matches," he explained to the driver. "I've dropped a pound note somewhere in the cab and can't find it in the dark." He entered the tobacconist's, and as he did so the cab and its driver vanished into the night, as he had anticipated.

The throat, breathing passages and lungs are the weak spots in which colds strike. And these are the very organs most difficult to treat, because only breathable remedy is capable of reaching the trouble lodged there.
Peps provide a breathable remedy, and their superiority over remedies which are swallowed into the stomach is therefore obvious. For convenience, this breathable remedy is condensed into tablet form. To take the treatment, merely dissolve Peps in your mouth, and the medicinal vapor that is released is carried by the breath to the remote parts of the breathing passages and lungs, healing, soothing and strengthening every part with which it comes in contact. At the same time, by destroying all disease germs, these medicinal fumes prevent the development of colds, coughs and serious chest troubles.
Carry Peps with you, and when you go from an overheated building to the bitter cold of outdoors, put a pastille to your mouth. Also as a protection against germs, keep a Pep in your mouth, when breathing the impure air of a crowded theatre or store.
For colds, 'flu, coughs, or chest troubles, which have already developed, Peps are equally invaluable; also for croup, sore throat, laryngitis, etc. All dealers, 50c. box.

MAN, SMALL MAN!

Feminine Poll Clerk Learns All About Him.

No Longer Can She Be Convinced of the Superiority of the So-Called Sterner Sex.

The amateur poll clerk, who was likewise an ardent feminist, returned to her home on election night tired, but aduttter with excitement as a result of her first attempt at checking prospective voters. As she entered the house the first persons to greet her were her brother and her lanner, both of whom had the obnoxious habit of poking fun at her efforts to uphold the dignity of her sex.

"You will rant to me about the superiority of man, will you?" she demanded militantly, according to the New York Sun. "Well, let me tell you that it takes a day at the polls to prove what's what. Until now I've had to submit to your insults because I had no way to prove my point, but now I know all about you great big splendid men. Don't you ever dare to tell me again that women aren't the equal of men in every way or that you are any more competent to run the country than we are."

As she paused a moment for breath her dual antagonist seized the opportunity to get a word in edgewise and demanded, as one man, to be told the reason for this unexpected tirade.

"I'll tell you all about it," she replied. "You know that the law, since women have won the vote, has been remodeled so that voters in stating their ages need say nothing more than 'Over thirty.' That, according to you men, is permitted out of deference to a silly old superstition that we women dislike to tell our ages. Ha! ha!

"One of the first voters today was old Mr. Jones. He's so old he needs a companion to guide him about the street. When I asked him his age he said 'Over thirty,' and he has been that for the last fifty years at least.

"Then, a little later, young Jack Merserau came in. Every one knows this is only his second vote, yet he had the unprecedented nerve to stand there and tell me he was 'over thirty.' There's your male supremacy. All he wanted was to have me go out and tell the girls he is over thirty, I suppose, or that he can pose as a blase man about town.

"Why, there were just as many men as women who refused to state their true ages. Whatever their reasons might be, I'm sure I could never guess. Now, with women it's different. They must always seem to be young or else they will lose out in the social world and be regarded as old dowagers, to be shunned by all the younger set."

"It would be different, of course, if the men had any real reason for wanting to conceal their ages, but under the circumstances it seems to me that such actions betoken an exceedingly low race of intelligence."

Then, without giving her audience a chance to come to its own support, she ran up the stairs to her room to make a quick change before dinner.

Mpliere's Troubles Adviser.

Recent diggings in the social life of France in the Seventeenth century have led to the discovery of some interesting information about Molie. However he be del de Bussy, a grandnephew of Adam Blackwood, a lawyer of Poitiers, of Scotch origin, who was Moliere's intimate friend in Paris when he was writing his masterpieces.

The literary executor is M. Boulle Magne, the well-known French critic, and he has found that Moliere first met Mlle. de Bussy at the house of her uncle in Paris, and that it was the famous Nicolas de Lesfleur (probably who introduced her to him. She became his most valuable and trusted literary adviser. Each play was read to her before it was put on the stage, and her verdict was always accepted as decisive by the author, and invariably indorsed by the public. This was so even with that daring experiment "L'Avare," for though it was coldly received on its first performance it won a great triumph on its revival a year later.

Saw Vitamines at Play.

Don't be surprised if you hear a man one lazing vitamins one of these days to having seen some floating around in the trons, says the Columbus Dispatch. We are ready for anything since a prominent Columbus business man has asserted that he saw some vitamines at play the other day. He was eating lunch at a prominent club and during the course of the meal some Camembert cheese was placed before him. Suddenly his attention was captured by movements of some tiny organisms on the cheese.

"Hey, waiter!" he called. "Come here."

"Did you ever see any vitamines?" he asked when the waiter came to his table.

"No, sah, boss; nevah did," answered the waiter.

"Well, look there," said the man, pointing to the cheese. "There's them."

RECEPTION AND PRESENTATION.

A reception was held in the Town Hall, Tamworth, on January 2nd, where a host of friends and relatives gathered for the express purpose of wishing Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Haggerty bon voyage through life, and presenting them with three beautiful taper-try chairs, also several other useful gifts, which shows the high esteem in which the bride and groom are held.

The first part of the evening was devoted to progressive euchre, and after the prizes were distributed, a bountiful lunch was served. Local talent efficiently rendered music for the dancing, which was indulged in until the wee small hours of the morning.

Mr. Haggerty in a few well chosen words, expressed his appreciation of the manner in which the many kind friends made manifest their good wishes.

MOTHERS' ALLOWANCE COMMISSION.

Local Board Mothers' Allowance Commission was organized at County Clerk's Office, on Monday, the 15th inst. Mr. Carleton Wood was appointed Chairman, Mrs. Wesley Wagar, Vice Chairman, and County Clerk Wilson, Secretary. The other members of the Board are Miss Lillian Gardier and Mr. Christie Kellar.

A resolution of appreciation of services of Mr. W. W. Adams, late Chairman, was passed.

Miss Maude M. Abernethy, Lady Investigator of Commission, Kingston District, was present, and gave her assistance in construing some of the regulations of the Commission. Applications of two were approved of and forwarded to Head Office. Several other applications were considered and deferred for further information.

Board adjourned at call of Secretary.

The Board carefully scrutinizes the applications and none are passed till rights of parties are fully established. The members of the Board appreciate the difficulty they are often placed in and endeavor to do ample justice in each case, but there are often those seeking relief which the Board cannot, under the provisions of the Act and regulations, grant.

The Province pays one-half of the grants to beneficiaries and the County the other half.

TO BUILD BRIDGE ON BAY OF QUINTE.

The most welcome news that has come to Deseronto since the announcement that the Quinte General Manufacturing Company was to combine all its interests and works in Deseronto, was the word on Thursday from the Hon. Nelson Parliament, Speaker of the House, Toronto, that the bridge between Deseronto and Prince Edward, spanning the Bay of Quinte, is an assured fact. The appropriation from the government is available and the government is ready to proceed with the construction of the bridge and will, upon the counties of Hastings and Prince Edward making the appropriation agreed upon during the negotiations.

The two counties will proceed at once to make the appropriations, and the object of a long hard fight will soon be reached. For a few have maintained all along in the fight that the bridge would never be built, but they are now joining hands with those of the faith in celebrating the good news.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual congregational meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was held in the School Room, on Thursday evening, and in spite of the stormy weather, a large and representative congregation was present.

After devotional exercises, the work of the congregation for 1922 was passed in review. Reports were presented by the Secretary and Treasurer of every congregation connected with the church, and each and every society and committee from cradle roll to session and managers, reported a year of progress.

The Managers reported the church property in good state of repair, but forecasted an expenditure of approximately five hundred dollars on the buildings during the coming year. Due to the lessen of $1000 from the late Thos. Symington, the total debt had been reduced to one thousand dollars. The balance after all accounts had been met was about two hundred dollars.

The congregation expressed its sympathy with Mr. S. Wilson, who had been forced to resign his office as Session Clerk because of failing eyesight.

The Ladies' Aid, the Managers and the various Treasurers were given the thanks of the congregation for their careful and energetic work.

The Managers and Session were instructed to make arrangements for a congregational "At Home", to be held in the near future.

ROD AND GUN IN CANADA.

A perusal of the February issue of Rod and Gun in Canada, the well-known Canadian outdoors magazine, reveals a liberal supply of entertaining and instructive reading. One thing that has always featured this national sportsmen's journal, is the diversity of subjects it covers and like the preceding numbers, the February number has something of interest and of value for sportsmen, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. There is a feature article: "Hunting Wild Horses in Southern Saskatchewan," by Harry M. Moore, that is well worth reading. There is fiction, too, of a high order, while such prominent naturalists and students of wild life, as Bonnycastle Dale and J. W. Winson contribute fine articles. The Fishing Notes department contains an article on the light lure, that will be read appreciatively by anglers, while the Guns and Ammunition department is well up to its usual high standard, and that means a great deal. The other departments, the additional features, the many fine illustrations all combine to make up a magazine that will meet with instant favor.

Rod and Gun in Canada is published monthly at Woodstock, Ontario, by W. J. Taylor, Limited.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Under and by virtue of the powers contained in a certain mortgage which will be produced at the time of sale, there will be offered for sale by public auction, subject to a reserve bid, on Saturday, February 17th, 1923, at the hour of 1.30 o'clock in the afternoon, at the office of J. E. Madden, Barrister-at-law, John St., Napanee, the following property known as the Platt farm, situate in the Township of Adolphustown, in the County of Lennox and Addington, and described as follows:—All and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises, situate, lying and being in the Township of Adolphustown, in the County of Lennox and Addington, and being composed of 807 acres of land be the same more or less.

Firstly, the East 100 acres of Lot No. 15, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Adolphustown, as described in a deed from Annie Buck to Rosanna Platt, and dated December 11th, 1902, together with that portion of the West Half of Lot No. 15, North of the travelled road and next adjacent to Hay Bay, now occupied by the Mortgagor, and as described in a deed from Bell Buck to Rosanna Platt.

Secondly, the West half of Lot No. 16, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Adolphustown, containing 100 acres be the same more or less.

Fourthly, Lot No. 18, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Adolphustown, containing 200 acres, be the same more or less.

Fifthly, the East half of Lot No. 19, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Adolphustown, containing 100 acres, be the same more or less.

Sixthly, parts of Lots Nos. 19 and 20, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Adolphustown, containing 80 acres, be the same more or less, as described in a deed from one Samuel Casey, to Gilbert S. Casey, bearing date the 14th day of August, 1911.

Eighthly, part of the West half of Lot No. 20, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Adolphustown, and described in a deed from Alfred E. Platt to Percival Platt, dated October 23rd, 1888, description thereof, and therefrom, (firstly) one-quarter of an acre, and (secondly) one-quarter of an acre, and (thirdly) one-third of an acre, all of which said parcels will be more particularly described at the time of sale.

The said property will be offered for sale, subject to a reserve bid, on said parcels, which will be particularly described at the time of sale, and if the amount of the reserve bid is not reached by the aggregate amount offered for said parcels, then lots Nos. 807 acres will be offered for sale in the parcel, and subject to a reserve bid.

Terms of sale:—10 per cent. of the purchase money to be paid down at the time of sale, and balance in cash or bank within 30 days.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR.

Hearing Scotland by Radio.

Kingston, Jan. 19.—(To the Editor):—When a boy I used to believe that when the snow was falling the folks over in Scotland were plucking geese. That was just a fairy tale, and so is Mr. Frett's announcement of having heard Edinburgh, Scotland. If he or anyone else will take the trouble of writing to the radio department of the Sweeney Automobile School of Kansas City, Mo., they will throw some light on this subject and explain the Scotch concert they were broadcasting on Tuesday night. If Mr. Frettz had been listening to the Scotch gentleman for a period longer than three minutes he would have heard the whole history of the Radio Bug who received the concert from far away Broadcasting stations and who can't repeat or remember or hear the station call letters.

Yours truly,
JAMES BOYD.

That Scotland Message.

Kingston, Jan. 19.—(To the Editor):—I see by your issue of the 19th that R. O. Frettz, Napanee, claims to have heard Scotland by radio last Tuesday night. This is a joke, and if Mr. Frettz had been able to hear as far as he said he would have doubtless it had come from Station W.P.B., the Sweeney Auto-Tractor School, Kansas City, Mo. This station has a performer known as the "Radio Bug", and he may be heard any Tuesday evening from 9 to 12. Last Tuesday he was imitating European stations talking to Kansas City.

Just before the Scotchmen came on there was a man speaking in some foreign language who suddenly changed to English and said there was a Scotchman trying to get on. There was a burst of Scotch music and then in broad Scotch "This is Edinburgh, Scotland, the land of the heather, Haig and Haig, and Harry Lauder." He went on to tell what a brave place Kansas City was. We heard this distinctly on the loud speaker and I am absolutely certain of what I say. This station is one of the world-while ones, and their concerts are all good.

Yours truly,
JAMES A. GOURLEY,
243 Albert St.,
Kingston Standard.

BATH.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harnden, aged about two months, passed away on Friday morning, after a short illness of pneumonia. The funeral was held at the residence at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, by Rev. A. L. McTear. The remains were placed in the vault.—Mr. E. J. Sexsmith, M.P., has returned from visiting his brother, Rev. M. Sexsmith, at Ingersoll, Ont.—The Bath hockey team played their first game of hockey with the Odessa team on Saturday afternoon. The score was 4 to 0 in favor of the Bath team.—Mrs. E. J. Sexsmith and son, Carman, are spending some time with the Rev. Earl Sexsmith, at Queensboro', Ont.—Mrs. Fred Thorpe, who has been seriously ill, is slightly improved.—Ross Sexsmith is attending the session of the County Council at Napanee.—A most enjoyable euchre party and dance was held in the Masonic Hall, Bath, on Friday, January 19th, in aid of the Public Library. All tables were filled and the games went on with great zest until eleven-thirty. The winner of the first prize for ladies, was Mrs. Harry Hoselton, and the gentleman's first prize went to Mr. Arthur Huffman. The lone hand prize being carried off by Mr. Harold Sills.) After the prizes were awarded by Dr. Northmore, the Chairman of the Library Board, refreshments were served. Dancing was then carried merrily on until two-thirty. The singing of the "National Anthem" brought to a close one of the most enjoyable evenings that has been held for a very long time in Bath.

CEDAR DALE.

The farmers of this vicinity welcomed the rain on Saturday last, as it raised the water considerably.—Dancing and wood drawing seem to be the order of the day.—Quite a number from here attended the funeral of the late Robert Close, Tamworth.—Messrs. Calvert and Wesley Kelly spent Saturday night in Enterprise.—Miss Myrtle Simmons, of Actinolite, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Fred Rose.—Sorry to say that Mr. Joe Byrnes are all sick with the Flu, with Dr. Horton in attendance.—Mr. Les. Mrs. Hope is in Belleville on a professional visit to her daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) Swayne.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Benjamin Lewis, of Wesley, was held on Saturday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Nickle. The remains were placed in the vault of the Newburgh cemetery. Mrs. Lewis has been in ill health for some time past, and when seized with a severe cold, which developed into pneumonia, she rapidly grew weaker, and despite the best medical aid, she passed away, deeply mourned by her aged husband and family. One daughter, Mrs. Campbell, of Wesley, and three sons, Shirley Lewis, Earl Lewis and Gerald Lewis, survive. One daughter, Mrs. Coburn, died some years ago.

Lines Addressed to Newburgh Valley

O valley, how I love you,
Even when the snow in graceful swell
Invade your quiet glades,
Or on the upland
Where ice curving banks
Reflects the morning sun
Like myriad diamonds.
Or when these crystals turn to liquid
And swell the stream
That rushes down the hillside,
Adding its merry prattle
To the life of spring time,
With its green and gold,
And springing flowers.
When summer comes,
No scorching winds
Invade your quiet depths,
My valley;
And quiet stretches of your stream
Reflects the trees that line its mossy banks,
Beneath whose shade
In boat or on the shore
The weary swain may rest awhile,
And bid life's troubles depart.
And e'en the swimming pool
Provides a shade,
Where youth and maid may rest awhile
From restless dive,
Or merry plunge,
And chat of things essential,
And turn the eyes toward the hill
Where stands the old colonial pile,
Where youth and maidens seek
The learning
That will give them help
In life's stern battle.
Within whose walls
Where pressed the eager feet
Of those of passing years;
Our memories fond
The struggles fought and won,
The struggles fought and lost.
Which leaves sad memories.
And here the streams of love
Mayhap found spring,
In years of sallow youth
And maiden coy,
To run in shy seclusion for a time,
And then unite in closer bond
To life's life's cares.
Nor should one miss the spot
Which overlooks the valley.
Where sleep the quiet dead,
Whereon on tablets raised,
Is told the wordless tale
Of hardships faced,
Of sorrows past,
Of victory won,
Of quietness and peace at last,
Nor rest the weary and they rest.
In nature's beauty spot.
O how I love this valley,
Its memories full of joy and sadness,
Within its borders hope is bouyant,
Life most pleasant
My valley, yes, I love you.

MILLHAVEN.

Winter has once again arrived, and the ice bridge has formed between the mainland and Simmons Island. The first crossing was done on Sunday last. The Islanders will be glad to be free.—Mr. D. Murney, of Napanee, who has the contract to construct the new wharf, has the timbers all on the shore ready to be put in position as soon as the ice is strong enough to work on.—School has re-opened again with Instructor A. Bonga in charge, after the holiday period.—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Morpheyer have removed from the Fairfield farm back to Toronto.—Mr. John Henderson, who has been laid up with his arm and under the care of Dr. H. S. Northmore, is again on duty.—Messrs Bielby and Babcock have gone in the fox farming business and have purchased five fine Silver Blacks. They are beauties. They have constructed modern yards and dens. We wish them success in their new venture.—W. D. Midmer and family, of Napanee, have moved down to his farm.—Mrs. Ray Hall is keenly felt here and farmers who have burned coal for years, are forced to burn wood.—Mrs. Ray Hall, nurse-in-training, at her father's, Mr. Schuyler Smith, Parrott's Bay.—A number from here attended the progressive euchre party in Bath, on Friday evening last.

VIOLET.

The series of snow storms, followed by a mild January thaw, has settled down to bright sunny days, which we hope will last for some time.—Miss Marion Clancy, nurse-in-training, at Ontario Hospital, has returned to Whitby after spending a few days with relatives here.—Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wright were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Fretts, Hawley.—Miss White and Miss Ridley were recent guests of Miss Iva Duncan.—Mrs. E. R. Drew is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Macdonald, Camden East.—Mrs. George Hinton, Camden East, Lorne, spent a day recently with Mr. and Mrs. John Clancy, Centreville.

"A Terrible Experience"

"I Recall My Experiences with the Burglar with Feelings of Horror!"

"How would you feel if you wakened in the middle of the night with a flashlight shining in your eyes and the gruff voice of a man threatening that, 'If you make the slightest move, I'll shoot?' That was my experience the end of last March when my husband was away in the woods and I was alone with my three children. Sometimes I think of this experience a shudder passes over me and as long as I live I shall remember it. At the time I really thought I would die. It's a wonder my heart did not stop beating. I was so weak that even if I had any desire to move, I could not. I was bathed in a cold, clammy perspiration. But to recall the shocking details now makes me shudder. It was a result of this shock that I contracted a high fever and for hours at a time I was delirious. I got so bad that the doctor finally gave up hope of my ever recovering, but by careful nursing, I was finally pronounced out of danger. The shock had left me so weak, that, for no reason whatever, I would suddenly burst into tears. All the life seemed getting weaker and weaker, so much so that my husband and children were constantly worrying about me. Doctors prescribed for me and while I willingly tried their medicines, only very few of them did me any good, but unfortunately the good was not lasting. My family asked me if I would try Carnol and I said, 'I was willing to try anything,' but felt that it would not do me any good. Four bottles of Carnol taken regularly, has completely restored my former health and strength and, while I occasionally recall my experience with the burglar with feelings of horror, I am otherwise as well and strong as I have ever been. Carnol is the most wonderful prescription I have ever used for building and restoring health and strength. It has done wonders for several of my friends to whom I have recommended it." Mrs. McC. ol....

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money.

EXTRACT FROM A LETTER FROM MRS. T. D. SNEATH

We are permitted to publish the following extract from a letter from Mrs. T. D. Sneath :—

Arlbergen Hof,
Innsbruck, Austria.
December 6th, 1922.

Here I am comfortably ensconced in Austria with Mr. and Mrs. Howell. We had a most wonderful lucky journey here. We left London at ten Monday morning, arriving here about five Tuesday evening.

The first thing I noticed and what no one had ever told me before, is that Austria looks so much like Canada,—wooden fences, snow on the ground, sleighs with bells, trees all bare of leaves, wooden or brick houses, green shutters, wooden barns painted, wooden shingles, churches with steeples, everything might easily have been at home. Of course the mountains later on were not quite like our part, but I imagine like the West. The scenery climbing up the mountains was perfectly beautiful. Then the train goes through a very long tunnel, and then we drop down again to Innsbruck, which is in a valley entirely surrounded by mountains. The air when we got out of the train was just like home, and the snow on the ground, and the hotel steam-heated. But they have the funniest beds, wooden with a big square down pillow, sheets are blanket and then a huge puffy thing filled with down that looks like an enormous pillow. And they don't have any dressing tables, only a wash stand, a table, and sofa. They seem strong on sofas. There is one in the bathroom.

I found out this morning and changed three pounds, for which I got 939,500 Kronen. Then I bought ski boots, skis, socks, etc. I will enclose the bill for the same. The socks, for instance, were 48,000 K. per pair. Our dinner last night was 51,250 K., which in real money is about a dollar, I think; no, it is less than that. It really is pitiful. Somehow one does not feel any antipathy towards the Austrians. And they are all so kind and affable and pleasant, but not servile at all, like the dirty Huns. Mr. Howell introduced an Austrian to me this morning. He was an officer in the crack Austrian regiment, and a professor as well. Now he is clerk in a book shop. He was exceedingly pleasant, spoke English, and kissed my hand when he was presented and when I said good bye. There is most awfully good food here, very cheap, as I have said, for our dinner last night included wine and cigarettes, and lunch today was less than a shilling. The people all look well fed too, and seem well clothed, and there is no begging. In London it is simply full of men selling matches, pavement drips, men with barrel organs or something, and all ex-soldiers out of work, poor things. We were in a shoe factory on our way here, keeping all sorts of sporting goods, trunks, togs, etc., but only one little corner of it is heated and lighted; in all the rest the stock is more or less stored, like in a warehouse, and if you want those particular things the clerk puts on a fur, on account of the cold, and leads you through these barren rooms. It is because they cannot afford to light and heat the whole place.

Before I finish I must tell you about the state church in the palace there. It was built by Emperor Maximillian I. for his tomb, and is a huge lofty place with two rows of pink marble pillars down either side. Then filling the whole body of the church is his tomb, a black thing twenty feet long and fifteen feet high surrounded by a wrought iron fence all painted and gilt. The sides of the tomb are all covered with the most marvellous bas relief in alabaster, depicting scenes in old Max's life, so deeply cut the figures stand right out, and on the top is a bronze statue of Maximilian himself kneeling towards the altar with bronze angels or something at each corner. But the most wonderful thing of all are twenty-six enormous bronze figures, various ancestors of Max, but curiously enough including King Arthur of Britain, which stand all around the tomb in between the marble pillars, most of them meant to hold torches in their hands. There are several women among them, and they are the most gorgeous gowns, and the Kings in armour and crowns and robes, and worked in bronze. You cannot imagine how wonderful they are.

Our next halt was Bozen, the quaintest town in a wide valley just over the Brenner Pass on the road to the wine country. The whole valley is solid vineyards and orchards and it was lovely to see trains of lovely old white oxen drawing wagons loaded with huge casks of wine. The town is very good, very solid of course, and costs less than a shilling a line. The town was the oddest place, all cobble stones and crooked streets with covered arcades along either side and the centre passage going right through the houses which, when one got inside, opened into court after court with trains going up and up and were evidently regular rabbit warrens. The hotel we stopped at was very fine, and had to cross the garden to get to our rooms which were in a separate building. And in each room was a stove, a tall square tower, entirely of glazed tile, red, or blue or green, with a little door at the bottom. And all the houses are stencilled inside and out, the walls inside often in a solid pattern like wall paper, and outside sometimes just a square picture of a tradesman or something over the door or over the windows. Often there is a solid pattern all over or huge designs just anywhere of sea serpents and bears and knights and saints and dragons and all sorts of things.

Where we are now is a tiny village up in the mountains about 4000 feet. It is the home of woodcarving and toymaking. This valley is famous all over Europe for that, and every house is a work shop. Our landlord is a wonderful artist, and the hotel is carved and painted inside and out. Here the floors have been stencilled in solid pattern, but have been scrubbed so much it is nearly gone. The furniture is most wonderful, all painted and carved. My room is red and gold, with scenes on the wardrobe door, head boards and foot boards, etc., in greens on a black background. Most effective. There is no snow yet, but we are getting in trim by climbing expeditions. It is most lovely and the views are marvellous. These are the real Alps, of course.

Last night, New Years Eve, our host and hostess invited us down to see their Xmas tree. They sang our Xmas carol, "Holy Night", in German before they had it, and all wished us Merry Xmas, and the old granny was there in the country costume. They are very nice and so kind and hospitable, not at all as though we were just guests in a hotel. We gave them all little presents and they were very pleased.

This morning was beautifully fine and cold, and there was nice, fresh snow so we went for quite a stiff climb up the mountain side, I arrayed for the first time in my new skiing costume, jade green breeches, coat, hat and gauntlets and jersey. You wouldn't believe how hot one gets climbing. When we went down to dinner they had decorated the table most beautifully for us, and there were three bottles of wine, the corks drawn and silver corks put in, with Xmas wishes from our host and hostess. Wasn't it too sweet of them! Then we had the most lovely dinner, clear soup with the whole raw yelk of an egg in it, which you broke first, lovely lake trout, beautifully served, two whole fish with heads and tails on a napkin, with potatoes and cut up lemon and greens, fried chicken, salad of cauliflower, red and white cabbage and potatoes, and a lovely fruit compot, thick sort of custard in glasses with wonderful whipped cream on top, and wafers, and then all kinds of glace fruit and four or five different kinds of fruit cake.

But to-morrow we start at 8.20 on an expedition up to the Sizer Alps, a tame mountain opposite us. We climbed about one-third of the way up to-day, and I was nearly dead, and to-morrow I will be carrying skis, so how I will ever manage I don't know. This sort of pleasure is a strenuous business. They were teasing me about it to-night, and suggested I write a book on skiing as seen by a Canadian.

'PERCOLATE COFFEE IN FIRE ENGINES.

THIRTY THOUSAND GALLONS OF STEAMING FLUID PREPARED.

Oklahoma City.—For the first time in history fire engines were used as coffee percolators at the inauguration of J. C. Walton as Governor of Oklahoma. The inauguration was marked by many unique features, including the world's biggest barbecue, at which 200,000 persons were fed.

At the State Fair Park two fire engines from the Oklahoma City Department were shoved adjacent to three immense urns, which were filled with coffee. Pipes ran from the engine to the urns, steaming the coffee. The urns looked more like corn refiners. Three were built in the grounds with a capacity of 10,000 gallons each and lined with sheet iron. Faucets were arranged near the bottom, and the crowd with tin cups lined on and helped itself.

To barbecue 100 steers, four hogs, each a quarter of a mile long, were dug, a wire netting placed over each, upon which were spread huge hunks of meat. More than 100 employees kept tending the meat with forks until it toasted, crisp, tender and brown. More than 300 loaves were distributed for the occasion, and besides, there were carloads of other meats. This meat was cooked twenty-four hours before it was served.

PRETTY GIRLS PAINTED 2,000 CENTURIES AGO.

JAZZ SKIRTS AND SLENDER FORMS WERE POPULAR.

Ottawa, Jan. 20th.—Two hundred thousand years ago the pretty girls and women were syncopated skirts, used colored aches for a variety of purposes and in general were as up-to-date as the young women of today.

Their suppleness of figure is apparent from the numerous etchings discovered in caves and other places that are known to have belonged to the stone age period.

So said Dr. MacGillivray, of Queen's University, here last evening before the Ottawa Teachers' Institute.

Dr. McGillivray, who spoke on the development of man, traced development down through the various ages and advanced different theories as to his coming and development. The nature of races and its beneficial effect was touched upon, while the traces of the early animal nature, that still exists, was evidenced by the terrible atrocities of the last war. Man had not advanced a great deal from the early stone age period in some parts of the world, it appeared from the mode of living of some people in different parts of the world.

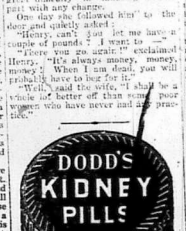
The wife of a certain very parsimonious man has always experienced great difficulty in inducing him to part with any change.

One day she followed him to the door and quietly asked :

"Henry, can't you let me have a couple of pounds ? I want to —"

"There you go again!" exclaimed Henry. "It's always money, money, money! When I am dead, you will probably have to beg for it."

"Well," said the wife, "I shall be a whole lot better off than some poor women who have never had any peace at all."



THE PIG COLONY HOUSE

Pig Palaces a Blunder Both Physically and Financially—Sanitation is as Important as Feeding—Mineral Feeds Prevent Breakdown In Swine.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

High efficiency at a very low shelter or building equipment cost is more easily obtained in swine rearing by the use of the Colony house system than any other method.

Expensive Piggeries a Blunder Physically.

On farms where but one or two brood sows are kept and these have to rustle around the barnyard and hunt part of their food and arrange their own sleeping quarters beneath the straw stack, one seldom sees diseased, unthrifty or crippled pigs. In contrast to the "little accommodation" that the farm yard affords, we have the pig palaces or expensive piggeries. The best of the expensive structures do no better for us than the barnyard when sows or two brood sows and their families are considered. Many of these structures have proven to be much too heavy a charge to carry, in that the results were frequently unsatisfactory and that there was always an interest charge against the investment.

Sanitation as Important as Feeding.

Sanitation is a very important factor in swine rearing, in fact just as much so as feeding. During the summer period when swine are given the freedom of fields or wood lot—natural conditions — the question of sanitation has not to be considered, but just as soon as the pig is enclosed, or kept under conditions that are getting away from nature the question of sanitation at once becomes apparent, and if neglected trouble follows. Pigs are healthy when out on the clean fresh soil, and the farther we get them away from such surroundings the more likely we are to have trouble. The colony house has been used by many farmers and breeders with success, but its use can be extended to every locality where pigs are kept. In the milder sections where the temperatures are not below zero for very long periods the colony house can be successfully used during the entire year to the complete exclusion of the expensive permanently situated piggery.

Expensive Buildings a Mistake Financially.

Swine are kept by the majority of farmers with the intension that profit shall result from the undertaking. The element of risk is always evidenced by a number of factors, one of which is the increase or rapid increase in the cost of buildings. If a farmer has a $2,000 piggery building, then the interest charge on fixed capital alone will amount to $120 per annum

HOCKEY.

Belleville 8, Kingston 5.

That a game of hockey is never won until the final bell rings was clearly demonstrated at the Arena on Friday evening last, when in a Quinte League game, the Belleville boys came from the wrong end of a 5-3 score and in the dying moments of the game tied the score and won out in the first five-minute overtime period.

The Kingston boys had the game neatly tucked away in their club bag with only about four minutes to go. Their downfall came when Canning chopped that brilliant forward, Devlin, across the shins and sent him to the dressing room to recuperate. To help matters along N. Millan tried the same tactics behind Belleville goal a minute later and was sent to the fence. With Devlin off and playing five men to their own six, the Belleville team scored two goals in short order and tied up the game, 5 all.

For Belleville, Whalen was perhaps the best, while Hibbard, in goal, played an excellent game and saved his fellow from defeat by his many timely stops.

There is no harder worker or more effective player in the Quinte League than J. Millan, and his work on Friday night was up to his usual high standard. McCarthy, in goal, and Duncan, defence, could show considerable improvement, while the Anprove brothers and Logue played their usual good game.

The scoring is as follows: First, Kingston 3, Belleville 2; second, Kingston 4, Belleville 3; third, Kingston 5, Belleville 5; overtime, Belleville 6, Kingston 5.

Referee—Mr. Culverton, of Kingston.

The following is the Belleville Ontario's report of the hockey game at Point Anne, on Thursday night of last week:

They took Napanee into camp on Thursday night by a score of 3 to 1.

The game was played somewhat under difficulties, as it was raining during the first period and the ice got pretty heavy. The teams and spectators stuck it out, however, and it was later a first-class game.

Curiously enough, all the goals were scored in the first period and more remarkable still Napanee scored within 30 seconds of play. Boland was caught napping. Pat rejected a shot and apparently put all set for a high one, but the puck didn't lift much and Boland was fooled in that shot. That was the only goal the visitors got, although they had a couple of other chances.

Ken. Collins refereed.

Napanee—Goal, Babcock; did remarkably well. He stopped dozens of them in the second and third periods. Point Anne—Goal, Arnold. There were numerous spectators and Arnold was kept busy. Arnold was kept busy.

THIEVES ENTERED FAMOUS TOMB OF ANCIENT RULER.

Evidences That Resting Place of King Tutankhamen Once Robbed

Luxor, Egypt, Jan. 20th. — As the time draws near when it will be possible to open the sealed inner chamber of the tomb of the ancient Egyptian king, Tutankhamen, recently discovered by Lord Carnarvon and Howard Carter, the American Egyptologist, there is much speculation as to what will be found in it. Presumably the mysterious inner chamber is the burial chamber in which the great pharoah lies but of this we cannot be absolutely certain.

The now famous tomb, it must be understood, is not intact. It shows evident signs of having been entered by thieves and then sealed up again by officials of the Necropolis at a later date. The robbery must have taken place very soon after the funeral in B.C. 1350, for a generation or two later the tomb seems to have been lost to sight and recollection beneath many tons of stone and gravel, and when the large tomb of Rameses the Sixth was prepared about B.C. 1150, the existence of Tutankhamen's sepulchre, a few feet below the site chosen, apparently was unsuspected.

Other Tombs Robbed.

These conditions were closely paralleled by those observed in the neighboring tomb of the Prince Yuya, about B.C. 1390, which Quibell and I discovered during the excavations here financed by the late T. M. Davis of Boston. This tomb lay but a yard hidden between two later tombs, that of Rameses the Third, afterwards discarded, and that of Rameses the Twelfth. Here, too, thieves had entered soon after the date of the funeral by means of a small hole in the corner of an otherwise intact closing wall, and in the passage beyond we then found a few objects which had been thrown aside by the robbers just as Lord Carnarvon found in the tomb of King Tutankhamen. Similarly a great mass of funeral furniture, wonderful couches, chairs, chariots, boxes, vases, etc., had been pushed aside and piled up out of the robbers' way. Jewels and gold had been taken.

Here, however, lids had been thrown from the coffins and handfuls had been ripped from the mummies' heads in a frantic search for the beautiful jewels which had been hung around the necks of the dead bodies and the gold which covered their faces. We could see in the bandages on the bodies the impress of the precious necklaces which had been removed.

May Find Mummy Despoiled.

Lord Carnarvon may, therefore, find that the mummy of Tutankhamen has been similarly despoiled, and I will be personally surprised if the jewels are still there. The only hope is that the robbers were in a hurry.

In the tomb of Pharaoh Akhanaten, which was discovered in further excavations under my supervision, a gold fire mask of the effigy of the king, on the lid of the coffin, had been ripped off by some thief, but the semi-precious stones with which the golden coffin was encrusted, were all in place, and the mummy itself—wrapped in magnificent sheets of gold—was found intact.

I think in the present case Lord Carnarvon may expect to find a wooden coffin covered with gold inlaid and having the name of the king and his titles inlaid in hieroglyphic mosaic—possibly some stones. There may be two coffins, one inside the other, and then the mummy probably will be found covered with gold and precious stones taken from the [illegible] coffin, some gold plates, [illegible] and [illegible] of gold.

What May Be Expected.

Tutankhamen will perhaps be found in the [illegible] sarcophagus of alabaster or granite, [illegible] inside of [illegible] coffins, [illegible] we may [illegible] in the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MOSCOW.

The horse trainer, Mr. Lawlor, who has been driving Mr. Otis Huffman's thoroughbred colts for some time, has returned to his home at Cherry Valley, Prince Edward County, having well pleased with the fine span he has had in hand.—Mr. Robert Asselstine, of Wilton, and his uncle, Mr. Alex. Asselstine, of North Dakota, were at church last Sunday morning and were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Asselstine for the rest of the day.—The public school has been open again during the week and well attended.—The territory occupied by the "flu" has decreased very materially during the week, but its size has somewhat increased for it has grown from "flu" to "influenza".—Messrs. Archie and Percy Asselstine had a hard and slow drive to Napanee last Sunday, where they went in the afternoon to attend the funeral of their uncle, the late Alfred Knight.—The visitors who were at church last Sunday morning asked your scribe if the Moscow men were all sick? They fancied they must be, because they were not at church. And the men both smiled to themselves, but the scribe did not.

YARKER.

After about two weeks of the "flu" epidemic, in which very few escaped having it, things are becoming normal again. The school was closed for a short time, the teacher and scholars being sick. The church services suffered also on account of mostly every person being sick, but at present all are improving. The roads are not in very good condition owing to so many storms of late.—Quite a lot of wood is coming in now, which is needed very badly, as coal is scarce and of a very poor quality.—The ice harvest has started, and seems to be a good thickness and good quality.—Our genial storekeeper, C. Vandervoort, is soon going to remove to Newburgh and conduct a store in that place, having sold his stock in Yarker to Chas. Freeman, who will continue the business in the same old stand.—Mr. Toppings' extra gang of the C. N. R. are putting a new deck on the railway bridge here.—Mrs. A. A. Connolly is seriously ill with pleurisy.—James Freeman unloaded two cars of grain this week.—Miss Marion Freeman is confined to the hospital in Peterboro' with measles, but is improving.—Mrs. Stewart Connolly returned to Montreal this week, after spending a couple of weeks with her mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Connolly, are spending the winter in Montreal.

Mail Orders promptly filled at Wallace's Drug Store, Napanee.

MARLBANK.

A number from here attended the play at Tamworth on Friday evening and all report a good time, both at the play and the dance that followed.—David Turkington's friends are all pleased to see him out around again after a very serious attack of la grippe.—Mrs. Turkington, his mother, has also been very sick, but is getting better.—Robert Turkington and wife and young daughter from Hartford are visiting them.—T. G. Hall has a number of men employed hauling wood and lumber on cars. When he gets his wood and lumber all cleared up he will be leaving here for some place where lumber is more plentiful.—There was no service here in either of the churches last Sunday, as both ministers were too ill to come, but a large crowd attended the Hornerites service in the hall in the evening and heard a real good sermon.—William Reveille is in Tamworth, building the chimney on A. B. Carscallen's new mill.—Business is very dull here now, and the merchants are getting along without any clerks.—Miss Jean Gryder, the Pine Grove school teacher, is boarding near her school now, there being so much snow she cannot walk home.—Miss Verlia Denison and Miss Alber a Reveille, the Westplain and Windover teachers, spent the week-end at their homes.—John Gee visited his sister, Mrs. Mason, on Friday.—Miss Gertrude Mowers called on Thelma Reveille on Sunday afternoon.—Charles Benn, who has been cooking in a camp for Mr. Jordan, came home very sick on Saturday.

"Pa, where was Babe Ruth born?"

"Couldn't tell you, son."

"Where was Jack Dempsey born?"

"Don't know that, either."

"Then, what you buy me a history of the United States?"

The wife of a certain very parsimonious man has always experienced great difficulty in inducing him to part with any change.

One day she followed him to the door and quietly asked:

"Henry, can you let me have a couple of pounds? I want to—"

"There you go again!" exclaimed Henry. "It's always money, money, money! When I am dead, you will probably have to beg for it."

"Well," said the wife, "I shall be a whole lot better off than some poor women who have never had any practice."

ENTERPRISE.

Most of the sick around here are improving.—After the thaw of Saturday and Sunday last, and the consequent frost, skating has become quite popular with our young people. —The young people of the Methodist Church are planning to present their play on February 15th. Annual meetings of the cheese factory and the Telephone Co. are in session this week. — Despite the cold weather there is to be found in the Methodist parsonage, a lemon tree, standing about three feet in height, on which are four mature lemons, the largest of which is nine inches in circumference crosswise and eleven inches lengthwise, and the smallest eight inches by nine inches, and all good for use.—Maitland Jackson was one of the judging group from this county at the Ottawa Fair, and succeeded in winning several prizes. Okel and Edgar Drew, of Desmond, were the other members of the group.

OBITUARY.

Mr. Alfred Knight.

Mr. Alfred Knight, who passed away on Friday last, was associated with a phase of the County's life that is fast passing out of memory. So rapid has the transition from the land clearing days to the agricultural stage been that not many of the younger generation know anything about the hustle and excitement that accompanies the lumbering industry, the elaborate preparations for the winter cut, the feverish activity of the lumber camp, the adventure and risk of the skidway, the care-free life of the tote team driver with his long leggings and mackinaw coat, his boistrous wit and cheery song, the hazards of the spring drive and the joy of the pay-off. For years this was the main business of the county, and provided the occupation of a large part of the population.

It was with this that Mr. Knight for the greater part of his life was associated. For the last few years he seemed like a voice from the past. In his passing, death has removed one of the connecting links between two generations. His slight figure, snow white hair and genial good nature, that natural quickness of mind and body that never quite forsook him even at the last, will long be remembered in the town and vicinity.

He spent his early life at Centreville, and received his preliminary education there. Like so many of our business and professional men who have been reared in the country, he began his career as a teacher in the little red school house. And it was while teaching at Colebrooke, that he was picked out by Mr. Stevenson, as a promising young man for his lumber business. Entering the services of Stevenson & Lott, at Petworth, he soon mastered the details of the business, and before long was appointed manager. During the summer months when the work eased up a bit he served as a provincial forest ranger. He continued in the services of Stevenson & Lott until the scarcity of logs caused the cessation of the business.

Moving to Napanee, he became manager of the Brush Factory, which was a flourishing industry at the time, and two years later entered the employ of the Sir Richard Cartwright estate, which interests he cared for until the time of his death. Along with these duties he acted as the manager for the Napanee Electric Works until it was merged in a larger organization. In 1894 he was appointed Clerk of the Division Court, and continued to act in that capacity the remainder of his life.

He married Mary Isabella Lott, of Petworth, who predeceased him by sixteen years. Two adopted children, Mrs. Nora Carson, of Toronto, and Mr. Earl Lake, of Toronto, survive. The funeral was held from St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, of which he was a member, last Sunday afternoon. The Town Council, out of respect for Mr. Knight, as a public servant, attended in a body.

Mrs. Margaret Wartman.

Another of the aged and highly respected residents of the Township of Camden passed peacefully away at Centreville on January 20th, 1923, in the person of Mrs. Margaret Wartman. She was the daughter of one of the pioneer Methodist local preachers of Tamworth and vicinity, viz., James Bell, and his wife, Matilda Gunsaulus, and was born in Sheffield Township, on Nov. 22nd, 1836.

On February 5th, 1874, she was united in marriage with Charles Wartman, and for twenty years lived a happy, useful and godly life in the home at Colebrook. Her husband predeceased her thirty-two years. In 1894 she came to live at Centreville with her only daughter, Mrs. Mortimer Lockhead, and during her remaining years endeared herself by loving deeds and wise counsel to many friends. Many who have been helped by her kindliness will cherish the memory of her holy life.

In addition to the faithful daughter who cared for her in her declining years, there survive a stepson, Charles W. Wartman, of Phoenix, Arizona; her nephew, J. C. Bell, B.A., of Cowallis, Oregon, and three nieces, Mrs. Jos. Peterson, of Hilger, Montana; Miss T. A. Bell, of Shaughai, China, and Mrs. H. L. Wallis, of Drumheller, Alta., all of whom had been trained and brought up by her. Four brothers also remain, viz., Wm. M. Bell, of Enterprise; Andrew E., of Tamworth; E. W., of Mountain Grove, and John C., of Vancouver, B.C.

The funeral service was held at the home on Monday last, and was conducted by her pastor, Rev. M. W. Leigh, B.A., of Enterprise, and attended by a large number of relatives and friends. The pall bearers were Heratio, Alfred M., Fraser and Frank Bell, all of Desmond, and John L. and Cephas Bell, of Enterprise, and the body was placed in the Centreville vault.

ODESSA.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Davy left last week to spend the balance of the winter with their son, Harry Davy, Toronto.—Mrs. Orange Babcock returned Saturday from spending nearly two weeks with friends and relatives in Kingston.—Henry J. Smith, local Insurance Agent, has returned from attending the Life Underwriters' Educational Congress, at Ottawa.—The many friends of Mrs. William Jenkins, Johnston St., Kingston, were pleased to hear she was successful in winning 1st prize in the guessing contest held recently.—The I. O. O. F. supper that was to have been held last Thursday night, was postponed on account of the condition of the roads. — The Odessa hockey team played the first game of the season last Saturday afternoon, at Bath. The score was in favor of the locals. — Miss Hattie York is visiting her sister, Mrs. Samford Thompson. — Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith, who have been ill, are improving.

An old negro woman stood by the grave of her husband and said mourn fully, "Po' Rastus! I hope he's gone where I 'spec he ain't."

"Before they were married he called her the angel of his life."
"And now?"
"Now he spells it 'angle'. Says she brought him up with a short turn."

UNAVOIDABLE LOSSES

How Farm Land Deteriorates in Necessary Mineral Supplies.

What One Steer Takes From the Land — Some Don't Like to Believe It—These Losses Must Be Replaced—Meat Trade Balks at Heavy Weights.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

With the exception of nitrogen our agricultural investigators have failed to find any means by which they could add to nature's supply of plant food in the soil except by transfer of minerals rich in fertilizing properties from rich deposits to the cultivated areas. Cultivated lands will gradually lose their mineral elements, particularly phosphorous and potash, through crop production. The return of all manure made from the crops produced delays the day of exhaustion, but exhaustion will eventually come more quickly by some practices than others it is true, and the man that follows live stock farming while not returning all to the soil can greatly delay the day of reduced fertility and short crops.

What One Steer Takes From the Land.

Every time a 1,000-pound fat steer is sent to market 15.51 pounds of phosphorous pent oxide, 1.76 pounds of potash, and 17.92 pounds of calcium goes with him. A one hundred acre farm sending twenty 1,000-pound steers to market each year is sending incorporated in their bodies, principally in the bones, 35.20 pounds of potash, 358.40 pounds of lime, 210.20 pounds of phosphorous. If the farm did this continuously for one hundred years—some of our Ontario farm lands have been farmed that long—the amount of fertilising elements subtracted from the original stock in the soil is such as to greatly limit crop production. If the crops from which the steers had been made had been sold off the land the fertilising elements or stock of plant food in the soil would have given out many years sooner.

Many Farmers Don't Like to Believe It.

Many of our farmers do not like to think that the fertility of their lands is running down, and will argue against their own conscience and finally develop a state of mind which prevents them from returning to the soil sufficient mineral elements to maintain the necessary balance in soil fertility that insures crop yields equal to the yields characteristic to virgin soils. On certain good farms in southern Ontario with which I am familiar I estimate that the mineral fertility mining, during the past seventy-five years has had, in the generally accepted good management, been approximately as follows per acre: Phosphorous removed, 62.91 pounds; potassium removed, 2.491 pounds; calcium removed, 14.652 pounds; of these quantities probably fifty per cent. was returned in the manures through periodical applications. The unreturned aggregate 244.5 pounds of phosphorous, 1,245.5 pounds of potassium and 7,329.2 pounds of calcium represents approximately what each acre of farm land has lost. It is any wonder, then, that the crop yields have been greatly reduced in many of the older sections of the Province?

These Losses Must Be Replaced.

To bring the old soils back to maximum production one of the things we must do is to replace in quantity to satisfy crop demands, the potash, phosphorous and lime. These elements are essential, and must be present in available condition and in quantity. The best farmed soils will gradually lose fertility it something is not done toward the replacing of the mineral elements removed in crops and sold off the farm either as grain, beef or milk.—L. Stevenson, Toronto.

Meat Trade Balks at Heavy Weights.

"The day of the hefty weight has passed," says E. F. Ferrin of the animal husbandry divisions of the University of Minnesota in referring to conditions and demands of the meat trade. "Light weights are easily disposed of, while heavy carcasses are hard to move. Overweight lambs have long been heavily penalized in price when sent to market, and the same condition prevails with hogs and cattle. It does not pay any meat producer to market more weight than is necessary in getting his stock in fairly well fattened condition. Only about 15 per cent. of the market demand is for steers weighing more than 1,500 pounds, and to sell well these must be good to choice beeves offered during the holiday season. Yearlings weighing 900 to 1,100 pounds, often termed baby beef, are the desired kind, and quite recently 650 to 800 pound weights are in strong demand.

"A three dollar spread between prices for butcher hogs and smooth heavy sows frequently prevailed on the South St. Paul market last summer. No one can escape the verdict that lard is unwanted in these days of common use of vegetable oils and compounds.

"Of course a reasonable degree of finish is necessary to make any carcass of meat tender and juicy. Thin animals, no matter how well bred, make unpalatable tough meat. But it is a mistake to market nowadays an overfat or heavy meat animal, because the consuming public does not want that kind of goods."

An egg is 65.7 per cent. water. You cannot expect your pullets to lay unless they have a nutritious supply of clean, fresh water at all times. Always keep the hoppers full of grit, oyster shells and charcoal.

"Embrocation" is a word used much less here that it is in England. One day a curate said to an old parishioner: "Well, Mr. Huggins, has the nurse been to see you yet?"
"Yes, sir, thank 'ee," was the reply, "she called once an' done my foot more good than all the imprecations I ever used."

Foot Saved in 4 Days!

"Nothing but Zam-Buk could have done it," says Mrs. A. Bergman, 190 Jones Street, North, Hamilton, in describing how her right foot, crushed by a wagon wheel, was healed. "The skin was terribly bruised, blackened and torn, and I cannot bear to think how it was quite impossible for me to move about, or bandage it, unless I used Zam-Buk. . . . Words cannot express my feelings when I saw what Zam-Buk had done for me. I could get about around the injured foot in a thoroughly healed."

Zam-Buk is not a powerful ointment for healing wounds, sores, ulcers, etc., but is also a most satisfactory remedy for eczema, blood poisoning, piles, abscesses, ringworm, chronic sores, and all skin troubles. No ordinary ointment can possibly compare with Zam-Buk. We urge you to try it. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

BOYS IN AGRICULTURE

The Junior Farmer Is Much to the Fore To-day.

Badly Handled In the Past — Too Much Book and Not Enough Boy —He Is a Born Club Man—Rural School Fairs and Boys' Clubs Are Making Active Young Patriots.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

In agriculture the boy has arrived. He was a long time coming. His way has been as tortuous as a wild grapevine, and at times his reluctant feet lagged distressingly.

He Did Not Get a Fair Show at First.

To bring the boy into general agricultural work and study, all manner of efforts had been made. He was bullied and bribed, cuffed and coaxed, pinched and patted, whipped and wheedled; yet scarcely a foot had he voluntary gone forward until very recently.

The Old Easter Oil Policy.

At one time, figuratively speaking, he was held by the nose while nauseous doses from text-books or forbidding terminologies were forced down his unwilling throat, in order to give him a taste and enthusiasm for farming!

But to-day we have the hopeless-eyed interested; agriculture open-eyed, open-minded, open-handed. Open-eyed, for he is looking at farming in a new light; open-minded, because he is now regarding agricultural instruction with a sympathetic understanding; open-handed, for he is ready, even eager, to seize the hoe-handle and wield it as proudly as if it were a field marshal's baton.

Too Much Book and Not Enough Boy.

Early methods to bring agricultural knowledge and the boy together failed because they lacked that most important thing in teaching anent the "point of contact." There was too much Book and not enough Boy in the minds of the pedagogues. The lad gagged and choked mentally at a too early memorization of learned and (to him) meaningless phrases. It was like a Chinese dinner course, reverse action, starting with the dessert and ending with the soup; but in this case the nuts were usually too hard for the youngster to crack.

The Boy Is a Gangster—Club Man.

Boys are gregarious; they flock. The boy, whether he lives in the city or the country is by nature a gang-ster. But call the gang a "club," and it gives an air to the affair, although the latter word has not always had an attractive meaning to the lad. The club collective is always more attractive than the club corrective.

The Boy Wants to Air a Door of Things.

There is another powerful motive in the boy.

"Would I doing there, teacher?" was the curer response.

There's the case in a nutshell. Your real boy wants to know what they are doing things, and he wants to do them in company with some of his other fellows.

School Fairs Have Helped the Farm Boy.

Rural School Fairs have done much to interest juniors in agriculture. To be an exhibitor, and receive a written trial from a judge with the addition of many a hope To try again and win a prize, is a keenly interesting experience. Of course, to show and win implies a knowledge of how to grow things, more abundantly and heavily.

The first Rural School Fair was held in 1905, three schools making a total exhibit of 1,000 entries. In 1921 there were 145 fairs, exhibiting 3,447 entries, with an attendance of 100,000 people. Of these fairs 1,000 were juniors. A typical rural school fair's branch of agriculture exhibited, after the boys' and girls' judging competitions, were Potatoes, Field Roots, Grains, Grasses, Clovers, Corn, Vegetables, Fruits, Apples, Plums, Pears, Peaches, Grapes, Flowers, Collections, Insects, Weeds, Poultry, Needlework, Domestic Science, Collections, Judging Competitions, Plowing Matches, Public Speaking Contests, Baseball Matches, and Field Sports.

These Junior Ploughing Matches have revived a long neglected phase of agricultural endeavour, and old ploughmen have expressed great satisfaction with the work of the lads.

Live Stock Judging Competitions.

Live Stock Judging Competitions take place in thirty-three counties fairs, and there have been many live-stock contests.

Boys' and Girls' Live Stock Clubs.

The Boys' and Girls' Live Stock Clubs are doing much to develop the breeding of superior cattle, hogs, etc. About fifty of these Clubs are in existence.

Other activities of a useful and elevating character are engaged in by boys on Ontario farms, all of which suggest a keen, practical and intelligent acquaintance with agriculture, its literature, and its practice in the agriculture. The boy has arrived —Thos. McGillicuddy, Statistics and Publications Branch, Toronto.

Your Ayer's Almanac is at Hooper's Drug Store. Ask for one.

"I'd like to tell that fellow Dragson what I think of him."

GREAT IS POWER OF WEALTH

No man is more conversant with the advantages of wealth than John D. Rockefeller, and no man is more familiar with its drawbacks, observes a writer in the Kansas City Star.

John D.'s estate in Pocantico Hills is like fairyland. He spends money on it in the most lavish manner and improvements are being carried out all the time. He keeps 500 men employed about the place, paying them $10,000 a week in wages. With this army of workmen he satisfies his fancies.

"I want an avenue of trees," perhaps he will explain. "But I haven't time to watch them grow up."

"What are we to do?" the foreman will ask.

John D. will wave his stick toward the skyline. "Shift those trees from over there."

It is one of the most awkward jobs in the world to shift big trees without killing them, but at the millionaire's bidding the miracle is performed, and by the end of the season there is a picturesque avenue of old-established trees where there was only greensward before.

One occasion John D. wanted to add an extra piece of ground to his estate, but the neighbor occupying the house wouldn't sell. The millionaire bought all the land around the house and erected a great barricade of tall trees that made the house like a prison. The neighbor was eventually glad to leave and the millionaire had his way.

Another day he came out of the house into the grounds, his mind roaming around for improvements. His eye lighted on a distant hill about a mile away on his estate and he suddenly thought how much better it would be if there was a hill close to the house. He called the foreman of his army.

"I want that hill shifted," said John D. "We'll have it moved down here close to the house."

He waved his stick around.

The foreman immediately got busy, and in a short time the hill was torn down, carried nearer to the house, and then rebuilt. Then it was sodded and great, full-grown trees transplanted to its slopes.

Save the Woodpeckers.

Woodpeckers are indispensable in the forest. The "Mr. Peckerwood" is a tree doctor. He performs surgical operations that save the trees, says the American Forestry Magazine. When the leopard moth was introduced into this country from Europe it seemed at first as if it were destined to destroy all our trees, but as time went on we found that it killed no trees except in and near the cities, where the ubiquitous English sparrows had largely driven out other birds; in the country, where native birds were numerous, the ravages of this moth soon were checked. In city after city it was discovered that the woodpecker family killed first the smaller branches, then the larger ones, and finally many trees died from its attacks. Many ancient trees in historic parks, like Bushes overlooking the grounds of Harvard university in Cambridge, have been cut down or treated out because of this and other pests, but in the rural districts the larvae of the leopard moth made little injury, even in the woods that are hard to find. Woodpeckers search for the grubs and their holes, and then outwood was fat upon the abdominal.

"Cooties" Had Origin in Boston.

Despite its latest appearance in the world "cooties" have not been in Europe since the beginning of the Revolution. The name is an imperial fit, the Revolutionary war, and first saw the oil paint in Boston.

In a dispatch with some British soldiers, the reporters gave a description of the "cooties" that had been at a public meeting. Such meetings of protest and expressing sympathy to be the central of immensely entertaining to the "cooties" have expressed.

From the beginning of the world to the present time the "cooties" have been the most troublesome insects in the Arctic regions as distinct in species, it is said, from the European species in England.

Country Life Here Desirable.

A grower in Des Moines tells of his country experience by pathetic illustrating those prices on simple goods. They spread the news to their friends, and who also take advantage of his special sales, Capper's Weekly, observes. It will soon be commonplace for a farmer and his family to flock to the music of a great band or orchestra playing in Chicago, New York, St. Louis, St. Paul or Denver, while they sit in the living room after the evening meal. In a year or two, possibly, some other wizard inventor will make it possible to see a first night production of a great play on Broadway, while the ear hears the spoken words. There is less and less reason for wishing to live in a city. When the airplane is made absolutely safe, there will be a great exodus from the cities to the country.

Respectful Silence.

"Can you sing 'The Star Spangled Banner' all the way through?"

"I can," replied Senator Sorghum, "but I never attempt it in public. The way some of us make that splendid anthem sound is no way for a man to show his patriotism."

Everybody's Business

THE Ford Motor Company has made a genuine attempt to give the public automobile transportation at a price within the reach of all. It has carried out the ideals of the inventor of the Ford Car, Henry Ford, and has placed the Ford Motor Company in the position of performing a public service to the people of Canada.

It has definitely made Ford products a national institution—being such, the Ford Motor Company believes it is justified in telling the public it serves, how the present low price of Ford Cars can be maintained for 1923.

How the Present Low Price of Ford Cars Can Be Maintained in 1923

We are absolutely frank with the public when we say that the present low prices are not justified by present production but only by the production it is hoped will result from them.

The present low prices for Ford Cars are based on maximum production only. Today's market on steel and other raw material that goes into the manufacture of Ford Cars will not warrant these prices except at peak production. Ford prices must go up unless they are justified by increased production.

Everybody's Business

The Ford Car is everybody's Car—the Ford business is everybody's business. Your friend, your neighbor, and his neighbor are all vitally affected by the price of Ford Cars.

If you are at all concerned about buying a Ford this year make it your business to let the Ford Company know about it.

You Can Set the Price!

Fill in the memorandum below and mail to the Ford dealer whose name appears below. This places no liabilities upon you either to buy a Ford car and obligates you in no manner the price you can fully at your service.

The Ford Company must know how many cars are wanted in 1923 in order to maintain the present volume of business, so that they have to bring about a larger volume of business to justify these prices.

While I am not immediately prepared to buy a car, I will want a about ..... and as I desire to get it at these reduced prices, this will authorize you to inform the Ford Motor Company that I intend to buy a Ford unless something unforeseen happens, and I am advancing this information so that the Ford Motor Company may proceed with manufacture the car during the winter months, so that I may have delivery at the time I desire it.

WHY BABIES CRY

It's often hard to find the trouble —It may be teeth — it may be stomach—but it so often it is just a chafed irritated skin on which poor Soap has been used.

The remedy for this is so simple! Hours of suffering—night after night of disturbance—have been avoided by mothers who have insisted on Baby's Own Soap. Of course it costs a little more, a very little more, however—than what is often bought and used—but many generations of Canadian Mothers are there to vouch for its purity, for the soothing healing effect on Baby's delicate skin, for the lovely pure flower fragrance it leaves when Baby fresh and clean is taken from his bath.

Don't you think, Madam, it's worth paying the 10c. a cake, a little less if you buy a box (3 cakes) which your dealer asks for Baby's Own Soap. Adv.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 25 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent. air and 6 per cent. common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor—W. N. Johnson, 246 Craig St. W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month. 1t4

CASTLE IN GERMANY ON SALE FOR $1,000.

Coblenz.—A fine fifty-room castle on the Rhine, opposite Coblenz, together with its furnishings and fifteen acres of vineyards, is advertised for sale at 1,000. F. Dumont, of Coblenz, an army official, who will deal with the United States troops, has just bought his wife's father, for 5, a farewell present of an apartment house at Mayence, consisting of six three-room apartments and a plot of land. There were two pre-war mortgages on the house for 10,000 marks or the old equivalent of $10,000. Dumont paid off the mortgages for $2, the present equivalent of 2,000 marks.

An American army officer a year ago ordered a hunting rifle, then valued at $100. Yesterday the rifle was delivered to him and he paid the mark equivalent for it, or 50 cents in American money.

CANADA'S GOLD MINE IN NATIONAL PARKS.

Ottawa, Jan. 17.—Sir John A. Macdonald's prediction at the time of the establishment of the Canadian National Parks, that they will recuperate the people and recoup the people's treasury, is now coming true," said J. B. Harkin, Mr. Commissioner of Dominion Parks Branch of the Department of the Interior, at a lecture on the National Parks here. This is shown by the figures for the year just past." The parks, with a total outlay expenditure of about $800,000, said Mr. Harkin, has brought into the country over $19,500,000 in foreign money from tourists who visited Canada with the sole purpose of seeing these great parks of nature. This was a dividend to the people of Canada of over 2,000 per cent.

Why Quebec Lady Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mont Joli, Que., Jan. 23rd. (Special).—"I have found in Dodd's Kidney Pills a veritable friend," says Madame Paradis, a well known and highly respected resident here.

"I was discouraged about regaining my health, and one day I was so ill at Dodd's I almost became unconscious. Four months I suffered day and night. I took 3 boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and returned to good health."

"My daughter also suffered from nervous sickness and after taking Dodd's Kidney Pills found great relief."

"I shall tell of this remedy that saved my life, so that others might get relief."

Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys. They put the kidneys in condition to strain the uric acid out of the blood. With no uric acid in the blood there can be no rheumatism or neuralgia.

OBITUARY.

John Higgins.

Mr. John Higgins, of Winona, late of Conway, passed away at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Ogle Wills, of Winona, on Friday morning, December 15th, 1922, in his 82nd year, after a very brief illness. Though Mr. Higgins had only recently left Conway for his new home in Winona, he had won the esteem of all who had become acquainted with him there, and his sudden departure came as a shock to his friends everywhere. The late Mr. Higgins was born in England, near Oxford, and came to Canada forty-eight years ago. He was an honored member of the Methodist Church. Surviving him are his wife, five sons, Arthur, Charles and Delbert, of Kingston; Wm. H., of Gananoque; Edward G., of Toronto; and seven daughters, Mrs. R. Marks, of Portsmouth; Mrs. Archie MacDonald, of Wolfe Island; Mrs. Thos. Orrill, of Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. Geo. Francis, of Carmangay, Alta.; Mrs. G. B. Sills, Sillsville; Mrs. E. D. Rounborn, Watrous, Sask.; and Mrs. Ogle Wills, of Winona.

The funeral service was held on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 17th, 1922. After a short service at the home of his son-in-law, a public service was held in the Fifty Methodist Church, Winona, conducted by the Rev. A. C. Eddy, the text for the occasion being "And I heard a voice from Heaven saying, Write Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from henceforth yea saith the spirit that they may rest from their labors for their works do follow them".

Beautiful floral offerings revealed the affection and esteem in which the late Mr. Higgins was held. Wreaths from the members of the family at Kingston; from Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Higgins, Toronto; from Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Sills, Sillsville, and Mr. and Mrs. Wills, Winona; also from Minden Lodge A. F. & A. M., Kingston; sprays from Mrs. Thos. Elliott, Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Fuller, all of Winona. Interment took place in the Fifty Methodist Church cemetery, Winona. The pall bearers were Arthur Higgins, Chas. Higgins, Geo. Higgins, Dell Higgins, sons; and Mr. G. B. Sills, Sillsville, and Mr. Wills, Winona, sons-in-law.

Ellen McKeown.

Ellen McKeown was the daughter of the late Squire and Margaret McKeown, being the youngest of a family of thirteen children, five girls and eight sons. The father and mother came out from Ireland many years ago, and carried on a large dairy and cattle ranch on a large farm of over five hundred acres.

Miss McKeown lived there until the whole family left to do for themselves. Following the death of her parents, she moved to Napanee, where she lived for a number of years. Later she decided to reside in Rochester, where she died. She was always blessed with the best of good health, which is wealth. About a month ago she was stricken down with a poor spell, which was not thought serious, until she was advised to go to Saint Mary's Hospital where three of the best city Doctors decided an operation was necessary. When she found her case was hopeless she sent for her niece and nephew, Mrs. James O'Rae and Mr. Edward Manian, who went immediately. She inherited all the social and loving attributes which were the innocent possessions of her parents, making her individuality a sense of happiness to every class of acquaintance, young and old. Just giving an instance of the regard in which she was held, is to tell the tribute paid her in the attendance in a body while he lay in state, of the clerks of the different departments who had always waited on her, of one large Rochester business store, and placing an offering of flowers on her casket. Before the casket entered the church for the last time, it was showered with a number of religious offerings.

Her obsequies were well attended by a large concourse of friends and associates. In religion she was a Roman Catholic, a member of St. Mary Order of Saint Joseph's Church, the League of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, and Altar Society, and several others.

Robert John Bawn.

The death occurred on Saturday, January 13th, at Croydon, of a well known citizen, Robert John Bawn, in his seventy-ninth year, after a short illness with pneumonia. Deceased was born of Irish parents on a farm near Westbrooke, Kingston Township, moving to Camden Township with his parents when fifteen years old, on the farm where he died. He was the father of thirteen children, nine of whom survive to mourn his loss. They are Mrs. Sarah J. Fleming, Buffalo, N.Y.; Mrs. Ida E. Porter, Oregon, U.S.; Mrs. Perry Harten, Roblin, Ont.; Mrs. John H. Kellar, Milton, Ont.; Mrs. Stanley Doane, Mrs. Ross Mercer and Mrs. W. J. Haggarty, all of Croydon; Peter A., Watertown, N.Y., and Herbert, on the homestead. His three sisters survive him, Mrs. Agnes Gallaway, Western Canada; Mrs. Mary Jane Lemon, California, Mrs. and Mrs. Annie Lemon, Pennsylvania, U.S.

His remains were placed in Tamworth vault till spring. Interment will be made at Reidville Presbyterian cemetery.

John Johnston.

One of the oldest residents of these parts passed peacefully away on Wednesday night, January 17th, 1923, in the person of John Johnston, at the home of his son, Edward Johnston, Whitby. The deceased was in his 86th year, and lived to see four generations. He farmed for twenty years in the Township of Erneststown, near Odessa, afterwards moving to Kingston, where he spent the rest of his life until three years ago when he went to Whitby to reside. He was a life long liberal and an ardent worker in the Methodist Church, being Class Leader for over sixty-five years. He is survived by three sons, James, Toronto; Walter, New York, and Edward, Whitby; also one daughter, Mrs. Denyes, of Moscow, who were all present at the funeral, which was held at the house on Saturday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Howard, of the Methodist Tabernacle. The remains were taken to Kingston on Monday morning, and placed in the vault to await interment in the spring.

UNPAID FARM HELPERS

Birds Work Well for Man Practically Without Wages.

Do Splendid Work In Field and Orchard — Meadow Larks and Robins Real Friends of Farmers —Redbreast Devours Many Cutworms—Farmer's Wife Should Be a Co-partner.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

When we employ a man and put him to work in the fields destroying the weeds and insects that are injurious to crop production, we are obliged to pay for the service with the coin of the realm. If the weeds and insects were not controlled, crop production would be greatly hampered. We willingly pay the human labor to cultivate and protect the crops, while at the same time giving little thought to the great service rendered by birds as farm help—yes, unpaid farm help. Weeds grow from weed seeds. Destroy the weed seeds and you could in time get rid of this agricultural pest. Insects that feed on farm crops come from the eggs of moths, flies, beetles and butterflies; destroy these early in the year and prevent the swarms of young crawlers gaining life and menacing the crops.

The Bird Is the Unpaid Farm Help.

A meadow lark will eat each day weed seeds and insects in quantity greater than its own body weight. Four ounces of weed seeds or young cramhoppers each day on an average for the year would mean the destruction of over 90 pounds in a year. Twenty meadow larks on the farm would consume a ton of weed seed during the year. A ton of weed seed gathered from the fields may seem like delivering a large order, but a little flock of meadow larks will do it. Are such birds worth protection? If you saw a little meadow lark perched beside a hundred pound sack of weed seeds, the gathering of which represented his year's work, don't you think your heart would soften and you would spare the bird's life? The normal man who appreciates a good friend will not injure nor will he permit any one else to injure the insect and weed destroying birds of our meadow lands.

The Robin No Mere Fruit Thief.

Is the robin a cherry thief? No, this bird has a perfect right to satisfy his hunger by consuming a few cherries in season in the orchard where he works as an insect destroyer for six months of the year without any wage contract. The few cherries and other domestic fruits that robins take during June and July make up less than one-third of their food for that short period. During all the rest of the season, from March to October, the robin feeds largely on insects that infest the orchard and garden. If it were not for the good work of the robin, many attempts at vegetable production would fail. Our garden gardens and small fruit plantations are largely at the mercy of the cut-worm. Redbreast a Great Devourer of Cutworms.

The robin is the best cut-worm hunter that we have. His daily capacity when the hunting is good and there are hungry mouthings to feed, is not less than 200 cut-worms per day. Any bird that will destroy 200 cut-worms each day during the season when the garden vegetables are getting started is certainly worthy of the respect of all people. The taking of a few cherries or an odd strawberry by the robin is just to change the taste in his mouth after consuming so many wiggly worms. Be broad-minded, and protect the robin. Only the meanest of narrow-minded people will destroy such a useful bird.

Protecting Fruit From Birds.

If every single cherry must be reserved for sale, and robins abound, cover the tree with wire netting or old fish net or else put up a cherry clack or old auto-horn in the tree. The period of cherry raiding is short, since the birds prefer the wild fruit and will go to the fence rows as soon as they are ripe, leaving the cultivated fruit. Protect the meadow lark from the boy with a gun, and protect the robin from people who do not know any better than to destroy a useful servant. The farm birds make the farm for us.—L. Stevenson, Sec., Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto.

Farm Wife Should Be a Co-Partner.

It is only a contented, willing, thrifty adult co-partner who can provide adequately for the needs of the farm and keep the social atmosphere of the farm so attractive and pleasant that work becomes a joy to the family and to such helpers as may be employed. One of the charms of farm life is that such services are accepted as a matter of course, and that little extra pay, extra praise or for the important place taken by the wife and mother in making the farm financially successful and the home a fit place in which to rear a family. One of the best definitions I have heard of an ideal farm is "A home with a farm business attached." In this view we do not necessarily accept the phase of living on farms would be much braver than it now is, and the dignity and influence of the home manager would be put on a par with the duties and influences of the farm manager. From this arrangement would become a partnership in fact.

Meat Consumption Figures.

The average per head consumption of meat of all kinds, including poultry and game in Great Britain, was about 120 pounds a year prior to the war. Of this amount three-fifths was home-produced, and two-fifths was imported. Of the overseas supply 70 per cent. of the mutton, 17 per cent. of the beef, and 5 per cent. of the pork came from within the Empire—Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Professor Alexander, of Queen's, entertained and instructed one of the largest audiences that has greeted a speaker in connection with the Historical Society for a long time.

The subject was called "From Oxford to London on the Thames". By way of introduction the speaker showed the place which the River had played in the History of England as a means of defence, as an educational factor and as a commercial influence. And after describing the way in which these were effective in producing the modern England he gave a travelogue, accompanied by many interesting and instructive lantern slides.

It is gratifying to note the interest which the general public take in these monthly meetings. It justifies the efforts of the executive who endeavor to secure the best speakers available. Next meeting, February 23rd.

THE NEW POLICE MAGISTRATE.

We interviewed G. F. Ruttan, K.C., who has been recently appointed Police Magistrate for the County of Lennox and Addington and the Riding of Addington, and has duly taken his oath of office as required by the Act.

Mr. Ruttan stated that he had been appointed by Order-in-Council with jurisdiction governing the County of Lennox and Addington, including the Town of Napanee and the local Riding of Addington, which, of course, includes the Townships of Kennebec and Barrie, in the County of Frontenac, and that he would be responsible for all the magisterial work in this district.

All the Justices of the Peace and other Magistrates, in this district are at liberty to take informations, but they must be returnable before Magistrate Ruttan, and he, under the Act, can request and direct that any matter can be disposed of by any other Justice of the Peace or Magistrate. The intention is, no doubt, to facilitate the administration of justice and simplify the trials of actions.

Magistrate Ruttan has accepted office under a fixed salary and all fines collected by him will be accounted for to the Ontario Government, and the Ontario Government pays his salary.

The County Council, under the provisions of the Act, is required to provide a suitable office, furniture, stationery and other accommodation for the Police Magistrate, when the jurisdiction covers a County as it does in this case.

HOCKEY.

D. H. S. 4. N. C. I. 3.

On Wednesday, Jan. 17th, the N. C. I. hockey team journeyed to Deseronto to play against Deseronto High School. The game was called at eight o'clock, and N. C. I. opened the play by Perry scoring the first goal. Deseronto braced up, but was unable to get through N. C. I.'s defence owing to Barrett's stick handling and Cowle's body checking. The second period opened up with a goal for Deseronto, quickly followed by a second. D. H. S. then drove the puck toward Napanee's goal and Lake Gaulin scored again. The third period witnessed good hockey by both teams. A goal was scored by Stewart, followed quickly by another from Cowle, making two points for Napanee and tieing the score at full time. In the overtime play, Gaulin scored for Deserontо, and, although N. C. I. made several attacks on their opponents, they failed to score, and D. H. S. was declared winners. The return game was played Monday night, at the Napanee arena.

N. C. I. 7. D. H. S. 2.

A hockey match was played at the Arena on Monday evening last between Deseronto High School and Napanee Collegiate Institute. The game was called at 8.30, and N. C. I. started the game by Stewart scoring the first goal and before the first period ended N. C. I. had added two more goals, to their score. Deseronto scored once and N. C. I. three times in the second period, and the Deseronto goal-tender was injured when he was knocked against the goal post. Both teams played a much faster game in the last period, N. C. I. winning another goal and Deseronto scoring once, the game ending in a score of 7-2, in favor of N. C. I. Gaulin starred for Deseronto, while Cowle deserves a great deal of credit for his splendid work for N. C. I.

HOCKEY AT BATH.

Bath hockey team played their first game of hockey last Saturday on the new rink, where they defeated the Odessa team by a score of 3-0. Although the day was rough, the game was witnessed by a large crowd. The ice was heavy and the game was not as fast as was expected, but both teams were quite evenly matched, and the contest proved a struggle.

The combination adopted by the home team was a hard proposition for the visitors. Emmons, in goal, played an excellent game. The scoring was done in the second and third periods.

The teams were:—

Bath—Goal, H. Calver; defence, Patterson and F. Shepherd; centre, E. Young; wings, H. Northmore and W. Hoselton; subs, W. Thompson, C. Mott and G. Mellow.

Odessa—Goal, C. Emmons; defence, B. Cairns and O'Neil; centre, Conway; wings, McConnell and Frink; subs, Robinson and Hennay.

The Management Committee of the new land rink are to be congratulated upon having one of the best sheets of ice in the country, the rink being 170 ft. by 70 ft., with boards 4 ft. high. They have certainly gone to a great deal of trouble and expense and it is to be hoped when the Committee call upon the residents for support, the response will be liberal.

DANGER IN FARM WELL WATER.

Water from the farm well may be clear and sparkling and pleasant to the taste and yet polluted, and in consequence a source of danger to health. If it comes from a shallow well that is located too close to a source of contamination, it is certain sooner or later to become unwholesome. The Chemistry Division of the Experimental Farms at Ottawa, which examines well waters from farm homesteads, reports that about 35 per cent are found to be unsafe for drinking purposes. It should be remembered, however, that only suspected samples are sent in, so that other suspicious or positively dangerous. Care should therefore be exercised, first in locating the well and, secondly, in seeing that it is properly protected from contamination. The Dominion Chemist in his annual report recommends a spring or pure stream as perhaps the best source of water supply. Water from such a source may be piped to the house and farm buildings by gravitation. A well properly fall can be secured, but otherwise by the aid of a windmill, gasoline engine or hydraulic ram. A well to be reasonably safe should be at least fifty yards from the barnyard or other possible contaminating source. It is further recommended that a radius of fifty yards be kept entirely free from all manure and other filth and preferably maintained in soil. It will be found of very considerable value to line the well to a depth of 10 to 12 feet and to a thickness of say 6 inches with concrete, puddled clay continuing this wall or lining for a foot above ground. A safe supply can usually be depended upon if the well is bored or drilled through a layer of impervious rock, tapping a deep-seated source of water.

Water that is suspected of contamination may be made safe by either of two simple ways. One is to boil it for ten or fifteen minutes; the other is to treat by chlorination. Rub up a level teaspoonful of chloride of lime in water to the consistency of a creamy paste. This may be diluted with a pint of water and kept for some days bottled and corked as a stock solution. A teaspoonful of this solution should be added with stirring to each two gallons of the water to be treated. After fifteen minutes all disease germs present will be destroyed.

Farmers desirous of an analysis should write to the Division of Chemistry, Experimental Farms, Ottawa, for the necessary directions for the collection and shipment of the samples.

46th ANNUAL MEETING

L. AND A. MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

The 46th annual meeting of the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company was held in the Council Chamber, Napanee, on Saturday afternoon, a fair-sized number of the policyholders being present.

A. C. Parks, Esq., President, occupied the chair.

Mr. W. R. Lett, Secretary-Treasurer, presented the minutes of the last annual meeting, which were read, and on motion were adopted.

Mr. W. Merle Sills presented the Auditors' Report for the year 1922, in which they congratulated the Company on their having so capable and courteous a Secretary-Treasurer as Mr. W. R. Lott has proven himself to be. The report also referred to the severe losses suffered during the past year, but stated the Company was in excellent shape as there is still a cash balance on hand.

The following are the receipts and disbursements, also assets and liabilities, as of December 31st, 1922 :—

Receipts.

Cash in Banks, Jan. 1st, 1922	$ 2291 79

Premium Note Residue	66111 70
Total Assets	$ 67395 86

Liabilities.
NONE.
SID. C. S. McKIM,
WM. M. SILLS,
Auditors.

On motion the report of the Auditors was received and adopted.

Although heavy losses have lowered the cash reserve, a substantial increase in business has increased the total assets of the Company.

There were 1092 policies in force on December 31st, covering an insurance of $2,304,785. The increase during the year in the amount of insurance in force is over $100,000.00.

Including premium note residue, cash on hand, and instalments due and unpaid, the total assets are $67,395.86, an increase of $872.10 over a year ago.

The question of reducing the premium note was brought up, but was given little consideration, as the position of the policyholders is much safer as at present and the man who is insured and gives the matter deep thought is very much in favor of the larger premium note.

On motion, Messrs. R. W. Longmore and H. A. Baker were re-elected as Directors for the ensuing term of three years.

On motion, Messrs. W. Merle Sills and Sid C. S. McKim were re-elected as Auditors for the year 1923.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, held immediately after the annual meeting, A. C. Parks, Esq., was re-elected President, and H. A. Baker, Esq., was re-elected Vice-President.

Installation of Officers.

On Thursday evening, Jan. 25th, 1923, Bro. Norman Boyce, Culebrooke, the D.D.G.M. of Napanee District, No. 48, I. O. O. F., paid his official visit to Odessa Lodge No. 361, and assisted by his suite from Rapid Lodge, installed publicly the following officers for 1923, before a large number of members, visitors and friends :

J.P.G.—W. G. Clark.
N.G.—E. J. Babcock.
V.G.—S. W. Clark.
R.S.—L. R. Switzer.
F.S.—P. Wright.
T.—Athlin Snider.
Warden—J. E. Burt.
Conductor—T. Wallace.
R.S.N.G.—A. H. Peters.
L.S.N.G.—H. Shaw.
R.S.V.G.—L. Burleigh.
L.S.V.G.—Walter Babcock.
R.S.S.—Hervey Smith.
L.S.S.—Enoch Snider.
I.G.—Rupert Smith.
O.G.—T. E. Gates.
Chap.—Donald B. Smith.

After the installation ceremony was over, a short time was spent in addresses by the D.D.G.M. and several others. Then a dainty and bountiful supper was served by the lady members, and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

Help for Asthma. Neglect gives asthma a great advantage. The trouble, once it has secured a foothold, fastens its grip on the bronchial passages tenaciously. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is daily benefiting cases of asthma of long standing. Years of suffering, however, might have been prevented had the remedy been used when the trouble was in its first stages. Do not neglect asthma, but use this preparation at once.

JOY IN SACRIFICE

East Indian Ruler's Tribute to Wonderful Woman.

European Lady Who Has Withdrawn From the World to Comfort Victims of Leprosy.

The ranee of Sarawak, writing from Kuching, Sarawak, to a London paper, says:

I was asked the other day what I considered to be one of the greatest deeds a woman had ever done. This is my answer: Far from the town, along a straight white road fringed by a brown mud ditch and rubber trees, there lives a little pale, unassuming woman; her only companion is a bent and aged Chinaman, who keeps house for her and looks after everything that she needs. The house itself, standing a few yards from the road, is nothing but a native hut made out of rushes and palm leaves, and built on wooden piles.

Passing by, and seeing the woman sewing in her garden, you might say: "What a strange choice this is—to cut oneself off so entirely from civilization." But that would be because, hidden among the trees below her, you had not seen the leper camp.

It is true that this little European lady has cut herself off from what is called the world, from the friends that she once knew, and the relations she once had.

But what has she taken to herself in place of them?

An encampment of human souls that no one else dares go near. A herd of beings more terrible than death.

She is not even of their race. They speak to her in every language from their deserted and crumbling months.

Each day she goes to them—nurses those that are most sick, encourages those that have talents, to make use of them.

It is she who occupies the time they spend in waiting to die.

She helps them to tend their gardens, one is a basket-maker, another carves in wood; and all the time her eyes are comforted by the ravages of disease. Things unbearable she sees, and yet her gaze remains pure and unoffended, even joyful, as if that great mission within herself uplifts her from it all.

When I went to visit her I expected to find her horrified, perhaps infinitely sad.

Instead, she talked eagerly and fondly of all that she was doing. "I am so deeply interested in my patients," she said, "that I am busy taking impressions of their thumbs. It is remarkable how the thumbs of a leper bend backwards, and are also finely defined at the tips."

She went on to describe how charming some of the lepers are. A few of them are boys of only twelve and thirteen years of age, one or two of them had run away from the camp and had died a horrible death in the jungle.

As I was leaving, she said with a slight smile, "You know, the most popular person among us is the one in misery." That was the only touch of—shall I say—bitterness in the very greatest little woman that I know.

Franklin's Love for Books.

Benjamin Franklin had an overpowering desire to read which accompanied him to the end of his life, and to which he gave himself over without relief. That was a desire for books. He read continuously, if you know what that means—and if you don't look it up in the dictionary. He, as one from his work and play, and leisure, and pocketed his fellow apprentices to lend books for the iron clad masters' shops.

His first literary adventure was told Benjamin Franklin's "Pilgrim's Progress," and it was followed by every other book he could lay hold of. Of course his field was limited. In those years there were the books published in Boston other than sermons, essays, political pamphlets and learned treatises. But Franklin didn't care whether they were interesting or not. What he was concerned with was matter for reading. He wanted to learn the languages. He wanted to write it and spell it more correctly than any man of his time, and he certainly attained a rank with the finest of them.

Notable Pictures.

A remarkable collection of pictures, which will be made public period in years to be, is the series of American aeronautical photographs which ex-Major Ernest Dupuy, army air service, has gathered during his 15 years in this work. They cover the development of aeronautics, particularly aviation, from 1861 to 1917. The 1500 photographs visualize the successive steps made by the Wright brothers, Curtiss, Thomas, Wilkinson and other pioneers in this country. Some of these are the only pictures in existance of certain flights and events. "It is probable," says United States Air Service, "that this is the most complete collection of air photographs in America."—Scientific.

Dehydrating Foods.

Preservation of foods in the home by dehydration has been made possible, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, by the production of an economical arrangement manufactured by a New York company. In operation, a number of trays containing the food to be dehydrated are placed in the apparatus, while underneath these is a pan, or humidifier, having a certain amount of water in it, and which has been previously heated to the proper temperature.

Do You Advertise?

Advertising is easy—it is simply saying in writing what you say to the customers in your shop. Turn over stocks quickly, if you would make more money.

Of this you may be sure : Prices in a shop which advertises are not MORE than in a shop which does not advertise. The chances are that they are oftentimes lower.

This, also, is generally true : You will find better goods, better values and better service in those shops which turn over their stocks rapidly. This means, as a general thing, shops which advertise.

QUESTION RAISED BY ROYAL WEDDING.

Problem of Financing Younger Member Has Not Arisen in Many Years.

London.—The coming marriage of the Duke of York to Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, daughter of the Earl of Strathmore, brings before the British public a question which has not arisen in many years, but which, in times past has been a point of difference between the Crown and Parliament. This question is the financing of a younger member of the royal family.

The Prince of Wales has his own estates, appertaining to his title, which are sufficient for his support. Princess Mary married one of the richest men in the kingdom, Viscount Lascelles, so there was no difficulty in her case, although King George had precedents aplenty for going to Parliament for a money grant if he had thought it necessary to do so.

The King's younger sons in startling contradistinction of their own must have subsidies appropriate to their stations in life, and Parliament either must make grants for them or they must manage them from his own fortune. Although King George's wealth is anything but princely, but probably might well afford to launch his sons in life financially if it was guided by ordinary commonsense, but custom, strong as England, entitles him to expect the national exchequer to provide for them.

Custom forbids the King's sons to work for a living, except in such employment as the army or navy, where the pay is indemnificant. It also compels them to live up to their position.

The embarrassing duty fell on Queen Victoria of approaching Parliament for grants for her younger children and also, because she remained so long on the Throne, for her grandchildren, the daughters of King Edward. On every occasion there was opposition in Parliament, unless grieved and irritated the Queen. Even in these days there were radical members of the House of Commons who insisted on asking what these minor members of the royal family did for the nation to earn their lavish upkeep.

With Labor members constituting the second party in the lower House of Parliament, and its cause that a million unemployed in the country, any proposal to finance the Duke of York on any principle, either in the form of a lump sum or annuity, is certain to bring on disagreeable debate. The Duke has no great fortune of his own, nor has his bride-to-be.

OBITUARY.

Daniel Warner Price.

On January 16th, 1923, Daniel Warner Price passed to the great beyond at his home near Wellington.

The late D. W. Price was born in the old Price homestead, Hallowell Township, on September 23rd, 1847. As a child he went with his parents to Prince Edward County, and received his education there going to Glen View school, where he resided till the fall of 1872, when he moved with his family to Wellington. In the year 1872 he married Elizabeth Marshall, who predeceased him by about two years. To this union were born two children, Mrs. Wm. Nelson, and Frank, deceased. These, with one grandchild and the second wife survive to mourn the loss of a kind husband and father. The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon, January 21st, to Wellington cemetery, Rev. W. J. Wilson, Ad[illegible] officiating. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Fred Hall, Wm. Nelson, Frank Hall, Frank Marshall, Wm. Price and Frank Price, all nephews of the deceased. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful, showing the high esteem in which he was held by his many friends.

Pete Williams had just entered the service, and on going into the canteen was met by the following statement. She was boasting of his achievements to her friend:

"Yes, I'm wonderful of" she exclaimed, "He already been promoted to Field Marshal of the Army."

"Promoted to Field Marshal in two months," ejaculated one brother. "Why, that's impossible! The thing can't be did!"

"Did I say Field Marshal?" murmured the girl. "Well, maybe it's court martial. I know it's one or the other."

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

"What's become of all the young men Edith used to have in her train?"

"Oh, one by one they switched off."

Paring a corn is both risky and ineffective. It is much better to use Holloway's Corn Remover and eradicate them entirely.

Lea—I wonder if Professor Kidder meant anything by it?

Perkins—He advertised a lecture on 'Fools,' and when I bought a ticket it was marked 'Admit One'."

Tough Luck.—A 14-year-old New York girl got married to avoid further attendance at school, and now finds herself sentenced to both husband and school.

Complete in itself, Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator does not require the assistance of any other medicine to make it effective. It does not fail to do its work.

Mother—Don't cry, dear; you can find plenty of nice, large pieces in the coal bin.

"Did you ever wear a dress suit to them parties in the East?" asked Plute Pete.

"Only the first one," replied Cactus Joe. "I could see my friends an' relations was disappointed at the way nobody noticed me. So I went out and rented a cowboy suit and was the hit of every occasion."

Mothers Value This Oil.—Mothers who know how suddenly croup may seize their children and how necessary prompt action is in applying relief, always keep at hand a supply of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because experience has taught them that this is an excellent preparation for the relief of the ailment. And they are wise, for its various uses render it a valuable medicine.

Jack and Mary had just been to the evening-service church for the first time. A day or two afterward they were found in the nursery whispering audibly to each other.

"What are you children doing?" their nurse asked.

"We're playing church," replied Jack.

"But you shouldn't whisper, in church," admonished nurse.

"Oh, we're the choir", said Mary.

It Testifies For Itself. — Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil needs no testimonial of its powers other than itself. Whoever tries it for coughs or colds, for cuts or contusions, for sprains or burns, for pains in the limbs or body, will know that its medicine proves itself and needs no guarantee. This shows why this Oil is in general use.

I observed a group of small boys in a west end street. One had been another smaller, who was a little bigger than himself. The bigger boy raised the smaller one, who ran for protection to the big boy in the group. The smaller boy evidently showed signs of chastisement, but no pursuer was in sight. I suppose that by the time the bigger boy thought it over for a minute, there he pondered judgment in the following [illegible] a way was to decide to be a political boss some day.

THE SUMMER FALLOW

Not So Good as Cultivation and Soil Improvement.

Good Occasionally for the Destruction of Weeds and Insect Pests—Stick to One Breed In Raising Live Stock—Pointers on Co-operation.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

There is no soil so rich that it can stand the long continued practice of summer fallowing without decline in fertility. Experiments have shown that when summer fallowing is practiced, five times more nitrogen is rendered available and available than is required for the crop. The occasional fallowing of land to destroy pests of either insect or weed may be justified even if it does destroy considerable vegetable matter. Cultivated and soil improvement crops whereby the soil is kept in use have largely taken the place of the summer fallow on many of the best operated Ontario farms. Rotation of crops and afterharvest tillage well practiced vindicated to a large extent any necessity for summer fallowing.—L. Stevenson, Toronto.

COSENS—BOGART.

A very pretty wedding took place at Trowbridge, Ontario, on January 24th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Cosens, when their daughter, Hazel, was united in marriage to Mr. Lorne A. Bogart, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Ferdinand Bogart, of Napanee. The Rev. Mr. Prinz, of Trowbridge Methodist Church, officiated, the bride being given away by her father. Only the immediate relatives and close friends were present. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served, the table being prettily decorated with cut flowers and ferns.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Davis, of Stratford; Mrs. L. F. Bogart and Miss Kathleen Daly, both of Napanee, and Mrs. Mr. Bogart will reside in Adolphustown.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wagar.

A long life of cheerful activity came to an end in the passing away of Mrs. Elizabeth Wagar, South Napanee, on Monday, January 15th, 1923. Through all her eighty-four years of life she never had any serious illness, until advanced years exhausted her wonderful vitality. To be busy, some useful work was her delight, and her only regret was that failing strength made it necessary to give up to others the work she loved. Her great happiness was in the home circle, caring for the interests of her family. She accepted Christ as her Saviour when she was young, and from year found a new comfort and joy, and has held as many times during the last years of her journey through life, "I could not do without Him, and what a comfort is mine, when I close my eyes in this scene, it will be "absent from the body, present with the Lord." She knew the blessedness of being sheltered by the blood of Jesus. Her husband, over 2000 per thousand, Mr. Lester Wagar, built the home in South Napanee where she has since been the centre of the family life, and the home in which Mr. Wagar died in 1916. Although only two of Mrs. Wagar's children were with her in the last illness she was blest with a host of friends and kind, thoughtful neighbors, who did all they could to ease the sufferer and stayed with her till she breathed her last. "She will be sadly missed by old and young. She was the mother of ten children, grandmother of sixteen grandchildren and great grandmother of sixteen great grandchildren. Six children are left to mourn her loss, four sons and two daughters, Charles, of Deseronto; Mrs. Charles Tompkins, of Watertown, N.Y.; Levi, of Liverpool, N.Y.; Fred, of Winnipeg, and Mrs. Lester Gertie at home, who have given her every care during the seven years of suffering. The funeral service was held at her home on Jan. 17th, at 2 p.m., and was conducted by Mr. Wm. Crossley. Deep sympathy is felt for the bereaved family.

SERVED HOT DISH

Kafir Host Possessed Peculiar Sense of Humor.

Traveler Had to Admit That in No Way Could the Dinner Be Called a Success.

High on the hillside we could see more than one Kafir village, hanging suspended, as it were, almost in mid air, but, since the inhabitants had a notoriously bad reputation, we hesitated to ask them the way. Not without some misgivings, we climbed the steep ascent until we gained a small village of some 20 houses. Shah Baz, who acted throughout as our interpreter, asked to see the headman, and that personage at once showed himself. He was inordinately vain, pompous and stupid, and every statement we made he flatly contradicted. When he heard to what family I belonged, however, he abandoned his offensive tone and addressed me courteously as an equal, Ibbal Ali Shah writes in Asia Magazine. He allotted a good enough house to us, mentioning with a rather unpleasant hauch that recent tribal squabbles had provided a little more house room in the village than usual. He informed us, indeed, that several of his young men were out on a foray across the hills.

Astan, the headman, grew more condescending, and, seeing that we must return his hospitality, we invited him to dinner. He refused the invitation rather haughtily, however, and issued one, which sounded very like a command, that we should dine with him. Resolved to comply with his wishes, we proceeded to his house and were very cordially received. He cleared our way to the table by kicking aside the numerous dogs that lay on the floor of the anteroom and ushered us into an inner chamber furnished with two large, rough bedsteads, on which he requested us to seat ourselves. Astan and his wife immediately set the meal on the table. When I refused the dishes he proffered, he seemed somewhat offended and made a rather haughty remark about the temperance proclivities of Mussulmans. But I restored him to high good humor by praising the rice and milk, which Kafirs consider a great luxury, and he piled more and more of it on my platter, lamenting the while that he had no salt to flavor it with. Having foreseen this situation, I had provided myself with a small quantity of salt. I offered it to him, and he accepted it with sparkling eyes. Then, not to be outdone in the niceties of the table, he smothered the contents of my dish with chilli, and when I sneezed and coughed, laughed consumedly, telling me that spicy food put courage into a man. I kept my temper with difficulty, but, knowing full well how rash it would be to quarrel with him, took no notice of his doubtful pleasantries and gulped down the burning mess as best I might. From neither the social nor the culinary point of view was that dinner a success.

Hoosiers Abroad.

An Indianapolis woman who recently re-established her home in the city after living several years in California advertised some household goods for sale in a California paper.

Among the callers at her home was a woman whose husband waited outside in an automobile. The woman asked some furniture that could be used in a ranch house, but when she found that such articles were not among those offered for sale, she seemed reluctant to leave, although her husband honked impatiently at the auto horn.

Finally the visitor said: "There is something about you that makes me think you are a Hoosier."

"I am," came the reply. "My home is in Indianapolis."

"Well, I am from Indianapolis, too," said the visitor.

In the meantime the husband ceased to honk the auto horn. What he did was to enter the house and gently but firmly remind his wife that it was getting late and that they should be on their way home.—Indianapolis News.

Marvelous Energy.

A 1,000-volt of chemistry at Columbia says that Sir Ernest Rutherford has bombarded nitrogen gas with the alpha rays of radium, thereby producing an explosion, the force and velocity of which is sufficient to send these helium atoms around the world in less than a second. This energy is millions of times greater than that generated by any chemical reactions, such as the combustion of coal. It is claimed that if these effects can be both intensified and controlled, we shall then have at our disposal an almost illimitable supply of power which will entirely transcend anything hitherto known.

Hot, Anyhow.

A little girl went to the desk of the Brightwood branch library and asked politely for "red-hot buns." She was directed to the nearest bakery when she said: "It isn't something to eat, it's a book I want for my mamma." Then the librarian sent her mother Grace Richmond's "Red Pepper Burns."—Indianapolis News.

HAVE LIGHT SIDE

Highly Placed Americans Gifted With Sense of Humor.

First Chief Executives Said to Have Seldom Relaxed Their Dignity, but It Is Different Today.

American humor as well as American disposition to take none too seriously an light occasions the most highly placed government officials was well illustrated at the White House the other day when baseball league magnates called on the President. "I need to be pretty good catcher," said Mr. Harding, in chatting of younger days with Jacob Ruppert, formerly a Democratic member of congress and now president of the New York American League club. "I'm sorry," said Colonel Ruppert," but we're fixed for catchers. Did you ever play the outfield?"

Either in Europe or in Asia, exchanges of this sort, at least before the war, would have been regarded as quite "fool form," if not highly pernicious.

American Presidents of late have been well equipped with a sense of humor. Earlier ones lacked it, says a writer in the Louisville Courier-Journal. Neither Washington nor Jefferson nor (especially) Adams, father and son, nor Andrew Jackson was notably blessed with what has since become known the earth round as "the American sense of humor." "The Father of His Country" could, and sometimes did, relax. Once it is recorded, he "rolled over and over on the lawn at Mount Vernon" in laughing at something that highly amused him. Usually, however, Washington was stern, unbending—a manner befitting an imperial man, the unblemished gentleman that he was. Jackson on his doubtless, when asked whether he was smoking, he was sorry for, answered in the affirmative, adding that he was "sorry" he had not time for all his political enemies.

Lincoln's humor is too well known to require illustration. "Liberties" he took with others, others seldom took "liberties" with him. Though often the target for his own jest, he rarely was for jests of others. Grant was likewise, though Grant had a rare sense of humor, as often is the case with "silent" and apparently stolid men. Demosthenes—of the humor of Grant's is his threat at his second Roscoe Conkling, concerning the price of a horse bought by Grant. "Isn't he a beauty?" exclaimed Grant to Conkling. "How much did you give for him?" asked Conkling. "Six hundred dollars," said Grant. "I bought him of a builder on the avenue." "Well, Mr. President," said Conkling, "I don't think he's worth the money." "That's what the butcher thought, senator," said Grant.

Grover Cleveland knew how to take a joke and make one. Some of his best jokes were unconsciously humorous. While once praising a certain New York newspaper that had ardently supported him, he was asked by one of its editors what feature of the paper pleased him most. "I like it all," said Mr. Cleveland, "and especially this last column over here on the editorial page—a column that was made up of 'boilers' selected from other newspapers." When Li Hung Chang, on his visit to America, was received at the White House he was introduced to Mrs. Cleveland, at that time a newly married bride. "How many children have you?" queried the Chinese viceroy of President Cleveland. "Only a gold-headed cane," replied Li Hung Chang said. "Oh, I know you have only one—here. But how many have you—in the prehistoric?" One of Mr. Cleveland's biographers says that few jests were relished so keenly by Mr. Cleveland as was this one. It revealed to him China more illuminatingly than did all else that Viceroy Li had to say to him.

The American sense of humor is the bridge that enables the American people to pass over dry-shod the flood that separates them from their presidents—the bridge that enables their President to cross over the fact that separates their magistracies of the nation from the people.

Climates Not Changed.

The climates of the world have not changed in the last ten years, nor in the last ten centuries, for that matter, says Charles F. Talman, chief of the United States weather bureau, in the Mentor Magazine. "Old-fashioned winters, the kind we don't get now," have always been talked about. Even in Ben Franklin's day, pamphlets were published describing changes in the climate of the United States. It is human nature to remember the exceptional seasons, such as the winter of 1917-1918, and overpass every year with them, thus giving rise to the belief that climates change, says Talman, whereas daily records of the weather kept throughout the world show that the average weather condition has remained unchanged for hundreds of years.

No Season Wholly Good.

Mr. Subbub—There's goodness the summer's gone and winter is here, when won't have to bother about mowing the lawn and watering the garden?

Mrs. Subbub—That's so. By the way, I wish you'd see that there is coal in all the rooms, and look up your spade and broom for sweeping away the snow. And, John, be ready in case a pipe bursts.—London Answers.

AIRPLANES MAY AID ELOPERS

Science Seems to Have Given Sweethearts Another Way to Trick Their Irate Parents.

Will modern lovers elope by air?

It is on record that at least one enterprising couple have made such an attempt. Unfortunately the plan was crippled in the bud owing to unforseen circumstances. But there is little reason to doubt that before long aerial Dog Tooses will soar away with their fair burdens.

It is interesting to recall the various forms of effective elopements. They are as old as time. First they took place on foot with perhaps the aid of a resting beat to help them a-river. Horses, too, were in great demand and many a happy maid rode pillion scuttled away from under the very eyes of her irate parents. Later came the coach and Romeo and Juliet and what a jolliest they have awaited the world! air it when the motor cars, Trains and automobiles have also played their part in those young affairs, but the latest "stunt" will be to elope by airplane.

The airplane owner will have to be on his guard against the vigilance of the law which has already found the flying machine recruit in the execution of justice. This a policeman in Los Angeles demands he shall have received notice at the time of the distribution thereof.

Caught 22,000,000 Fish.

Fishing is not like farming. The farmer can reckon pretty well what his crops are going to get, but the fisherman is merely guessing.

The Lord sent good fishing for it seems guessed that they would be shown in the middle of last September, when the fishermen found that not only were they in unusual numbers, but were of unusual size. Then, when all those fish were relinquished the herring ceased to come into the coast—and the fishermen ignored 22,000,000 fish which are there no more.

The Wesleyan Methodist Church of Ireland, in the course of its annual report, says that the number of communicants is on the decrease, and that the falling off is due to the apathy of the members. Some of them, it is stated, are so apathetic that the pulpit ministrations have no effect upon them. Whether they are asleep or dead is not stated.

Finds It Hard to Collect.

Leading music to kings is an experience which Mr. Roberts Hooper Gerson Hill Teeke, formerly of Brooklyn, but lately of Paris, declares is exciting, but not altogether profitable. LEARN TO "LIVE"

Mere Existence Should Never Be One's Sole Aim.

Too Many Tie Themselves to the Grindstone and Fail to See Beauty and Joy of Life.

The other day a man died. After the funeral a party of those who had known him were discussing him—quite sympathetically. His good points were recalled and emphasized, and it came as a bit of a shock when the criticism was made:

"Why, he was fifty-three!" came the protestation.

"Yes; but he only lived eighteen of them—from the time he was seven and began to get hold of life, until he was twenty-five. After that—well, he simply worked and slept. He didn't live; he just existed. There's a mighty difference."

Silence fell on the group. The unexpected criticism had thrown an illuminating searchlight on one man's life and revealed the truth, remarks a London Answers writer.

He hadn't "lived." Life, by his own choice, had been just work and sleep, sleep and work. No pleasure did not seek to entice him by saying that possibly his work was his life. In a sense it was, but it had no right to be. He was on the world as much to live as to work.

The divine plan never intended that any man should use his life wholly and solely for work. That, most obviously, with necessary sleep added, would leave no time for "living" in the real sense of the world. It would be the undoing of the grindstone, with no eye for the purpose of life and no share in it. That's existence—not "living."

Have we need to take from, as well as give to, the world? Has any one really "lived" if his record is that he worked and slept and worked and slept and died?

If any man it is said that they like their work so much that it is their life. Well, it shouldn't be. It is as though one forever lived on bread and water and ignored nature's rules, created for our use and enjoyment, of luscious fruits, fish and food.

Do not we work to live? Why, then, reverse that and live to work? It may be argued that our necessities and our responsibilities compel. They should not, for the simple reason that the necessities are largely of our own creation, and that is what we are responsible for. We are not compelled to live in the style we do, to have the luxuries we have, to indulge in the pleasures we do. We could live more simply, and find much more time for the joy of living.

You want that car, that house, that [illegible] but you could do without them. You want that [illegible] and that [illegible] and that [illegible] and

"My Boy was Starving to Death"

"As He Was Getting No Nourishment He Was Gradually Wasting Away."

If there's a story which will interest every mother. Before my boy was born, I was in such delicate health that the doctor didn't think I would survive the ordeal. For weeks after I was confined to my bed, and even when I could feel that I had the power little strength was left in the core of my body. He was a puny, sickly baby, and despite all I could do to nurse him back to health he grew steadily worse. As his weakness increased, his appetite failed, and he would cry for hours at a time. I was almost at my wit's end when a friend advised me to try Baby's Own Tablets. I got a box at once, and before it was all used I could see a change in baby. He began to sleep better, and his appetite improved. I continued the use of the Tablets for a few weeks longer, and my baby was a healthy, happy child. I cannot say too much in praise of Baby's Own Tablets, and I feel sure that if every mother knew what a splendid medicine they are for the little ones, there would be no need for any baby to suffer as my little boy did.

Gall Stones

Two Doctors Advised Operation; First Bottle Passes Many Gall Stones; Each Bottle Did Good Work; Well Satisfied With Results.

Mrs. W. J. R., Somerset, N.S., was advised by two doctors that she would have to undergo an operation. A friend advised her to take the full course of MARLATTS SPECIFIC, which she finished September last. She claims she passed a lot of gall stones and after taking several bottles she passed only a very few. Each bottle did its work and Mrs. R. has received great relief from MARLATTS SPECIFIC.

DENBIGH.

This has been so far an unusually quiet winter. There is no lumbering of any kind being done, and with the exception of the Denbigh flour mills, which do a fair amount of custom grinding, business of any other kind is not very brisk.—Most of the farmers are now engaged getting up a supply of firewood, and Ed. Thompson with his sawing machine, is busy in the neighborhood.—Mr. C. Ball left for Oswego, N.Y., to look for employment, and the Misses Mae Ball, Orpha Wilson and Minna Falk went to Toronto to try city life for a while.—Mr. M. Ready and his sons, Wm. and Andrew, who enjoyed a visit here and visit here at home, intend to leave again next Monday to resume their jobs at the mines near Elk Lake.—Rev. G. Brackenbush, who from 1888 until 1896 administered to the spiritual needs of the Latheran congregations then composing the Denbigh Mission, spent a few days here this week visiting some of his former parishioners, and last Wednesday conducted Divine service in the church in which he faithfully officiated more than thirty years ago. As he wishes to ascertain the conditions of the other congregations in his former field of labor, before he returns to Lytton, his present one, his stay here was not as long as his local friends here would have desired.

OLDEST V. C. IN EMPIRE IS DEAD.

London, Ont., Jan. 24th.—Sergeant George Richardson, V.C., veteran of the Indian mutiny and the Fenian Raids, oldest wearer of the Victoria Cross in the British Empire, died last evening at Westminster Military Hospital, where he had been a patient for some weeks. The body will be sent to Toronto for burial with military honors.

Sergeant Richardson, who received his decoration in 1858 during the Indian Mutiny, was chosen to represent Canada at the burial in Washington of the Unknown Soldier, and laid the wreath from the Dominion on the tomb.

Born on August 1st, 1831, near Dardalanna, County of Cavan, Ireland, he was the youngest son of John Richardson, a linen weaver, and Nancy Hamilton Richardson.

In the latter part of 1855 he joined the 24th Border Regiment of the line and shortly afterwards was despatched with his regiment to India, where in 1857-9, he saw severe fighting. On April 27th, 1859, in a hand-to-hand conflict he won the Victoria Cross for distinguished gallantry in the field at Camppore where, though severely wounded, he rushed to the aid of his superior officer, Lieut. Laurie, and succeeded in saving his life.

THE SPOTTED CUT-WORM

This Insect Was Mistaken for the Army Worm.

Description and Life History—Poison-ed Bait Recommended — Keep Live Stock Out of the Field—Salt the Fleas—Fewer Cattle Shipped.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

In July last reports appeared in the press of an outbreak of Army Worms in two or three counties of the Province, and that the insects were beginning to do damage to some of the field crops. These sections were visited by representatives of the Dominion and Provincial Entomological departments, and it was discovered that the insect was not the Army Worm but a common cut-worm known as the Spotted Cut-worm.

In view of this pest may be recognized and controlled should it appear next season, the following information is given:

Life History.

The spotted cut-worm winters over in the ground as a small brown or blackish larva from ¼ to about ¾ of an inch in length. In May and early June this cut-worm attacks the crops sown in the field where it wintered. In June it is full grown and pupates in the soil. Towards the end of the month the moths appear and lay the eggs for the brood which is now causing trouble. In about two weeks or about the 10th of August nearly all the larvae of this brood will be full grown and will have ceased feeding. They will then pupate in the ground and the moths will emerge in September and will lay their eggs throughout any weedy places. From these eggs will come the overwintering larvae referred to above.

Description.

The moths are a dull brown color with a wing expanse of about an inch and a quarter. They fly around only at night or late in the evening.

The full grown cut-worms or larvae are about 1½ inches long, stout, smooth and of a brownish or often blackish color with several black spots on the back, most conspicuous towards the rear end. There is a whitish or light colored line running along each side just below the brown color of the back. The head is brown.

This insect can readily be brought under control by the use of poison.

How to Control the Attack.

In the evening about sunset scatter thinly, as if sowing seed grain, the following poison bait wherever the cut-worms are present, and also along the margin of crops nearly that are to be protected:

Bran, 25 lbs.
Paris green (or white arsenic), 1 lb.
Molasses, ½ gal.
Lemons or oranges, 2 fruits.
Water, about 2 gals.

Mix the bran and the poison very thoroughly in a tub or any large receptacle, using either the hands or a dung fork for the purpose. Pour the molasses into the water, run the lemons or oranges through a meat chopper, and throw both the juice and the pulp into the water. Then stir this thoroughly. Next pour the liquid over the poison bran and mix so thoroughly that it will fall through the fingers readily. The above amount is sufficient for one acre.

Keep Live Stock Out of Reach.

Take precautions that no stock gets access to the mixture before it is applied, and even after applying it is wise to keep the stock out of the field for four or five days, though there is no much danger of their being poisoned if the above directions are followed carefully.—L. Caesar, O. A. College, Guelph.

Salt the Fleas.

The best means of controlling fleas in most instances is very simple. Fleas usually originate in the basement of the house, or in some covered place such as woodsheds and stables, to which hens, dogs, or other such animals have access. The remedy is to whitewash the basement, shed, or other breeding place a thorough cleaning, burn the litter, and then sprinkle the floor or ground in the building or shed with common salt. The salt should be sprinkled thickly enough almost to cover the ground and should then be wet down with water. It should not be wet sufficiently to cause it to run, however. If there are about the place any houses, cribs or the like built on piles so that hens and other animals can go under them, salt should be applied there generally speaking, it is fairly easy to determine where the fleas originate, and it is usually such a place as can be reached by the salt treatment. It may be necessary to repeat the operation two or three times at about three-day intervals.

Fewer Cattle Shipped.

A total of 21,559 head of cattle were shipped from the port of Montreal during the past season of navigation, as compared with 21,217 head for the season 1921, a decrease of 9,657 head. Of the above total shipped in 1922 there were 7,165 head from the United States, so that the total number of Canadian cattle that went forward to the British markets from this point was only 15,915 head. There was no export business done in sheep during the past season, while during the preceding year shipments amounted to 4,064 head.

It is surprising how far the table scraps and scattered grain will go toward maintaining the hens.

There is little excuse for any one using a grade or scrub bull when it is so easy to secure a pure-bred.

Yet They Say Justice is Blind.—A German court has ruled that a string of beads and a veil are perfectly acceptable as a dancing costume.

Detroit News: From here, France looks to have a supply of coal trouble that will be entirely adequate to last through the winter.

LUCK SURELY WITH CARNEGIE

In His Autobiography the Ironmaster Has Told of an Amazing Piece of Fortune.

Business acquaintances and rivals of Andrew Carnegie's used to declare that in addition to his remarkable ability and farsightedness he was blessed with amazing luck. An incident early in the ironmaster's career seems to justify the assertion. A piece of carelessness that might have ruined an other man resulted, in Carnegie's case, only in a brief scare.

One morning, he relates in his autobiography, he set out from Altoona for Pittsburgh with a package of greenbacks and checks under his waistcoat—for the package was too large for his pockets. He was a very considerable railroader at that time and liked to ride on the engine. It was a very rough ride over the mountains, and at one place, uneasily feeling for the package, he was horrified to find that the jolting of the train had shaken it out!

"There was," he says, "no use in disguising the fact that such a failure would ruin me, for to have been sent for the pay rolls and checks and to lose the package was a dreadful blunder. I called the engineer and told him that it must have been shaken out within the last few miles. Would he reverse his engine and run back for it? Kind soul, he did so. I watched the line, and on the bank of a large stream within a few feet of the water I saw the package. I could hardly believe my eyes. I ran down and grasped it. It was not damaged. Need I add that it never passed out of my firm grasp again until it was safe in Pittsburgh?

"I never ventured to tell the story until long afterward. Suppose that package had fallen just a few feet farther away and been swept down by the stream; how many years of faithful service it would have required to wipe out the effect of that one piece of carelessness!

"I have never since believed, says he, in being too hard on a young man, even if he does commit a dreadful mistake or two; and in judging such acts I have always tried to remember the difference it would have made in my own career if I had not found that lost package."—Youth's Companion.

That "Groundhog" Belief.

According to popular superstition, the groundhog has his day February 2.

According to biologist and weather experts, Mr. Groundhog is a poet and no prophet. The people that believe in the "six weeks more of winter," if he sees his shadow are fooling themselves, whether or not the sun shines February 2 and casts the shadow of the groundhog, who may come out looking for something to eat, the weather will not be affected.

"The belief about the groundhog and his effect on the weather is absolutely without basis," emphatically declares E. H. Bowie, supervising forecaster of the United States weather bureau, here. "And as regards that such is the case, the meteorological experts of the weather bureau have examined the records for the past years, and they find that whether it was sunny or cloudy on past February 2nds, the weather for the succeeding six weeks goes on in about the same way.—Science Service.

Cheap Living in Germany.

An American visiting Germany has written to the home folk a letter covering several features of living cost in that country. Here are a few samples: A ride from Hanover to Hamburg, six hours, first class, 23 cents. Lunch for two, on the dining car, consisting of asparagus soup, a good drink of schnapps, a good portion of fish, roast veal, vegetables, coffee, pudding, bottle of good red wine, two liqueurs, at a total cost for two of about 70 cents in American currency. A taxi for two hours cost in American currency 46 cents. Dinner for three, including poultry, everything from soup to nuts and a bottle of wine, at a total cost of 69 cents. Laundry bill for ten handkerchiefs, seven collars, five pairs of socks, one suit of underwear, one pajamas, 10 cents. Until recently a handsome suit of clothes could be bought for about $10. Derby hats, 50 to 75 cents, and so on, all along the line, he writes.—Toronto Capital.

Harvard's New Astronomer.

Harold Shapley, just elected astronomer at the Harvard college observatory to succeed its long-time astronomer, Edward C. Pickering, who died before his great work was finished, is only thirty-five years old. He made his world-wide reputation in the Wilson observatory, California, in what may be called supervised-guessing process accomplished by the superscience, celestial spectrum photography.—Argonaut.

Important Omission.

"Your collection doesn't seem complete," said the visitor to the Natural History rooms.

"What do you mean, sir?"

"I don't see that most baleful of all insects, the one that brings disappointment, spoils pleasure, causes divorce, deceives the confiding, frustrates hope and bears the fondest expectations unfulfilled—I refer to the fly in the ointment."—Boston Transcript.

A Test of Skill.

"Fine creatures make love beautifully."

"The fact that they are married to each other is apparently no handicap."

"Man and wife, eh? Then they are artists to their finger tips."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

A patient in a hospital had to be fed on a daily diet of egg and porridge. When asked by the physician how he liked it, he replied:

"It would be all right, doctor, if the egg was as new as the port and the port as old as the egg."

Napanee's Oldest Citizen Passes

On Friday last Mrs. Thomas Wilson, of Richard Street, passed away at the advanced age of 98 years and 6 months. Mrs. Wilson, who has had a long career in the town and vicinity, kept a remarkable vitality until the very last, and was able until within a day or two of her death to converse on most matters of interest to the community, and seemed to take a particular delight in recalling events and conditions of life and living when she was a girl and comparing them with those of the present time.

Formerly Miss Nancy Hayes, of Wilton, she would recount with great enthusiasm of the rather primitive condition that existed in the county eighty years ago, when she used to be sent by her parents to keep the fires burning in order to keep the deer away from the grain.

She was married to Thomas Wilson, an ex-soldier from the Imperial Army, who came among those given land on demobolization. After her marriage they moved to Napanee. Nine children were born to them, all of whom predeceased her but John, who works in Hyde's hardware store. Sam, for many years caretaker of the Collegiate Institute and the Presbyterian Church, and Will, now of Toronto. There are a large number of descendants who are scattered throughout Canada. Altogether there are twenty grandchildren and eighteen great-grandchildren.

The funeral, which was held from her late home, was conducted by Rev. W. J. Ferrill, of Grace Church, of which Mrs. Wilson was a member.

A SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

THE DOMINION BANK REPORT. — INCREASE IN PROFITS. — STRONG POSITION MAINTAINED.

The Fifty-second Annual Report, presented to the Shareholders of The Dominion Bank on Wednesday, January 31st, was not only highly satisfactory, but indeed a remarkable showing. The report reviewed the bank's affairs for the twelve months ended December 30th last, covering a period that in most lines of business and been unstable and restricted. That The Dominion Bank was able to bring down such a favourable record of its business year reflects a great deal of credit on the management and points to the confidence which this institution holds with the Canadian public.

Not only has the Bank increased its profits, as commercial loans are higher and its deposits contracted in but a light degree. It continues to show a strong liquid position with cash assets at the close of the year standing at £9,223,114, or equal to 25.18 per cent. of the liabilities to the public, and quickly available assets at 39.7, or £14,541,1, equal to 42.15 per cent of the liabilities to the public.

Net profits for the year, $1,175,478, compare with $1,125,581, for 1921, an increase of $50,296, when added to $719,480, the balance already at the credit of profit and loss account make a total of $1,890,958, which has been disposed of as follows: Dividends at the rate of 12 per cent., $720,000, a bonus of one per cent. $60,000, contribution to Officers' Pension Fund $45,000, Government taxes $157,795, written off Bank Premises $150,000, and balance carried forward to profit and loss account $758,163.

One of the notable features of the report is the item indicating that commercial loans in Canada stand at $65,212,220 in comparison with the previous year's report this total represents an increase of approximately $200,000, which in view of general business conditions, can be accepted as all the more satisfactory. Another point of interest is the fact that deposits by the public at $98,353,997, have undergone little change during the past twelve months, being down only $450,000, or less than one half of one per cent.

Notes in circulation total $7,571,461, an increase of $250,000, due largely to the increased circulation demands during the crop moving season.

A REMARKABLE MASONIC INCIDENT.

The first Masonic funeral that ever occurred in California took place in 1849 and was performed over a brother found drowned in the bay of San Francisco. An account of the ceremony states that on body of the deceased was found a silver mark of a Mason upon which were engraved the initials of his name. A little further investigation revealed to the beholder the most singular exhibition of emblems that was ever drawn by the ingenuity of man upon the human skin. There is nothing in the history or traditions of Freemasonry equal to it. Beautifully dotted on his left arm, in red and blue India ink, time could not efface, appeared all the emblems of the entire apprenticeship. There was the Holy Bible, square and compass, the 24 inch guage and common gravel. There was also the Mosaic Pavement, beneath the ground floor of King Solomon's temple, the identical tassel which surrounds it, and the blazing star in the centre. On his right arm, and artistically executed in the same indelible liquid, were the emblems pertaining to the fellowship's degree, viz., the square, the level and the plumb. There were also the five columns representing the five orders of architecture—the Tuscan, Doric, Ionic, Corinthian and Composite.

On removing his garments from his body, the trowel presented itself with all the other tools of Operative masonry. Over his heart was the pot of incense. On other parts of his body were the beehive, the Book of Constitution, guarded by the Tyler's sword, pointing to a naked heart; the All Seeing Eye, the anchor and ark, the hour-glass, the scythe, the forty-seventh problem of Euclid, the sun, moon, stars and curious to the three steps which are emblematical of youth, manhood and age. Admirably executed with the weeping virgin, reclining on a broken column, upon which lay the Book of Constitution. In her right hand she held the pot of incense, the Masonic emblem of a pure heart, and in her left hand a sprig of acacia, the emblem of the immortality of the soul.

Immediately beneath her stood winged Time, with his scythe by his side, which cuts the brittle thread of life, and the Serpent with his Feet, which is ever reminding us that our lives are wintering away. The withered and attenuated figures of the Destroyer were placed amid the long and flowing ringlets of the disconsolate mourner. Thus were striking emblems of mortality and immortality blended in one pictorial representation.

It was a spectacle such as Masons never saw before, and in all probability such as the fraternity will never witness again. The brother's name was never known.—The Napanee Beaver, Nov. 28th, 1874.

CACHED FOR TEN YEARS.

Trapper Found His Tobacco in Perfect Condition.

Retrieving his tobacco in excellent condition after it had been cached for ten years is the experience of Charles Illidge, a trapper who makes the wilds of Northern Manitoba his hunting ground. Illidge was recently at The Pas and in telling of his travels said that in 1913 he made a cache at Copper Lake, which is 72 miles north of the Pas. In the cache he placed three pounds of tobacco in six half-pound tins. Returning to Copper Lake early in the present year he found on going to his cache that the tobacco was in perfect condition, although it had been there about ten years. The tins contained Old Chum Flat Tin Smoking Tobacco.

Cold Fish cured, with a tube of Touch Paste, at Wallace's.

CAMDEN EAST.

We are having very cold weather, the thermometer registering 22 degrees below zero on Tuesday morning last. Mr. and Mrs. Chris Cornell were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Lake on Sunday last. The people of this village were shocked when the news spread on Sunday last that Mrs. Jas. Sewell, of Harkell's Corners, West, had passed away with pneumonia and bronchitis. The funeral was held on Wednesday from St. Luke's Church, at 2.30 o'clock, of which church she was a life member. Her former minister, Rev. Mr. Spencer, of Gananoque, conducted the service, after which the remains were laid in the vault until spring. Mr. and Mrs. Alva Snider, of Maple Avenue, were called to the village on Monday last.—Mrs. Fred Snider drove out to Violet West on Friday last to visit her sister Mrs. Chas. Wm. Snider, who is seriously ill, with no hope for her recovery. — Mrs. Martha Switzer left for Napanee on Wednesday morning last to attend a wedding of some of her relatives.— The W. C. T. U. ladies met at the home of Mrs. L. Hartman, on Tuesday afternoon, on account of so much sickness, only a few were there but the President had a very fine meeting in the absence of Secretary-Treasurer. Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, the Methodist pulpit will be filled by the Rev. Mr. Hosie, of Strathcona, as Mr. Nickle has other parts of the circuit to fill. Hope to see a full house.

Mail Orders promptly filled at Wallace's Drug Store, Napanee.

For Scalds or Burns.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is a standard remedy for the prompt treatment of scalds and burns. Its healing power quickly soothes the pain and aids a speedy recovery from the injury. It is also an excellent remedy for all manner of cuts, bruises and sprains, as well as for relieving the pains arising from inflammation of various kinds. A bottle in the home and stable saves many a doctor's and veterinary's fee.

A COMMUNITY CLUB.

Again the Community Club of Odessa Methodist Church is under full sway. After two very successful years it was re-organized last October with a full list of new officers.

Although all the meetings are full of intellectual, social and religious thoughts, this year they have a greater influence, and everyone works with more willingness and energy. The Club not only influences the old and young to revive their interest in the Church life, but serves as an educational centre in such a way that we were never in the history of the people may say that the Club is slow, and not worth going to. Surely this is not so, because Hallowe'en every one came in masquerade, and the old as well as the young fully enjoyed the old superstitious event.

During the few weeks at Christmas holidays the committees arranged all the programmes, and each one will bring forth some new and interesting phase. Already some of these brilliant ideas have been enjoyed. One evening there was a debate, "Resolved that reading is a better means of instruction than travelling". The affirmative won with great applause. Last Tuesday a "Mock Parliament was held. The topic was "Resolved that all unmarried men over twenty-five years of age should be taxed". Rev. Mr. Dixon took the chair as honourable speaker, with Mr. L. Earl leader of the Liberals, and Dr. J. Morrow leader of the Conservatives. Many and varied were the points brought forth in favour and against the bill, keeping the crowd in fits of laughter. To break the monotony of discussion very comical tableaux were read during the hour, affording new applause. Even if Miss Agnes McPhail did not bring her knitting it did not spoil John Farmer's fun of the evening. Finally the Conservative leader moved that all unmarried men over sixty should be taxed, and this amendment carried. By this time the community is fast waksning up to the fact that they have spiknid local talent, and many parties are decided to have the talent from the neighborhood who are willingly help to make the Club what it is.

Next Tuesday, February 13th, the Parcel Post Box Social will be held. A good programme is being provided, and everyone is cordially invited to come and help make it a real stirring event of the year.

MOSCOW.

What might have been a very serious accident happened a short distance north of the village, on Monday afternoon, when Rev. J. W. Down and Mr. Fenwick Connoly, of Yarker, were returning from the meeting of the Official Board of the Yarker Circuit. While they were in the act of passing a large load of wood, the cutter upset and both men were thrown directly in front of the sleigh and right on the horses' heels. If the team had moved or kicked the results would have been serious. As it was, both escaped unhurt.—A very enjoyable event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lamoth on Tuesday evening, when a birthday supper was held in honor of Mr. Wesley Asselstine, father of five babies. Hearty greetings who are putting on the pounds. Par play on Friday night and hard at work every night since. The ice is very well in hand. It promises to be a big season.—Rev. A. W. Would not be Without Zutoo Tablets At Any Cost

Mr. A. O. Norton, the millionaire Ink Manufacturer, of Ington, who recently died, was a great "booster" for Zutoo Tablets.
He suffered from headaches from childhood and when he found Zutoo Tablets stopped these headaches in a few minutes and left no bad effect he began recommending them to his family and friends. "As an unbiased writer, Mr. Norton says in closing :
"My family use them when ever needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering with headache and they never failed to give quick relief. I always carry Zutoo Tablets in my grip on the road and WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT THEM AT ANY COST."

TOWN COUNCIL

Council Chambers,
Napanee, Feb. 5th, 1923.

Council met in regular session on Monday evening, Mayor MacGregor presiding.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read, and on motion were confirmed.

A communication was received from ex-Reeve A. E. Paul, offering additional land adjacent to the bathing houses, upon which the town could further interest the children by erecting swings and other forms of amusements. Referred to the Town Property Committee to consider and report.

A communication was received from William Morris, asking to be appointed as caretaker of the Harvey Warner Park. Referred to the Town Property Committee to report.

Communications were received from Sam Smith, Wm. Maracle and Roy Howie, asking to be appointed caretaker of the Disposal Works. Referred to the Town Property Committee to investigate and bring in a report.

A communication was received from the Ontario Good Roads Association, advising the Council that the annual meeting of the Association will be held in the auditorium of the Highway Building, corner University Ave. and Dundas Street, Toronto, on February 28th, March 1st and 2nd, and asking that the Council appoint a delegate.

On motion Reeve Hambly was appointed as delegate to represent the Town of Napanee at the above meeting of the Ontario Good Roads Association.

Councillor Perry, Chairman of the Finance Committee reported that the small sum of $269.95 had been collected in taxes from December 15th to February 1st, and suggested that the Collector of Taxes be interviewed and see if something could not be done to speed up the collection of taxes in arrears.

On motion the Finance Committee were asked to interview the Tax Collector and instruct him to collect the taxes or obtain an explanation as to why they are not collected.

Councillor Tustin, Chairman of Streets, reported that that committee had spent the sum of $224.25 in snow shovelling, sanding the streets, etc. The committee also recommended the engaging of Mr. Duncan as foreman, permanently at a salary of $21.00 per week. They also recommended that the town crush its own stone for the streets, thus giving work to our own residents.

Councillor Burgess, Chairman of Priming and By-law Committee, recommended that the minutes and by-laws of the town be printed in book form and distributed at least a week before nominnaly election.

The above matter was referred back to the committee to report as to the estimated cost.

Councillor Huffman, Chairman of Poor and Sanitary Committee, said he had been pretty busy looking into cases needing assistance. He had sent out about $7.00 worth of food, etc., during January.

Moved by Councillor Burgess, seconded by Councillor Paul, that bylaws be prepared and that the business of the corporation be turned over to the Standard Bank as soon as practicable and that the Finance Committee arrange for the transfer of the accounts. Carried unanimously.

A by-law authorizing the Town of Napanee to borrow from the Standard Bank the sum of $50,000 to meet the current expenditures of the town was given its several readings, signed, sealed, numbered and finally passed.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were ordered paid :—

Council adjourned.

ODESSA.

Mrs. Leaman, Bedford Mills, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robt Heath.—Mr. and Mrs. Hurb O'Reilly spent Saturday the guests of Miss Kate Konyon.—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gordon arrived home last Wednesday. There was a party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Graham last Tuesday evening when their many friends met to wish them every success in their new place of residence, and all regret very much that they are leaving here to make their home in Desoronto.—The Odessa Public School hockey team beat the Albert school team last Friday afternoon. The score was in favor of the locals.—Miss Bernice Moore, who has been spending some time with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Kilgannon, returned to her home in Watertown last Friday. She was accompanied by Mrs. Kilgannon, who expects to spend a month with her daughters, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Soura.— Mrs. Robert Hamm and children, Harold and Hope, spent a couple of days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Bristol, Bath.—Stanley Fraser is visiting his son, Dr. L. M. Fraser, Gananoque.—A baby boy arrived last Friday to make his home with Mr. and Mrs. John Heath.—There were three interesting days for the farmers, last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, when Messrs. Cleary, of Guelph, and Barber, of Brantford, delivered lectures and demonstrations in the Town Hall, under the auspices of the Live Stock Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, and the Agricultural Representative Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.—Quite a number of the young people drove to Kingston last Thursday night for a skating party.—Dr. Munroe is moving in the G. H. Remion residence.—The home of Harry Beck was completely destroyed by fire last Sunday about noon. Mr. and Mrs. Beck were eating their dinner when it was first discovered, and when help arrived it was too late to save the building. The barn belonged to the Overton Powley farm and was partially insured. The fire was supposed to have started from a defective chimney.

"ORPHANS OF THE STORM"

Some of the Outstanding Facts and Figures Concerning "Orphans of the Storm", Wizard Producer's Latest Photoplay Sensation.

Herewith are given just a few of the outstanding facts about D. W. Griffith's newest motion picture sensation, "Orphans of the Storm", a United Artists Corporation release, which is coming next Monday to the Wonderland Theatre for two days. A perusal of these facts and figures will give a fairly accurate idea of the magnitude of the picture, but the real magnificence and tremendously big aspects of this Griffith dramatic epic must be seen properly to be appreciated. These facts will help a little to prepare the public for what they are going to see :

"Orphans of the Storm" is an adaptation of that famous old stage classic, "The Two Orphans".

It was given the title "Orphans of the Storm" in order to avoid confusion with three other pictures called "The Two Orphans", and widely advertised.

It is more than "a million dollar" picture; but Mr. Griffith does not consider that of importance; results obtained are the important matters in his mind.

Nearly twelve months were occupied in working up to, making and finishing the picture, from the first steps to the finishing touches.

Six months were spent in the actual making.

Eighteen months were spent in period study and research work in order faithfully to reproduce the scenes, styles and customs of the time.

Every scene, large or small, was personally directed by Mr. Griffith.

Twenty-six tons of properties were imported from France that the dress and scenes might be faithful to history.

Each scene was photographed from three to ten times.

The Misses Lillian and Dorothy Gish appear together for the first time since "Hearts of the World", also a Griffith feature.

The stage play, "The Two Orphans," first presented in America at the Union Square Theatre in December, 1874, was played 7,000 times by Kate Claxton. It has been played more than 100,000 times in the United States.

The author, a Frenchman, Adolphe D'Ennery, changed his name from Phillips because his father was ashamed of having a playwright for a son.

The filming was done at Mr. Griffith's studios, Mamaroneck, a forty-acre estate just outside New York City and projecting like a leaf into Long Island Sound, the stem connecting with the mainland.

The fountain in the Bel-Air scene weighs sixty tons and was appraised at $80,000.

The reproduction of Paris covered fourteen acres, the largest studio set ever built. Three of the houses are reproductions from three now standing, past which the death-carts rumbled over 100 years ago.

The room in which the king appears is an exact replica in size, paintings and minute detail of the grand salon in the Palace at Versailles. It is the largest room ever built in a studio.

The sword worn by Lafayette was designed by the same firm and a direct descendant of the individual swordsmith who made the original sword which was presented to Lafayette by our American Congress.

Three million feet of lumber were used in constructing Paris; 3,000 tons of paving stone were set in the streets; ninety barrels of paint were used, and 4,000 panes of glass.

The Bel-Air scene was constructed at the Griffith studio and faithfully portrays the lavishness of the period. Many of the girls in the scene are famous beauties, several of them prominent socially.

The fountain of wine is an actual reality, done with the permission of the prohibition enforcement agent.

Annual Meeting of Addington Agricultural Society.

The annual meeting of the Addington Agricultural Society was held in the Town Hall, Centreville, at 2 p.m. on January 18th, with a good attendance. The Auditors' report was read, showing the Society to be in a thriving condition. The following officers were elected for 1923 :—

Secty. Treas.—Geo. A. McGill.
Directors—Fred Brown, P. J. Murphy, Joseph Tait, Clarence Lochhead, Harry Suttan, Wilbur Wilson, Clare Hannah, Jos. Cavanaugh and Stanley McGowan.
Associate Directors—J. S. Johnston Hugh Milling, R. J. Campbell, Frank Rogers, F. G. Young, Robt. Paul, C. W. Hambly, Jas. Fisher, Henry Tonkin, Johnston Cousins, Bert Vandervoort, Thos. McNeely, D. E. Smith, H. S. Patterson, Ross Peters, John L. Smith, Ross J. Symmith, Arch Alcombrack, Morley Huffman, Elgin Vannest, Joseph P. Finn, Maurice King, C. C. Main, John W. Reid, J. Ross Hannah, Mrs. C. E. Breault, Mrs. Jas. Tait, Mrs. Thos. Brown, Mrs. Wilfred Whelan, Mrs. J. W. Wagar and Mrs. Grover Wagar.

Messrs. A. W. Milligan and Geo. A. McGill were appointed delegates to attend the Ontario Fairs Convention to be held in Toronto January 30th and 31st.

The Society intends entering in the Standing Field and Threshed Grain competition again. They also expect to have their new half-mile track completed by June 1st.

The Fifty-third Annual Statement of the Mutual Life Assurance Co. of Canada.

The Mutual Life of Canada has just issued its 53rd Annual Statement. The Company has experienced a record year in more ways than one, and the result in figures will prove a surprise even for those who had from previous showings made by the Mutual Life, expected an equally favorable report of the Company's operations for 1922. The policyholders of the Mutual life of Canada have reason for satisfaction in every section of the Annual Statement.

A new high record for surplus earnings has been set by the statement under review. Surplus earnings of an insurance company represent the combined effect of several factors, including the ratio of operating expense, the rate of interest earned on investments and the mortality experience of the year, that is, the death claims made upon the company. In each of these departments of the Company's operations exceptionally favorable reports are made.

The Expense ratio of the Mutual last year, as compared to income, declined to 15.96 per cent., a decrease of nearly three points from 1922, which itself was also a favorable year, with a reduced expense ratio of a considerable margin under the year previous. The saving this made in operations helped in part to bring about the increase in the amount available for profit-participating policyholders.

By reason of the far-sighted policy adopted by the board in investing the funds of the company, the interest rate upon Mutual Life investments has for some years been highly satisfactory. A year ago this rate formed a matter for congratulation, and this year the rate shows up still more favorably. The average percentage of interest earned on investments in 1922 was 6.71 as compared to 6.69 per cent. in 1921.

The Company was again favored by a very low mortality, being only 42 per cent. of the rate expected as laid down by standard actuarial tables. That the claims upon the Company were so much lighter than normal expectation, show that the risks underwritten by the Company's officers in the field have been very carefully considered and that the business of the Mutual Life rests therefore upon a very sound basis. An increasing surplus for the policyholders is thus in part accounted for.

The surplus earnings of the Mutual Life for 1922, representing the combined result of the three influences above noted, accrued to $3,040,272.88, a totally unprecedented result, even in the history of the Mutual Life. The corresponding figures for 1921 were $2,243,038. The record for the past year is the more remarkable in that it surpasses 1921, which was considered a year of unprecedented profit earnings.

As might have been expected from this showing, the Company's assets have also increased by a large amount, standing at $53,605,630.49, as compared to $48,211,204, for the year preceding, an increase of $5,357,926.51. These assets, it should be pointed out, are not only sufficient to provide for the payment of all claims from maturing policies, but includes in a general surplus of $6,605,718.60, as compared to a fund of $5,720,920.70, as it stood a year ago.

Vigorous growth of the Mutual Life of Canada is indicated by the figures showing the business in force as at the end of 1922 which amounted to a grand total of $246,483,634, as compared to the 1921 total of $228,605,353.

A perspective view of the Mutual Life's progress since the organization of the Company in 1870 shows a marvelous record of steady development. The Mutual Life is the only Life Insurance Company in Canada which distributes its entire net profits among its profit-participating policyholders, and the remarkable solidity of its growth is a tribute to the faith which animated its founders and the business sagacity of those in whose care its affairs have since been placed.

WILTON.

On Thursday evening, Jan. 25th, the members of the Orion Lodge, I. O. O. F., and members of their families attended the public installation of officers at the lodge room, Odessa. After the installation ceremony was over, addresses were given by the different officers. A delightful supper was given by members of the Lodge. All enjoyed a very pleasant evening.—The epidemic of Flu is quite prevalent in and around Wilton.—Arthur Simmons, son of Guy Simmons, met with quite a serious accident while playing at school, when he broke a bone in his ankle. The bone was set by Dr. J. E. Mabee, and Arthur is doing nicely.—Mr. J. Burley, Lenna, Sask., is paying a visit to his sisters, Mrs. Charles Stover.—Mr. O. C. Storms has returned to Wilton, after spending several months with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Aselstine, Odessa, Alta.—Mr. Bert Babcock and family have moved on Dr. Bell's farm, near Kingston.—Mr. Kenneth Lemmon has moved into one of Mr. K. W. Storms' tenant houses in the village.

Do You Advertise?

Advertising is easy—it is simply saying in writing what you say to the customers in your shop. Turn over stocks quickly, if you would make more money.

Of this you may be sure : Prices in a shop which advertises are not MORE than in a shop which does not advertise. The chances are that they are oftentimes lower.

This, also, is generally true : You will find better goods, better values and better service in those shops which turn over their stocks rapidly. This means, as a general thing, shops which advertise.

AUDITORS' REPORT TO SHAREHOLDERS

We have compared the above Balance Sheet with the books and accounts at the Chief Office of the Dominion Bank and the certified returns received from its Branches, and after checking the cash and verifying the securities at the Chief Office and certain of the principal Branches on December 30th, 1922, we certify that, in our opinion, such Balance Sheet exhibits a true and correct view of the state of the Bank's affairs, according to the best of our information, the explanations given to us and as shown by the books of the Bank.

In addition to the examinations mentioned, the cash and securities at the Chief Office and certain of the principal Branches were checked and verified by us at another time during the year and found to be in accord with the books of the Bank.

All information and explanations required have been given to us and all transactions of the Bank which have come under our notice have in our opinion, been within the powers of the Bank.

WOMEN FROM FORTY TO FIFTY

Will Be Interested in Mrs. Thompson's Recovery by Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winnipeg, Man.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me good in every way. I was very weak and run-down and had certain troubles that women of my age are likely to have. I did not like to go to the doctor so I took the Vegetable Compound and am still taking it right along. I recommend it to my friends and to any one I know who is not feeling well."—Mrs. THOMPSON, 308 Lizzie St., Winnipeg, Man.

When women who are between the ages of forty-five and fifty-three are beset with such annoying symptoms as nervousness, irritability, melancholia and heat flashes, which produce headaches, dizziness, or a sense of suffocation, they should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is especially adapted to help women through this crisis. It is prepared from roots and herbs and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who suffer should write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Cobourg, Ontario, for a free copy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women." c

BATH.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham and daughter, of Kansas City, Mo., are visiting at Dr. Northmore's. — Mrs. Fred Thorpe is still seriously ill.—Several people of the village and vicinity are ill with la grippe.—The progressive euchre held in the Masonic Hall on Friday evening, in aid of the Public Library, was well attended, and the proceeds were very gratifying. — Miss Brenda McTear, of Gananoque, and Miss Bessie McTear, of Kingston, spent the week end at St. John's Rectory.—A life long and well known resident of this village, and vicinity, in the person of Charles Laird, Sr., passed away very suddenly on Wednesday last. The funeral was held in the Methodist Church at 2 p.m. on Friday, Rev. A. C. Hoffman officiating. Besides his wife he leaves eleven sons and two daughters to mourn his loss. Three sisters, Mrs. Joseph Clement, and Mrs. Jos. Brown living near this village, and Mrs. Frank Mills, of Napanee; also two brothers, James Laird, of Port Colborne, and John Laird, of Napanee, also survive.—James Laird, of Port Colborne, and Mrs. Frank Mills, of Napanee, attended the funeral of their brother, the late Charles Laird.

The hockey match played between the Bath and Adolphustown team ended in a score of 1 to 1, although the game was not finished, owing to a disputed point arisen, after which the visiting team refused to play.

STELLA.

The weather for the past two weeks has been very severe, registering 20 degrees below zero some days.—The farmers have been busy drawing grain to Ernestown Station, which was recently sold to Mr. McCallum, Napanee. Mr. G. Tidwell was removed to Kingston General Hospital on Tuesday last.—Mr. A. Burleigh is still very ill; also Mr. J. Flannigan.—Messrs. John and Wilfered Miller are confined to their beds with scarlet fever.—Mr. C. Tidwell, who was seriously ill, is slightly improved. — A progressive euchre party and dance was held at Fairgrill last Wednesday evening, with a good crowd in attendance. There will be another one on Thursday evening. A large number from here attended the euchre party and dance at Bath on Friday evening and report a good time.—Mr. and Mrs. H. Finnegan, who have been visiting friends and relatives here, have returned to their home in Chicago.—Mr. and Mrs. D. Caughey, who have been visiting relatives in Kingston and vicinity, have returned home.—Mrs. Ada E. Bolting is visiting her father, Mr. H. Miller.—Miss I. Smith is spending a few weeks under the parental roof.—Miss F. Pollett is visiting at Mr. A. Brown's.—Mr. and Mrs. B. Smith are visiting at her mother's, at Simcoe Island.—Misses M. and F. Ross and Mr. N. Sudds, who have been visiting Mrs. B. Smith, have returned to Simcoe Island.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

Only the uninformed endure the agony of corns. They knowing ones apply Holloway's Corn Remover and get relief.

"Why don't you give us some of the good old-time oratory?" asked the constituent.

"Can't get up the inspiration, somehow," answered Senator Borghum. "Why don't you give us some of the good old-time audiences?"

Recognized as a leading specific for the destruction of worms, Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator has proved a boon to suffering children everywhere. It seldom fails.

"Apparently you spell with e's," puns a correspondent, calling attention to our too free use of letters in Poet Housman's name. The gentleman is right, and consonant with our policy, having made an error of a vowel we now make avowal of our error.

Exhausted From Asthma. Many who read these words know the terrible drain upon health and strength, which comes in the train of asthmatic troubles. Many do not realize, however, that there is one true remedy which will usually stop this drain. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is a wonderful check to this enervating ailment. It has a countless record of relief to its credit. It is sold almost everywhere.

The Italian Senate's unanimous vote of confidence in Mussolini is somehow reminiscent of an old story: "Why do you think your dog loves you?" asked the nice old lady.

"Because he knows I'd knock the stuffin' out of him if he didn't," the boy replied.

Miller's Worm Powders will eradicate the worm evil that bears so heavily on children and is believed to cause many fatalities. They are an acceptable medicine to children and can be fully relied upon to clear the food channels thoroughly of these destructive parasites and restore the inflamed and painful surfaces to healthfulness. They are an excellent remedy for these evils.

"Hello! I want to order a box for to-morrow."

"What size?"

"There will be six of us in the party."

"But they only come in single sizes —we'll have to have it made special."

"Is this the Lyceum?"

"No, this is the undertaker."

Address and Presentation

On the evening of January 31st, 1923, a goodly number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Yates, Lime Lake, to spend a social evening with them, as they are about to move to Marlbank to reside. After spending a few hours in conversation, Mr. and Mrs. Yates were called to the parlor, where Mr. Thomas Gallivan read an address to them, and Mr. Wesley Brown presented them with a well filled purse.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Yates very suitably replied, thanking their friends very heartily for their generous gift, and gave them a very pressing invitation to visit them in their new home. Mr. Gallivan and Mr. Brown made a few complimentary remarks, regarding the sterling qualities of Mr. and Mrs. Yates, after which dainty refreshments were served by the ladies. After ample justice had been done to the good things provided, there followed an interesting programme of songs, speeches and music. All left for home at the midnight hour, after wishing Mr. and Mrs. Yates success and happiness in their new home.

Following is the address:—

To Mr. and Mrs. Truman Yates.

Dear Friends,—Having heard that you intend changing your place of residence, we have come here tonight to spend a social time with you before your departure to your new home.

We regret that you find it necessary to leave our neighborhood, but trust that the change will be for your betterment in life. We have always found you the very best, as neighbor and friend, always ready to assist in all good work.

We are glad to know that you are not going so far but you can come back and visit us often, and that we will be able to stop in and have a talk with you when we go over to Marlbank.

We wish you all success and prosperity and all the good things in life in your new home. For the sake of former associations, and our appreciation of your kindness to us, we ask you to accept this purse.

Signed on behalf of Marlbank and Lime Lake friends.

THOMAS F. GALLIVAN,
J. WESLEY BROWN.

Dated January 31st, 1923.

BAY VIEW.

The weather is somewhat colder and the Islanders have bushed their road. They report very good crossing.—There is quite a lot of sickness in the neighborhood. Mrs. Gaitskill and son, Ross, and daughter, Evelyn, are improving, after a bad attack of la grippe, but Mr. Gaitskill continues very poorly. Their daughter, Mildred, of Toronto, also Mrs. Lina Crossley, Toronto, are in attendance.—Mrs. Crosley is Mrs. Gaitskill's sister. Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Gaitskill, who lost her brother, Charles Clark, of Kingston, and her sister, Mrs. Adam Hartman, of Sherkston, Lake, within a few days of each other.—Miss Velma Frink has returned home after visiting her uncle, Walter Frink.—Miss Ida Smith is visiting at her uncle's, Mr. Joseph Smith's, Bay View.—Miss Kay Mc[illegible] is visiting at her home in Adolphustown.—Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sheridan were at home to a few friends on Wednesday evening last.—On Sunday, Feb. 4th, the Feast of the Lord's Supper was held in Beulah Church here.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Thos. Edward Furrs, Colebrook, who passed away February 13th, 1922.

Dear Grandpa, Dear,
It's just a year ago to-day
That you were called away,
To be forever with Grandma dear,
For whom you mourned so long.

And tho' we miss you more and more,
And tho' our hearts are torn and sore,
We try to think that you have gone
Dear, just a little way before.

Signed by Grandchildren, Lulu, Marion, Helen and Kenneth Gordon, Waterville, N.Y. 6a

SURELY WAS "QUARE THING"

No Wonder Mr. Murphy Couldn't Understand His Better Half's Sudden Indisposition.

In a certain town there is an Irish cobbler whose conversation is much relished by his fellow townsmen.

"Good morning, Mr. Murphy," said a customer one day, going into the shop with shoes to be repaired. "I hear your wife is ill. What is the matter?"

"It's mesilf that's tried to find a raysun for Mary's being took since yisterday morning," said Mr. Murphy. "Unless it's the heat, I don't know what the trouble is.

"The day before yisterday she was as well as iver she was. Ye mind it was a powerful hot day, day before yisterday? Well, thin, Mary took no notice of the weather, no more than usual. She picked blueberries all morning; thin she made a blueberry pie for dinner, and she ate the half of that pie, and a quarter of a watermelon I'd bought, and she relished every mouthful.

"Thin she made the rist of the blueberries into a nice cake for supper, and she ate the half of that—me eatin' the rist, as I did of the pie—an' the last quarther of the watermelon; an' what with the frish doughnuts an' the last end of Mrs. Dooley's weddin' cake, she made out a foine meal. An' in the evenin', it being so terrible hot, she made a pitcher of lemonade, an' drunk the whole of that.

"It's the quare thing her 'ting took sick yisterday mornin' after being so well the day before," said Mr. Murphy. "She ate twelve what I did, and I remainder spakin' to her about her foine appetite, with the heat an' all; and here she is flat on her back since yisterday mornin'." — Philadelphia Ledger.

Why British Flag Bears Large Crest.

During the early part of its history, Great Britain used a number of different flags or standards to identify the men and the ships belonging to the nation. In medieval times, practically every great nobleman had a flag of his own, but, by the time of Richard the Lion Hearted, what is now the official badge of Great Britain had its beginning.

As time went on, the insignia of conquered nations were added to this ensign, together with certain symbols of the reigning families with whom the British kings and queens intermarried, even the symbol of France appearing on this flag as late as 1801. Gradually, however, these were eliminated and the present royal standard adopted—divided into four quarters, symbolical of the divisions of the Island empire. In the first quarter are the three British lions. In the second appears the fighting lion of Scotland. The harp of Ireland occupies the third quarter and the lions of England are repeated in the fourth quarter, for Wales does not appear as a separate entity. Joining the four—or separating them—is the Cross of St. George, as typical of the different British standards as the Stars and Stripes are of the various forms of the American flag.

A Quick Thinker.

"Speaking of alibis," said Jim Bodbett, who prosecutes the cases of the state of Indiana in the Clark City, Ind., court at Jeffersonville, and has sometimes been troubled by alibis which he distrusted but could not disprove, "I know an old negro office-seeker he says was a quick thinker. This negro used to deal with a grocer named John Burnside, who had a store just north of Jeffersonville. One night the negro crawled through a small hole, only made for chickens, and when he crawled out a chicken went with him. Next day Burnside picked up the negro's grocery account book near the place the chicken had been and was not. He slowly hunted out the book to the negro who came later to make a purchase, and then said: 'I found it in the chicken house, uncle.' 'Yes, sah, yes, sah; sah, sah. I reckon it must 'a' been you could charge up the chicken, sah!'" — Indianapolis News.

Road Built on Sandy Shore.

By the use of sectional planking it was possible to build a stretch of reinforced concrete highway along the shore of Lake Michigan, east of Michigan City, on what is known as the Long Beach road extension. Starting at the central mixing plant, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, the contractor put down 23,000 feet of sectional planking; made up in sections 5 feet wide and 10 feet long, 2 by 6 inch boards being used for this purpose. He then laid the wet concrete carried from the mixing plant to the end of the walk, and as the road was laid, the checkboard was taken up and conveyed back to the mixing plant. When he had worked back to the mixing plant, he used the same planking, extending it 23,000 feet in the opposite direction and working back in the same manner.

Heligoland's Transformation.

When a syndicate of American and German capitalists finish waving the magic wand over Heligoland, the former grim wasps' nest will assume the aspect of a most attractive bathing resort with a winter hotel, and a casino offering every facility for polite gambling. McFARLANE - McFARLAND

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at Selby Rectory, on December 12th, when Evaline May, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McFarlane, Roblin, was united in marriage to Mr. Fred McFarland, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McFarland, Forest Mills. They were assisted by his twin brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McFarland. The bride was beautifully dressed in pale blue satin with Georgette and silver, and her going away suit was navy blue serge handsomely embroidered, with hat and veil to match. After the ceremony the bridal pair drove to Napanee and took the train for Ottawa and points East. Mr. and Mrs. McFarland will reside at Forest Mills, where Mr. McFarland is a prosperous young farmer. On their return home they were given a variety shower, and the presents received showed the high esteem in which the young couple were held.

TAMWORTH

Wellington Woodcock was burned out on Tuesday morning last. Fire broke out near the roof about 10 a.m., and the roof was all on fire before it was noticed. There was not much saved. No insurance.—The remains of the late Charles York, who died at Collingwood, arrived by train Thursday night, and were placed in the vault. The driving party held at the Donovan's, on Monday night, was well attended, and a very enjoyable time was spent. Proceeds were in aid of the Band.—Lots of wood cutting in town and selling at $5.00 and $6.00 per cord.—Dr. O'Connor, who had the misfortune of breaking his leg, is around on crutches. Dr. Burgess is helping him with his work.

With No Law to Stop You, What Would You Do To-Night?

The city before you! Women, cafes, banks, riches in homes and shops. Take what you want! Would you be homey or with your sweethearts? How about those secret wishes? Those half-thoughts that jump within you? Take all! Take all!

There was such a day! In a great city, the smartest city, the wickedest. No law! And every one doing what he or she wanted to.

They danced, and such dancing! They drank; and such drinking.

There was passion, but there was also faith!

Bad women, and beautiful but there were good women, even more beautiful. Oh! That mad day!

Into it, from the country, came pretty Henrietta Girard;

One man stole her, and kissed her, and fell 'mid wine and revelry and dancing.

The third man kissed her, Danton, a nation's lord, and they threatened his life!

Love! Laughter! Madness without limit!

Would you have witnessed it?

See it! Feel it! Tremble with it! Lose yourself in it! Profit by it, just as those people did in Paris as shown in that enchanting and seizing fact as D. W. Griffith's hurricane of hypnotic action,

Mutual Life of Canada Rolls Up Over Three Million Dollars Surplus Earnings

Company has record-breaking year

POLICYHOLDERS in the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada have every reason for congratulation as a result of the remarkable showing in all departments of the Company's business last year.

The fifty-third annual report, presented on February 1st at the Annual Meeting to the policyholders of the Company, who alone constitute the Company, shows that in each of the three financially important divisions of the business, namely, death claims, expenses incurred and the rate of interest earned on invested funds, the Company had an unusually favorable experience, the combination resulting in a wonderfully prosperous year, as shown by the Record Surplus Earnings of $3,040,273,98

This is equivalent to $36.72 for every $1,000 of total assets held at the end of the year, an unparalleled achievement in the history of the Company.

14% Decrease in Operating Expenses

In harmony with the spirit of the times the affairs of the Company were conducted with a due regard for economy. While the business was expanded to the extent of over $34,000,000 of new assurances written, the ratio of expense to income was reduced from 18.69% to 15.74%.

Increased Interest Rate on Investments

Owing to the favorable opportunities for investment prevailing during the past few years, the average rate of interest earned on the Company's invested funds has been steadily rising. This condition continued during the year 1922, when the average rate of interest earned over the entire investments increased from 6.60% to 6.74%.

Increased Distribution to Policyholders

The steadily increasing factor in the economic life of our country, which the institution is becoming, and the magnitude of the great public service it performs find illustration in the following facts:

1. During the past year the Company distributed in cash among policyholders and their beneficiaries the sum of $5,289,441.21, being an increase over the previous year of of $1,236,164.29.

2. The amount of money invested by the Company in Canadian securities, all working for the general good and the up-building of Canada, is over $50,000,000.

3. The Company stands pledged to distribute to citizens of this country and Newfoundland, where it also does business, the large sum of $246,436,654, when existing policy contracts mature.

The Strength of Canada's Only Mutual Life Company

After providing for all liabilities in accordance with Government requirements on a stronger reserve basis than called for by the Statutes, and setting aside a special investment reserve of $611,776.34, there remains a

which has been assigned as follows:—

1. Provision for dividends under deferred dividend policies issued prior to 1911 $3,545,408.89
2. Provision for interim dividends under quinquennial policies $342,773.33
3. Provision for dividends payable in 1923 $2,000,000.00
4. Provision for mortality fluctuation and other contingencies. $715,536.38

It Has to Pass Our Baker First

EVERY "milling" of Quaker Flour must satisfy our baker before it leaves the mills.

The wheat is analyzed by our chemists for protein, gluten and ash; the perfect grains are selected and cleaned. The product is tested at every stage of milling. A perfect flour is the result.

But the supreme test takes place in our own bakery. Every day's "milling" of Quaker Flour must receive the O. K. of our expert baker. It must produce bread perfect in size, flavour, colour and texture, before it can leave the mill. Nothing is left to chance in producing Quaker. You will make far better bread and cake with Fourthly, Lot No. 18, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Adolphustown, containing 200 acres, be the same more or less.

Fifthly, the East half of Lot No. 19, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Adolphustown, containing 100 acres, be the same more or less.

Sixthly, parts of Lots Nos. 19 and 20, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Adolphustown, containing 80 acres, be the same more or less, as described in a deed from one Samuel Casey, to Gilbert S. Casey, bearing date the 14th day of August, 1847.

Eighthly, part of the West half of Lot No. 20, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Adolphustown, as described in a deed from Alfred Platt to Percival Platt, dated October 22nd, 1890, excepting thereout and therefrom, (firstly) one-quarter of an acre, and (secondly) one and one-quarter of an acre, and (thirdly) one-third of an acre, all of which said exceptions will be particularly described at the time of sale.

The said property will be offered for sale, subject to a reserve bid, in parcels, which will be particularly described at the time of sale, and if the amount of the reserve bid is not reached by the aggregate amount offered for said parcels, then the whole 807 acres will be offered for sale en masse, and subject to a reserve bid.

Terms of sale:—10 per cent. of the purchase money to be paid down at the time of sale, and the balance to be paid within 30 days.

For further particulars and conditions of sale, apply to J. F. Madden, Barrister-at-law, Napanee, Solicitor for the Mortgagee.

Dated at Napanee, this 25th day of January, A.D. 1923.

Quotes Mrs. Orpena Harvey of Deseronto. Ont., who writes about why she prefers D.D.D. Prescription to other skin remedies. "I suffered with a bad case of skin eczema. Tried many remedies but got NO RELIEF. I used half a bottle only and knew I was getting relief. Why go on suffering? If half a bottle will relieve your case of skin disease, isn't that reasonable proof that you can be entirely cured by using the whole bottle? Try D.D.D. Soon, too. Trial bottle, 35c.

"If I had known of Zam-Buk five years ago, it would have saved indescribable misery," says Mr. F. Astridge, of 3, St. Paul St., St Catharines, Ont. "The intense pains often caused me to cry out aloud in agony. During my years of suffering I tried just about everything that I heard was good for piles. It was quite useless, and I despaired that one day, after long and terrible bouts with Zam-Buk that a friend had passed on to me along. I felt justified in at once that I was encouraged to persevere with the treatment. I got through three boxes of Zam-Buk in all, and by that time to my great joy, all evidence of the piles had completely gone."

In piles, abscesses, ulcers, etc., no one should ever submit to an operation before trying Zam-Buk. This renowned herbal balm with its unique soothing, healing and germicidal properties cannot be equalled for dealing with pain, soreness, swelling or inflammation.

Zam-Buk is also splendid in eczema, poisoned wounds, chaps, cold sores, ringworm and scalp sores, burns, scalds, cuts, rash on the chest, rheumatism and other winter aches and pains.

The death occurred on Saturday, February 3rd, 1923, at the home of her son, J. T. Empey, of Mrs. James E. Empey. Deceased was in her 76th year, and was highly regarded by her many friends. The late Mrs. Empey was a Methodist in religion and a member of Grace Church. Deceased is survived by three children, Mrs. Arthur Parrott, Switzerville; Miss Effie Empey and Mr. J. T. Empey, Napanee; two brothers, Mr. Hart Bell, Richmond, and Mr. E. R. Sills, Napanee, and two grandchildren, Horace Empey, Napanee, and Mrs. C. B. Brethen, Glenora. The funeral service was conducted by her Pastor, Rev. A. J. Terrill, at the residence of her son, on Monday afternoon. The remains were placed in Riverside cemetery vault.

TURKEY AND THE PRICE OF TEA.
The recent political disturbances in Turkey caused great uneasiness in tea circles the world over, in view of the possible serious developments in India,—the greatest tea producing country. India has a great Moslem population, which looks upon the Sultan of Turkey as the spiritual head of their religion, and therefore were opposed to British policy towards Turkey. In view of the serious disorders which might occur, and the uncertainty of the situation generally, tea prices have risen to the highest levels ever reached. Coupled with this, it is estimated there will be an 80,000,000 lb. shortage in production this year. Everywhere higher prices are looked for, as conditions are far from satisfactory in the tea trade as yet.

We are getting some wonderful results in enlarging snap shots. Ask to see some of our work. Wallace's, sole agents for Kodaks in Napanee.

I. O. O. F. At Home.
Napanee Lodge, I.O.O.F., No. 86, held their annual "at home" in their rooms on Dundas street, on Friday evening last. Mr. Jack Elder, entertainer, from Kingston, rendered a varied program which was greatly appreciated. An opera entitled "The Gypsies" was presented by a company of young ladies under the direction of Prof. W. T. Baird, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Refreshments were then served, after which the gathering enjoyed themselves by dancing.

POULTRY ASSOCIATION BANQUET AND CONCERT

A splendid banquet and concert was given by the Poultry Association on Friday evening last, in the I. O. O. F. Hall, over the Bank of Montreal. About 175 people attended, consisting of the members and their wives, and at 7.30 all sat down to the tables, where a bountiful spread awaited them. Black's five-piece orchestra furnished the music during the supper, and rendered several selections, which were highly appreciated by the gathering.

After supper, a splendid program was enjoyed by those present and consisted of the following artists: Accordion solo, Mr. George Harmer; Hawaiian guitar duet, Mrs. Fred Hovey and daughter, Miss Georgie; solo, Mr. Fred LaSalle.

The two speakers for the occasion were Prof. Elford and Dr. Barnes, of Ottawa, who were very instructive in their remarks. The entertainment was closed by a selection from the orchestra, after which the National Anthem was sung and the gathering took their departure. The committee must be congratulated upon the way in which they prepared the banquet and for such wonderful success.

Programme for Week of Feb. 9th to Feb. 15th

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.
Katherine McDonald presents "THE WOMAN'S SIDE". Don't fail to see her. She is one of the best stars that ever played in moving pictures and one of the most beautiful. Also a two-reel Hallroom Boys' Comedy. And next episode of "IN THE DAYS OF BUFFALO BILL".

MONDAY AND TUESDAY.
Would you liked to have lived over a hundred years ago to see and to know the ways of people in those days? You would—but you can't, unless you see D. W. Griffith's greatest photoplay, "ORPHANS OF THE STORM". Pause—love often bears the hardest blows of fate. Two orphan sisters, one blind, one a victim of a Nobleman's lust, brought near by a thief's greed and a spy's law. The climatic moment in a story that runs the gamut of all human emotions. Reserved Seats 50c.; Rush Seats, 35c. Tax included.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY.
Ward Tinsdale presents Thomas Jefferson in "RIP VAN WINKLE". How a rascal was overthrown, and how Dame Winkle's happiness was restored to her, and how he left home. Also two-reel Comedy and next episode of "IN THE DAYS OF BUFFALO BILL".
Black's Orchestra every Wednesday.

Late Mrs. James E. Empey.

The death occurred on Saturday, February 3rd, 1923, at the home of her son, J. T. Empey, of Mrs. James E. Empey. Deceased was in her 76th year, and was highly regarded by her many friends. The late Mrs. Empey was a Methodist in religion and a member of Grace Church. Deceased is survived by three children, Mrs. Arthur Parrott, Switzerville; Miss Effie Empey and Mr. J. T. Empey, Napanee; two brothers, Mr. Ibri Sills, Richmond, and Mr. E. R. Sills, Napanee, and two grandchildren, Horace Empey, Napanee, and Mrs. C. B. Brethen, Glenora. The funeral service was conducted by her Pastor, Rev. A. J. Terrill, at the residence of her son, on Monday afternoon. The remains were placed in Riverside cemetery vault.

TURKEY AND THE PRICE OF TEA.

The recent political disturbances in Turkey caused great uneasiness in tea circles the world over, in view of the possible serious developments in India,—the greatest tea producing country. India has a great Moslem population, which looks upon the Sultan of Turkey as the spiritual head of their religion, and therefore were opposed to British policy towards Turkey. In view of the serious disorders which might occur, and the uncertainty of the situation generally, tea prices have risen to the highest levels ever reached. Combined with this, it is estimated there will be an 80,000,000 lb. shortage in production this year. Everywhere higher prices are looked for, as conditions are far from satisfactory in the tea trade as yet.

I. O. O. F. At Home.

Napanee Lodge, I.O.O.F., No. 86, held their annual "at home" in their rooms on Dundas street, on Friday evening last. Mr. Jack Elder, entertainer, from Kingston, rendered a varied program which was greatly appreciated. An opera entitled "The Gypsies" was presented by a company of young ladies under the direction of Prof. W. T. Baird, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Refreshments were then served, after which the gathering enjoyed themselves by dancing.

POULTRY ASSOCIATION BANQUET AND CONCERT

A splendid banquet and concert was given by the Poultry Association on Friday evening last, in the I. O. O. F. Hall, over the Bank of Montreal. About 175 people attended, consisting of the members and their wives, and at 7.30 all sat down to the tables, where a bountiful spread awaited them. Black's five-piece orchestra furnished the music during the supper, and rendered several selections, which were highly appreciated by the gathering.

After supper, a splendid program was enjoyed by those present and consisted of the following artists: Accordion solo, Mr. George Harmer; Hawaiian guitar duet, Mrs. Fred Hosey and daughter, Miss Georgie; solo, Mr. Fred LaSalle.

The two speakers for the occasion were Prof. Elford and Dr. Barnes, of Ottawa, who were very instructive in their remarks. The entertainment was closed by a selection from the orchestra, after which the National Anthem was sung and the gathering took their departure. The committee must be congratulated upon the way in which they prepared the banquet and for such wonderful success.

A SQUARE DEAL FOR THE FISHERMEN.

Few people realize the importance of the fishing industry in the Bay of Quinte, particularly the catch of white fish in the fall of the year by Government licensed gill net fishermen, which realizes thousands of dollars cash income to this district and necessitates the investment of hundreds of dollars in boats, nets, etc., These men pay a license of upwards to fifty dollars, and must use certain size mesh, under supervision of inspector.

These toilers of the sea go down to meet the fish as they come in from Lake Ontario early in the season, and follow them up until the bay freezes and winter sets. They are out at daybreak or before, lifting their nets in all kinds of weather. Then the nets have to be reeled up, mended and dried, spooled down and re-set many times after dark before the day's work is done.

The work is hard and the catch uncertain, and the price per lb. goes downward as the fish become more plentiful, not ruled entirely by that law of "supply and demand," for our contribution to the market is but a drop in the bucket. But the saddest part of the story is when the Government puts in the manimoth "pound nets", with leaders stretching across the waters and catching everything, all sorts and sizes, presumably for the spawn of the white fish, but these fish are taken from under the nose of the legalized fishermen and dumped on the market by the ton to break the price on those he is allowed to catch. The white fish that are too small to ship are peddled in Deseronto and Napanee and through the countryside. Mr. Fisherman would be fined, his nets seized and license taken away for catching those undersize fish.

The pound net will destroy the white fish on this shore as they did on the south shore of Lake Ontario, whether operated by private or government interests.

And now a word regarding the so-called hoop net, a pup of the larger pound net, built on same plan and legalized by Government. Many game fish are destroyed by these nets and that valuable but unprotected food fish, the humble bullhead, is being rapidly exterminated. I myself recently purchased some in a Napanee store, and found upon counting them that they ran fifteen to the pound weight. If allowed to mature they would weigh over one pound each. I have all respect for the handy, venturesome gill net fisherman, who braves the storms and wolds of the rough fall season, until he becomes coated in ice and his nets frozen, but the farmer hoop-net-fisherman is a pirate and cares not what becomes of our fisheries of the future.

Maybe I have taken up too much of your valuable space in trying to tell these few facts I know to our Bay of Quinte fisheries, and possibly what I do not know would take up a larger space. However, I believe, with many others, that an injustice is being done, and there can be no harm from an open and fair discussion. Let us go.

In the words of many of our customers, "it sets like a charm", Wallace's New Electric Lump Powder for horses and cattle. In 1, 2 and 3 lb. packages, at Wallace's.

Address and Presentation

On Monday, Feb. 12th, about sixty friends and neighbours met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Topping on the evening with them before their removal to Napanee. The following address was read:—

To Mr. and Mrs. Alvin V. Topping and Miss M. Armitage.

Dear Friends,—We have been requested by some of your friends to assemble amongst us that it seems hard to believe it is not to be continued. We scarcely need to embarrass the fact that we very sincerely regret your removal from among us. In very many ways your live have been so bound together with us in this community that it is very hard for us to really believe it is a fact that you will be removed from our municipality. Our school section and the fellowship of the church. Mr. Topping's long and devoted connection with the interest of our school section in which for a great many years you served very capably in the office of Secretary-Treasurer would alone be a sufficient reason why your fellow citizens and school Guard would rather here to-night to express our regrets at your removal and to express our best wishes for your future welfare. But in addition to your services in the school section, we have also an appreciative word for your wife, Mrs. Topping, and Miss Armitage, as well as yourself as neighbours and members of the church at Empey Hill. Here too we shall miss you each and all. A long time will it take to accustom ourselves to the fact that your place in our church life will be vacant, and let us assure you each, while we shall miss you, we will ever pray that He who in His wise and kindly Providence directs the life of those who trust in Him will ever be with his sister, Mrs. Dempsey.—Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Joyce spent Sunday evening at Mr. Bert Ronsberg's.—Deserter Hall, Mr. Hicks Oshawa, spent a few days at home.—Miss Lottie Goodman, of Shannonville, is visiting at Mr. W. Goodman's.—Mr. Wilfred Miller and mother attended the sale at Mr. E. H. Sills' last week.—A number from here took in the play at Deseronto on Friday evening.—On Monday, Mr. A. Dempsey was called to the bedside of his mother, who is quite ill. She is some better at time of writing.

HOCKEY.

Point Anne 5, Kingston 4.

Terry Millan and his merry troupe of hockey players from Kingston were handed their first consecutive defeat of the season in the Bay of Quinte League at the arena on Monday evening, Point Anne getting the decision by one goal.

The Kingston boys should secure Queen's Boo-Hoo for a mascot and perhaps then they could get rid of the jinx that has been causing them to lose games by a one-goal margin, after, in most of the games they have played, having the best of the score and the game until the last period. Terry Millan has been putting up a good brand of hockey but have been unable, as yet, to get the long end of the score. Hard luck followed them again on Monday night, as in the second and third periods a goal scored for Point Anne by the puck glancing off a Kingston player's skate.

The boys from the Point play first-class hockey and have won the first round from Napanee. The only time they have been defeated was by Napanee last week. From the goalkeeper, Hutchinson-Goal, McCarthy-defence, Casterton and T. Argrove-centre, J. Millan; right wing, N. Millan; left wing, A. Angrove; subs., Dungan and Devlin.

Napanee 6, Kingston 4.

An exhibition game of hockey was played at the arena on Thursday evening of last week between the local team and the Kingston team for the City League of Kingston, Napanee winning out by a score of 6-4.

Reeve of Adolphustown

EXPENDITURE ON COUNTY ROADS, 1922.

County Clerk Wilson informed us that full returns have been made to the Provincial Government to date that the County spent on County Roads in 1922 the sum of $40,760.00, and that the County has claimed from the Government as the share $31,620.07. Expenditure was as follows:—

Provincial county Roads	$ 8,220.00
Maintenance	19,268.58
County Roads—
Maintenance	5,731.05
Bridges	4,612.47
Bill Stevenson	24,122.66
Machinery	12,800.00
Special Grants to Town, Villages and Townships	11,147.44
Superintendence	2,262.42
Total	$ 40,760.00

It is hoped that the Government will waive the claim for the amount claimed as the share at an early date so that the Council may at its March session deal with the whole item. The amount to be estimated as expenditure on County Roads this year.

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

The financial statement of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada for the year 1922, published this week, must be regarded as highly satisfactory from every measure of progress and prosperity. Its items, relation both to development and strength, show striking advances over previous records, especially those in connection with total business in force and assets, indicating that a policy of large-scale expansion has been accompanied by prudent and economical management.

After allowing for cancellations, death and maturity claims, etc., assurances in force reach a total of $651,404,869, this being by far the greatest amount outstanding on the books of any Canadian Life Company. This figure represents an increase of $94,686,738, the greatest advance ever recorded by the Company in a twelve-month period. Another notable item is that relating to cash income from premiums, interest, etc., which reaches a new high-water mark of $36,251,222, representing an increase of $5,144,172 over the year 1921.

The assets record an increase of $14,716,730, and now reach the great total of $174,038,858. This is a splendid demonstration of the stability of the Company, which after assessing its liabilities on a basis appreciably higher than required by the Government standard of valuation, making substantial appropriations for investment fluctuations and other contingencies, and providing for Capital Stock, shows a surplus of $14,269,429. This item represents an advance of $1,865,511 within the year. The average interest rate earned was 6.25 per cent., indicating that investments have been selected with care and forethought.

Payments to policyholders, annuitants and beneficiaries amount to $15,615,365, for the year, bringing the total disbursements of this nature since the Company commenced operations fifty-one years ago to $120,770,909. During the year no less a sum than $2,673,816 was allotted or paid out to policyholders in respect of Dividends. The Company augments its decision to increase its already generous dividend scale during the current year.

In addition to its large underwritings in the Dominion, the Company has for many years conducted an eminently profitable business in countries other than Canada, and at the present time maintains active organizations in upwards of fifty countries. The record of the year's operations thus affords testimony that the confidence of the Canadian people in their own financial institutions is universally shared.

The abnormal financial conditions generally obtaining some three or four years ago gave a great impetus to life assurance underwriting the world over. It is gratifying to see that the advances then recorded are being well maintained by the Sun Life of Canada during a year of comparative financial stringency, affording evidence that the public have a growing consciousness of family and community responsibility. Statements such as that we have reviewed indicate that the people are essentially prudent in habit, a circumstance which lends its reflex influence, more virile and self-reliant in character.

SELBY W. C. T. U.

The February meeting of the Selby W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. Lewis Imes, with a good attendance, the President, Mrs. Sidney Primple, occupied the chair. In the absence of our Evangelistic Superintendent, the President conducted the Devotional Exercises, and gave a short, interesting talk.

It was brought to the attention of the members, that owing to a change in our laws, the women of our country may vote in municipal elections. It is our duty to see that we are properly assessed with our property that our names may appear on the voters' list so we may avail ourselves of this privilege.

Thanks were expressed by different members for flowers received during their illness. We were very pleased to welcome back to our meetings Mrs. Melville Windover, who has not been able to meet with us for the past few months.

Correspondence re Budget Life Membership was read by the President.

Members were asked to bring in for March meeting, any items along Scientific Temperance lines.

A leaflet on "Parenthood and Purity", by Margaret M. C. Densmore, was read by Mrs. Anderson, and discussed by those present.

Meeting closed with a "Circle of Prayer".

HALE TO THE END

Old Chronicles Tell of Some Remarkable Centenarians.

According to Newspapers and Magazines of the Last Century They Were a Rugged Lot

Tales of the prodigious feats of centenarian and near-centenarian ancestors have been handed down in many families for generations, until now they are accepted only as the fanciful dreams of the aged, exaggerated by retelling. A study of old magazines and newspapers, however, shows that during the Eighteenth and early Nineteenth centuries, remarkable mental and physical powers were attributed to very aged people.

Many such stories are found in the "intimations of death" found in old English newspapers. The custom in those days was to give in these notices a brief outline of the activities of the deceased as well as his position in life. These notices gave quaint pictures of life of the times, as they recorded the death of many well-known men and women they have great historical value.

Early volumes of Blackwood's Magazine tell of many instances of men and women attaining the age of 120 and even 130 years. A writer in The Scotsman who selects a few interesting examples from Blackwood's tells of the death of Mr. Dicmore of Galway in his 124th year. "To the last he could read without glasses, and until the last three or four years could walk some miles a day."

An entry on May 27, 1824, shows that Anna McKee, the widow of a Kincaid farmer, died at the age of 112. The native constables, "Not many months ago she could run a race with any of her sex of the third and fourth generation." The notices record the death of a retired woman in Ancaster at the age of 128 and another at 120 years.

One unusual record concerns the death of William Hodgetts at the age of 95. The intimation states "He was father of ten, father-in-law to ten, grandfather to 121, great-grandfather to 154, great-great-grandfather to one, in all 205, the last of whom he walked 32 miles to see in his nineteenth year."

Margaret McDougal, who died in Garth in 1823 in her 106th year, was also a woman of extraordinary vigor. "When above 100," the notice reads, "she thought little of walking from her own house to Wem or Aberdeby, a distance of seven miles, and returning before breakfast. Last year she traveled to Drummond castle, which is 30 miles distant, and returned the next day."

Harvard's Navy.

Did you know that at one time Harvard college had a navy? It was during the War of 1812. Once a year the navy made a triumphant cruise of Boston harbor, and it was on one of these annual jaunts that the men here of this colonial crew got a distinct shock; they were captured by the British. By ingenuity their little boat got outside the harbor and was stopped by the British blockading squadron.

They were confined by the perplexed British of what was going to happen to them. But instead of being long as captives, they were actually lionized by their enemies. The British officers were probably tired of their own company, and here was an opportunity for a good time. That was before the eighteenth amendment. By the time it was time to go home, the Harvard navy had to be slung over the sides of the British vessel in the slings which were used to bring the latter aboard, and how their own ships got back to port will forever remain a mystery.

Rabbit Sandwiches Are Good.

Oakesdale, a hamlet near Othello, Wash., is known as the sandwich town of the Northwest. Overland trains stop at Oakesdale and there are always many hungry folk on board.

County ladies, wearing white aprons, enter the cars or sell from the platforms an endless variety of sandwiches, said by experienced travelers to beat anything ever seen elsewhere.

The trains are delayed long enough so that all west-bound tourists have an opportunity to taste Oakesdale's newest and most popular sandwiches, jackrabbit or sage hen. The toothsome meat of these two local products, besmeared with butter and comforted between two slices of fresh bread, are the temptation played before newcomers.

For 15 cents a traveler may buy one of thirty varieties of sandwiches, each as large as a pie plate.—New York Sun.

Suspicious Conduct.

"No wonder the Gadders don't get along well together. Why, when Mrs. Gadder goes away for weeks at a time Mr. Gadder doesn't even write to her, but lets his stenographer type letters saying how lonely he is. What kind of a man would you call that?"

"A very, very busy man," said Mr. Dibbles, with a faraway look in his eyes, "and I'd give $9 in nickels to know what he's up to."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Foot Saved in 4 Days!

"Nothing but Zam-Buk could have done it," says Mrs. A. Berryman, 109, John Street, North, Hamilton, in describing how her right foot was crushed by a wagon wheel, was healed. "The flesh was terribly bruised, blackened and inflamed, and I fainted with the pain. When it was quite impossible for me to move about, my husband and mother got me to try Zam-Buk. It was surprising! Within TWO DAYS all swelling and discoloration had disappeared and pain was banished. Inside FOUR DAYS, through the timely use of Zam-Buk, I could get about as usual; the ugly sore foot was thoroughly healed."

Zam-Buk, the powerful antiseptic healer which draws from the seat of corruption and disease and gives new healthy tissue. No ointment, ointment or salve can possibly compare with Zam-Buk. Use it for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, eczema, piles, all skin injuries and blood poisoning. 50c. box; 3 for $1.25. All druggists and stores, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

Marlatt's Specific for Gall Stones and Appendicitis

Gall Stones

Stomach disorders, Indigestion, Appendicitis and Kidney Stones are often caused by Gall Stones. Many persons are misled until bad attacks of Gall Stone colic appear. "Marlatt's Specific" will relieve without pain or operation.

Two Doctors Advised Operation; First Bottle Passes Many Gall Stones; Each Bottle Did Good Work; Well Satisfied With Results.

Mrs. W. J. B., Somerset, N.S., was advised by two doctors that she would have to undergo an operation. A friend advised her to take the full course of "MARLATT'S SPECIFIC." Which she finished September last. She claims she passed a lot of gall stones and after taking several bottles she passed quite a very few. Each bottle did its work and Mrs. B. has received great relief from MARLATT'S SPECIFIC.

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

The financial statement of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada for the year 1922, published this week, must be regarded as highly satisfactory from every measure of progress and prosperity. Its strength, relation both to development and strength, show striking advances over previous records, especially those in connection with total business in force and assets, indicating that a policy of large-scale expansion has been accompanied by prudent and economical management.

After providing for cancellations, death and maturity claims, etc., assurances in force reach a total of $631,404,869, this being by far the greatest amount outstanding on the books of any Canadian Life Company. This figure represents an increase of $94,686,738, the greatest advance ever recorded by the company, in a twelve-month period. Another notable item is that relating to cash income from premiums, interest, etc., which reaches a new high-water mark of $36,251,222, representing an increase of $5,144,172 over the year 1921.

The assets record an increase of $14,716,730, and now reach the great total of $174,088,858. This is a splendid demonstration of the stability of the Company, which after assessing its liabilities on a basis appreciably higher than required by the Government standard of valuation, making substantial appropriations for investment fluctuations and other contingencies, and providing for Capital Stock, shows a surplus of $14,269,629. This item represents an advance of $3,865,311 within the year. The average interest rate earned was 6.37 per cent., indicating that investments have been selected with care and forethought.

Payments to policyholders, annuitants and beneficiaries amount to $15,615,365, for the year, bringing the total disbursements of this nature since the Company commenced operations fifty-one years ago to $129,770,509. During the year no less a sum than $2,673,816 was allotted or paid out to policyholders in respect of Dividends. The Company announces its decision to increase its already generous dividend scale during the current year.

In addition to its large underwritings in the Dominion, the Company has for many years conducted an eminently profitable business in countries other than Canada, and at the present time maintains active organizations in upwards of fifty countries. The record of the year's operations thus affords testimony that the confidence of the Canadian people in their own financial institutions is universally shared.

The abnormal financial conditions generally obtaining since three or four years ago gave a great impetus to life assurance underwriting the world over. It is gratifying to note that the advances then recorded are being well maintained by the Sun Life of Canada during a period of comparative financial stringency, affording evidence that the public have a growing remembrance of family and community responsibility. Statements such as that we have reviewed indicate that the people are wisely and prudently in habit, a circumstance which lends its quota to the stronger, more virile and self-reliant citizenship.

SELBY W. C. T. U.

The February meeting of the Selby W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. Lewis Innes, with a good attendance. The President, Mrs. Sidney Pringle, occupied the chair. In the absence of our Evangelistic Superintendent, the President conducted the Devotional Exercises, and gave a short, interesting talk.

It was brought to the attention of the members, that owing to a change in our laws, the women of our country may vote in municipal elections. It is our duty to see that we are properly assessed with our husbands that our names may appear on the Voters' List so we may avail ourselves of this privilege.

Thanks were expressed by different members for flowers received during their illness. We were very pleased to welcome back to our meetings Mrs. Melville Windover, who has not been able to meet with us for the past few months.

Correspondence re Budget Life Membership was read by the President.

Members were asked to bring in for March meeting, any items along Scientific Temperance lines.

A leaflet on "Parenthood and Purity", by Margaret M. C. Densmore, was read by Mrs. Anderson, and discussed by those present.

Meeting closed with a "Circle of Prayer".

HALE TO THE END

Old Chronicles Tell of Some Remarkable Centenarians.

According to Newspapers and Magazines of the Last Century They Were a Rugged Lot

Tales of the prodigious feats of centenarian and near-centenarian ancestors have been handed down in many families for generations, until now they are accepted only as the fanciful dreams of the aged, exaggerated by retelling. A study of old magazines and newspapers, however, shows that during the Eighteenth and early Nineteenth centuries, remarkable mental and physical powers were attributed to very aged people.

Many such stories are found in the "intimations of death" found in old English newspapers. The custom in those days was to give in these notices a brief outline of the activities of the deceased as well as his position in life. These notices gave quaint pictures of life of the times, as they recorded the death of many well-known men and women they have great historical value.

Early volumes of Blackwood's Magazine tell of many instances of men and women attaining the age of 120 and even 130 years. A writer in The Scotsman who selects a few interesting examples from Blackwood's tells of the death of Mr. Dermot of Galway in his 126th year. "To the last he could read without glasses, and until the last three or four years could walk some miles a day."

An entry on May 27, 1820, shows that Anna Madras, the widow of a Kinsale farmer, died at the age of 112. The notice concludes, "Not many months ago she could run a race with any of her sons of the third and fourth generation. The notices record the death of a colored woman in Jamaica at the age of 130 and another at 120 years.

One unusual record concerns the death of William Hogbaleton at the age of 95. The intimation states "He was father of ten, father-in-law to ten, grandfather to 131, great-grandfather to 454, great-great-grandfather to one, in all 595, the last of whom he walked 22 miles to see in his nineteenth year."

Margaret McDougal, who died in Perth in 1821 in her 104th year, was also a woman of extraordinary vigor. "Within about 10½" the notice reads, "she thought little of walking from her own house to Weem or Aberfeldy, a distance of seven miles, and returning before breakfast. Last year she traveled to Drummond castle, which is 30 miles distant, and resumed the next day."

Harvard's Navy.

Did you know that at one time Harvard college had a navy? It was during the War of 1812. Once a year the navy made a triumphant cruise of Boston harbor, and it was on one of these annual joy rides that the members of the gallant crew got a distinction which they would outlast the British. By accident their little boat got outside the harbor and was snapped up by the British blockading squadron.

They were confronted by the terrible thought of what was going to happen to them. But instead of being sent to a prison camp they were politely invited by their captors. The British officers were probably tired of their own company, and here was an opportunity for a good time. That was before the eighteenth amendment. By the time it was time to go home, the Harvard navy had to be slung over the sides of the British vessel in the slings which were used to bring the horses aboard, and load their own boat back to port will forever remain a mystery.

Rabbit Sandwiches Are Good.

Oakesdale, a hamlet near Othello, Wash., is known as the sandwich town of the Northwest. Overland trains stop at Oakesdale and there are always many hungry folk on board.

County bosses, wearing white aprons, enter the cars or sell from the platform an endless variety of sandwiches, said by experienced travelers to beat anything ever seen elsewhere.

The trains are delayed long enough so that all west-bound tourists have an opportunity to taste Oakesdale's newest and most popular sandwiches, jackrabbit or sage hen. The roasted meat of these two local products, besmeared with butter and comforted between two slices of fresh bread, are the temptation placed before newcomers.

For 15 cents a traveler may buy one of thirty varieties of sandwiches, each as large as a pie plate.—New York Sun.

Suspicious Conduct.

"No wonder the Gadders don't get along well together. Why, when Mrs. Gadder goes away for weeks at a time Mr. Gadder doesn't even write to her, but lets his stenographer type letters saying how lonely he is. What kind of a man would you call that?"

"A very, very busy man," said Mr. Bibbles, with a faraway look in his eyes, "and I'd give $5 in nickels to know what he's up to."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Marlatt's Specific for Gall Stones and Appendicitis

Gall Stones

Stomach disorders, Indigestion, Appendicitis and Kidney Stones are often caused by Gall Stones. Many persons are robbed until bad attacks of Gall Stone colic appear. "Marlatt's Specific" will relieve without pain or operation.

Mrs. W. J. B., Somerset, N. S., was advised by two doctors that she would have to undergo an operation. A friend advised her to take the full course of "MARLATT'S SPECIFIC," which she finished September last. She claims she passed a lot of gall stones and after taking several bottles she passed only a very few. Each bottle did its work and Mrs. B. has received great relief from MARLATT'S SPECIFIC.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Thos. E. Furrs, of Colebrook, who passed away February 12th, 1922.

It's just a year, dear father,
Since God called you home,
But, oh, how long it seems, dear,
Since you left us all alone.
Though we miss you sadly, father,
We would not, if we could,
Bring you back, for we know, dear,
You are happy now, with mother.
For whom you've mourned long years.

Invention Will Save Wasted Forests

Calgary, Feb. The coal strike in the Western provinces during the past summer necessitated the use of a considerable amount of low-grade (sub-bituminous) coal, and this coal, owing to the greater number of its fine grains, considerably increased the risk of fire in the forests along the railways. While the number of fires increased, the increase in the amount of damage done was, however, comparatively slight. The necessity of burning coal of this character has led to the development of a type of "front end" for the locomotives which, it is claimed, eliminates ninety per cent. of the sparks and makes the burning of the coal fairly safe.

The officer on board a warship was drilling his men. "I want every man to lie on his back, but his legs in the air and move them as if he were riding a bicycle," he explained. "Now commence."

"Why have you stopped, Murphy?" asked the officer.

"If ye please, sir," was the answer, "O'm coasting."

Aeroplanes Block Big Forest Fire.

Ottawa, Feb.—A typically up-to-date story of the extinguishing of a forest fire comes from the Bow River (Alta.) Forest. The fire was reported by aeroplane, and, as it was of considerable size, a force of fire rangers was rushed to the scene. After over a day's work the fire was extinguished. Five men fine successfully fought a fire, which, under old conditions, would have required twenty. Only a couple of days after the fire was out, a violent storm occurred which would have rendered the fire uncontrollable and have spread it over the entire southern portion of the Stony Indian reserve, a large part of the Jumping Pound district and into settled country.

MILLIONS IN BUFFALO HERD

The famous Indian fighter General Miles, who died not long ago in Washington, after renegades and reeds of the congressional medal of honor for gallantry in an Apache campaign told me about seventeen years ago of a dramatic incident in which he participated in the middle '70s. As a young lieutenant, with an orderly and two Indian scouts, he was trailing the great Nez Perce Chief Joseph in his flight from Oregon to Canada.

The American scouting party came into an open prairie country in Idaho. They passed on a tiny hillock, scanning the horizon. The Indians dropped to ground. They signaled. Presently all fifth ears down heard it distinctly, the thump, thump, thump of thudding hoof, and far off, of a mighty host marching.

Buffalo.

They came into view; they approached. General Miles described the great spread of that quadruped army, massed into ranks wide enough for making a ten-mile front. The scouts fired their carbines to deflect the avalanche so that the leaders would turn aside and not come directly over the hillock. One horse early reared, broke away, fled and was engulfed in the herd. Two of the scouts showed uttered queer, loud, whining sounds, and all of them trembled in abject terror with yielding knees and reared repeatedly.

For four solid hours that herd kept coming on and passing. Weighed on pessible numbers, with the progress of about ten miles an hour and the herd closely massed. It went into millions. General Miles related it was the most amazing experience he ever had witnessed. He had described it to Frederic Remington and had offered to guide him to the spot and describe details, but Remington seemed not sufficiently interested in that buffalo stampede of an epic in American life that long since has vanished.

Says Girls Have Improved.

Howard Chandler Christy, the artist, has a different idea about American girls.

"What do I think of the changes in the American girls?" he repeated. "Well, I like her better today than ever. With freer clothing and freer living girls have improved physically and mentally. Think of those corseted, big-hipped, rather stiff girls of twenty-five years ago and the uncorseted, free young persons of today! The American girl has not been hurt in the least by her broader education and knowledge.

"To whom should one lay the blame for the flapper?" he was asked.

"Well, I have noticed that whenever a sweet, refined, innocent, simple girl enters a room filled with flappers, all the men make for the sweet young girl at once."

"Yes, and then—?"

"And then they immediately proceed to make a flapper of her!" he replied.—Alice Rohe in the Minneapolis News.

New English Wing.

A new type of wing which is of the utmost importance to aviation has been perfected in England after more than ten years of experimenting. The new wing is built with the object of lessening the lifting power of machines, and the first tests have been satisfactory. An airplane fitted with the new wing, seen from a distance, looks like a huge seagull with wing tips depressed. Instead of two rigid, horizontal straight planes, a single rigid plane is used, which, from the center, curves outwards and downwards to the tips. No fabric is used in the manufacture of the wing. Its surface is of mahogany veneer, thus making it better able to withstand all kinds of weather.

SILK PRINCESS SLIPS DE LUXE

We have just placed in stock a real good quality Habutai Silk "Princess Slip". This comes in a proper fitting style and can be had in colors of Black, Navy, Brown and White. All sizes. Priced $4.59 each.

THAT'S QUITE DIFFERENT.

A small boy stood in front of a grocery store one day, looking at a display of apples and pears. He moved toward the fruit, then back again several times. At last the grocer went outside and said to the youngster: "Are you trying to steal something, son?"
"No, mister, I ain't trying to steal anything. I'm trying not to."

PONGEE SILK BLOOMERS
VERY SPECIAL AT $2.69 EACH.

Raw Silks have advanced, yet in spite of that fact, we are giving you these splendidly made Pure Pongee Silk Bloomers at a less price than last year. These are made in extra large sizes, and splendidly reinforced. All sizes at this price.

With Easter Early You Perforce Must Plan and Shop Early. New Spring Stocks Are Arriving. Color Plays an Important Role This Season. Robinson's Departments are Making Displays of New Goods. You Are Doubly Welcome. See Them at Your First Opportunity.

New Spring Dresses Are Here. Styles Are Wonderfully Clever

Fashion in general has retained the long, slender, straight-line Silhouette of last season. The below the normal waist-line, the even and uneven hem lines, the circular skirts, the longer sleeves and side panels in various types are some of the characteristics of Spring. Color combinations are also very important. Beautiful Paisley Silks in all the Oriental patterns and colorings are combined with plain shades to produce some startling, wonderful results.

Alltyme Crepes, Krinkle Crepes, Cantons, Rushanaras and Flat Crepes are the most important Silk Dress Fabrics this season. Priced from $18.95 up.

New Spring Millinery Crosses the Stage We Have Styles Galore

We are splendidly ready to meet your requirements. Dozens of clever shapes have arrived, heralding the vogue of the coming season. Smartness of line is the keynote from a style standpoint. Brims take very unexpected angles. Many droop shapes are in evidence, while just as many turn abruptly from the face. Then too, brims are very short across the back, while crowns are higher than usual.

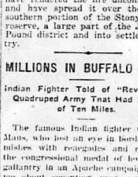
Navy, Brown, Sand, Grey, and Black are most fashionable colors. Priced from $3.50 to $10.00.

New Styles in Corsets and Brassieres Are Here



It is just as important to have your Corsets fitting your body properly as it is to have shoes fitting correctly and comfortably.

Fitting Corsets is a science with us, we have made a study of the question. Our Corsetieres can measure you and can choose the Corset style best suited to your figure. We can successfully fit large women as well as those of slighter proportions.

This Spring season we are featuring "four" of the best makes of Corsets in Canada. We have several different models in each make, thus you are given practically an unlimited variety of styles when making your selections.

Our Expert Corset Service costs you no more money either, as our prices range from $1.00 per pair up, with extraordinary values at $1.59, $2.00, $2.50 and $3.00.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Thos. E. Furrs, of Colebrook, who passed away February 12th, 1922.

It's just a year, dear father,
Since God called you home,
But, oh, how long it seems, dear,
Since you left us all alone.
Though we miss you sadly, father,
We would not, if we could,
Bring you back, for we know, dear,
You are happy now, with mother,
For whom you've mourned long years.

Invention Will Save Wasted Forests

Calgary, Feb.—The coal strike in the Western provinces during the past summer necessitated the use of a considerable amount of low-grade (sub-bituminous) coal, and this coal, owing to the greater number of sparks given off, considerably increased the risk of fire in the forests along the railways. While the number of fires increased, the increase in the amount of damage done was, however, comparatively slight. The necessity of burning coal of this character has led to the development of a type of "front end" for the locomotives which, it is claimed, eliminates ninety per cent. of the sparks and makes the burning of the coal fairly safe.

The officer on-board a warship was drilling his men. "I want every man to lie on his back, put his legs in the air and move them as if he were riding a bicycle," he explained. "Now commence."

"Why have you stopped, Murphy?" asked the officer.

"If ye please, sir," was the answer, "I'm coasting."

Baby's food kept warm and fresh all night in a Thermos Bottle. All bottles now at pre-war prices, at Wallace's.

Aeroplanes Block Big Forest Fire.

Ottawa, Feb.—A typically up-to-date story of the extinguishing of a forest fire comes from the Rouge River (Aita.) forest. The fire was reported by aeroplane, and, as it was of considerable size, a fast flying boat was rushed to the scene. After over a day's work the fire was extinguished. Five men thus successfully fought a fire, which, under old conditions, would have required twenty. Only a couple of days after the fire was out, a violent storm occurred which would have rendered the fire unmanageable and have spread it over the entire southern portion of the Stony Indian reserve, a large part of the Jumping Pound district and into settled country.

MILLIONS IN BUFFALO HERD

The famous Indian fighter General Miles, who lost an eye in border skirmishes with renegades and received the congressional medal of honor for gallantry in an Apache campaign, told me about seventeen years ago of a dramatic incident in which he participated in the middle '70s. As a young lieutenant, with an escort and two Indian scouts, he was trailing the great Nez Perce Chief Joseph in his flight from Oregon to Canada.

The American scouting party came into an open prairie country in Idaho. They paused on a rise in the hills, facing the horizon. The Indians dropped, turn to ground. They signaled. Presently all eyes were bent intently, making a tremulous front. The scouts fired their carbines to detect the avalanche so that the Leaders would turn aside and not come directly over the hillock. One horse early reared, broke away, fled and was recovered in the herd. Two of the other horses uttered queer, loud, whining squeals, and all of them trembled in abject terror with yielding knees and reared repeatedly.

For four solid hours that herd kept coming on and passing. We figured the possible numbers, with the progress at about ten miles an hour and the herd closely massed. It went into millions, General Miles related it as the most amazing experience he ever had witnessed. He had described it to Frederic Remington and had offered to guide him to the spot and describe details, but Remington seemed not sufficiently interested in that buffalo stampede at an epic in American life that long since has vanished.

Says Girls Have Improved.

"What do I think of the changes in the American girl?" he repeated. "Well, I like her better today than ever. With freer clothing and freer thinking girls have improved physically and mentally. Think of those current big-hipped, rather stiff girls of twenty-five years ago and the unrestricted, free young persons of today! The American girl has not been hurt in the least by her broader education and knowledge.

"To whom should one lay the blame for the flapper?" he was asked.

"Well, I have noticed that whenever a sweet, refined, innocent, simple girl enters a room filled with flappers, all the men make for the sweet young girl at once."

"Yes, and then—?"

"And then they immediately proceed to make a flapper of her," he replied.—Alice Rohe in the Minneapolis News.

New English Wing.

A new type of wing which is of the utmost importance to aviation has just been perfected in England after more than ten years of experimenting. The new wing is built with the object of increasing the lifting power of machines, and the first tests have been satisfactory. An aeroplane fitted with the new wing, seen from a distance, looks like a huge seagull with wing tips depressed. Instead of two rigid, horizontal straight planes, a single rigid plane is used, which, from the center, curves outwards and downwards to the tips. No fabric is used in the manufacture of the wing. Its surface is of mahogany veneer, thus making it better able to withstand all kinds of weather.

SILK PRINCESS SLIPS DE LUXE

We have just placed in stock a real good quality Habutai Silk "Princess Slip". This comes in a proper fitting style and can be had in colors of Black, Navy, Brown and White. All sizes. Priced $4.59 each.

THAT'S QUITE DIFFERENT.

A small boy stood in front of a grocery store one day, looking at a display of apples and pears. He moved toward the fruit, then back again several times. At last the grocer went outside and said to the youngster: "Are you trying to steal something, son?"

"No, mister, I ain't trying to steal anything. I'm trying not to."

PONGEE SILK BLOOMERS
VERY SPECIAL AT $2.69 EACH.

Raw Silks have advanced, yet in spite of that fact, we are giving you these splendid-ly made Pure Pongee Silk Bloomers at a less price than last year. These are made in extra large sizes, and splendidly reinforced. All sizes at this price.

With Easter Early You Perforce Must Plan and Shop Early. New Spring Stocks Are Arriving. Color Plays an Important Role This Season. Robinson's Departments are Making Displays of New Goods. You Are Doubly Welcome. See Them at Your First Opportunity.

New Spring Dresses Are Here. Styles Are Wonderfully Clever

Fashion in general has retained the long, slender, straight-line Silhouette of last season. The below the normal waist-line, the even and uneven hem lines, the circular skirts, the longer sleeves and side panels in various types are some of the characteristics of Spring. Color combinations are also very important. Beautiful Paisley Silks in all the Oriental patterns and colorings are combined with plain shades to produce some startling, wonderful results.

Alltyme Crepes, Krinkle Crepes, Cantons, Rushanaps and Flat Crepes are the most important Silk Dress Fabrics this season. Priced from $18.95 up.

New Spring Millinery Crosses the Stage We Have Styles Galore

We are splendidly ready to meet your requirements. Dozens of clever shapes have arrived, heralding the vogue of the coming season. Smartness of line is the keynote of this saddle point. Brims take on unexpected angles. Many droop shapes are in evidence, while just as many turn abruptly from the face. Then too, brims are very short across the back, while crowns are higher than usual.

Navy, Brown, Sand, Grey, and Black are most fashionable colors. Priced from $3.50 to $10.00.

New Styles in Corsets and Brassieres Are Here

It is just as important to have your Corsets fitting your body properly as it is to have shoes fitting correctly and comfortably.

Fitting Corsets is a science with us, we have made a study of the question. Our Corsetieres can measure you and can choose the Corset style best suited to your figure. We can successfully fit large women as well as those of slighter proportions.

This Spring season we are featuring "four" of the best makes of Corsets in Canada. We have several different models in each make, thus you are given practically an unlimited variety of styles when making your selections.

Our Expert Corset Service costs you no more money either, as our prices range from $1.00 per pair up, with extraordinary values at $1.59, $2.00, $2.50 and $3.00.

Death of C. E. Hall.

C. E. Hall, a former Reeve and Secretary-Treasurer of Whitehead municipality, and a prominent farmer of the Alexander district in the early eighties, died on January 25th, at Westover, Fla. The late Mr. Hall was one of the first settlers in the Alexander district, and farmed about one and a half miles northwest of the town for a number of years. He took an active interest in municipal affairs and was a Secretary-Treasurer of Whitehead municipality for a time, later being elected Reeve. From Alexander he moved to Winnipeg and later went to Vancouver, where he resided for the past ten years. He was at one time associated in the milling business with the Hon. A. P. McNab, of Saskatoon, and since moving to the coast has been extensively interested in milling. He is survived by his widow and two sons, Mrs. L. C. Baker, of Moose Jaw, a sister; and he left two brothers, W. F. and J. W. Hall, who reside at Napanee, Ont. — Brandon Sun.

NON-CO-OPERATION IN INDIA AFFECTS TEA PRICES.

The doctrine of non-co-operation preached by Chandi, has had serious results on the tea industry in India—the largest tea producing country in the world. Natives under Chandi's leadership, have imbibed, blacked and passively opposed British rule and authority, which made it extremely difficult for the Tea Planters to secure adequate numbers of Coolies to pluck the tea, and once plucked, the Natives have employed every means possible to hold up shipment. The result is that there is a shortage amounting to approximately 80,000,000 lbs. in the world's supply of tea. Prices are rising, and all indications point to still higher figures in the near future.

Radio to Help Protect Forests

Ottawa, Feb.—The most powerful radio receiving set in Canada, equipped with eighteen tubes, has been installed by the Marconi Company on the Forest Exhibits Car of the Canadian Forestry Association which started this week on its 1923 tour of fifteen thousand miles. The radio set will not only serve to entertain the evening audiences gathered to listen to the forest protection lectures but during the day radio talks on forest fire prevention and allied topics will be broadcasted from Montreal and other points every few hours so that the crowds visiting the car will be reached no matter where the itinerary may lead. The Forestry Car radio set will catch any station in North America.

OBITUARY.

Lydia Emily Cull Forward.

On Thursday, Feb. 8th, 1923, Napanee lost another old and respected resident in Lydia Emily Cull, relict of the late Henry Thorpe Forward, aged 85 years and 9 months. Her demise was a great sorrow to her many friends and neighbors.

Born in Toronto, Ont., on May 9th, 1837, she spent her girlhood days in Lennox County, was married to the late Mr. Forward in October, 1880. She was a daughter of the late James and Anne Cull, and granddaughter of the late Major-General Joseph Walker, Royal Marine Light Infantry, who fought under Admiral Nelson, at Copenhagen. She was a sister of our townswoman, Mrs. Peter Bristol, who survives her; also the late Joseph Cull, M.D., Mitchell, Ont. Besides Mrs. Bristol, she leaves to mourn her loss, a niece, Mrs. E. Lottridge, Toronto, Ont., and two nephews, Harry J. Bristol, Napanee, and Harry L. Cull, Detroit, Michigan.

Mrs. Catherine Doyle.

Resigned to the will of God and fortified by the Rites of her Holy Church, there passed peacefully away on Thursday, February 1st, an aged and highly esteemed lady of Camden Township, in the person of Catherine Doyle, relict of the late John Doyle, who predeceased her four years ago.

Deceased, whose maiden name was Catherine Garrett, was born on April 24th, in the year 1846, and was a daughter of James Garrett and Mary Donohue, of Sheffield. She was of a cheerful disposition and thus endeared herself to a large circle of friends, all of whom paid their last tribute of respect to the departed. All that medical aid and loving hands could do was rendered, but in spite of all care she succumbed after an illness from pneumonia. Her funeral was largely attended on Saturday to the Church of St. Anthony of Padua, Centreville, where a solemn Requiem Mass was chanted by her pastor, Rev. Father McCarthy, after which the remains were placed in the vault to await interment in the family plot. She is survived by five sons and one daughter, namely Michael, James, John, Harry, Joseph and Annie, all of whom were present during her illness and death. Three sisters and three brothers also survive. The pall bearers were Messrs. Charles Dewey, Fraser Bell, John Cavanaugh, James Byrnes, James Dewey and William Campbell. Requiescat in Pace.

Mrs. Oscar Asselstine.

There are many who will feel a deep personal loss in the death of Mrs. Oscar Asselstine, at her home in Marlbank, on Tuesday evening, Feb. 6th, 1923.

She was born on August 7th, 1846, at Grieve's Corners, in Richmond Township, her maiden name being Marion Ann Lochhead, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Lochhead. She was married to her now bereaved husband on March 24th, 1871, and came with him to their farm home in the 11th Concession of Richmond. In this community they continued to reside until about two years ago, when they removed to Marlbank.

Of their children, two died in infancy. The others are Mrs. Ida McLaughlin, of Marlbank; Mrs. Edward Nugent, of Newburgh; Miss Kathryn, nurse superintending one of the stations of the City Board of Health, Detroit, Mich.; Herbert J., of Richmond; Wm. O. and Robert W., of Richmond, near the old family home; and Dr. Stanley M. Asselstine, of Windsor, Ont.

Mrs. Asselstine possessed in her nature much that is finest in life. Devoted to her home and family, her kind and cheerful disposition won for her the love of all who knew her. A sincere and life-long Christian, her life was to others a witness of the joy and influence of the faith she cherished. She was a member of the Methodist Church, and with her husband and family took a great interest in all its work. When the Marlbank Auxiliary of the Woman's Missionary Society was first organized, she became its Treasurer, and continued in that office until she was no longer able to take any active part in the work of the Church.

During the last two years her health failed rapidly, but she kept her cheerful faith, and the end came peacefully as one falling asleep to awaken in that land where "the inhabitant shall not say, 'I am sick'."

The funeral service was held in the Marlbank Methodist Church, on Friday, Feb. 9th, by Rev. W. H. Clarke, and her body placed in the Napanee vault. The bearers were her four sons, her son-in-law, Mr. Edward Nugent, and her grandson, Mr. Franklin McLaughlin. The interment will be made in the family cemetery at the Asselstine Hill.

YARKER.

The recent snow storm of Wednesday made the roads almost impassable.—The large ice house at the station has been filled with a good quality of ice, which was shipped from Trenton. Yarker is one of the main icing stations on the Canadian National railway. Heavy shipments of cheese from branch lines are all iced at this point previous to being forwarded to Montreal.—On February 10th Wilbur Wilson was taken to the Kingston General Hospital to undergo an operation for appendicitis, which was performed shortly after he arrived, and we are glad to hear he is improving nicely.—M. Foster took his race horse to Westport to compete in the ice races there, and while there cleaned up a good fat purse.—Quite a number attended the oyster supper given by the Orangemen at Colebrooke.—The Ladies' Aid is giving an oyster supper on Friday evening of this week, in J. M. Wright's warerooms. Everybody welcome.

DRINK HOT BLOOD

African Natives Take Vital Fluid From Oxen.

Operation Causes No Permanent Injury to the Animal, and May Be Many Times Repeated.

In the heart of East Africa it has been my lot recently to spend several months among the Masai, writes H. M. G., in a London paper.

Familiar to the readers of Rider Haggard's early romances, these are the only natives of the Dark continent who possess any considerable potential wealth.

Their riches consist in the numberless herds of oxen belonging to this tribe which graze on the steppes of Kenya colony and Tanganyika territory.

Great nomads, the Masai wander hundreds of miles every year in search of water and pasturage for their cattle. They toil not, neither do they spin, and, as they never cultivate any crops, they neither plant nor reap.

At one time they were greatly dreaded for their warlike prowess. Nowadays, however, they confine themselves to raiding, cattle-thieving, and bickering among themselves over water and grazing rights.

The majority of these young men were over six feet in height. All carried enormously long assegais with brazy heads (the assegais is a spear they use for throwing). Many had a sword and a buffalo-hide shield as well.

As they strode past my tent it was impossible not to admire the superb dignity of their carriage, their finely chiseled features, and the haughty glance of their hawk-like eyes.

A couple of grimy, grey army blankets, affixed to the shoulders of each man, hung down loose, fore and aft, revealing, when they walked, their shapely limbs and lissom torso.

The bullock was soon caught and flung on its side. One man took an arrow and twisted a cloth guard round the barb, so that, when fired, it should not penetrate more than an inch. Another fastened a cloth tourniquet round the animal's neck.

The archer took his stand a few feet distant from the ox and shot the shaft he had prepared from the bow into the jugular. A steady trickle of blood, regulated by the tourniquet, started to flow; and the nearest Masai, applying his mouth to the neck, drank the flowing fluid, we were told.

When it is thought that enough blood has been withdrawn, the tourniquet is removed, the wound in the artery closes automatically by natural elastic pressure, and the ox is free to go.

Until, perhaps a month or two later, it is decided by his owner that he ought to be bled again.

Don't Look a Gift Horse—

The Woman and the teacher were walking along together when they came to a corner where a pushcart piled high with oranges was attracting many customers.

"Oranges always remind me of Jimmy," said the teacher. "He was a wide-awake youngster who came to me late in the term, having been transferred from another school. About a week after he'd been in my class he presented me with an orange one day at lunch time.

The next day as he went to his lunch, a well-stuffed paper bag peeking out from under his arm, he again gave me an orange. I was afraid the boy might be deprived himself of part of his lunch in order to make an impression on his teacher, so I called him back and asked him if it was perfectly all right for me to have the fruit and if he was sure he wasn't taking it from himself.

Jaundice Invades Country.

Acute infectious jaundice is now epidemic in this country for the twentieth time in seventy-two years. The New York state department of health announced in January that this prostrating and distressing malady had appeared in virtually every section of the state, says the New York Times.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, local health commissioner, issued a statement to the effect that jaundice had made its appearance in this city and asked physicians attached to the hospital service, as well as those in private practice, to cooperate with his department in ascertaining more fully the facts with reference to the disease by reporting any cases that had come to their attention in the last two or three months and submitting important facts regarding the clinical histories of their cases.

Dictaphone Serves Many.

Conducting ten hearing tubes to one dictaphone, so that the same number of pupils can take dictation simultaneously, is the method employed by a typewriting school in New York city. The single dictaphone is placed near a table, around which are grouped the students and the machine has a pipe, or metal tube, extending from it for the connection of the earpieces. —Popular Mechanics Magazine.

"Trousseau Car" Name Given to Fiancee's Auto.

London, Feb. 9th.—The Duke of York and Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon are very busy with wedding arrangements. Lady Elizabeth is often to be seen in the West End shops purchasing linen, china and multitudinous other things needed. House furniture is not yet being bought because it is not quite decided which house will be taken. Many presents have been received by the young couple, some from persons whom they do not know, and these have to be returned to donors as etiquette does not permit them to accept presents from individuals outside their circle of acquaintances.

Lady Elizabeth goes about in a dark blue Armstrong-Siddeley automobile which is so regularly packed with parcels that it is called by neighbors the "trousseau car".

The Duke of York with his brothers, Prince Henry and Prince George, have also been busy shopping in Regent Street. Her Majesty the Queen accompanied the Duke and his fiancee to White Lodge, Richmond Park, yesterday. This residence has been offered by the King to the Duke and his bride. It is near town but is not easily accessible except by road. The Duke might choose instead Henry VII. Tower at Windsor, or Cumberland Lodge, Windsor, both are well served by trains and are near other country houses of Royalty and friends, but Henry the Seventh Tower is rather a grim looking place to be a young couple's first home, and Cumberland Lodge requires an enormous amount of keeping up. Probably the final choice will fall on White Lodge despite its comparative isolation. Honeymoon plans are being discussed and Italy is favored, the Duke taking lessons in Italian from well-known masters.

UNDERHILL—HOULTON

St. Stephen's Church, Calvary, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday, Feb. 3rd, when Miss Alice Margaret Houlton and Mr. George Henry Underhill were united in marriage by the Rev. Canon James, the beautiful service being fully choral.

The bride was gowned in white satin with overdress of georgette, and carried a bouquet of white carnations and cornlily roses, and a white kid prayer book, the gift of the Rector and Mrs. James. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Wm. Houlton. The Misses Gertrude Anderson and Daisy Houlton were charming bridesmaids, while Mr. W. G. Woodill assisted as best man. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold cross set with pearls; to the bridesmaids, a gold locket set with pearls, and to the best man pearl cuff links.

A DAILY FERRY SERVICE.

Sought From Ontario Highways Department Between Amherst Island and Millhaven.

There may be a daily ferry service established between Amherst Island and Millhaven by the Ontario Department of Highways. The matter is now before the government, and the United Farmers' Club at Stella has made strong representations urging that inasmuch as the island is assessed for the highway and has no means of access to it, the government ought to establish the ferry service for the use of the residents of the island.

The materials for the Millhaven wharf are now being placed at the site near the bridge, and the work is being done under contract with the Dominion Government. This wharf was secured by J. H. Sexsmith, M.P., who is assisting the Island Improvement Council to secure much needed services. It is pointed out that a ferry service for passengers, animals and other freight would result all of the needs of the residents, who contend that such a service, while of value as a connection with Kingston's National Railway station and B. & Q. does not suit the people anywhere else. They advocate a better development of the farming, steamboat service from Picton to Kingston that Mr. Campbell has been giving for the past four or five years. To make all needs this would have to be a daily service, but there does not appear to be sufficient traffic to justify daily runs.

Under the circumstances the United Farmers are turning to the Ontario Government, claiming that the highways department should establish the daily service between Millhaven, Emerald and Stella as a part of the Provincial Highway. Such a consideration would open up the wonderful summer camping sites of the island to hundreds of families, for the island has the finest summer climate in the world, but has to remain practically isolated because of the poor service.

Glen Sparks had a birthday party for some of his schoolmates.—The play, "Mrs. Temples' Telegram" given in aid of the Piano fund, was well acted, and was enjoyed by all. Proceeds were $55.00. They have been invited to go to Marlbank in the near future. Watch for the date.—Mr. Wellington Lockwood is confined to the house with chicken pox.—A sleigh load of young people drove to Wilkinson and took dinner with Mrs. George Donking, last week.—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Switzer was visiting friends in Enterprise last week.—Miss Blanche Bell is home again, after spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Arthur Brown.—Don't forget "Which One Won", the Desmond play, is coming to O. B. Jackson's hall, on Feb. 24th. Come and see a real good play.

DEBT OF DOMINION NOW $2,419,979,993.

$7,483,842 Was Added To It in January of Present Year.—Huge Payment on Debt First Charge on Annual Revenues.

Ottawa, Feb. 8th.—Canada's revenues during the ten months of the fiscal year ended January 31 totalled $328,142,085, an increase of $9,632,196 over the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year. In the same period, ordinary expenditure declined $6,241,022, the total ordinary expenditures in the ten months ended January 31 last being $265,072,228. In January alone, as compared with January, 1922, ordinary revenue showed an increase of $2,748,785 and ordinary expenditure a decline of $6,654,029, the latter figure indication increase in expenditure in some of the earlier individual months as compared with the previous year. However, in spite of decreased expenditure and increased revenue, $7,483,842 was added to the net debt of Canada last month. On December 31, 1922, the net debt was $2,412,496,151. On January 31, 1923, it had grown to $2,419,979,993. The increase, it is explained, is mainly due to railway advances.

The total customs revenue for the ten months of the present fiscal year was $97,314,755, an increase of more than twelve millions over the previous year when the customs revenue was $85,262,770. The total revenue from excise in the fiscal year so far is $30,761,748, as compared with $31,008,842 for the ten months period of the last fiscal year. Interest payments on the public debt totalled $129,897,411 for the ten months ending January 31, 1923, as compared with $114,579,977 during the same period a year ago.

The Fur Trade and Forest Fires

Ottawa, Feb.—That the forest fires of recent years offer the gravest menace to the Dominion's fur trade which is now threatened with virtual extermination is the gist of a report made by the Fur Trade Commissioner of the Hudson's Bay Company to the Canadian Forestry Association. The burning of forests not alone kills numbers of animals but drives them to less accessible regions for their maintenance.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Under and by virtue of the powers contained in a certain mortgage which will be produced at the time of sale, there will be offered for sale by public auction, subject to a reserve bid, on Saturday, February 17th, 1923, at the hour of 1.30 o'clock in the afternoon, at the office of J. E. Madden, Barrister-at-law, John St., Napanee, the following property known as the Platt farm, situate in the Township of Adolphustown, in the County of Lennox and Addington, and described as follows:—All and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises, situate, lying and being in the Township of Adolphustown, in the County of Lennox and Addington, and being composed of 807 acres of land be the same more or less.

Firstly, the East 100 acres of Lot No. 15, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Adolphustown, described in a deed from Annie Buck to Rosanna Platt, and dated December 14th, 1902, together with that portion of the West Half of Lot No. 15, North of the travelled road and next adjacent to Hay Bay, now occupied by the Mortgagor, and as described in a deed from Annie Buck to Rosanna Platt.

Secondly, the West half of Lot No. 16, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Adolphustown, containing 100 acres be, the same more or less.

Fourthly, Lot No. 18, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Adolphustown, containing 200 acres, be the same more or less.

Fifthly, the East half of Lot No. 19, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Adolphustown, containing 100 acres, be the same more or less.

Sixthly, parts of Lots Nos. 19 and 20, in the 2nd Concession of the Township of Adolphustown, containing 80 acres, be the same more or less, as described in a deed from one Samuel Casey, to Gilbert S. Casey, bearing date the 14th day of August, 1847.

Eighthly, part of the West half of Lot No. 20, in the 3rd Concession of the Township of Adolphustown, as described in a deed from Alfred E. Hay to Percival Platt, dated October 22nd, 1880, excepting thereout and therefrom, (firstly) one-quarter of an acre, and (secondly) one and one-quarter of an acre, and (thirdly) one-third of an acre, all of which said exceptions will be particularly described at the time of sale.

The said property will be offered for sale, subject to a reserve bid, in parcels, which will be particularly described at the time of sale, and if the amount of the reserve bid is not reached by the aggregate amount offered for said parcels, then the whole 807 acres will be offered for sale in one parcel, and subject to a reserve bid.

Terms of sale:—10 per cent. of the purchase money to be paid down at the time of sale, and the balance to be paid within 30 days.

For further particulars and conditions of sale, apply to J. E. Madden, Esq., Barrister-at-law, Napanee, Solicitor for the Mortgagee.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Chapter 121 of the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1914, Section 56, and amending Acts, that all persons having any claims or demands against the estate of Charles Benjamin Willard, late of the Township of Amherst Island, in the County of Lennox and Addington, gentleman, deceased, who died on or about the 20th day of December, A.D. 1922, are required to deliver or send by post prepaid to Uriah Morley Wilson, Napanee, Ontario, Solicitor for John C. Murray Willard, Executor of the last will and testament of the said Charles Benjamin Willard, deceased, on or before the 17th day of February, A.D. 1923, their christian and surnames, addresses and descriptions, with full particulars of their claims or demands duly verified, and the nature of the security (if any) held by them.

And further take notice that after the said 17th day of February, A.D. 1923, the said Executor will proceed to distribute the assets of the said estate amongst the persons entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims or demands of which he shall then have received notice, and shall not be liable for the said assets, or any part thereof so distributed, to any person or persons of whose claims or demands he shall not have received notice at the time of the distribution thereof.

U. M. WILSON,
Solicitor for the said Executor.

Dated this 18th day of January, 1923. 4d

No More Bargains in Timber

Ottawa, Feb.—American forest engineers sent into Canada by U. S. interests to search for bodies of spruce timber not already pre-empted by Canadian companies are returning home empty handed. Some of these experts who had previously failed to secure timber lands for their companies in such states as Maine and New York have expressed surprise that to little timber was available for purchase in Eastern Canada.

Newspapers as Tree Devourers.

Ottawa, Feb.—Any Canadian newspaper of 100,000 circulation uses up about 250 spruce and balsam trees for its daily newsprint paper supply, says the Canadian Forestry Association. Several of the big American Sunday editions are responsible for stripping each week fifteen to twenty acres apiece of Canadian woodland.

ODESSA.

Mrs. John F. McCoy, who has been spending the past week with her sister, Mrs. D. L. Snider, has returned to her home in Peterboro'.—Mrs. Joseph Rogers has returned from visiting her sister, Mrs. A. Smith, Napanee.—Mrs. Sidney Spoule has returned from spending a few days the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sharpe, Bath.—Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Frink and family spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joyce, Fredericksburgh.—Dr. M. Gordon, Smiths Falls, spent Sunday at his home.—Fred Rutledge, Sydenham, spent Tuesday at B. L. King's.—Miss Lottie Thompson, Whitby, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Thompson, and at present nursing her sister, Mrs. Archie Simmons, Wilton, who is ill with the Flu.—Ralph Burgess' sale, last Wednesday, was well attended by anxious buyers. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Burgess are sorry to hear that they expect to leave soon to make their home in Oshawa.—We are pleased to say that Stanley Snider is able to be out again, after being seriously ill with the Flu.—The many friends of Mrs. Andrew Wycott are sorry to hear that she had passed away at her home in Watertown. The remains arrived last Wednesday and were placed in Forward's vault, Millhaven.—The hockey match Saturday afternoon was very interesting, between the Odessa and Bath teams. More interesting of course for the visiting team as the score was in their favor.

DENBIGH.

Mr. Michael Ready and his sons, Andrew and William, left for Kirkland Lake, to resume their former occupations at the mines there.—Lorne and John Ready went to Toronto and expect to be employed there during the remainder of the winter.—Arthur Rendy also went to Toronto on personal business.—Mrs. A. Fritsch arrived home again from an extended visit to her son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. C. F. Christiansen, of Toronto, and her daughter, Flora, left for New York to resume her profession as nurse in one of the hospitals there.—Mrs. L. Marquardt has for some time been suffering from a tumor under her chin, and is now an inmate of the Kingston Hotel Dieu Hospital, where she hopes to find relief by a successful operation. Edward Marquardt, employed in the Ruby mine, met with an accident, which came very near being a very serious one. While engaged in blasting, a piece of rock struck him above and close to his left eye, causing a painful bruise. Dr. Adams attended to the injury and though the patient will not be able to work for a while, his condition is as well as can be expected.—Mr. Lorne Cauchey, who paid an extended visit to his parents and other relatives here, has returned to Charlton, his present place of residence.

STELLA.

Since the roads are in better condition teaming is the order of the day.—M. McCaugherty, the genial stage driver, makes three trips a week to Kingston.—Mrs. S. Miller and little son, Donald, have returned home from the Kingston General Hospital, where they have been for the past seven weeks.—Miss Eva Glenn was successfully operated on for appendicitis at the Kingston General Hospital on Monday.—Mrs. A. Burleich is under the care of Dr. Northrup.—Mrs. Bettine, of Kingston, is at the home of her father, Mr. J. Tugwell, who is ill.—Mr. George Tugwell was taken to the Kingston General Hospital for treatment.—Mr. and Mrs. Bert Smith are visiting friends on Simcoe Island.—Mr. and Mrs. D. Cauchey spent a week recently visiting friends at Pittsburg, Elginburg and Kingston.—Capt. Herbert Finnegan and wife, of St. Clair, Mich., spent a week among relatives and friends here. Herb's old friends gave him a hearty welcome.—The annual concert, out on by the Stella Continuation School on Friday evening, was a great success. The Misses Sidbury and Meehan are to be congratulated in having trained their pupils so well. Dr. E. Kingsley and Nurse Howie, of the Department of Education, addressed the people on the subject of medical inspection of schools in a very capable manner.

Why is a violin unlike a bank? Because it never takes back its notes.

The representative of a bicycle firm was trying very hard to sell a machine to a farmer.

"A bicycle is no good to me," said the farmer; "and I can't afford it, anyway. I bought a cow yesterday."

"But you can't ride into the village on a cow," said the traveller.

"No," replied the farmer; "and I can't milk a bicycle."

Programme for Week of Feb. 16th to Feb. 22nd

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

Leath Baird in "DON'T DOUBT YOUR WIFE". If a man is suspicious of his wife does he truly love her? Does marriage pay? Is a bachelor happier than a married man? Don't fail to see the answers of these questions. Also a 2-reel Comedy, and next episode of "In the Days of Buffalo Bill".

MONDAY AND TUESDAY.

From a clear sky—a masterpiece! John M. Stahl's greatest, "ONE CLEAR CALL". Magnificent story, unparalleled cast, with the punch of a dozen dramas. And a special Comedy.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY.

"THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING". This screen novel should be seen by everybody, as it is a graphic pictorial history of America, at the same time being an absorbing entertainment. Also a 2-reel Comedy and next episode of "The Timber Queen".

"Five years ago when I was first married I said I would die or else I could be on scales all day long without feeling the least bit flabby. I had a great appetite and could eat anything. My weight was 107 pounds. I used to be busy over housework and was so run down I could not do it. I could go to bed but never could sleep during my first baby's birth. After that my energy seemed to leave me. I was tired all the time. I had to force myself to do my housework dishes, instead of being done as formerly, these duties became a real task. I had all desire for food and nothing would tempt me. I had a sinking mood feel. I would go to bed at night and toss from side to side for hours at a time. After a while I would get to sleep and find that I had been sleeping for ten or fifteen minutes, actually when morning came, not having slept. I started the day completely tired out. I grew shabby and nervous. The least noise would startle me and make my heart race almost. I had a baby and my husband was worried. I was losing weight every week and had already lost 25 pounds. I tried all kinds of tonics, but they didn't help me. One night a night I should never forget because it started me on my way to health and happiness and my husband brought in a bottle of Carnol. A friend told him that Carnol had saved his wife's life, so he insisted upon my trying it. Six weeks after I began taking Carnol, my weight increased from 93 pounds to 158, an increase of 65 pounds. And, am I well these days? Every morning I fairly jump out of bed ready to tackle anything and every minute of the day is a joy to me now."

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 8-622

OBITUARY.

Mrs. William Parks.

The last call came to Mrs. William Parks, of Tamworth, after a few weeks' illness, which was borne with Christian resignation, on January 21st, 1923.

Mrs. Parks was born in South Fredericksburgh, eighty-six years ago, and came to Sheffield when quite young, and was married to Mr. William Parks, who predeceased her about fourteen years ago. She was the daughter of Thos. and Ann Baxter, who emigrated from England about the year 1832, and was the last of the elder generation of the Baxter family, her sole surviving brother, John, having passed away a few weeks previously, in Prince Edward County.

She leaves to mourn her loss, four sons, John E. and Fred. E., both of Tamworth; James, of Erinsville, and Frank, of Bayreith, Peace River, Alta., four daughters, Alice and Celia, (Mrs. McGregor), at home; Emma (Mrs. Fred. Thompson), of Shannonville; and Ida (Mrs. Jas. Luffman), of Saskatchewan. Her funeral, which was held from her late home, was attended by a large number of her friends and relatives, at Christ Church, of which she was a devoted member, the Rev. Mr. Puxton officiating. The pall bearers were Messrs. W. Shier, Henry Richardson, Jas. Wheeler, Henry Piper, Chas. Hannah, and Walter Holden.

DAIRYING A WORLD INDUSTRY.

The international character of the dairy industry is reflected in the organization of the World's Dairy Congress Association. Under the auspices of this body and with the government of the United States a World's Dairy Congress has been announced to be held in Washington from October 2nd to 5th, this year. The vast extent of the dairy industry and its international status are recognized by those responsible for the Congress. Scientists, health officials, government officials, social welfare workers and producers, manufacturers, and distributors of milk and milk products will contribute to the discussions. These will relate to improving the quality and reducing the production and handling costs of dairy products and improving national health through their more general use. The international aspect of the commercial side of dairying has not been overlooked. It is recognized that the movement of surplus dairy products from Australia, New Zealand, the Argentine Republic and South Africa northward profoundly affects prices in Canada, the United States and Western Europe. The Congress is called together by President Harding, who has been authorized by Act of Congress to invite foreign representatives to attend.

Issued by the Director of Publicity, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, February 14th, 1923.

CUSTOMER OWNERSHIP.

That the customers of an enterprise—those who purchase its products—should be also its owners, is a idea that is more and more finding favor in the modern business. The desirable ends served by such a condition are indicated in an interesting paragraph from the annual report of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, which President L. B. McFarlane says:—

"To distribute more widely the ownership of shares is not only to strengthen the financial foundations of your company and to create better relationships, but to encourage the habit of thrift and a broader knowledge of investment.

In this connection it is interesting to note that the number of B. B. Telephone Shareholders increased by 87 per cent in 1922. They now number over 9,000.

A NEW OIL LAMP.

A new oil lamp that gives an amazing brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by oil leader universally and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean and safe. Burns 94 hours, air cool 6 per cent. common coal oil.

The inventor, J. A. Johnson, 246 Craig Sts. W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250.00 to $500.00 per month. 6tp

ARE BACHELORS "BORN"?

Some Achieve This State by Falling In Love—With Themselves.

Of the men who remain unmarried to-day, it may be said that some are born bachelors and that others achieve bachelorhood.

The born bachelor is a misogynist.

As a boy, he showed no desire to mix with girls, and has grown up in strict avoidance of the opposite sex. To him, the other sex makes no appeal. He despises the modern Adam who falls an easy captive to the wiles of Eve. He flatters himself that he is made of sterner stuff, but he does not realize that nature has robbed him of the desire to marry by making him incapable of love.

Women leave him alone, knowing that he is proof against their charm, and men, having accustomed themselves to his bachelorhood, cease to worry him with irrelevant flippancies on his celibate state.

Either he becomes a recluse, or is lionized by a wide circle of male acquaintances for his eccentricity. In both cases, however, he revels in his state of single blessedness and pities those of his friends who are tied to a life of connubial woe.

To relatives and friends who ask him why he never married, his stock reply is:

If they don't happen to know the extent of his income they pity him for an unlucky fellow; if they do, they marvel at his effrontery. As a matter of fact, he prefers to spend his money on his own personal comfort and adornment, and, more or less, live a life of luxury.

In fact, he has fallen seriously in love—with himself. Marriage means idea and obligations, and self-love is too strong to permit of him making any sacrifice. So he becomes a confirmed bachelor.

GAINED 65 POUNDS!

"Fifty years ago when I was first married, and found that my cooking I could live on it all day long without feeling the least bit full. I have had great appetite and could eat anything. I weighed 147 pounds. I used to be half starved, always feeling tired and run down. I was induced to try Carnol, and I never shall cease to praise the day I did. There is nothing like it for fat, when it does become a fat look. I lost all desire for food and nothing would tempt me. I had to make myself eat. I used to get tired at night and took from 2 to 3 days for to get rested. After a while I would feel ready to get up and that I had been asleep for ten or fifteen hours. Naturally when morning came, I found I was tired. I started the day completely tired out. I was shaky and nervous. The slightest noise would startle me and make me feel more alone. I could see that my husband was worried. I was losing weight every week—and had already lost 65 pounds. I tried all kinds of tonics, but they didn't help me. One night, a night I shall never forget because it started me on the way to health and happiness again, my husband brought in a bottle of Carnol. A friend told him that Carnol had saved his wife's life, so he insisted upon my trying it. Six weeks after I began taking Carnol, my weight increased from 93 pounds to 158, an increase of 65 pounds. And, am I well those days? Every morning I fairly jump out of bed ready to tackle anything and every minute of the day is a joy to me now!"

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 8-622

OBITUARY.

Mrs. William Parks.

The last call came to Mrs. William Parks, of Tamworth, after a few weeks' illness, which was borne with Christian resignation, on January 21st, 1923.

Mrs. Parks was born in South Fredericksburgh, eighty-six years ago, and came to Sheffield when quite young, and was married to Mr. William Parks, who predeceased her about fourteen years ago. She was the daughter of Thos. and Ann Baxter, who emigrated from England about the year 1832, and was the last of the elder generation of the Baxter family, her sole surviving brother John, having passed away a few weeks previously, in Prince Edward County.

She leaves to mourn her loss, four sons, John E. and Fred. E., both of Tamworth; James, of Erinsville, and Frank, of Royerott, Peace River. Also four daughters, Alice and Celia, (Mrs. McGregor), at home; Emma (Mrs. And. Thompson), of Shannonville, and Ida (Mrs. Jas. Luffman), of Saskatchewan. Her funeral, which was held from her own home, was attended by a large number of her friends and relatives, at Christ Church, of which she was a devoted member. Rev. Mr. Poston officiating. The pall bearers were Messrs. W. Shier, Henry Richardson, Jas. Wheeler, Henry Piper, Chas. Hannah, and Walter Redden.

DAIRYING A WORLD INDUSTRY.

The international character of the dairy industry is responsible for the organization of the World's Dairy Congress Association. Under the auspices of this body and of the government of the United States a World's Dairy Congress has been arranged to be held in Washington from October 2nd to 5th, this year. The vast extent of the dairy industry and its international status are recognized by those responsible for the Congress. Scientists, health officials, government officials, social welfare workers and producers, manufacturers, and distributors of milk and milk products will contribute to the discussions. These will relate to improving the quality and reducing the production and handling costs of dairy products and improving national health through their more general use. The international aspect of the commercial side of dairying has not been overlooked. It is recognized that the movement of surplus dairy products from Australia, New Zealand, the Argentine Republic and South Africa northward profoundly affects prices in Canada, the United States and Western Europe. The Congress is called together by President Harding, who has been authorized by Act of Congress to invite foreign representatives to attend.

Issued by the Director of Publicity, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, February 14th, 1923.

CUSTOMER OWNERSHIP.

That the customers of an enterprise—those who purchase its products—should be also its owners is an idea that is more and more finding favor in the modern business. The material profit secured by such a condition are indicated in an interesting paragraph from the annual report of the Bell Telephone Company, one of which President L. B. McFarlane says:—

"To distribute more widely the ownership of shares is not only to strengthen the financial foundations of your company and to create better relationships, but to encourage the habit of thrift and a broader knowledge of investments.

In this connection it is interesting to note that the number of Bell Telephone Shareholders increased by 87 per cent in 1922. They now number over 9,000.

A NEW OIL LAMP.

A new oil lamp that gives an amazing brilliant, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been hailed by incandescent authorities and found to be superior to ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise, pumping up is simple, clean and safe. Burns 94 per cent. air and 6 per cent. common coal oil.

The inventor, J. A. Johnson, 216 King St., W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first person in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get an agency, and without experience or money make $250.00 to $500.00 per month. 8sp

He, in his youth, shows himself a promising Lothario, and by the time he reaches manhood's estate is well established in this character. He becomes a trifler with affections. He looks upon marriage as probably unavoidable in the long run, but he means to have "a good time" first. He is the perfect philanderer.

As soon as an attachment shows signs of becoming serious, and notwithstanding mother screwing up her courage to bring him to the point, he beats a skilful retreat.

To relatives and friends who ask him why he never marries, his stock reply is:

If they don't happen to know the extent of his income they pity him for an unlucky fellow; if they do, they marvel at his effrontery. As a matter of fact, he prefers to spend his money on his own personal comfort and adornment, and, more or less, live a life of luxury.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

The most obstinate corns fail to resist Holloway's Corn Remover. Try it.

Mistress—Bridget, I told you twice to have muffins for tea. Have you no intellect?

Rexall Worm Syrup is sure to do the work. Does not upset the stomach, and the children don't mind taking it. 50c. a bottle at Wallace's.

All mothers can put away anxiety regarding their suffering children when they have Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator to give relief. Its effects are sure and lasting.

Step the Cough. — Coughing is caused by irritation in the respiratory passages and is the effort to dislodge obstructions that come from inflammation of the mucous membrane. Treatment with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil will allay the inflammation and in consequence the cough will usually stop. Try it and you will be satisfied.

Mother—Billy, your music teacher is waitin' for you in the sitting room. Are your hands clean?

Billy—Yes, mother.

"Have you washed your ears?"

"Well, I've washed the one that'll be next to him."

They say that Sunday is a day of rest.
And though it may have been in days of yore,
These days, I think, that Monday ought to be
For then we feel the need of resting more.

Persistent Asthma. A most distressing characteristic of this debilitating disease, is the persistence with which recurring attacks come to sap away strength and leave the sufferer in a state of almost continual exhaustion. No wiser precaution can be taken than that of keeping at hand a supply of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, famous as the most potent remedy for eradicating the disease from the tender air passages.

Children suffering from worms soon show the symptoms, and any mother can detect the presence of these parasites by the writhings and feeling of the child. Well expelled and the system cleared of them, the child cannot regain its health. Miller's Worm Powders are prompt and efficient, not only for the eradication of worms, but also as a toner up for children that are run down on consequence.

It must be awfully annoying to some of the girls who are wearing galoshes to realize they are a sensible protection for their thin soles.

They've got to wear 'em, for one in awhile pushes across something feminine that is useful if not ornamental.

Store Manager—"Well, that's better than nothing! What are you grumbling about?"

Incense.—"Humbling!—I like that remarkable, when I paid for four!"

Its Quality Sells Its.—The fact that so many thousands of intelligent people continue to use Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil speaks volumes for its selling efficiency. Ever since it was first introduced it has grown steadily in public favor, owing entirely to its manifold usefulness in relieving and healing sickness. As a specific for cuts, burns, scalds, and various inflammatory pains its record is beyond reproach.

"I know it," answered Mr. Cumrox, "but selling him a piece of property and I want to convey the impression that I am guileless and easy."

MUSIC'S MAGIC TOUCH.

Has Been Known to Alter a Man's Whole Life.

Music can have such a tremendous effect on character that it has been known to alter a man's whole life. In some unaccountable way it has played on a hidden chord in his memory and brought it to life. And with the stirring of this chord an inspiration is born—often an inspiration that the man would never have dreamed could have come from his brain at all.

I once knew a man who was "in the gutter," and so completely down and out that he had lost all interest in life. He had even lost the desire to fight his way to the surface again. It was useless to argue with him—he was beyond argument, and didn't want help, because the desire to help himself seemed dead.

It wasn't dead, actually, for nothing that is in the brain can be dead, though it may require a deal of waking up.

And then, one day, that man who was down and out heard a tune played in the street. It wasn't a particularly good tune, nor was it played well, and it would probably have left you or me quite indifferent.

But not that one man. Something inside him suddenly responded to it—something which he thought did not exist—and with it he found his manhood again, and the desire to live.

The very first thing he did (as he told me later) was to pull his head straight—the significant symbol of a new-born ambition.

That was the start, but from that day he never looked back. And all because of a tune that had made something inside him response to it, and awoken to life his crushed desires and hopes.

One cannot explain how some particular air, picked out at random from a bunch of other tunes of the same class, will suddenly affect one of us more powerfully than a potent drug. But most of us have experienced the sensation at one time or another—and have wondered at it.

One theory put forward regarding this mysterious happening is that certain bars in the air played are similar to a series of bars in another air you have heard years ago, or even one that one of your parents has heard before you, and the subconscious memory has passed on.

But the fact remains that, knowingly or unknowingly, this chord of memory has been awakened, and with it the particular feeling of happiness or resolution that was associated with it.

Sneezing Superstitions.

At this time of the year, when everyone seems to be sneezing, it is interesting to recall the many queer superstitions which have been associated with sneezing from the earliest times.

The Greeks always regarded it as lucky to sneeze between noon and midnight, but most unlucky to sneeze between midnight and noon. In fact, it is said that they used to get their head into bed for a while if they happened to sneeze whilst getting up in the morning.

The old custom, which still survives, of saying "God bless you" to those who sneeze, undoubtedly originated in the days when plagues and epidemics were rampant over Europe. It was noticed that those who sneezed died shortly afterwards from the prevailing epidemic, and they were therefore greeted with the words "God bless you," meaning "God help you." In those days people used to accompany these words with the sign of the cross, but this custom now seems to be extinct.

Another old superstition maintains that to answer to the right was a lucky sign, but it was unlucky to answer to the left.

Sneezing is even associated with bridegrooms, for it was always thought a sign of coming good-luck if they sneezed on their wedding day.

Dr. Fridtjof Nansen.

Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, who has been awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for 1922 for services performed in connection with starving persons in Asia Minor and Russia, is known primarily as an Arctic explorer, but is also a professor of oceanography — in Kristiania University — and has figured in Scandinavian history as statesman and diplomat. He took an active part in the separation of Norway and Sweden in 1905, and from 1906 to 1908 was Minister for Norway at the Court of St. James's, London. Dr. Nansen was born near Christiania in 1861, the son of a well-known Norwegian advocate. His first Arctic expedition was to Greenland and in 1882, followed by a trip across Greenland in 1888-89. His North Pole expedition, in which he reached the highest northern latitude then attained, was conducted from 1893 to 1896. He is the author of a number of studies of northern life and conditions.

America's Small Towns.

It has been estimated that there are about 12,000 small towns in the United States, half of them with populations of 500 or less. It is these small towns that the rural people are intimately associated with. They sell their produce there, buy the things they need; in fact, these are a part of the rural community, some of these small towns will become cities, but a very large per cent. of them will remain as they are almost indefinitely.

Prophecy Fulfilled.

The sergeant was having a hard time with a particularly green lot of recruits. They were quite charmed when he stopped drilling. "When I was a little boy," said the sergeant grimly, "I had a set of wooden soldiers. One day they disappeared, and I was heart-broken till my mother said, 'Never mind, my boy. Some day you'll find your wooden soldiers again.' And that day has come."

The average person speaks about 12,000 words a day.

A NEW LANGUAGE.

English Is Being Altered Here In America.

Can the new world develop a language of its own? Such a question is often asked in seriousness by chance or, perhaps, regular readers of comic supplements having their origin across the border. In an effort to reach the youngest readers the language is often reduced to the simplest idioms, and spelled to suit the most ignorant pronunciations. A great American newspaper once justified its "comics" because of the desire to reach and Americanize the great army of immigrants sweeping from Europe.

Only the other day the Boston Transcript spoke in a rather regretful way of the persistence of English poetry among American readers and said: "Back in English literature are hidden the springs of much that flows through the imagination of American writers to-day. Into this stream have merged the tributaries, hardly conspicuous, from the sources of continental literature."

John Waldo, in 1813, said: "The new circumstances under which we are placed call for new words, new phrases for the transfer of old words to new pages. An American dialect will, therefore be produced." Such a hope, expressed in the early years of the republic, has scarcely been realized. One factor has been the vast improvement in communication across the ocean, a change scarcely in vision a century ago. Communication by travel is supplemented by the enormous growth in cable service, bringing the English-speaking world into a closer bond than the founders of the republic expected.

Novelists like W. D. Howells have done much to spread the use of idioms, and it is now in a much more dignified manner by a section of the modern school of humorists. We have such colloquialisms as "ravum" for "have them"; "hatts" for "have to"; and "gonna" for "going to"; but among more pretentious speakers and writers there are many American peculiarities, which, because of their vividness, have spread into general use. These include expressions such as "peckerwood," "razz-berry," "water wagon," "sheet sink," "hasbeen," "game duck," "bell hop" and "chain warning." In addition, of course, the language of this continent has been broadened and enriched from other countries and languages, by such expressions as "prairie," "bayou" and "portage" from French Canada; "sauerkraut," "coffeen," "spatpeen" and "potteen," of Irish origin, and "ach mein" and "yes-indeedy," probably from the same source.

Where Women Mustn't Whistle.

Numbers of things are taboo among the fisher folk of Cornwall, England. No woman is allowed to whistle or bad luck will surely follow.

Taking a pansy to sea is another objection to the fishermen. A knife must be carried on board either in a sheath or be mentioned when the meat is cut.

Pilchards have been scarce in St. Ives Bay since the railway was built across its shores, and fishermen believe that the engine whistles frighten the fish away.

St. Ives people declare that hinges are very unlucky. When dogfish were come damage to the nets a new fisherman cannot use. Bugged it, and put it in search to tell its future, and would happen if they did not clear out of the neighborhood.

Farming Hill Like Sheep.

Interesting new details regarding the use to which plane live have been discovered recently. Owing to the increased demand for fur men, British trawlers are extending the field of their operations, and beyond and the White Seas are now visited in land fresh supplies. In these regions the fishermen are finding large numbers of old, fine plaice.

Of every 1,000 fish caught, at least 2,000 are more than thirty years of age. The oldest was fifty-two.

In the North Sea the oldest was only thirty-eight, but this was a matter of chance. The most part being well under thirty.

The age of the plaice is told by the otoliths, or ear stones, and a bone of the gill cover.

Plaice farming is being practiced on a large scale by the Danes, who are learning how many fish per acre can be put out to eat the best results, just as the Englishmaster raises his sheep.

Frogs for Bad Throats.

Even to-day many people have strange beliefs and superstitions. All sorts of quaint remedies are carried out particularly in connection with children.

Some mothers, for instance, believe in cutting their baby's hair at the waning of the moon. This ceremony dates back for thousands of years to the days when people regarded it as a safeguard against evil.

Another silly superstition is that of giving children live frogs to suck. This is supposed to prevent and cure "thrush," or injury to the throat. Again, there are still women who think that they will improve their children's health by eating raisins and placing the stones on the baby's stomach.

Modern science is rapidly abolishing these ideas, but they still hold their ground in certain places.

Iceland.

When Iceland was discovered and efforts were made to induce people to go there and settle, the panic provoked by forbidding and penalties of climatic severity. So when another larger island was found, it was named Greenland to make it more attractive to homeseekers.

Stamps By the Million.

Seven thousand million stamps. That is the annual output of Somerset House, where stamps of every description are printed and embossed. They range in value from an embossed duty stamp of £15,000 to the familiar halfpenny postage stamp.

The spacious basement of Somerset House is a hive of industry. Rows of machines and an army of men and girls are kept busy all day.

The machines print thousands of sheets of stamps daily. As each sheet leaves the press it is examined for possible defects, and any sheet with the slightest imperfection is destroyed. After examination the sheets are passed to the perforating machines. They are then sorted, counted, and packed ready for despatch.

A number of special machines are used for stamping cheques. One at a time, the leaves of the cheque book are fed into the machine, which prints the exact duty stamp without interfering with the binding.

Each machine is capable of stamping 4,000 cheques an hour. Before the books are returned to the various banks every stamp is examined. A staff of 4,000 persons are employed, although the number of cheques handled is enormous.

The value of the stamps kept in stock at Somerset House is estimated at £12,000,000.

Hotter Than the Sun.

Until a few years ago it was thought that the sun's heat was the greatest that could exist. You can realize how intense it is when you think that the rays that burn our faces brown in summer time have traveled across 92,000,000 miles of space.

Scientists have succeeded in producing a temperature that is thousands of degrees hotter than the sun's surface. It was desired to study the composition of certain metals, and the only way of doing so was to reduce them to gas by applying heat.

The temperature necessary was enormous, and months of experiments were needed before a means of producing it could be found. Eventually a huge electrical apparatus was designed which produced heat so terrific that methals were converted into slowly but instantly into gas; in fact, pieces of tungsten were made to explode as if they had been dynamite.

The Crow and the Railways.

An engine-driver, who is also a keen naturalist, asserts that the mistake railways have made than any other bird. He haunts embankments and cuttings, but is particularly partial to the "front-foot" because of the grease and oil that are always to be found on the line. An express train and frequently run against and kill various other kinds of bird, but it rarely hits a crow.

The Danger Signal.

Bertie and Dorothy, in front of a neighbor's house when Mrs. Hodgson said to him, "Bertie, your mother is calling you. Then, mum, I heard it," he replied, but with no sign of any intention to depart. "I don't think, though, she wants me very badly." "But she has called you six or seven times already." "Yes, ma'am, I know, but she hasn't called me 'Herbert' yet."

Lake Victoria, in Africa, the second largest fresh water lake in the world, is almost exactly circular.

HELP FOR YOUNG WOMEN

Mrs. Holmberg Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Viking, Alta.—"From the time I was 15 years old I would get such nice feelings in the lower part of my abdomen, followed by cramps and vomiting. This kept me from my work (I help my parents on the farm) as I usually had to go to bed for the rest of the day. At times I would have to walk the floor. I suffered in this way until a friend induced me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had very satisfactory results so far and am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends. I surely am glad I tried it for I feel like a different person now that I don't have these troubles."—Odelia Holmberg, Box 83, Viking, Alta.

Letters like this establish the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking it.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills in this country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials prove this fact.

If you doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Cobourg, Ontario, for Mrs. Pinkham's private text-book and learn more about it. c

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear father, Mr. John Brown, Sandhurst, who passed away February 22nd, 1918.

The home it is so lonely now,
Since Daddy, dear, has gone;
He was so precious to us all,
We loved him, every one.
Of all the flowers that ever bloom,
We know will die away,
Just as the one who left from here,
Five years ago today.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad, but loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. J. L. Richmond, who departed this life February 24th, 1920.

Dear is the grave where our mother is laid,
Sweet is her memory that never will fade;
Flowers may wither, leaves fade and die,
Some may forget her, but never will we.

8ap —Elsie and Ruby.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mrs. John H. Jones, who departed this life on February 26th, 1921.

Two years have passed since that sad day,
When the one we loved was called away;
This world seems quite another place,
Without the smiles of dear mother.
Life's path is sad and lonely now,
For here the vacant chair,
Where once was love and happiness,
No dear kind voice we hear.
Oh, mother dear, we miss you,
And shed some bitter tears,
Some has not been the same
For two long bitter years.

Sadly missed by her daughter, Mrs. Frank Johnston, and family. 8ap

ROBINSON'S SPRING STYLE SHOW AND MERCHANDISE EXHIBIT

WILL TAKE PLACE FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, MARCH 2nd AND 3rd, 1923

Mannequins will parade, costumed in our various Costumes, Wraps and Dresses, at the following hours:
Friday Afternoon, from 3 to 5 o'clock.
Saturday Afternoon, from 2.30 to 4.30 o'clock.
Saturday Evening, from 7.30 to 9 o'clock.

You Are Cordially Invited To Be Present

We especially invite our customers to meet Dame Fashion who will be with us on the above mentioned dates. This invisible, yet very much alive spirit, will exhibit to you her latest creations on living models. To acquaint yourself with the newest authentic modes in Women's Wearing Apparel, in Millinery, in Materials and Accessories, you must view our exhibit with your own eyes, as word pictures in themselves are entirely inadequate.

The 1923 Silhouette

Months ago these Spring Creations were originated in Paris. They crossed the ocean bringing with them inspirations from numerous European countries. In New York they were re-created to meet the traditions and requirements of the women of this continent. The straight-line Silhouette still remains. To this, however, has been added the various "Bloused" back treatments. In the same breath Fashion sponsors her acceptance of the one-side and one-ornament fastenings. Styles are very evenly divided between tailored and novelty garments.

Your New Spring Hat Must Be Chosen Before Easter

New York, when backed by Paris, can turn out some wonderfully fine Millinery. Canadian manufacturers go to the New York market for their materials, styles and inspirations. Hence it is no wonder then, that styles can be secured in Napanee as soon as they are shown on 5th Avenue, New York.

In the first showing of new Easter Millinery very large or very small shapes are "The Vogue". Tricornes, four-cornered hats and high crowned hats are much in evidence. Many of the newer, novelty shapes show very little brim at the back; this type, however, broadens considerably along the sides and across the front. Generally speaking, brims are very irregular in line, but other than this, no one other general trend dominates.

In trimmings, Flowers and Ribbons are most important, and are used separately and combined to produce some wonderful effects. Color, too, plays an important role,—Black, Brown, Sand, Grey, Navy and Cadet Blues, are the leaders.

MATERIALS THAT ARE DEEMED FASHIONABLE THIS SEASON

WITH THE SILKS.—The range in Silken fabrics is large enough for every fashionable whim, and the materials are exceedingly fascinating. Among the newer weaves we are showing Allyme Crepe, Canton Crepe, Crepe-de-chene, Taffeta, Crepe Chenille, Duchess Satin, Silk and Wool Crepe. Our color range features these shades: Black, Navy, Brown, Buffalo, Fallow, Cocoa, Eldorado, Silver, Sand Wood and Oriole.

SILKEN NOVELTIES.—Paisley effects are extremely fashionable. All the traditions of the Orient have been woven into these glorious materials. Such fabrics as Krinkle Knit, Crepe-de-chene, Canton Crepe, Karavan Crepe and Georgette Crepe are obtainable in beautiful Paisley patterns.

Wall Paper in the new Spring designs, at Houpey's.

It must be awfully annoying to some of the girls who are wearing galoshes to realize they are a sensible protection for their thin soles.

They've got to wear 'em, for once in awhile fashion decrees something feminine that is useful if not ornamental.

Children suffering from worms soon show the symptoms, and any mother can detect the presence of these parasites by the writhings and fretting of the child. Until expelled and the system cleared of them, the child cannot regain its health. Miller's Worm Powders are prompt and efficient, not only for the eradication of worms, but also as a toner up for children that are run down in consequence.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving, undying memory of my dear son, Wilbur Card, who passed away Feb. 9th, 1920.

8a —Mother.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mary Ann Clarke, beloved wife of W. S. Fenwick, who died at Enterprise, Ont., Feb. 27th, 1922.

Not dead to those who loved her,
Not lost, but gone before;
She lives with us in memory still
And will forever more.

Inserted by Grandchildren, Arthur, Sidney, Walter, Evangeline Keech, Willie and Ford Fenwick, Enterprise, Ont. 8ap

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear father, Mr. John Brown, Sandhurst, who passed away February 22nd, 1916.

The home it is so lonely now,
Since Daddy, dear, has gone;
He was so patient, kind to us all,
We loved him, every one.
Of all the flowers that ever bloom,
We know will die away,
Just as the one who left from here,
Five years ago today.

8ap —Widow and Family.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad, but loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. J. L. Richmond, who departed this life February 20th, 1920.

Dear is the grave where our mother is laid,
Sweet is her memory that never will fade;
Flowers may wither, leaves fade and die,
Some may forget her, but never will we.

8ap —Elvin and Ruby.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mrs. John H. Jones, who departed this life on February 20th, 1921.

Two years have passed since that sad day,
When the one we loved was called away;
This world seems quite another place,
Without the smiles of dear mother's face.
Life's path is sad and lonely now,
For here the vacant chair,
Where once was love and happiness,
No dear lips call voice we hear.
Oh, mother dear, we miss you,
And shed some bitter tears,
Home has not been the same
For two long bitter years.

Sadly missed by her daughter, Mrs. Frank Johnston, and family. 8ap

Wall Paper in the new Spring designs, at Hooper's.

It must be awfully annoying to some of the girls who are wearing galoshes to realize they are a sensible protection for their thin soles.

They've got to wear 'em, for once in awhile fashion decrees something feminine that is useful if not ornamental.

Children suffering from worms soon show the symptoms, and any mother can detect the presence of those parasites by the writhings and fretting of the child. Until expelled and the system cleared of them, the child cannot regain its health. Miller's Worm Powders are prompt and efficient, not only for the eradication of worms, but also as a tonic up for children that are run down in consequence.

ROBINSON'S SPRING STYLE SHOW AND MERCHANDISE EXHIBIT

WILL TAKE PLACE FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, MARCH 2nd AND 3rd, 1923

Mannequins will parade, costumed in our various Costumes, Wraps and Dresses, at the following hours:

Friday Afternoon, from 3 to 5 o'clock.
Saturday Afternoon, from 2.30 to 4.30 o'clock.
Saturday Evening, from 7.30 to 9 o'clock.

You Are Cordially Invited To Be Present

We especially invite our customers to meet Dame Fashion who will be with us on the above mentioned dates. This invisible, yet very much alive spirit, will exhibit to you her latest creations on living models. To acquaint yourself with the newest authentic modes in Women's Wearing Apparel, in Millinery, in Materials and Accessories, you must view our exhibit with your own eyes, as word pictures in themselves are entirely inadequate.

The 1923 Silhouette

Months ago these Spring Creations were originated in Paris. They crossed the ocean bringing with them inspirations from numerous European countries. In New York they were re-created to meet the traditions and requirements of the women of this continent. The straight-line Silhouette still remains. To this, however, has been added the various "Bloused" back treatments. In the same breath Fashion sponsors her acceptance of the one-side and one-ornament fastenings. Styles are very evenly divided between tailored and novelty garments.

Your New Spring Hat Must Be Chosen Before Easter

New York, when backed by Paris, can turn out some wonderfully fine Millinery. Canadian manufacturers go to the New York market for their materials, styles and inspirations. Hence it is no wonder then, that styles can be secured in Napanee as soon as they are shown on 5th Avenue, New York.

In the first showing of new Easter Millinery very large or very small shapes are "The Vogue". Tricornes, four-cornered hats and high crowned hats are much in evidence. Many of the newer, novelty shapes show very little brim at the back; this type, however, broadens considerably along the sides and across the front. Generally speaking, brims are very irregular in line, but other than this, no one other general trend dominates.

In trimmings, Flowers and Ribbons are most important, and are used separately and combined to produce some wonderful effects. Color, too, plays an important role,—Black, Brown, Sand, Grey, Navy and Cadet Blues, are the leaders.

MATERIALS THAT ARE DEEMED FASHIONABLE THIS SEASON

WITH THE SILKS.—The range in Silken fabrics is large enough for every fashionable whim, and the materials are exceedingly fascinating. Among the newer weaves we are showing Allyene Crepe, Canton Crepe, Crepe-de-chene, Taffeta, Crepe Chenille, Duchess Satin, Silk and Wool Crepe. Our color range features these shades: Black, Navy, Brown, Buffalo, Fallow, Cocoa, Eldorado, Silver, Sand Wood and Oriole.

SILKEN NOVELTIES.—Paisley effects are extremely fashionable. All the traditions of the Orient have been woven into these glorious materials. Such fabrics as Krinkle Knit, Crepe-de-chene, Canton Crepe, Karavan Crepe and Georgette Crepe are obtainable in beautiful Paisley patterns.

—The death of Mrs. White Smith, of Roblin, occurred on Thursday, the 8th of February, 1923, at her home. She leaves to mourn their loss a sorrowing husband and two boys, Bailey, 16 years, and Everett, 13 years, and her dear aged mother, Mrs. Lasher, and one brother, Walter Asselstine. The deceased had been in declining health for some months, but not until the last two weeks was her end expected, when the Doctors being called, had very little hope for her recovery. Her funeral sermon was preached in the Methodist Church, of which she was a member, by the Rev. Mr. Wilson, assisted by the writer, G. R. Horner.

—On Tuesday, February 20th, 1923, at her home in St. Catharines, there passed away Alma Huffman, beloved wife of Mr. Wm. Reynolds. Deceased, who was 47 years of age, was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Huffman, Napanee. There are left to mourn, besides her husband and one daughter, Mrs. Norman Scarlet, of Nalton, Ont., one sister and one brother, Mrs. Geo. Vanalstyne and Mr. Perry Huffman, Napanee. The remains were brought to Napanee on Thursday, and a short service was held at the home of her sister, after which the remains were placed in the vault at Deseronto, to await interment in the spring.

Persistent Asthma. A most distressing characteristic of this debilitating disease, is the persistence with which recurring attacks come to rob away strength and leave the sufferer in a state of almost continual exhaustion. No wiser precaution can be taken than that of keeping at hand a supply of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, famous as the most potent remedy for eradicating the disease from the tender air passages.

Address and Presentation.

On Monday evening, Feb. 12th, 1923, a large number of the many friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace, Erinsville, assembled at their home to spend a social evening with them before their removal to Tamworth, and to present them with two beautiful chairs, Mrs. Wallace's being a large Morris chair, leather lined with sliding foot rest; Mr. Wallace a beautiful leather lined arm chair. A very happy evening was spent in cards and dancing, with first-class music being rendered by violins and orchestra. At midnight a first-class lunch was served, after which, placing Mr. and Mrs. Wallace in their new chairs, the following address was read, to which Mr. and Mrs. Wallace replied in a few well chosen words, thanking their friends for their kindness, and tokens of regard, and giving all a very pressing invitation to visit them in their new home.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Wallace :

It is with much regret we learn of your intended removal from our midst, but, as it is so, we take this opportunity of expressing our sentiments towards you and wish you good fortune in your new home. It will not be easy to fill the places left vacant in the community, but trust that our loss will be another's gain. When we consider the fact that you, Mr. Wallace, have been here nearly a life time and have seen this section of country change and improve in a great many ways, and have taken an active part in school and all local matters of interest, it makes us conscious that we are indeed losing one of our best citizens. You can surely feel that you have done your duty, and can have no regrets that you have left undone anything that might have been done to make this a better place in which to live. We can truly say we have always found in you friendship and trust in your new home, which we are glad will not be far away, you will have pleasant memories of your old friends and neighbors. We ask you to accept these chairs as a small token of our esteem, and trust that in using them you will think kindly of those who have always been your old friends and neighbors.

Signed on behalf of the community.

ERNIE OWEN,
ALEX. BECKWITH.
MRS. W. H. WILLIAMS.

ENTERPRISE.

We are having some cold weather at present, and quite stormy.—Miss Hazel Kellar is taking in the millinery openings at Toronto this week.—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Raymond took dinner with her mother, Mrs. Jessie Burgess, on Sunday.—Don't forget the play, "Which One Won," to be given in O. B. Jackson's Hall on Saturday, Feb. 24th. Don't miss it, for it is the best of the season.—Mrs. Alvace and Miss Mona Kellar spent Sunday at her sister's recently.—We are glad to hear that Mrs. German Wagar is improving in the Kingston Hospital.

On Wednesday last Mr. and Mrs. Hughbert Wagar gave an excellent dinner to Mr. and Mrs. William Bell, in honor of the latter's golden wedding anniversary. Rev. and Mrs. Leigh were also guests at the dinner, and Rev. Leigh composed and presented a grand address to Mr. and Mrs. Bell. All wish them many more joyful years of wedded life.—Mr. G. A. Cooper returned home again, after spending a few days visiting friends in Odessa.—The Institute have a young lady here this week teaching the young fry of our burg to dressmake; so we hope to have some dress making shops in the future.

HE KNOWS SOVIETISM.

Some Facts About Life Story of a Communist.

Typical of the New Russia is Abraham M. Winkler. He came to Russia in 1917, from New York. He worked in a tool factory on Center street. During the Kerensky regime he came over with a party of sixty-nine others.

He was, and still is, a Communist.

Winkler lives in a drab, little room of the Government Hotel Metropole, Moscow. He worked for the Government in the metal industry for a fixed wage of 150,000,000 (doubles a month, or $75.

He has been through it all from the beginning. His story crystallizes the story of Russia.

Winkler and the sixty-nine others came over to organize a co-operative tool factory. They were invited down in Ukrainia and did it.

Everyone invested 5,000. Everyone received the same rate per hour of wage. If, as usually happened, the watchman worked longer than the superintendent, the watchman received more at the end of the week.

No matter what the political conditions, Winkler says, it worked. Then the Germans came through Ukrainia. Then the Bolshevist came into power. Brest-Litovsk was signed. Denikin came. Petlura came.

Work in the factory ceased. Winkler became a militant Communist. He took part in street uprisings, was wounded, escaped execution by the Whites. Two of his fellow-workers were shot.

They moved the factory to Moscow. It was nationalized. Winkler received his food and clothing from the Government. Money didn't much matter. Counter revolutionary uprisings were on. Winkler and his comrades fought them.

Then—the new economic policy.

Before it had been the worker, now it was the industry. Russia must be rebuilt. Industry must be self-sustaining. Scales of wages were fixed. The Government continued the employer, but not the feeder. The worker had his union to argue his case for him. As Winkler puts it:

"Before when a workman said anything we listened, and did what he said. The industry suffered. Now we do what is best for the industry, and try to explain to the worker later. Naturally the worker doesn't feel he is the same boss as before."

Gave Business to Employes

Comparatively few people on this continent were aware that there was such a firm as Henry A. Dix & Sons Co., New York and New Jersey, until they heard of the firm in connection with the published decision of Mr. Dix and his son to hand over the business to their employes. The corporation is said to be worth about $750,000, but with annual profits much larger than the capital might indicate. Its new owners number seven who have hitherto been Mr. Dix's employes, men who have been with him from eleven to twenty years, and have learned thoroughly, not only his business methods, but the way in which he regarded those who worked for him. The seven say that they will simply go ahead and do what Mr. Dix has been doing. The only difference is that the profits will go to the employes instead of to Mr. Dix and his son. As for Mr. Dix, he says he is not exactly retiring, for he will always be ready to give advice to the new owners and managers. The chief difference with him will be that instead of drawing a salary of $45,000 a year, he will draw 50c.

Though his name does not indicate the fact, Henry A. Dix is a Russian Jew, and seems to possess all the money-making instincts of his race with some other qualities not generally credited to it. With his wife and two sons he emigrated from Odessa about thirty years ago. He had no acquaintances in the United States and knew little about the language. He appears, however, to have saved up a few hundred dollars. He had been a dry goods dealer in the old country and that was the business he set up in Millville, New Jersey. His customers were chiefly former Russian Jews like himself, for at first it was only with them that he was able to converse. He prospered, however, and in 1896 with a capital of $10,000, he began manufacturing. The Dix firm makes house and porch dresses and uniforms for maids and nurses and has specialized in those lines for some time. It has not only large offices in New York situated in the Dix building, but manufacturing plants in three New Jersey towns.

Mr. Dix refuses to see anything particularly philanthropic in his act. He is not giving his business away; he is selling it. He says that the idea occurred to him when he reflected that the time would come when he wished to retire and would have to sell his business. Then, he says, "I felt that I couldn't look my employes in the face if I sold out to someone who was a stranger to them."

As long as he has had employes it appears that he has considered them rather as partners. They have helped make the business for him; he could not have done it alone, and he felt that they had a special claim for consideration. Nine years ago a bonus system was adopted by means of which from $10,000 to $80,000 a year has been paid to employes. Through the war they were given bonuses of 10 per cent., 25 per cent., and finally 37 per cent. weekly in addition to their annual bonuses. This bonus has been added to the weekly wage scale as the standard for all employes of the new company.

The manager of the new firm, who has had 30 years training with Mr. Dix, says that he and his associates are not cranks or idealists, but are simply trying to humanize the business after the Dix example. He says they are not ambitious to establish a standard for other businesses nor are they conscious that they are engaged in a remarkable experiment. Their job is simply to turn out their products and sell them at prices that will enable them to make a profit, out of which, we presume, they will get Mr. Dix. One advantage the firm will have over many others promises to be a complete absence of labor troubles. In the past there never have been any in the Dix business. Yet the plants are not unionized. There never has been any demand on the part of the employes to have a union.

Union representatives have visited the plants, but found that anything they intended to get had already been credited by Mr. Dix. The union sent a representative to one of the Dix plants in New Jersey to find if there was anything the employes wanted. He came back with the report that the only thing they desired was a visit from Mr. Dix. The firm has had a five-day week for four years, and production has increased rather than decreased. The most liberal policy toward his employes has not impoverished Mr. Dix. It has made him rich. He has a country house in Westchester County and a lot of fine cattle and horses which are his hobby. Two years ago he gave his Mount Kisco residence to the Young Women's Hebrew Association as a vacation camp, and also gave $100,000 in trust for its maintenance. Last year he insisted upon paying rental for some of the buildings on the estate which he had continued to occupy.

West African Wisdom.

The folklore of the primitive people of West Central Africa is full of wit and wisdom, as may be seen from the following examples which Mr. G. Cyril Claridge set forth in his book, "With Bush Tribes of Tropical Africa": "Blood is often better than natural brotherhood." "I'd rather be poor than a fool." "The hasty man catches the snake in the middle." "Every town looks well built from a distance." "The animal which can't climb a tree should not trust his money to a monkey." Mr. Claridge says the laws regarding the rights of property in West Central Africa are amazingly strict.

GERMANY'S TAXATION.

Is Light In Comparison With Britain and France.

J. Ellis Barker, British Publicist, in Current History Magazine:

In view of her vastly greater material and human resources, Germany ought to produce twice as much wealth as France, and considerably more wealth than England, and ought to be able to bear far higher taxes than either France or England. How lightly Germany is taxed in comparison with England, France and the United States may be seen from the figures, which in the spring of 1922 were put before the House of Commons by Mr. Hilton Young on behalf of the Government.

According to the figures given, French taxation per head was twelve times as high as German, and British taxation per head was twenty times as heavy as German. The German draft budget for the year 1922-23, which began on April 1, estimated that the revenue of the country would come to 163,208,155,677 marks. According to present indications, the revenue for the financial year will come to 240,000,000,000 marks, and possibly to a somewhat greater sum. That amount appears gigantic. However, if converted into English money, it is very small indeed, as the following figures show:

At 5,000 marks to the pound, £40,000,000.

At 7,000 marks to the pounds, £29,000,000.

At 10,000 marks to the pound, £20,000,000.

Meanwhile the revenue which will be collected during the same period by France will exceed £400,000,000 and that of the United Kingdom will exceed £300,000,000. German taxation is a joke. Taxes are heavy on paper, but they are not collected. Fraud upon the revenue is general, and the guilty are not punished. Inflation leads to a rapid increase in prices and in paper profits. Men pay taxes with long delay when their paper income is ten or twenty times as great as it was when the assessment was made. Meanwhile luxury and waste throughout Germany are general.

Richer Than France.

J. Ellis Barker, in the Current History Magazine, says:

Had the Germans been victorious they would have made France a third or fourth rate country. Saddened by their defeat, the Germans deliberately destroyed factories, mine shafts and so forth, so as to cripple the country for at least a decade. The demands Germany made during the war for gigantic confiscations and indemnities, and the precedent created by their own action in 1871, led France to demand the Rhine frontier and an indemnity sufficient at least to repair the ruined districts. Few persons appear to feel certain that Germany could pay almost unlimited amounts, because the natural wealth of the country is gigantic.

Germany is the most highly mineralized country in Europe. Notwithstanding the loss of the coal fields in the ceded districts, Germany remains the leading coal-owning nation in Europe. The mere fact that Germany has twenty times as much coal as France and that German coal is of far better quality than French ought to show that Germany is far richer than France. In respect to population, also, Germany has the advantage. France has less than 40,000,000 people; Germany has more than 60,000,000.

Which Is the Largest Known Star?

If we include in the term "stars" the planets that circle around the sun with our earth, the largest planet is Jupiter, with a volume nearly fourteen hundred times greater than that of the earth.

But far beyond the planetary system of our own sun are literally billions of stars, each really a sun of itself, often with its own sun planets.

In our system the sun is nearest to us and the largest, and so our own little moon, smaller than ourselves, looms far bigger than the gigantic Jupiter. In the same way, the planets of our own system seem larger to us than the colossal suns of other systems.

Of the true stars, Sirius, with a volume thousands upon thousands of times larger than our own, is the greatest known, with Canopus—which can only be seen from the southern hemisphere at our earthcoming next in size.

"Hear, hear!"

This is an abbreviation of "Hear him," a phrase which originally meant exactly what it said. This cry of "Hear him," which is very old, became a stock expression in the British House of Commons for "pay attention."

Its meaning was then slightly altered, and by the end of the seventeenth century was used by members as a cry of assent to the opinion of the sentiments of someone actually speaking, as one might say "Just listen to that!"

Next its opposition meaning was dropped and the phrase was confined to assent only.

By the beginning of the nineteenth century it had been contracted to "Hear," and now we have adopted the fashion of saying it twice. So "Hear, hear!" has become our stock cry of approval.

Japanese Shop Assistants.

Hitherto all shops in Japan kept open seven days a week the year round, so that the employees have had only a few days off at New Year's and during the Feast of the Dead in summer. In one of the leading shops in Osaka has now, however, adopted the plan of a weekly day of rest and has set an example that other stores are likely to follow.

Beards In Russia.

A GREAT CAPITAL OUTLAY

The extraordinary amount of new capital necessary to extend a modern telephone system is shown by President L. B. McFarlane's statement in the Bell Telephone Company's Annual Report that in 1922 $8,175,976 was spent, and this, as explained, in spite of the difficulty in the first five months of the year of obtaining necessary supplies. Of this total, central office apparatus and subscribers' telephone instruments required over four million dollars; new subscribers' lines and long distance lines cost $2,609,000, and land and buildings $161,000.

It is announced that during the present year, so great is the demand for service, over thirteen and a half million will be spent in extending the system.

The telephone business is one of the most exacting of all enterprises in its need for new capital.

ROD AND GUN IN CANADA.

The March issue of Rod and Gun in Canada, the well known Canadian sportsmen's magazine of the out of doors, contains many attractive features and abounds in stories and articles that are sure to please. "In the Canadian Alps" by Campbell J. Lewis, is a breezy, interesting article, while Bonnycastle Dale's article, "Spudzing the Lunspucker" is worthy of special mention. Harry M. Moore, whose work is popular with Rod and Gun readers, is among the writers who contribute red-blooded stories. H. Mortimer Batten is another. C. S. Landis and Robert Page Lincoln are at their best in their departments, Guns and Ammunition and Fishing Notes, respectively, while the other departments and features contain splendid features of outstanding quality. The magazine is illustrated profusely throughout, and in every way, the March issue is one that no one will want to miss.

Rod and Gun in Canada is published monthly at Woodstock, Ontario, by W. J. Taylor, Limited.

New Brunswick Man Cannot Say Too Much in Favour of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

He Advises all Persons who Suffer from Kidney Disease to use Them.

Pine Ridge, N.B., Feb. 19th (Special).—From all over New Brunswick reports are coming letters of the popularity of Dodd's Kidney Pills as a remedy for all forms of kidney trouble.

In every place, however small, there appears to be at least one person who is prepared to say that he owes his health to the great Canadian remedy. Edward Chandler, a well-known resident here, is one of them.

"I have taken four boxes of your Dodd's Kidney Pills and cannot say too much in their favour," Mr. Chandler states. "They are worth their weight in gold and I shall advise all who suffer from kidney disease to use them."

Dodd's Kidney Pills have become a family remedy because people have tried them and found them good. They help Rheumatism, Lumbago, Backache, Lame Back, Heart Disease and Urinary troubles, because all of these so-called Kidney Diseases are caused by the kidneys failing to do their work.

HE CONQUERED RABIES

PASTEUR MADE A STUDY OF THE DREADED DISEASE.

It Is Less than Half a Century Since the Great Discovery Was Made by the Famous Scientist—A Little French Boy Was the First Case Treated.

One could scarcely say that the most important of Pasteur's discoveries was the serum that prevented the development of rabies, but this is undoubtedly the feat with which his name is most intimately associated in the mind of the average man. This is because while rabies in human beings was always rare, it was by popular consent about the most dreaded disease from which one could suffer. The death rate was high, even when the best medical skill was employed—between fifteen and forty per cent. of all cases, it has been estimated—and when the wounds were on the face or neck they were nearly always fatal. The physical and mental sufferings of the victims were dreadful, and torturing to those obliged to look on. It was no wonder then that when Pasteur's cure was announced it was received with enthusiasm by the general public as well as by the medical profession. Moreover, this was only the second time in the history of medicine that a method for the speedy prevention of an infectious disease had been discovered, the other being the discovery of vaccination for the prevention of smallpox. Methods for the prevention of cholera, typhoid, diphtheria and yellow fever were all of a much later date.

It was only after a series of experiments extending over years, and after the treatment had been frequently applied to various animals suffering from rabies, that Pasteur ventured to treat a human being. The first case treated was in July, 1885, when a boy named Joseph Meister, of Alsace, was taken to Pasteur by his parents. He had been badly bitten about the face and hands by a rabid dog and had received no treatment whatever. From the nature of the wounds Pasteur and his assistants decided that nothing could be more certain than that the boy would develop rabies if he were not treated. No failure of the attempted cure could be more than what the boy faced if not inoculated. There was, therefore, no hesitation in giving him the treatment. No unfavorable symptoms followed. The boy remained well, and so far as we know lived to become an old man. In the following October he was so well that Pasteur felt justified in announcing to the Academy of Science what had been accomplished. There was the greatest enthusiasm manifested after his address, and Bouley, then chairman of the Academy, said:

"We are entitled to say that the date of the present meeting will remain forever memorable in the history of medicine, and glorious for French science, for it is that of one of the greatest steps ever accomplished in the medical order, of things, a progress realized by the discovery of an efficacious means of preventive treatment for a disease, the execrable nature of which was a legacy handed down by one century to another. From this day humanity is armed with the means of fighting the fatal disease of hydrophobia, and of preventing its ravages. It is to M. Pasteur that we owe this, and we could not feel too much admiration or too much gratitude for the efforts and the pains which have led to such a magnificent result."

As soon as Pasteur's paper was published, the knowledge of his success was rapidly spread abroad to every country, and people bitten by rabid dogs began to arrive at the laboratory from all parts of the world. The service for the treatment of hydrophobia became the chief business of the laboratory.

In the following month four children of one family in Newark, New Jersey, were bitten by a mad dog, and the press gave the widest publicity to the tragedy. There was no Pasteur serum in the country, and probably nobody capable of administering it, so the only hope for the children was to send them to Paris, and the New York Herald promptly raised a fund for the purpose. The children were sent in charge of Dr. Frank Billings, a Boston veterinarian of distinction. Accompanying them also was Dr. Hermann M. Biggs, at that time in charge of the Carnegie Laboratory of the Bellevue Medical College. Mr. Carnegie was greatly interested in the cases, and desired to have a representative of his laboratory study the treatment. So Dr. Biggs was selected, and had an opportunity of watching Pasteur at work for several weeks, as he records in the New York Times. When he arrived about forty patients were undergoing treatment, and they had come from all parts of the world.

Many of the patients were poor and could ill afford the expense of living in Paris while the treatment was being given, and he says that for these Pasteur provided the resources often out of his own pocket. The great scientist showed plainly traces of the paralytic stroke he had suffered years before. He limped slightly, and both arm and face on the affected side showed limited motion. His manner with the patients was kind and gentle, but as a rule he was grave and taciturn. As soon as possible he retired to his private laboratory, and when once there was almost impossible of access, for it was with the greatest reluctance he permitted anyone to break in upon him when thus engaged. It was not long afterward until Pasteur institutes were established in other countries, each under the charge of men trained and commissioned by Pasteur. The present death rate from rabies treated by the Pasteur method, is about one-half of one per cent.

BEAVER MOTOR TRUCKS

Meet all emergencies

Beaver Trucks embody greater strength and power without sacrificing economy of operation or driving qualities.

The success of Beaver design, materials and workmanship is shown by the fact that Beaver Trucks match, in performance, trucks of much greater rated load capacity.

To meet the emergencies which so often confront a motor truck without warning, Beaver units are built oversize and are so throughly tested and proved that it is not unusual for Beavers to stand up under load and road conditions which would stall the ordinary truck.

House Burglarized.

On Sunday night last, between the hours of twelve and one o'clock, the home of Mrs. Drake, on the Market Square, was entered, and burglarized. The thief secured an entrance by way of the kitchen and on into the dining room, where he ransacked a secretary and secured about fifty-five dollars in cash. The thief was seen leaving the scene of his operation and a warrant has been issued for his arrest. He has left town, but the police have a pretty good idea where he is and his apprehension is reasonably assured.

House Burned.

Last Saturday evening, about 5.30 o'clock, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Bowen, on the Desoronto Road, just opposite the Desoronto cemetery, was completely destroyed by fire, which evidently started in the upper part of the house and had a good start, before being noticed by the children. Mr. and Mrs. Bowen were at tea and were not aware of the fact that their home was on fire. Very little of the contents were saved from the upper portion of the house. The loss will be a sad blow to Mr. and Mrs. Bowen, who are both ninety-three years of age, and have lived in their home for the past seventy years.

Foresters' Banquet.

The Court Lennox, Lodge of Foresters, No. 76, held their annual banquet in the Town Hall, on Tuesday evening last. A large number of Foresters and friends attended, and spent a very enjoyable evening. The feast was quet began at 7 o'clock, and the tables were spread in a very systematic manner. After the grease had partaken of the excellent supper, community singing was indulged in, Mr. George Walters, chairman for the occasion, welcomed the gathering and introduced the speakers for the evening. Col. Mailey, Deseronto, and Mr. Wiley, General Superintendent, and Mr. Patterson, District Organizer of the Order, were the principal speakers. A comic duet entitled "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean", was rendered by Messrs. Allan Walters and Albert Hill, the encore being a Broadway hit entitled "Carolina in the Morning", followed by community singing. The evening's entertainment ended with a dance.

The Prize Winning Artists.

Much credit is due the boys and girls of the school in Napanee and country, who entered the "Jack Miner" bird drawing contest. Over one hundred drawings were submitted. Uncle Jack thought they were so well done that surely some older person gave assistance, but was told that was not the case, that the boys and girls in Lennox and Addington are unusually clever. The following are the winners:—

Girl's First Prize—Marion Clark, Napanee.

Boy's First Prize—Cyril Walroth, Newburgh.

Girl's Second Prize—Eleanor Hudgins, Selby.

Boy's Second Prize—Clifford Cunningham, Morven.

Honorably Mentioned—Ross Long, Napanee.

Those wishing their drawings returned will receive same by calling at Hooper's Drug Store.

SKULL CRUSHED BY FALLING TREE.

Ralph Parks, son of Mr. Arch Parks, who resides near Napanee, was the victim of a very serious accident on Monday night about six o'clock, while at work near Hawley, felling trees. Mr. Parks with a number of other men was cutting at one of the trees and it became lodged in the wedge in falling. Mr. Parks went close to the tree to release it and it fell on his head, severely crushing his skull. First aid was immediately given and the injured man was brought to Napanee and taken by train to Kingston, where he was met by James Reid's motor ambulance and was removed to the Hotel Dieu Hospital, where an X-ray showed that there was a fracture of about six inches in the skull. On Tuesday morning, the unfortunate man, who had never regained consciousness, was operated upon in an endeavor to relieve the pressure of the splintered skull, and hopes are advanced for his recovery.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR.

Dear Editor,—Since reading "The Square Deal for the Fishermen" article in last week's Beaver, I have come to the conclusion that our fishermen, after going through the hardships, exposure and loss en-nets, etc., finds himself at the end of the season like the farmer with the balance on the wrong side of his ledger, and both have a long day which does not figure on very much per hour.

The Government "round pot" reminds me of a story our old friend, Jack Dickens, of the "Pioneer", used to tell. It took a fine blue flannel bathing suit that he washed and hung in the rigging to dry. The sun took the color out of it, he said, and some —— come along and took the shirt. The Booth Co. buyers take the color out of the fish, and the "pound net" takes his shirt.

Sad. "W".

A SHORTAGE OF 80,000,000 POUNDS.

The Tea Business, like nearly everything else, has been having its hard times since the war. Unfavorable tea growing weather, labor troubles on the plantations, and the unsettled, political atmosphere generally, have so seriously reduced this year's crop, that the world is now faced with a shortage of over 80,000,000 lbs., or more than two years' supply for the whole Dominion of Canada. The inevitable result has been steadily increasing prices, until to-day, tea is bringing higher prices than ever before in the history of the industry. In Canada, the Salada Tea Company, our largest Tea Packers, has been forced by this condition to recently increase the price of all their blends, in order to maintain their standard of quality.

SPRING IS AT HAND.

The birds are warbling, the sun is fast dissolving earth's white mantle, all indications but the cooling spell of spring. Are you prepared ? Is your car in proper running order ? If not we expect to drive it if it not, play in bearings and working parts causes undue wear, puts extra strain on the motor, makes it less efficient, less economical on fuel, and shortens the life of the car.

Now is the time to have your overhaul job done, while the repair men have time to give a proper job.

Our repair work is under the careful supervision of Mr. Fred Hall, who is an all-round practical mechanic and expert electrician. If your car needs repairs of any kind, you can depend on it being done right before it leaves us. Let us know what you want done and we will quote you a price.

We carry a good supply of Overland Parts, and are ready to give service on all models.

We carry a full line of Ford Parts, and are ready to give you prompt service, on any make of car or tractor.

NEWBURGH.

There will be a regular meeting of the Newburgh Liberal-Conservative Club on Wednesday evening, March 7th, at which an address will be given on the "Ontario Government's Banking and Rural Credit Scheme", followed by a discussion. All members, or would-be members, of the Club are invited to attend at the Scout Hall.—The citizens generally feel proud of the fine bunch of High School boys who compose the Cadet Corps. There are a few detractions, however, which are inclined to lessen this pride. It is not believed that profanity or vulgar expression forms part of their training, but that some of the boys engage in this kind of stuff when not on regular march is quite evident to those who have ears. This kind of thing lessens people's respect and reflects on their school, their home, and their cadet training.—Some of the Newburgh girls engaged in a walking stunt to Napanee on Saturday. They started on snowshoes, but arrived safely home in Newburgh on the evening train.

Mr. G. Deline, of Napanee, was in the village last week assisting the Rev. Mr. Griffith in the evangelistic services being held each evening in the Free Methodist Mission Hall.—The Rev. Charles Fairbrother is conducting the services in the same place this week.—The services are well attended.—Mr. Pero is home for a visit with his family here.—Mrs. (Rev.) Duff Wortman is visiting at Mr. George Wartman's, Wesley.—Miss Blanche Yeomans, of Wesley, visited at J. S. Yeomans' on Sunday.—Mr. Claude Vandervoort and mother, of Yarker, are moving into the village.—Rev. Mr. Nickle preached a very forceful sermon to a large congregation in the Methodist Church last Sunday evening. The services are being held in the basement during the cold weather to conserve fuel.—Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert, of Sillsville, are moving into the village this week.—Mails Orders promptly filled at Wallace's Drug Store.

ENTERPRISE.

We are having our first mild weather this week. This has been the driest and coldest winter we have had here for forty years. Sawing wood and hauling logs is the order of the day. Owing to the large amount of ice being stored people must expect a hot and dry summer.—The dressmaking school, under the able management of Miss Phelps, is progressing splendidly, and our ladies are thoroughly enjoying the courses.—A very sudden death occurred in our village, when Mrs. Wm. Brown passed away last Sunday morning. The funeral service was held at the house and the remains were placed in the vault to await burial.—The play given by the Desmond Dramatic Club last Saturday evening was enjoyed by all.—Rev. J. A. Poston spent a day in town last week.—Mr. Everton Smith is home from Toronto.—Mr. A. E. Smith spent a day in town recently.—The building of a new school is the interesting topic of the day.—Mr. Guy Emrick spent a day in Napanee this week.—We are sorry to hear of the severe illness of Mrs. W. T. Graham, of Colebrook, formerly a resident of this vicinity.—There is a rumor afoot to try and induce the Hydro-Electric Power Commission to furnish this vicinity with power and light.

Mrs. Wm. Vannest is not very well at time of writing.—Mrs. Gordon Wagar spent the week-end in Kingston.—We are all glad to hear of Mrs. German Wagar's return from the hospital greatly improved.—The play, "Which One Won", given by the Desmond people, was greatly appreciated by all who heard it. The inclemency of the weather hindered many from coming. We understand they are giving it at Camden East on Friday evening, March 2nd, and we would say to the Camden East people, "Don't miss it." It is a regret to hear of the illness of Mrs. Wellsley Coulter, who is suffering from a severe attack of appendicitis.

PALACE ROAD CHEESE CO. SPECIAL MEETING.

A special general meeting of the shareholders of Palace Road Cheese Company, Limited, will be held at the Agricultural Office, Napanee, on Saturday, the 10th day of March, 1923, at the hour of 1.30 in the afternoon, for the purpose of determining what action shall be taken in respect to those shareholders who did not send all their milk to the factory during the season of 1922, and to determine what steps shall be taken towards running the factory during the season of 1923. Every shareholder is requested to be present.

HOCKEY.

Kingston 7, Napanee 6.

A rather unsatisfactory state of affairs occurred at the arena on Friday evening last, when the Kingston team persisted in playing a man who was not registered with them, and the game was protested before it started.

Notwithstanding the fact that the locals were without the services of Huffman, the rest of the boys came forward and gave a splendid exhibition for two periods—first and third.

Early in the second period Smith was quite badly shaken up, and had to leave the ice. The game was tied up right there, Kingston scoring three goals, the last one being a lucky one, it being shot from centre ice when Babcock was lying on the ice, having been hurt a moment before in a scramble before the goal net.

The score by periods was as follows: Napanee 2, Kingston 1; Kingston 4, Napanee 3; Kingston 7, Napanee 6.

Referee—W. H. Roe.

Kingston 9, Napanee 3.

The Kingston Irishmen have a second protest on their hands, both from Napanee. The local team visited Kingston on Monday evening and played the return game in the Harty arena and were trimmed to the tune of a 9-3 score, although it is only fair to say that the score does not by any means represent the play, as the Napanee boys had possession of the puck fully two-thirds of the time, ran in two shots on goal to Kingston's one, but McCarthy was very uncharitable and only allowed three to pass him.

The Irishmen have a very small following in Kingston and there was only a handful of spectators at the game, between fifty and sixty of them going down from Napanee.

From a playing standpoint the game was the dirtiest played in the league this season, Kingston offending continually until Napanee were forced to retaliate, but were put on the fence a few times for short periods for their pains. The referee was punk on offsides and Terry Millan was successful in scoring a couple of the goals on offside plays, especially the last goal scored by Kingston in the third period, the offside being so glaring that it brought jeers from some of the Kingston spectators.

Smith, the new Kingston defence player, is a regular whirlwind on the ice, and played on the forward line as much as on defence, being directly responsible for several of Kingston's tallies.

The score by periods resulted as follows, all in favor of Kingston: 3-0, 6-2, 9-3.

Referee—Fred. Brown, Kingston.

Notes of the Game.

Smith, the Kingston defence player, uses what is known as the "airplane rush". It is very effective, as the Napanee players were unable to stop him.

Two smack doctors from Napanee were selling an asthma remedy at the junction and on the train coming home. It's good for sneezing, wheezing and difficult breathing.

The ice at the Harty arena is no parlor billiard table. It has real size to it and the boys had some difficulty in recognizing each other on it.

The hero of many games, especially of the Napanee-Kingston ones, who scored several goals, although he played offside continually. The girls don't like Terry any more.

Brown, as a referee, did not suit the Napanee contingent, and they had a perfect right to be sore at some of his decisions.

The Irishmen were bound to win that game, and went to the extreme of using "Airplane" Smith, who is reputed to have played intermediate O. H. A. this season.

"Bobby" was not quite sure who he was playing with, and some mean guy said he sold the game.

Smith, Napanee's nifty centre player, was there with the goods, and brought many cheers of approval from the midget audience when, time after time, he stick-handled his way through the whole Kingston team, only to be denied a goal by McCarthy.

Did you secure a bottle of Oke's Asthma Remedy ?

Spencer, the naughty defence player of the Napanee team, body-checked Terry and was sent to the fence for a minute. Terry roughly is not allowed on Kingston ice by a visitor.

Point Anne 4, Belleville 3.

Point Anne defeated Belleville in the latter's deadlast on Friday evening of last week by a score of 4-3, in the first game of the second half of the Bay of Quinte League schedule.

CHARLES W. HAMBLY,

Nominated at the Conservative Convention held in the Armouries on Monday, to represent Lennox in the next Provincial elections, was born in the Township of North Fredericksburgh. The greater part of his life has been spent on his farm on the South River Road, where he took an active part in municipal affairs. He sat in the Council from 1905 to 1907, and in 1908 was elected Reeve by acclamation, and was elected Warden for the County of Lennox and Addington the following year. He was Reeve from 1908 to 1913, when he sold his farm and moved to Napanee, so that he could more extensively deal in live stock. He has been most successful and is now the largest shipper of hors, calves, cattle, and horses in this district. In January, he was elected Reeve of Napanee by a large majority.

OBITUARY.

MR. JOHN F. WALSH.

Mr. John F. Walsh passed away at his late residence on John St., early Sunday morning, after a brief illness. The deceased was a son of the late John Walsh and Elizabeth Poch, early pioneers of this town.

Mr. Walsh was a man of wide and varied experience in the mining and financial world, having left home a young man for the gold fields of Canada, where he worked at his trade of carpenter and millwright. His foresight and energy soon brought him to the notice of the mine owners who, recognizing his ability, sent him to Venezuela to build and equip one of the first automatic quartz and stamp mills in that country. Having had wonderful successes in this line he was brought to the attention of the world renowned firm of Bigelow, Kipp, who in turn sent him to South Africa, where he built and operated the Crown Reef Goldenhuis Deep and other big gold mines. The outbreak of the Boer War interrupted his activities there and he was appointed on the Continent, he returned to his native home where he led a retired life for the last twenty-two years. His wife predeceased him a little over a year ago, and he leaves a sorrowing sister, Miss M. Walsh, and a nephew, Mrs. Jack Adams, both of this town.

The funeral, which was largely attended by the most prominent citizens, testified to the high esteem in which he was held.

Among the many Floral and Spiritual Offerings, was a beautiful wreath from St. Patrick's Professional Hockey Club of Toronto. 9

MRS. WILLIAM BROWN.

The citizens of Enterprise and surrounding country were surprised on Sunday last to hear of the sudden death of Harriet, wife of William Brown. Mrs. Brown, whose maiden name was Harriet Meagher, was born in St. Anthony Island on Jan. 3rd, 1844. In early life she moved to Camden Township, north-east of Enterprise, and with her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Meagher, spent a happy girlhood. In 1872 she was married to Wiley Keech, and in succeeding years moved with her husband and their children until 1904, when, on Dec. 21st, 1903. On July 12th, 1905, she became the wife of William Brown. Of a kindly disposition, she endeared herself to her many friends. Besides her husband, there survive her, two daughters, Mrs. Wilson Bell and Mrs. Alonzo Jackson, and one son, Charles W. Keech, all of Enterprise; two sisters, Mrs. Henry Keech, of Moscow, and Mrs. P. Dwyer, of Enterprise, and one brother, John McMullen, of Detroit. The funeral service was held at the Hotel, Enterprise, on Monday afternoon, Feb. 26th, and was conducted by her Pastor, Rev. M. W. Leigh, B.A., and attended by many friends. The pall bearers were her four grandsons, Ross and Russel Bell and Edgar and Walter Keech. The body was placed in the Enterprise vault.

MRS. HENRY A. MASTIN.

A very sad and sudden death occurred on Friday, Feb. 16th, 1923, when Elizabeth, dearly beloved wife of Henry A. Mastin, died after illness with pneumonia, passed away to the Great Beyond. The funeral service was held at Ebenezer Church and was conducted by her pastor, Rev. C. J. Wilson, Rednersville, on Sunday, Feb. 18th. Those left to mourn her loss are her husband, two daughters, Mabel at home, and Lillie (Mrs. Tripp), of Hamilton, and three sons, Charles, Alfred and Sam, all of Albert.

LIBERAL-CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION

CHAS. W. HAMBLY UNANIMOUSLY SELECTED TO CONTEST THE RIDING OF LENNOX FOR THE PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE

A Large and Enthusiastic Audience in Attendance.—W. F. Nickle, M.P.P., Gave a Splendid Address.—Officers Elected for the Ensuing Year.

A very large and enthusiastic gathering of the electors of Lennox gathered at the Armouries on Monday afternoon for the purpose of selecting a candidate to contest the Riding of Lennox for the Provincial Legislature.

The President, Mr. C. W. Hambly, occupied the chair.

C. M. Stratton, M.D., Secretary, read the minutes of the last meetings, which, on motion, were adopted.

A communication was read from R. A. Fowler, M.P.P., expressing regret that he could not be present at this meeting, as he has been confined to his room for the past two weeks.

A communication was read from W. F. Nickle, M.P.P., expressing his pleasure at the invitation to be present at the Convention, and signifying his intention of being present.

J. W. Osborne, Treasurer, gave a very concise and valuable report re his department.

Moved by J. N. Osborne, seconded by Mr. Reid, that the clause in reference to payment of $5.00 by each of the municipalities be changed to read as follows: "That the Chairman of each Polling-Subdivision be held responsible for an annual fee of $1.00 from his ward. Carried.

The following officers were then elected:

President—Albert Reid.

Secretary—C. M. Stratton, M.D.

Treasurer—John N. Osborne.

Moved by C. W. Hambly, seconded by M. P. Graham, and resolved, that this convention expresses its sympathy with Mr. R. A. Fowler, M.P.P., in his recent illness, and sincerely hope that he will have the good fortune to soon return to his usual health. Carried.

Moved by Edmund Long, seconded by Alfred Reid, and resolved, that the Liberal-Conservative Association of Lennox, in convention assembled, do hereby express their confidence in the ability, integrity and policy of the Rt. Hon. Sir Arthur Meighen in his leadership of the Conservative party in the House of Commons.

Moved by Albert Reid, seconded by John N. Osborne, and resolved, that the Liberal-Conservative Association of Lennox, in convention now assembled, expresses its confidence in the leadership of the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson in the Legislature of Ontario, and deprecates the unfair attacks which have been directed against him by the abuse of the Royal Patent for Commissions. We appreciate the ability our Leader in the Local House developed as a faithful Minister of the Crown, and pledge him our hearty support and endorsation. We note with approval his condemnation of the unprecedented extravagance of the Drury administration, and its failure to carry out its pre-election promises. We look forward to the day when this Province will be honored by having the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson as its worthy and respected Premier.

Moved by D. E. Smith, seconded by R. O. Cadman, and resolved, We have watched the career of R. A. Fowler, M.P.P., in the Local Legislature and feel that in him we have a representative whom the electors of Lennox can trust for devotion to duty, fairness of purpose, and knowledge of affairs coming within the scope of our Provincial Legislature. We approve of the consistent course he has given the Leader, the Honorable G. Howard Ferguson, in the House, and feel that the policy of the square deal and of efficiency and economy in administration, will always be his inspiration.

The next order of business was the selection of a candidate to contest the riding at the next Provincial election which will likely be held during the coming summer or autumn.

The names placed before the convention were ex-Mayor Graham and Reeve Hambly, each applicant addressing a few remarks to those present.

Upon a ballot being taken, Mr. Hambly was the choice of the delegates for the honor conferred upon him.

Address and Presentation

Selby, Feb. 27th, 1923.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. S. Sexsmith,

Dear Friends,—Time brings many changes. Some of them are very unwelcome. It is one of these very unwelcome changes that has brought to us many of your neighbors and friends to your home to-night. For a great many years you and Mrs. Sexsmith have lived among us. Now as the eve of your leaving our community we desire to express to you our regrets at your going, and also to assure you that our very best wishes shall follow you and your family. We shall miss you from our church and community. You, Mr. Sexsmith, have served in the Council, and on the Church Boards. Mrs. Sexsmith has assisted in the W. C. T. U. and W. M. S., while both in their Methodist duties. We shall also miss from our Sunday School, Miss Helen, and Beatrice and Ferald. We sincerely wish Miss Helen a successful year at Peterboro' Normal, and Beatie and Ferald at Belleville, and shall always welcome them as well as yourselves when [illegible] community.

While we regret your leaving, we sincerely hope it will be to your advantage, and as an expression of our good will and wishes, we ask you to kindly accept this Purse of money, and we assure you that it is a token of esteem, and may it be a constant reminder to you of your old home and loyal friends at and in the vicinity of Selby.

Signed on behalf of neighbors and friends,

REV. T. H. P. ANDERSON.
JOHN E. HUGGINS.
STANLEY SEXSMITH.
ALLEN WOOD.
FRED. WEESE.
HERB. WINDOVER.

Mr. Sexsmith, on behalf of Mrs. Sexsmith and himself, in a few well chosen words, thanked them very kindly for their beautiful gift. Mr. Huggins, Superintendent of Selby Sabbath School, and Mr. C. Lucas, member of the Church Board, made very pleasing remarks, after which refreshments were served. "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" was then sung, and the company dispersed to their several homes, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Sexsmith and family all happiness in their new home.

LETTER OF CONDOLENCE

To Mrs. Robt. Cloise and Family.

Dear Mrs. Cloise and Family,—I am directed by resolution of Tamworth L. O. L. No. 159, to convey an expression of their sincere sympathy with you in your time of sad bereavement by the passing of your dear husband, and father, and our well beloved Brother.

We take pleasure in bearing testimony to his unwavering attachment to the Loyal Orange Association in general, and our lodge in particular. His work, now ended, has won for him the respect and esteem of all our brethern.

While deploring the sad visitation which has come to your household, it is gratifying to have pleasant memories of our brother, who has but a short time previous to ourselves, participated in the joumey which we shall all have to take, from the shores of time to the powerful realm of eternity.

We offer our condolence in the family of our departed brother, that his life was long and dear to them, and trust that they may bear patiently as possible the duties they will be called upon to discharge during the coming years.

In time of affliction such as yours, we realize that human sympathy is shallow and of little real worth. We therefore commend you all to a merciful Providence who has said, "I will not leave you comfortless," and our prayer is for a blessing to rest upon you, and a "father" to the fatherless.

With assurance of our warmest esteem, we remain, on behalf of our brethern,

BAY VIEW.

On Wednesday last Mr. James Mills passed away at the home of Mrs. Eliza Parnith, with whom he has made it his home for the last two years. He was 91 years of age and very active up until the day of his death. Mr. Mills had made it his home in this neighborhood for 50 years or more. His wife, Allen Fields, of Merriwal, was present at his funeral, which was conducted by Rev. Mr. Huffman at his home on Saturday afternoon at Cataraqui. Suddenly on Sunday Mrs. Wm. Grisdale was hurried to the General Hospital, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. The latest report of her condition was favorable. Mr. Gaitskill, who has been ill for some time, is gradually sinking.—Miss Mildred Gaitskill has gone to Toronto for a few days.—Mrs. Caton, of Napanee, is visiting at Robert Frink's.—Mrs. Edward Petzold has returned to her home in Denbigh, after nursing her mother, Mrs. Wm. Thompson, who has had pneumonia. —Miss Gertrude Clark, of Odessa, has returned home, after visiting at Frank VanWinkle's.—Mr. George Somers, of Napanee, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Thomas Miller.—Rev. Mr. Heffman called on several of the homes here on Tuesday of last week.—Service was withdrawn here on Sunday, on account of the funeral of Mr. Parks, who was killed by a falling tree.—Reggie Franklin spent Sunday at Frank VanWinkle's.

MR. NICKLE'S ADDRESS.

Hon. W. F. Nickle, M.P.P., of Kingston, in his opening remarks said he had accepted with pleasure the invitation to attend this convention, and was pleased to see so many present, especially the ladies.

The speaker began his address by referring to the Great War that broke out in 1914, and the fact that the brunt of the work in Canada fell upon the Conservative party, which was then in power, the result being that such extreme measures were necessary to be taken by the Government of the day that they soon gained the displeasure of a portion of the public to the extent that in 1921 the party was overthrown from power, but it is now getting on its feet again and will put up one of the greatest campaigns of its career this autumn.

In the present Legislature of Ontario there are three groups, the Agrarians and Laborites, the Liberals, and the Conservatives, and he was not just sure but what there was a bit of a flirtation going on between the Agrarians and the Liberals, and would not be surprised if it developed into matrimony by election time.

He then went on to explain the tight position the Drury Government was in when the balance of power was in jeopardy. When a knotty or difficult problem confronted the Government and a bill was to be introduced that might not carry, it is given to a private member to introduce, and if it does not turn out well it can be dropped by the member and save the Government a reverse vote.

No Government can be run by one set of people, be they doctors, lawyers, farmers, or any one set. It looks now as though at the next election we will have straight-line Conservatives, straight-line Liberals, broadening-out Agrarians, Morrison-Agrarians, and Laborites.

In the election of 1919 one of the planks in the Agrarian platform was economy and more honest administration. In regard to finances the speaker said that last year the Hon. Provincial Treasurer stated that the Government had a surplus of $700,000. The manner in which the surplus was achieved was that the last expenditure was made on October 31st, 1921, (when the fiscal year ends), and the last receipt was taken in on Dec. 8th, 1921, some six weeks after the books should have been closed. The receipts from Nov. 1st to Dec. 8th, which should have been credited to the following year, amounted to some $3,000,000, which would turn their surplus of $700,000 into a deficit of some $2,300,000.

As bookkeepers, the present Government has anything beaten that the speaker has ever seen in public or private life, and went on to cite some instances that had occurred that bears out the preceding statement.

There was reason to think that there might have been an election last fall, and the Government wanted their books to appear as favorable as possible. If the Government had closed their books for the year on the 31st of October, 1921, as they should have done they would have had a deficit of $5,650,000. When the present Government went into power in 1919 the assets of the Province were $115,000,000, and a surplus of $17,500,000 had been accumulated. A year later the latter had fallen off one million, and two years later had dropped to $5,000,000.

The expenditures during odd years of recent date were as follows:—1911, $13,000,000; 1913, $20,000,000; 1916, $17,000,000; 1919, $16,000,000, and in 1921, $32,000,000. Lamb like some advance in a short period of time. Two explanations are given for this, and explained that a portion of the 1921 expenditure was due to the development of the Chippewa power plant. There is a reckless expenditure going on in the Province which should be checked, and he believed would be checked after the next election. Heavier taxes have been put on succession duties, the taxes on real estate equalized some $6,000,000; there has also been a tax put on every transfer of real estate, and taxes are raised in several other ways that were only recently put into effect; some $16,000,000 more than formerly are now being taken from the people, and the tax always comes from the man down.

The speaker referred to the fact that the Agrarians said they would abandon Government House and thus cut off a large item of expenditure, but it had not been done. He believed that a wise Government could do away with a large amount of expenditure of money that has been given to Commissions for investigation purposes, although he said it was better to have a Commission when the Government cannot handle the matter, but it would be cheaper to have a wise and capable Government which could handle these matters without going to the expense of hiring Commissions to do so for them.

Mr. Nickle also dwelt briefly on the road policy of the present administration, which he considered very extravagant. We must have good roads to handle the ever-increasing traffic, but not necessarily so extraordinarily expensive roads as are at present being laid down. He did not mean to infer that everything the present Government had done was wrong, but they had failed in their election pledges and in many other ways.

In closing his address he referred to such good men who had represented this constituency as Uriah Wilson, T. G. Carscallen, and others, all of whom he had personally known, and felt sure that the convention had selected a splendid candidate in Mr. Hambly. He thanked those present for the very kind attention given him during his address.

Moved by Dr. Stratton, seconded by John N. Osborne, that this convention tenders to the Hon. W. F. Nickle a hearty vote of thanks for the excellent address which he has just given. The motion was carried by the audience giving three hearty cheers for the speaker, and one of the best conventions ever held in the riding came to a close by singing the National Anthem.

WILL CHRISTEN PRINCESS MARY'S SON IN ST. JAMES'.

Infant to Wear Costly Lace Trimmed Robes Worn by King George and Prince of Wales.—Relatives Only to Attend Ceremony.

The christening of Princess Mary's and Viscount Lascelles's son, which is expected to take place within the next fortnight, probably will be held in the chapel royal at St. James' Palace. The Archbishop of Canterbury or the Bishop of London will officiate. Only a few of the royal family and the relatives of Viscount Lascelles will be present, and the entire ceremony will be simple. It is said the Queen would have preferred Sandringham for the occasion, but Princess Mary is anxious to leave for her new country home, Goldsborough Hall, as soon as she is able.

The King and the Queen and the Prince of Wales will be among the sponsors. It is understood that tentative names for the infant include Henry, George, Edward and David, the last being a pet name in the family for the Prince of Wales, whereas Henry is the name of the father and his father, the Earl of Harewood.

The christening robes will be those used by both King George and the Prince of Wales. The lace trimming is of almost priceless value.

One question causing much speculation here is the title of Princess Mary's son. It is pointed out that in the event of the death of the present Princess Royal, the Duchess of Fife, the title would then devolve upon Viscountess Lascelles. But it would be unusual if the son of a Princess were a commoner. Besides the child is sixth in a direct line of succession to the throne. The belief obtains that the King soon will advance Lord Harewood to a Lakedom, whereupon Viscount Lascelles would be an Earl and his son a Viscount. But it is thought that the details of this and the christening will be left until Princess Mary is able to give the matter her personal attention.

AMHERST ISLAND AND THE BOWES FAMILY.

In connection with "Forgetful Historian's" letter in the Toronto Globe of Saturday the following statement is taken from W. S. Herrington's "History of Lennox and Addington," which tells how Maria Bowes came into possession of the island:

"It appears a Mohawk Chief was anxious to obtain the pay uniform of Maria Bowes' grandfather, Sir William Johnson. He accosted him and said: 'Sir William, I dream last night that you gave me that uniform.' Sir William was so amused that he took off the uniform and gave it to the Indian. Later, when Sir William met the Indian he saluted him and said: 'I had a strange dream last night. I dreamed that you had given me that island in the blue water over there.'

"'Ho! Ho!' exclaimed the Indian, 'you dream big dreams; I give you the island; but we won't dream any more'.

"About the time the loyalists were settling upon the mainland, Sir John Johnson, Sir William's son, was recognized as the owner of this heavily timbered island across the bay. In due time it was inherited by his daughter, Maria Bowes, who, in 1818, sold it to the Earl of Mount Cashel, and in 1857 it became the property of Major R. P. Maxwell of County Down, Ireland.

"Another story is told of the remarkable manner in which it once changed hands. It runs that a game of cards was in progress at the home of a wealthy lady in Ireland. The stakes were high, the lady was a steady loser, and in desperation put up her Canadian estate and lost it. The title deeds were made out in the name of the winner, who thus became the owner of Amherst Island."

MELBURN—HILL.

An interesting event took place at the Tabernacle Methodist Parsonage, on Wednesday, February 14th, at 11 o'clock, when the marriage of Lulu Irene Hill, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hill, Bellville, and Ross Wesley Melburn, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Melburn, Thurlow Hill, was solemnized by Rev. W. Elliott. The bride looked charming in a gown of copen blue crepe-de-chene, with gold lace and beads to match, with large black picture-style hat.

The young couple were attended by Miss Opal Melburn, sister of the groom, who wore a dress of naile silk and radium lace, and Mr. Erwin Hill, brother of the bride, acted as best man. After the ceremony the young couple motored to the home of the bride's parents, where a dainty buffet lunch awaited them, only immediate relatives of the bride being present. The bride and groom left later for points east, and upon their return will reside at Empey Hill, where the groom is a prosperous young farmer.

WHY BABIES CRY

It's often hard to find the trouble—It may be teeth—it may be stomach—but oh! so often it is just a chafed irritated skin on which poor Soap has been used.

The remedy for this is so simple! Hours of suffering—night after night of disturbance—have been avoided by mothers, who have insisted on—Baby's Own Soap. Of course it costs a little more, a very little more, however—than what is often bought and used—but four generations of Canadian Mothers are there to vouch for its purity, for the soothing healing effect on Baby's delicate skin, for the lovely pure flower fragrance it leaves when Baby fresh and clean is taken from his bath.

Don't you think, Madam, it's worth paying the 15c. a cake, a little less if you buy a box (3 cakes) which your dealer asks for Baby's Own Soap. Adv.

ALFALFA AS A HOG FEED.

(Experimental Farms Note.)

The feeding value of alfalfa for hogs has been demonstrated in numerous instances, but it would not seem amiss at the present time to offer a brief discussion on the matter. Because of its suitability in a variety of forms, it has proven to be a boon to the hog raiser.

When used in the form of green feed either as a soiling or pasture crop, when cured and used as hay, or ground into meal, it has been found that almost invariably this feed has taken a foremost place when compared with the other legumes.

In the cured state as hay it is particularly well adapted to meet the requirements of mature hogs as a roughage, the hogs consume only the finer portions of the stems and the leaves and it is, therefore, very important when harvesting this crop to preserve as many of the leaves as possible.

Analysis shows that alfalfa contains upwards of 16 per cent. of crude protein and about 8.5 per cent. of mineral matter or ash. Both these constituents are relatively important and in the case of the former, forms one of the most expensive constituents of the ration. When thus produced from alfalfa hay, which is a relatively inexpensive source, it permits of a material reduction in the cost of the ration of mature stock.

There is little advantage to be derived from cropping alfalfa or timothy with the break crop of young pigs, because of the fact that the latter has not proven sufficiently great to offset the additional cost. In the case of young pigs, however, which are incapable of handling any appreciable quantity of coarse alfalfa can be used in the form of a meal to advantage. The value of this is peculiar limitations in the handling of roughage in connection with hogs has made the introduction of alfalfa pasture a very important factor in the economical production of pork. Alfalfa pasture is also a very important factor in the production of cheap pork, as the pasture is relatively inexpensive as compared with the cost of grain. It will be found that the most economical method of feeding alfalfa pasture is to allow the hogs to harvest the crop themselves. Experiments have shown that the most economical gains are realized when hogs are allowed to harvest their own feed. Alfalfa pasture is also very important in connection with the cutting and hauling of the crop to the feeding pens, as the production of pork by this method being fully expensive when compared on the basis of cost per pound of gain in live weight.

HOW TO CONSTRUCT A HOT BED.

Garden crops such as tomatoes, cabbage, lettuce and celery, can be greatly advanced in the spring by the use of hot-beds. On the farm the making of such a bed is a simple matter because of the presence of manure of a suitable kind. Whereas the greenhouse has to depend on steam heating for the necessary warmth, the heat for a hot-bed is secured from that arising from fresh manure. The hot-bed may be placed on top of the ground or in an excavation. Whichever plan is decided upon, the site chosen should drain so as not to permit water to stand. If the below-ground plan is adopted, the soil should be taken out to a depth of about 18 inches and for about three feet wider than the frame, so that there may be room for banking up outside the frame. The banking is very important as it conserves the heat. Horse manure is the best. It should be turned once or twice, and should be quite hot and ready for use in five or six days.

To support the glass sash, a simple frame should be made of two-inch lumber. It should be so constructed that it may be raised if the plants get too close to the glass. To provide for the shedding of rain, the back of the frame should be six inches higher than the front.

When building the bed, the manure should be shaken so that the long and coarse particles are well mixed. Tramp well as each layer is added, until a depth of two to two and a half feet is secured. The frame is then put in position and five or six inches of manure is shaken in. Good garden soil to the depth of six inches should now be placed over the manure, and the sash put on. In five or six days the hot-bed will be ready for the seed. A thermometer should be used to test the temperature of the soil, which should record 60 degrees. The seeding should be done in rows about six inches apart as it would in the open ground later in the season.

More complete instructions regarding the cold frame and the plants themselves are contained in Publication Circular No. 60, obtainable from the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Issued by the Director of Publications, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, February 20th, 1923.

VON MOLTKE'S MEMOIRS

ANOTHER EXPLANATION GIVEN OF THE GREAT WAR.

Russia Is Blamed by This Teutonic Writer With Having Been the Cause of the Struggle—The War Lords Hoped to Win by Means of a Swift Campaign.

Add to the growing list of war memoirs those of Count von Moltke, German Chief of Staff at the beginning of the war, which are now being published in Germany by his widow. They have been long awaited with interest by military men, because Moltke was in a position to reveal facts unknown to anyone else, and they promise not to be disappointing, if one may judge by the installments already printed. He recalls to our mind a fact which most people have forgotten, that at one time it seemed possible that the war would be fought between Russia and Germany and Austria. For some critical days there was as much doubt as to whether France would stand by the treaty with Russia as there was whether Britain would respect the guaranty of Belgium's neutrality. In those early days, before there had been any mobilization, the question of Belgium's neutrality had not been raised, though the German plans had long included an invasion of Belgium if war was to be made on France.

On July 29, 1914, the 8 p.m. German Bluebook states for the first time that a telegram arrived from the Emperor Nicholas of Russia, promising to stop all military and diplomatic conference, if Austria-Hungary would declare itself satisfied with the Servian reply. This telegram was not shown to the German Emperor, but was communicated to the Austrian Ambassador. The Emperor William replied to the telegram, but declared that it was too late, as mobilization had already been ordered. Moltke's original plans, however, had already been altered in favor of a general attack on Russia, and he was greatly disturbed when he learned from the Kaiser that Austria was in possibility of France staying out. The Kaiser replied, "Now, Russia will have simply to mobilize on the whole army along the eastern front." The chief of staff pointed out to him that it was not so simple. It might involve a year of preparations, he said, and once the order to mobilize the plan could not be altered.

Germany learned about this time that Britain had agreed to defend the French coast from the German navy, and German military advisers said that if Britain stood by her word she will have simply to mobilize on the whole army along the eastern front.

(Experimental Farms Note.)

The feeding value of alfalfa hays has been demonstrated in numerous instances, but it would not seem amiss at the present time to offer a brief discussion on the matter. Because of its suitability in a variety of forms, it has proven to be a boon to the hog raiser.

When used in the form of green feed either as a feeding or pasture crop, when cured and used as hay, or ground into meal, it has been found that almost invariably this feed has taken a foremost place when compared with the other legumes.

In the cured state as hay it is particularly well adapted to meet the requirements of mature hogs as a roughage, the hogs consume only the finer portions of the stems and the leaves and it is, therefore, very important when harvesting this crop to preserve as many of the leaves as possible.

Analysis shows that alfalfa contains upwards of 16 per cent. of crude protein and about 85 per cent. of mineral matter or ash. Both these constituents are relatively important and in the case of the former, forms one of the most expensive constituents of the ration. When this produced from alfalfa hay, which is a relatively inexpensive source, it permits of a considerable saving in the cost of the ration of mature stock.

Then, as little advantage is to be gained from chopping alfalfa or grinding it into meal, except for young pigs, because of the fact that the increased value has not proven sufficiently great to offset the additional cost of the manipulation. Good alfalfa hay, however, which is incapable of yielding any appreciable quantity of leaves, and alfalfa meal are the most valuable feeds to be added to a grain ration of roots or silage. The most rapid gains are realized when 2 or 3 pounds of each per 100 pounds of grain are supplied for every 200 pounds in live weight. It was found that the most economical way of using alfalfa pasture was to turn the hogs on when weight in the vicinity of 100 pounds when placed on the pasture.

It is generally accepted fact that a mineral or starter rains may be obtained where a system of soiling is practiced than when hogs are pasturing, but the net inconsiderable additional income and expense involved in the cutting and feeding of the crop has resulted in the production of pork by the method being fully as economical when compared with the basis of cost per pound of gain in live weight.

Garden crops such as tomatoes, cabbage, lettuce and celery, can be greatly advanced in the spring by the use of hot-beds. On the farm the making of such a bed is a simple matter because of the presence of manure of a suitable kind. Whereas the greenhouse has to depend on steam heating for the necessary warmth, the heat for a hot-bed is secured from that arising from fresh manure. The hot-bed may be placed on top of the ground or in an excavation. Whichever plan is decided upon, the site chosen should drain so as not to permit water to stand. If the below-ground plan is adopted, the soil should be taken out to a depth of about 18 inches and for about three feet wider than the frame, so that there may be room for banking up outside the frame. The banking is very important as it conserves the heat. Horse manure is the best. It should be turned once or twice, and should be quite hot and ready for use in five or six days.

To support the glass sash, a simple frame should be made of two-inch planks. It should be so constructed that it may be raised if the plants get too close to the glass. To provide for the shedding of rain, the back of the frame should be six inches higher than the front.

When building the bed, the manure should be taken so that the long and short particles are well mixed. Tramp well as each layer is added, until a depth of two feet is reached. The sash is secured. The frame is then put in position and five or six inches more manure is shaken in. Good garden soil to the depth of six inches should now be placed over the manure, and the sash put on. In five or six days the hot-bed will be ready for the seed. A temperature should be used and the temperature of the soil should not exceed 70 degrees. The seed should be done in rows and further inches apart as it would in ordinary ground later in the season.

Note.—Copies of bulletin No. 1, "Building the cold frame and the hot-bed," may be obtained on application to Publication Circular No. 9, obtainable from the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, issued by the Director of Publicity, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, February 20th, 1922.

ANOTHER EXPLANATION GIVEN OF THE GREAT WAR.

Russia Is Blamed by This Teutonic Writer With Having Been the Cause of the Struggle—The War Lords Hoped to Win by Means of a Swift Campaign.

Add to the growing list of war memoirs those of Count von Moltke, German Chief of Staff at the beginning of the war, which are now being published in Germany by his widow. They have been long awaited with interest by military men, because Moltke was in a position to reveal facts unknown to anyone else, and they promise not to be disappointing, if one may judge by the installments already printed. He recalls to our mind a fact which most people have forgotten, that at one time it seemed possible that the war would be fought between Russia and Germany and Austria. For some critical days there was as much doubt as to whether France would stand by the Czar with her gold as there was whether Britain would stand by the guaranty of Belgium's neutrality. Moltke himself was not sure that there had been any actual mobilization, the question of Belgium's neutrality had not been raised, and the German plans had long contemplated an invasion of Belgium if war was to be made on France.

On this, Moltke, like a true Germanic planner, is not quite clear. He says that Russia refused to believe that Germany would have to declare war, and that the Czar sent a telegram to the Kaiser to stand by Austria. But he also says that the Russian Tsar's telegram did not arrive in Berlin until the prospect, and as events now showed the reality, of war had been accepted by the Council of Ministers and the Chief of the General Staff. Moltke also says that Austria, however, had refused to begin hostilities without Germany's help, and that it was only after it had been assured of that help that Austria declared war on Russia.

Germany learned about this time that Britain had agreed to defend the French coast from the German navy, and German military advisers said that if Britain would stay out they would agree not to make any use of their navy against France; for they were of opinion that the war would be decided on land. In the minds of these advisers at the time there seems to have been nearly equal uncertainty besides concerning Britain's position. Von Moltke says plainly that Britain duped Germany, and that her various notes kept back the chief thing Germany needed for her mobilization, German private, not to attack France if France would remain neutral, and promises of secrecy which took toll of the kaiser's confidence in the British good faith. French security, however, was doubtful evidence British word to go to France in case of war for France, so he proposed to the kaiser that as a guarantee a German occupation of Germany's fortified fortresses on the north coast would be necessary. This plan was rejected because it "indicated lack of confidence in England."

Von Moltke says that he pressed himself alone in insisting that France was certain to support Russia, and he emphasizes that of the two, France was the more formidable opponent. He points out that to realize a weak defensive army in the eastern front and massing the greatest strength against France, information was to the effect that France contemplated troops watching Italy was not to be lifted, and he strongly urged that an immediate march should be made through Luxemburg and Belgium. The quick seizure of Liege was necessary, it says, if the French were to be prevented from digging in. Some of his colleagues were in favor of marching on Paris, but would allow likely to provoke Britain, and at the time nothing seemed of so much importance as to placate Britain, though, as remarked, Moltke felt from the outset that France would fight, and that Britain would join her.

The kaiser, however, seemed to think otherwise. Moltke said that he was forced to change his mobilization plans he would resign. He had already ordered an army corps to occupy Luxemburg, but was told to recall it by Bethmann-Hotwen, who said it would be construed as an attack on France. When an adjutant brought him the order recalling the corps he threw down his pen and refused to sign. He wept and went home in a state of profound dejection. That night at 11 o'clock he was summoned by the kaiser, who handed him a despatch from the King of England. It was to the effect that nothing was known by him about an alleged guaranty by England which would prevent France from declaring war and that Lichnowsky's despatch must have been based on an error or a misunderstanding. The kaiser was greatly agitated and said to Von Moltke, "Now you may do as you like." That night a German army corps was on the march to Luxemburg and the war was on. Von Moltke says that but for England, France would have been quickly crushed.

YOUNG DAUGHTER MADE WELL

Vancouver, B.C.—" My daughter is a young girl who has been having a severe pains and weak and dizzy spells for some time and had lost her appetite. Through an older daughter who had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for the same trouble, we were told of it. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My daughter has been taking it for several months and is quite all right now. It has done all it was represented to do and we have told a number of friends about it. I am never without a bottle of it in the house for I myself take it for that weak, tired, worn-out feeling which sometimes comes to us all. I find it is building me up and I strongly recommend it to women who are suffering and I am glad my daughter have." — Mrs. J. McDONALD, 2947 30th Ave. East, Vancouver, B. C.

From the age of twelve a girl needs all the care a thoughtful mother can give. Many a woman has suffered years of pain and misery—the victim of thoughtless ignorance of the mother who should have guided her during this time.

If the complaints of headaches, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, make life easier for her.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for such conditions. C

"I NEVER HAD A NARROWER ESCAPE"

"I never realized until a few months ago how risky it is to neglect a cold in the chest. I have always had much good health, that a cold either in the head or chest, while unpleasant, never gave me any worry. Outside an occasional cold, I had never known what it was to be laid up even for a day in my life, until last December. One afternoon I got a chill and, no matter how close I got to the stove, I couldn't seem to get warm. This chill was followed by a cold in my chest. As usual I neglected it and it kept getting worse and worse. Finally I had to go to bed and send for the doctor. His examination showed that I had pneumonia and a bad case at that. By careful nursing on the part of my husband, my children and some friends, I managed to pull through, but the doctor told me I had a narrow shave. And here's where my troubles began. While I was now out of danger, I was anything but well. I was still very weak from the effects of the pneumonia. Although I had lots of life and energy before my sickness, I was now worn out and tired all the time. I slept fairly well, more because I was exhausted. But my appetite did not respond to be asleep. I was conscious most of the time of what went on around me although all kinds of tempting dishes were prepared for me I had no relish for food. I could no relish for food. I could no relish for food. ALFALFA AS A HOG FEED.

(Experimental Farms Note.)

The feeding value of alfalfa for hogs has been demonstrated in numerous instances, but it would not seem amiss at the present time to offer a brief discussion on the matter. Because of its suitability in a variety of forms, it has proven to be a boon to the hog raiser.

When used in the form of green feed either as a soiling or pasture crop, when cured and used as hay, or ground into meal, it has been found that almost invariably this feed has taken a foremost place when compared with the other legumes.

In the cured state as hay it is particularly well adapted to meet the requirements of mature hogs as a roughage. The hogs consume only the finer portions of the stems and the leaves and it is, therefore, very important when harvesting this crop to preserve as many of the leaves as possible.

Analysis shows that alfalfa contains upwards of 16 per cent. of crude protein and about 8.5 per cent. of mineral matter or ash. Both these constituents are relatively important and in the case of the former, forms one of the most expensive constituents of the ration. When thus procured from alfalfa hay, which is a relatively inexpensive source, is perhaps of as much significance in the cost of the ration of mature stock.

There is little advantage to be gained by grinding alfalfa hay in order to introduce it into meal, except for young pigs, because of the fact that the husks of the leaves are indigestible and if ground to a fine state of division it tends to offset the advantages of the ease of digestion. However, when it is incapable of handling any appreciable quantity of roughage, it may be advisable to grind the hay into meal.

Alfalfa meal is a valuable addition to the ration of young pigs, but it is not to be considered as a substitute for tankage or skim milk. Experimental results have shown that the addition of alfalfa pasture to a ration of corn and tankage has produced as much if not more rapid gains per hundred pounds of corn as has been obtained from the addition of 2 per cent. of tankage to a ration of corn and alfalfa meal. It was found that the most economical gains on middle weight pigs were obtained from hay when eaten in the vicinity of 1,000 pounds when placed on pasture.

It is generally conceded that the addition of tankage to a ration of corn and alfalfa meal, or corn and alfalfa hay, is not necessary when a system of soiling is practised from which pigs are pastured, but the labor and expense involved in the cutting and hauling of the crop to the pigs by this method being fully as great as that incurred in the production of cheap pork per pound of gain in live weight.

HOW TO CONSTRUCT A HOT BED.

Garden crops such as tomatoes, cabbage, lettuce and celery, can be greatly advanced in the spring by the use of hot-beds. On the farm the making of such a bed is a simple matter because of the presence of manure of a suitable kind. Whereas the greenhouse has to depend on steam heating for the necessary warmth, the heat for a hot-bed is secured from, that arising from fresh manure. The hot-bed may be placed on top of the ground or in an excavation. Whichever plan is decided upon, the site chosen should drain so as not to permit water to stand. If the below-ground plan is adopted, the soil should be taken out to a depth of about 18 inches and for about three feet wider than the frame, so that there may be room for banking up outside the frame. The banking is very important as it conserves the heat. Horse manure is the best. It should be turned once or twice, and should be quite hot and ready for use in five or six days.

To support the glass sash, a simple frame should be made of two-inch planks. It should be so constructed that it may be raised if the plants get too close to the glass. To provide for the shedding of rain, the back of the frame should be six inches higher than the front.

When building the bed, the manure should be thrown so that the long and short material will get well mixed. Then as each layer is added, until a depth of two feet is reached, it should be tramped. The frame is then put in position and five or six inches of manure is added. Good rich soil to the depth of six inches should now be placed over the manure, and the sash put on. In five or six days the hot bed will be ready for use.

A thermometer should be used and temperatures of the soil should not exceed 90 degrees. The soil should not be done in some days after the bed is made, as it would be apt to burn the seeds. Before planting, the soil should be watered thoroughly. Transplanting, thinning, hardening off, watering and ventilating the cold frame and hot-bed, demand care and attention in order to get the best results. Directions for the construction of hot-beds and cold frames may be obtained from the Field Husbandry Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Dread of Asthma makes countless thousands miserable. Night after night the attacks return and even when brief respite is given the mind is still in torment from continual anticipation. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy changes all this. Relief comes, and at once, while future attacks are warded off, leaving the afflicted one in a state of peace and happiness he once believed he could never enjoy. Inexpensive and sold almost everywhere.

"A scientist tells me there are 2,000,000 species of insects in the world," remarked Brown.

"Including, I suppose, the species that wears trousers and lets the ladies stand in the street car," snapped the wife.

One of the most effective vermifuges on the market is Miller's Worm Powders. They will not only clear the stomach and bowels of worms, but will prove a very serviceable medicine for children in regulating the infantile system and maintaining it in a healthy condition. There is nothing in their composition that will injure the most delicate stomach when directions are followed, and they can be given to children in the full assurance that they will utterly destroy all worms.

"I try to," answered Senator Sorghum, wearily; "but there aren't enough Government jobs to go 'round."

VON MOLTKE'S MEMOIRS

ANOTHER EXPLANATION GIVEN OF THE GREAT WAR.

Russia Is Blamed by This Teutonic Writer With Having Been the Cause of the Struggle—The War Lords Hoped to Win by Means of a Swift Campaign.

Add to the growing list of war memoirs those of Count von Moltke, German Chief of Staff at the beginning of the War, which are now being published in Germany by his widow. They have been long awaited with interest by military men, because Moltke was in a position to reveal facts unknown to anyone else, and they promise not to be disappointing, if one may judge by the installments already printed. He recalls to our mind a fact which most people have forgotten, that at one time it seemed possible that the war would be fought between Russia and Germany and Austria. For some critical days there was as much doubt as to whether France would stand by the treaty with Russia as there was whether Britain would stand by the guaranty of Belgium's neutrality. In times such as those there is but little room for normal mobilization, the question of Belgium's neutrality has not been publicly discussed, and plans had long contemplated an invasion of Belgium if war was to be made on France.

Moltke, like Bismarck, Caprivi, Hohenlohe, Bülow and Bethmann-Hollweg, was a firm believer in the necessity of maintaining the Triple Alliance, and diplomatic conferences were held from time to time with the object of keeping Italy in line. Moltke's memoirs, however, throw little light on the efforts that were made to prevent Austria-Hungary from declaring war on Serbia, and the events immediately following the murder of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand are left in obscurity. Moltke's account of the Kaiser's visit to Vienna after the funeral of the Archduke and his wife, and of the conferences that followed, is disappointingly meagre. He says that the Kaiser returned to Berlin "fully convinced that Austria would act against Serbia with all energy, and that Russia would not intervene." Moltke's own attitude was apparently that of a soldier and not a diplomat. He says that he "considered it his duty to express his opinion that Austria must not allow herself to be deterred from her intentions by the possibility of Russian intervention." He was convinced that Russia was not ready for war, and that France would not support Russia, and he apparently believed that the refusal of the Kaiser to grant the Austrian possibility of France staying out was the Kaiser's opinion. "Now," he said, "we will have simply to mobilize and we will have all the Germans on our side." The effect of this policy was to bring it about that it was not so simple. It misled Austria-Hungary into a state of preparedness, for which she could not be blamed, but which could not be allowed.

Germany learned about this time that Britain had agreed to defend the French coast from the German fleet, and German military advisers said that if Britain would stay out they would agree not to take any part of their navy against France, for they were so pleased that the war would be decided on land that the minds of these advisers at the time there seems to have been exerted some influence concerning Britain's position. Von Moltke says plainly that Britain dupped Germany, and that her various notes kept back the day when Germany should have ceased mobilization. He now pretends not to attack France if France would remain neutral, and considers that Britain took that step because she feared that Germany would attack France. Moltke knew that Britain was making preparations to transport troops to France, and he regarded it as a matter of course that Germany would endeavor to destroy the British Expeditionary Force. This idea was not shared by Bethmann-Hollweg, who considered the invasion of England.

Von Moltke says that he expressed himself alone in insisting that France was certain to support Russia, and we remember that at that time, France was the more formidable opponent. His reasons, briefly, were that Germany could not afford a war on two fronts, and massing greater strength against France. His information was that the effort of France contemplated troops marching. This was not to be filling, and he strongly urged that an immediate march should be made through Luxemburg and Belgium. The quick seizure of Liege was necessary, he says, if the French were to be prevented from digging in. Some of his colleagues were in favor of marching the German right wing through Holland, but Moltke overruled this as being certain to drive Holland to arms. It would also be likely to provoke Britain, and at the time nothing seemed of so much importance as to placate Britain, though, as remarked, Moltke had from the outset that France would fight, and that Britain would join her.

The Kaiser, however, seemed to think otherwise. Moltke said that if he was forced to change his original plans he would resign. He had already ordered an army corps to occupy Luxemburg, but was told to recall it by Bethmann-Hollweg, who said it would be construed as an attack on France. When an adjutant brought him the order recalling the corps he threw down his pen and refused to sign. He wept and went home in a spirit of profound dejection. That night at 11 o'clock he was summoned by the Kaiser, who handed him a despatch from the King of England. It was to the effect that nothing was known by him about an alleged guaranty by England which would prevent France from declaring war and that Lichnowsky's despatch must have been based on an error or a misunderstanding. The Kaiser was greatly agitated and said to Von Moltke, "Now you may do as you like." That night a German army corps was on the march to Luxemburg and that was followed on by Moltke says that but for England, France would have been quickly crushed.

YOUNG DAUGHTER MADE WELL

Vancouver, B.C.—"My daughter is a young girl who has been having severe pains and weak and dizzy feelings some time and had lost her appetite. Though an older daughter had passed of a woman who was going through the same trouble, we were advised by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My daughter has taken it for several months and is quite well again now. It has done all it was represented to do and we have told a number of friends about it. I am never without a bottle of it in the house for I myself take it for that weak, tired, worn-out feeling which sometimes comes to us all. I believe it is helping my daughter and I recommend it to women who are suffering as I and my daughter have." — Mrs. J. McDavid, 2545 5th Ave. East, Vancouver, B. C.

From the above letter we see that a girl need not suffer when a tried and true remedy like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for such conditions. C

"HAD A NARROW ESCAPE"

"I never realized until a few months ago how risky it is to neglect a cold in the chest. I have always had such good health, that a cold either in the head or chest, while unpleasant, never gave me any worry. Outside an occasional cold, I had never known what it was to be laid up even for a day in all my life, until last December. One afternoon I got a chill and no matter how close I got to the stove, I couldn't seem to get warm. This chill was followed by a cold in my chest. As usual I neglected it and it kept getting worse and worse. Finally I had to go to bed and send for the doctor. His examination showed that I had pneumonia and a bad case at that. By careful nursing on the part of my husband, my children and some friends, I managed to pull through, but the doctor told me I had a narrow shave. And here's where my troubles began. While I was now out of danger, I was anything but well. I was still very weak from the effects of the pneumonia. Although I took lots of life and exercise before my sickness, I was now nervous and tired all the time. I simply didn't feel like myself any more. I was disheartened, for nothing I took seemed to do me any good. I wonder whether I am the only one who has had a friend call on me and remark on how much I have changed during my illness? I certainly am in perfect health again, and can feel and look the difference. If I can help any poor sufferer I shall be glad to do so.

But trust in God to meet again.
Friends may think we oft forget her,
When at times they see us smile;
But they little know, the sorrow,
Which that smile hides all the while.

SNUBBED THE GERMAN.

"Ever Victorious" Pasha Was Jailed For His Pains.

The victories achieved by Mustapha Kemal—now Ghazi Mustapha or Mustapha, the ever-victorious — constitute one of the most notable personal triumphs in the record of our time. The problem which Kemal set before himself in the days of his boyhood at Salonica was the restoration of the Turkish Empire and its liberation from German domination.

As a student at Salonica he aroused suspicions as to his sanity when, at a dinner given in honor of Von Der Goltz Pasha, the German organizer and generalissimo of the Turkish armies, he raised his glass and gave the toast:

"The Turkish nation and the Turkish army must develop their own commander instead of putting foreigners in command."

For that indiscretion he was practically interned in Damascus and Beirut, where his opportunities for making similar declarations against the reactionary Hamidian regime would be greatly circumscribed.

Again, as military attache at the Ottoman Embassy in Sofia, Mustapha Kemal, on the occasion of an official reception to Gen. Von Der Goltz, after the Young Turk revolution, came much nearer the mark of his discontent against foreign control in the army when he said to some friends:

"I am pained unto death at the thought that the Turkish army is commanded by a foreigner. But the Turkish army will be commanded by a Turk and I shall be the man."

It was a long march from Salonica and Sofia to Angora, and still a longer march from Angora to Smyrna; and the way in which Mustapha Kemal performed this marvel supplies a page of rare determination, a touch of dipsomaniac genius, a revelation of the highest order of military skill, and a degree of self-restraint that compels admiration.

Baby's Sixteen Teeth.

A baby who, at the age of ten months, possesses sixteen perfectly-formed teeth has been discovered in America.

This remarkable child has other peculiar features. She weighs fifty pounds, is forty-two inches high, and measures thirty-three inches round the chest. She talks, and in every respect her development is that of a normal child of three.

Her parents are sixty and twenty-five years old respectively, and have one other child, a boy of three. The huge growth of the baby is a puzzle to the entire family.

The child is perfectly healthy, and has never needed a doctor since she was born. Her feet are too small to support her weight, and she is unable to walk.

The parents have been deluged with applications from showmen and others who wish to exhibit her. One enterprising business man wanted the mother to sign a photograph, saying that the growth was entirely due to his patent medicine.

Miss Chown held the interest of her hearers by the appeal of a versatile talent of interpretation and a warm colored voice.—Toronto Globe, 9th.

Admission 15c. Come with well filled baskets of sandwiches and pies of all kinds, and have a good time together. Particulars later.—Mr. and Mrs. Ezra McKim, of Tamworth, attended meeting on Tuesday last, and are now occupying the home they purchased.—On Saturday afternoon last a big fire occurred south of the village, when Mr. Delbert Sexsmith's large drive house was burned to the ground, with all its contents, 1 horse, his car, 2 buggies, 1 spring wagon, 2 cutters, all his single harness, about 7 tons of hay, and a lot of farming machinery. There was only a small insurance. Delbert was away for a load of sand at the time of the fire.—Mr. Roy Perry, of Iroquois Falls, is spending his vacation in the village with his old chums.

WILL TAKE PLACE TO-DAY AND TO-MORROW, MARCH 2nd AND 3rd, 1923

We especially and cordially invite our customers to meet "Dame Fashion", who will be with us on Opening Days. This invisible, yet wonderfully alive "Spirit" will exhibit to you the latest creations on living models. To acquaint yourself with the newest authentic modes in Women's and Misses' Wearing Apparel, in Millinery, in Materials and Accessories, you must view our exhibits with your own eyes as word pictures are entirely inadequate.

Spring Styles Are Imported From Paris

Far-famed Paris manufacturers created the new Spring styles. Eagerly New York designers chose the styles most adapted for this Continent. Then our Canadian designers and manufacturers selected the styles which best expressed the individuality of the womanhood of Canada. These wonderful creations just received from the foremost of our manufacturers now await your personal inspection.

The 1923 Silhouette

Styles, like time, await for no one. This year "Fashion" introduces the Russian or Blouse effects to her former straight-line silhouette. At the same time she sponsors the one-side and one-ornament fastenings. Unique and harmonious are the many variations found in sleeves. Quite decidedly she lines up her styles between tailored and non-tailored effects, both are fashionable. Embroideries, Tuckings, Strappings, fine linings are also further employed to enrich and beautify.

Mannequins will parade, gowned in our various Costumes, Wraps and Dresses, at the following hours :
Friday Afternoon, from 3 to 5 o'clock.
Saturday Afternoon, from 2.30 to 4.30 o'clock.
Saturday Evening, from 7.30 to 9 o'clock.

Your New Spring Hat Must Be Chosen Before Easter. See the Latest Modes at Our Openings This Week

"The Back" of the hat this season is perhaps more strikingly different than any one other feature. Its unusual shortness leaves the back of the neck without protection. The brim then widens across the sides and the front. Then, too, this pleasing style line invariably droops over the eyes and behold you have one of the cleverest and smartest of all new styles in Millinery, "The Poke". Tricornes and four-cornered hats with high crowns are also decidedly good-looking and very popular with Fashion. Brim Lines are very irregular and take many unexpected turns. "Paisley" Straws are also new this year, and combine wonderfully well with plain straws and silks. Flowers, Ribbons, Feathers and Quills are skillfully used for further ornamentations.

Color, too, plays an important role this season. Mignonette, Toast, Copen Blues, Tans, Browns, Sands, Navy, Black are leaders.

MATERIALS THAT ARE DEEMED FASHIONABLE THIS SEASON

FOR SUIT OR DRESS.—Poiret Twill, Tricotine, Serge, Homespun and Tweeds, Navy, Black, Brown, Carmel, Sand are leading shades.

WITH THE SILKS.—The range in Silken fabrics is large enough for every fashionable whim, and the materials are exceedingly fascinating. Among the newer weaves we are showing Alltyme Crepe, Canton Crepe, Crepe-de-chene, Taffeta, Crepe Chenille, Duchess Satin, Silk and Wool Crepe. In the rance of colors you will find these shades, Black, Navy, Buffalo, Fallow, Cocoa, Eldorado, Silver, Sand-Wood and Oriole.

SILKEN NOVELTIES.—Paisley effects are extremely fashionable. All the traditions of the Orient have been woven into these glorious materials. Such fabrics as Krinkle Knit, Crepe-de-chene, Canton Crepe, Karavan Crepe and Georgette Crepe are obtainable in beautiful Paisley patterns.

COATINGS IN THE LIMELIGHT.—Polo, Polo Velour, Marvella, Duvetyn, Vel-de-laine, Heather Duvetyn, Homespuns, Tricotines, Serges, English and Canadian Tweeds.

Boyes' Made-in-Napanee Suits

FEW know the amount of labor that goes into one of our Tailor-Made Suits. The linings, canvas, haircloth and all materials used are cut and fitted to your coat. The pockets are so made and set in there's no rip or give to the corners. The cloth is subjected to shrink and stretch to mould it to your shape, and so stayed it's there for keeps.

An expert man tailor working steadily can only produce three coats a week; another two days is required for the vest and trousers; but the labor is well spent, as our will keep their shape for years, and the added satisfaction of wearing a perfect fitting dependable suit more than recompenses you for the few extra dollars it costs.

YARKER.

We are pleased to report the home coming of Mr. Wilbur Wilson, who has been in the General Hospital at Kingston, where he underwent a major operation a couple of weeks ago. He has made a quick and safe recovery, thanks to the efficient staff and nurses at the Hospital.—The popular four-act play presented here by the Moscow Dramatic Club, last Friday night, was a pronounced success. The Yarker Orchestra added much to the enjoyment of the event by a high class program of music.—We note that Mrs. (Rev.) J. W. Down is spending the week with her daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) A. McLauchlin, at Keene.—Our section boss, Mr. Geo. Woodhouse, was called out with his men to assist in replacing a big mound that was derailed at Harrowsmith last Sunday night.—It is with the approval of the parties concerned that your scribe reports the marriage of Mr. Howard Holland to Miss Gladys Down. The happy event took place quietly last Wednesday evening. The hopeful young couple will reside at Enterprise in the near future, where the groom is carrying on a large and prosperous baking business. The writer joins with the whole community in wishing the promising young couple much joy and prosperity.—We notice that Mr. Fenwick Connolly is home again, after spending some time visiting friends in Belleville, Odessa and Wilton.—We are told that Mr. Allen Silver cut thirty cords of stove wood at the parsonage in a little over three hours, one day this week, with his up-to-date wood sawing outfit.

STELLA.

The weather man has certainly been good to us this winter, as we are getting our share of cold weather and snow.—Quite a number of people are on the sick list.—Mr. Jas. Kilpatrick, who underwent an operation in Kingston General Hospital, is greatly improved.—Miss Eva Glenn, who has been in the hospital, has returned home.—Mr. S. L. Pringle is undergoing treatment in Kingston.—Death visited our midst once again, and took as his victim Henry Emmerson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry McCann. He had been ill but a few days from pneumonia.—Burleigh L. O. L. and Quinte L. O. B. A. held a dance on Friday evening in Victoria Hall. Excellent music was furnished by the Salsbury Orchestra, Kingston.—Miss Edna Glenn, Sillsville, spent the week end at her home here.—Misses E. Scott and J. Hitchins, Napanee, at their respective homes.—Mrs. D. Finnegan is visiting her brother, Mr. T. Hill.—Mr. Allison, of Elginburg, at Mr. R. Fleming's.—Mrs. E. Cousins is visiting friends.—Mrs. E. Kilpatrick, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. McClement, Pittsburg, has returned home.—Mr. Arthur Kilpatrick had a bee last week and had his store moved to the new site at Emerald. It will now be more convenient than formerly.—Don't forget the date of Stella horse races, March 7th.

BETHANY.

Wood sawing is the order now, and Mr. Jas. Miller is kept quite busy.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark spent Sunday at W. C. Joyce's.—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dempsey took tea on Sunday evening with Mr. W. Whitton, Desoronto.—Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wamsley spent Tuesday at Mr. A. Parks', Napanee.—We are glad to report Mrs. Wilfred Miller is doing nicely after her operation at the General Hospital, Kingston.—Mrs. Hyatt, Napanee, is visiting at J. Hicks'.—Mr. George Burtch lost a valuable horse last week.—Quite a number from here took in the teamsetting at Hay Bay last week.—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dean spent Tuesday at Selby.—The Ladies' Aid meeting will be held at Mrs. W. Goodman's, Jr., on Wednesday next, March 7th.—Our neighborhood was shocked to hear of the accident which resulted in the death of Mr. Ralph Parks. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the friends. A number from here attended the funeral which was held on Sunday afternoon.

THE HOHENZOLLERNS.

The ex-Kaiser's New Wife Comes of Tainted Stock.

The marriage of the ex-kaiser and the Princess Hermine of Reuss caused a great stir last year. Mr. Frederick Cunliffe-Owen, C.B.E., has recently written an article in which he says that both the contracting parties are of tainted stock and any children that might be born of the union would probably be imbeciles. The brief review of the family of the princess which Mr. Owen gives in the New York Times is an unflattering one, and indicates that if the princess herself has a sound mind she is rarely fortunate. He does not suggest that she is in any way doltish, but the fact that she has become the wife of the most execrated old man in the world is surely no evidence of powerful qualities of intellect. Indeed, the princess appears to be beloved by the people upon her estate, in whose welfare she has always been interested, and it is probable that after her marriage she will devote herself entirely to her new husband and her children. But it is unlikely that ever she will lavish upon him the veneration, affection and care that were the daily offerings of the former kaiserin.

The only brother of the princess, Henry XXIV. of Reuss, formerly ruler of that principality, is deaf and dumb, imbecile and blind, but his infirmities were partly due to accident and not wholly inherited. He was born deaf and dumb, but was idolized by his mother, a Princess Ida of Schaumburg-Lippe. When he was a young boy it was decided that he should be operated on for a defect in his eye, a kind of squint. His mother held him on her knee, but at the most critical moment of the operation her horror and grief at the sight of the cutting that was going on caused her to make a sudden movement. The result was that the oculist's lancet was driven into the lad's eye, and he was blinded. That the steel penetrated his brain seems probable from the fact that he was also an imbecile. The tragedy broke the princess' heart and she died shortly afterward, while her husband expressed his feelings by thereafter refusing to permit any reference to be made in his presence to his afflicted son. He would not even allow prayers to be offered for his recovery in the churches.

This Prince Henry of Reuss was a crank to the verge of imbecility. He was so autocratic that he would not allow a house to be built in his capital of Greiz or a tree to be cut down without his special sanction. He also insisted upon personality administering corporal punishment to any of the public school pupils who were to be birched. They were sent to his palace for that purpose, for the prince held that as he was the father of his people the caning of them was his personal responsibility. The prince kept up a perpetual quarrel with Prussia because even when he suspected Bismarck of putting a slight upon him at a royal supper, He would not permit his people to put up any memorial to old Emperor William or to the Iron Chancellor or even to the ex-kaiser. A death in the House of Hohenzollern was not recognized by the Prince of Reuss as an occasion for mourning. He dwelt in a magnificent mediaeval castle which was devoid of all the modern comforts or conveniences. There was neither running water nor hot water, and kitchens were at such an immense distance from the dining room that the food was always cold when it arrived on the guests' plates.

The Reuss family consisted of the father, the imbecile prince, and four daughters, and the life of the latter was a gloomy one from which they sought escape in marriage at the earliest opportunity. One of them, to the disgust of her father, became the wife of Count Carlo Lanckh, whose uncle was a dignitary at the court of Reuss-Greiz. Another accepted an Austrian officer who was an officer in the Great War. Another, says Mr. Owen, married on a footing of equality Prince Christoffer of Stolberg, scion of one of the mediatized families, that is to say, of the dynasties that forfeited their sovereign sway in Germany prior to the overthrow of the Holy Roman Empire by the First Napoleon a little more than a hundredth years ago. The first marriage of the princess was regarded as a mesalliance, for her husband, Prince John Carolath, was a mere Prince nobile and did not belong to any mediatized house, whose members were entitled to mate on terms of equality with members of sovereign dynasties. Her eldest inherits the status of his father, not of his mother.

Several other members of the Reuss family have been imbeciles and for a long time the royal tribe has been a veritable godsend to German comic publications and cartoonists. Their court was the only one in Europe where, in the case of royal mourning the mourners were to show the sincerity of their grief by wearing black underclothing. The pomp of these petty principles was without modern parallel.

Imbecile or pompous to the verge of lunacy though many members of the House of Reuss have been they trace their descent as far back as the Hohenzollerns, and in the matter of birth the princess is considered the equal of the exile of Doorn.

Singer Sight-Seeing.

It has sight-seeing and not singing that first brought Amelita Galli-Curci to North America. She landed in New York with $2,000 and a determination to see the country. A chance encounter resulted in two appearances at $800 each, and finally granted by Campanini to the then totally unknown prima donna. Taking out citizenship papers early in her stay, Galli-Curci has become doubly an American by her marriage to her accompanist, Homer Samuels.

On motion of J. N. Osborne, seconded by F. H. Lloyd, Council adjourned.

E. P. SHEPHERD, Clerk.

Address and Presentation.

On Monday, February 19th, about forty-five of the friends and neighbors met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alf. Cousins, to spend a social evening before they moved to Toronto, and presented Mr. and Mrs. Cousins with a handsome stand and reading lamp, and Ross with a military set. The evening was spent in card playing and dancing, and at 12 o'clock a dainty lunch of sandwiches, cakes and coffee was served by the ladies, and the following address was read by Miss Ethel Bonn:

Bethel Street, Feb. 19, 1923.

Mr. and Mrs. Cousins and Ross.

Dear Friends,—We, your friends and neighbors, have gathered here tonight to spend a social evening together before leaving for your home at Moreton. You come here as strangers to the most of us about a year ago and in that time you have made many warm friends and have proved yourselves to be honest and obliging neighbors. You have been always ready and willing to open your home to the young people to have a good time. You are going from our midst but we are glad that your new home is not far away, and that we may often see you. We cannot allow you to leave this community without giving you some tangible expression of our good will. We ask you to accept these gifts, not for their value, but as a token of esteem, and trustful that when you use them, it will ever remind you of your many friends in this vicinity, and we all join in wishing you many years of prosperity.

Signed on behalf of the community.

DAISY SALISBURY.
ETHEL BENN.

Although taken by surprise, Mr. and Mrs. Cousins and Ross all thanked the friends for their kindness and for the beautiful gifts, and gave them all a pressing invitation to visit them in their new home.

A Strange Case.

In a Fresno court a man is being sued for damages as a result of failure to hang a tail light on a black heifer. It seems this heifer had developed a penchant for wandering about country lanes and roads after curfew time and a stranger in an automobile bumped into her. We are lost in ignorance as to the fate of the heifer, but the automobile was damaged to the amount of $229.52. The owner of the automobile thinks the owner of the heifer should pay.—SanFrancisco Chronicle.

Members Get Free Rides.

One of the prerogatives enjoyed by members of the Danish Parliament is free service at any Turkish bath establishment throughout the country.

Make Their Own Salt.

Many natives of Palmyra gather their own salt by dipping small quantities of water from some salt lakes by the bucket and allowing it to evaporate.

OBITUARY.

Bernard O'Neil.

Fortified by the rites of Holy Mother Church, there passed away at Erinsville, on Friday, January 26th, 1923, Bernard O'Neil, after a brief illness, in his sixty-eighth year. And particularly sad was the passing away five days later, Wednesday, January 31st, of Alfonsus, his youngest son, just nineteen years of age. The entire family of five were suddenly stricken with influenza, and when the dreadful malady was under control, complications set in, death claiming two. Medical aid and the best care by the Sisters, Kingston, succeeded in assisting the other members of the family to complete recovery.

Their bodies were removed to the Church of the Assumption, Erinsville, where Requiem High Mass was sung by Rev. M. Meagher, hence to the vault to await interment in their final resting place.

The two deaths came as a great shock to their many friends in the community. Mr. O'Neil being very active for his years, taking great interest in church and political affairs. There are left to mourn an untimely loss, his wife, four sons and three daughters, Jerome, Joachim and Genevie, at home; P. J. and Bernie, Alberta; Mrs. James Crawford, Erinsville; Mrs. W. J. Ryan, Ottawa; also five sisters, Sorvice, Rev. M. Pinsits, Mother Superior, St. Joseph's Convent, Winnipeg; Mrs. Rich Taylor, Erinsville; Mrs. John Hinch, Enterprise; Miss John McAleer and Mrs. P. C. Moore, San Jose, California.

STAPLES—CONWAY.

A very pretty but quiet wedding took place on Thursday, Feb. 22nd, at the home of the Rev. Dr. Hincks, 1 Park Avenue, Toronto, when Miss Florence Conway, youngest daughter of Mrs. P. J. Sawyer, Toronto, was united in marriage to Henry W. Staples, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Staples, of Napanee. The bride looked very charming in a navy blue suit with black and white fur to match, and wore a corsage bouquet of sweet heart roses and lily of the valley.

The maid of honor, Mrs. B. L. Lyons, looked very pretty in a dress of brown velvet with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of Killarney roses. Mr. Ross Staples, brother of the groom, was best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. Sawyer, 49 Dunvegan Ave., Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. McKechnie, of Toronto, received the guests. The bride was the recipient of many very beautiful presents.

Address and Presentation.

On Tuesday, February 6th, about sixty friends and neighbors met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gehan, to spend a social evening with them before their removal to Napanee. The evening was spent in games and music, after which the following address was read:—

Bath, Feb. 6th, 1923.

To Mr. and Mrs. John Gehan and Family.

It is with feelings of regret intermingled with feelings of pleasure that we, your friends from this vicinity, gather here tonight, to enjoy your company and genial hospitality once more before you depart for your new home in Napanee.

Our feelings of regret emanate principally in the fact that a family, every member of which has endeared himself to the rest of the community, always ready and willing to assist in all the joys of their neighbours. Our feelings of pleasure take in the fact that you are not going very far away, and that we will be privileged to meet you here and at very often, and that we will be privileged to meet you here and at very often, you made your self felt in this community, and while we regret very much that we are losing you from East and Newburgh, as a calling community, we feel that the same kind disposition that is so characteristic of you and all here will make for you a host of friends in your new home, but we feel sure that you will not forget the friends of your childhood home.

And feeling as we do, we could not allow you to depart without asking you to accept this table and purse as a slight token, whereby you may gather pleasure, night and noon, any wish of your many friends you left behind.

And in conclusion we wish you one and all a life of health and prosperity, and that the choicest blessings, both spiritual and temporal, may attend you in your new home.

Signed on behalf of your Camden East and Newburgh friends.

ENTERPRISE.

Our sewing class is progressing fine under the able management of Miss Phillips.—Miss Elizabeth Mellow spent a day in Napanee last week.—Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bell and son, Arthur and Miss Della Kellar took dinner at Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Vanneats, on Sunday last.—Miss Hazel Kellar has returned from the Millinery Openings in Toronto.—The play, "Which One Won", given here last Saturday night, was well given, and all who missed same, certainly missed the event of the season, because it was the best that has ever come to our town this year. It was well acted by all, and needed very little or no prompting. The singing that was given between acts was very good and that alone was well worth the 25c. admission, and we saw a grand play for nothing. There were a number of good lessons to learn from the play as well as lots of fun which was created by that imp called Teddy. One thing all the young men should have been there to find out which would be the better companion, a clean cranky woman or a good natured dirty woman. It certainly was an excellent program for young and old, and I advise anyone wanting a good evening's program to call on Desmond for the "Which One Won" programme, music and play.

A Financial Courtship

Romance of Investments told in Clever Short Story

CHAPTER I.

When James Allen died, he left his daughters a small but comfortable home and fifty thousand dollars of life insurance. He had been a quiet, taciturn man, taking a keen interest even his own daughters in his confidence. Not until he was buried and his will was read, did anyone have the slightest idea of his possessions. He had held the position of Clerk of the Court for many years, and had lived comfortably, educated his daughters and performed his duties in a good citizen. His wife had died four years before him. It now appeared that he had adopted early in life the idea of living close to his income, saving a certain each year to pay his insurance premiums, and relying on his insurance to take care of his family when he should die. It had never discussed business with his daughters were practically ignorant of the first principles of finance. They had received the usual common school education, and were now well advanced toward middle life, Hannah thirty-two and Mary, thirty-four.

It was the first shock of the sudden death that was overcome and they found themselves thrown suddenly upon their own resources. At first they stamped on both their good heads their responsibility. It is true they had a comfortable home and a modest fortune, but they were entirely fresher and more brilliant ones.

For the continuation of this very human story, read "A Financial Courtship," which tells what happened to the two sisters and their legal adviser. We will send you one free, if you write for it, and mention the name of this paper. Not only you, but every adult member of your family will enjoy reading it, and it will help you as well to understand how to choose and buy good investments.

I HANDLE the Toronto Hip Roof Silo because I want to give my customers the biggest value.

You can't have good ensilage unless you have a good silo. And Toronto Silos are good silos. Made of wood—the best material for the purpose—and properly built. Hip roofed and grooved staves of selected spruce impregnated with creosote, they give adequate protection against air and frost. Their special Hip Roof provides more space for filling.

I can show you where a Toronto Silo will mean more productive cattle, bigger profits, a more valuable farm—dollars in your pocket. Let's talk it over.

STANDARD BANK OF CANADA REPORTS STRONG POSITION.

Profits Show Increase Over Previous Year—General Business Well Maintained Throughout Country—Liquid Assets Equal to 48 per cent. of Total Liabilities to the Public.

Increased profits are reported by the Standard Bank of Canada in their financial statement for the year ended January 31st, last. As was to be expected, the report reflects the deflation in businesses which occurred during the year. The most notable feature of the statement is the strong liquid position in which the bank finds itself at the end of the year. Cash assets are equal to 17.9 per cent and liquid assets are the equivalent of 48.1 per cent. of the total liabilities to the public. Total assets of over $78,000,000 are also shown including a reserve fund of $5,000,000, or $1,000,000 in excess of the outstanding capital.

The slight increase in profits can be taken as an indication that the period of deflation is fast drawing to a close. Conditions under which banking institutions in general have been operating in 1922 were not favorable to increased profits and should be satisfying to shareholders to know that their institution, during that period, was not only able to show a slight increase in profits, but also to maintain their exceptionally strong liquid position.

Profits, after deducting expenses, interest accrued on deposits, rebate for interest on unmatured bills, provincial taxes, and making provision for bad and doubtful debts, amounted to $729,074 compared with $725,613 for 1921. With the balance forward of $112,493 there was available for distribution the sum of $840,567. Dividends at the rate of 14 per cent. per annum and amounting to $560,000 were paid, this compares with $552,115. The difference in the amount paid is due to the fact that the bank made an increase in capital account in 1921 and the sum of $555,115 is representative of the dividend on the average paid-up capital for the year. The sum of $40,000 was paid to the Government for war tax on circulation. $55,000 was reserved for Dominion Income Tax, this is an increase of $35,000 over 1921; $25,000 was contributed to officers' pension fund and $160,567 remains to be carried into the new year. This compares with $112,493 at the end of the previous year.

The balance sheet shows total assets of $78,719,265 compared with $83,263,005 in the previous year. Cash assets including $1,769,469 current coin held by the bank; $9,222,201 Dominion notes held and $1,000,000 deposit in central gold reserve total $11,991,770, as against $13,279,863. Liquid assets total $32,107,431 and compare with $35,871,868. Dominion and Provincial Government securities held total $7,883,503. Canadian Municipal and British, Foreign and Colonial public securities other than Canadian are shown at $2,462,051.

A reduction in current loans from $54,969,128 in 1921 to $42,398,817 is shown. This is in line with all other banking institutions, who without exception have reported a shrinkage in loans due to the curtailment of business activities. The activity of stock markets, however, is reflected by an increase in call and short loans at $5,776,097, as against $2,949,220. There is also an item of call and short loans elsewhere than in Canada of $700,000 that did not appear in the previous statement and which indicates a broadening out of the bank's activities.

Deposits like loans show a slight decrease. Deposits bearing interest stand at $56,574,709 and non-interest bearing deposits at $11,502,605 or a total of $62,076,860 as compared with $65,120,717. Notes of the bank in circulation show a decrease of approximately $67,000 standing at $4,653,220.

The annual meeting will be held at the Head Office of the Bank on February 28th.

BATH.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Sexsmith have returned from visiting friends at Ingersoll and London, Ont.—Mrs. Fred Darrigal, who has been very seriously ill, is improving.—Several residents of the village are still quite seriously ill with grippe.—Rev. A. L. McTear, Rector of St. John's Church, has been appointed Vicar at Trenton, Ont., and will take up his new duties on March 1st.—An aged and well known resident of the village, in the person of Hiram Covert, passed away at the residence of his son, Faber, on Wednesday morning, Feb. 21st. The funeral was held in the Methodist Church at 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon, Rev. A. A. Huffman officiating. The remains were placed in the vault to await interment in the spring. To mourn their loss he leaves four daughters, Mrs. Robt. Mott, of this village; Mrs. D. McBride, of Valleyfield, Que.; Mrs. Bonter, of Trenton, Ont., and Mrs. J. Kellar, of Rochester, N.Y.; three sons, Lorne, of Los Angeles, California; Frank, of Brockport, N.Y.; Wallace, of Wellington, Ont.; William, of Enterprise, Ont., and Faber, of this village; with whom he resided. All were able to attend the funeral except his son, Lorne—Harold Conrad, of Deseronto, attended the funeral of his grandfather, the late Hiram Covert.

The Value of a Reserve.

When the big sleet storms of last winter struck the lines of the Bell Telephone Company in Eastern and Central Ontario, President L. B. McFarlane points out in his Annual Report, they did damage that cost the value total of $1,189,009 to repair. The Company had a reserve fund which enabled it to take care of this tremendous set back without swallowing up a great part of the year's net revenues was wholly fortunate—fortunate for present subscribers whose service could be promptly restored, for shareholders the return of whose investment was safeguarded, and for prospective subscribers the capital to build whose lines was still forthcoming because of the unimpaired credit of the Company.

THEY CALLED HIM AN "OLD PILL"

THAT was years ago when he packed a terrible stomach, a mighty irritable temper and a liver that refused to do the things that all good livers should. No wonder his friends called him an "old pill" and stayed away.

But that was years ago—long before he discovered Beecham's Pills and learned that two at bedtime can bring sunshine into a man's life. Today, he's an optimist, a hero to his wife, and a staunch believer in Beecham's Pills.

The cheer that Beecham's Pills bring into a man's disposition, is the incomparable cheer of sound digestion, active liver, and regular habits that make good health.

Mrs. Henry Atkinson and Mrs. Fairbanks are daughters of the deceased.—The farce comedy, in three acts, "Safety First", given by the Volunteer Workers of the Fourth Line, last Thursday night, in the Town Hall, was considered one of the best entertainments of the kind for a long time, and the actors took their parts wonderfully well. The Odessa four-piece orchestra played several choice selections between the acts.

SWITZERVILLE.

The winter continues.—The men are all busy either cutting, sawing or drawing wood.—The League met at the home of Mr. Vernon Paul, on Wednesday evening of last week. It was "Citizenship" night, and was in charge of Mr. Reginald Empey, the 3rd Vice President. The topic was given by Miss Marjorie Moore. The meeting for this week will be held at Mr. Andrew Moore's, Friday evening.—The Mission Band held a very successful social evening at the home of Mrs. James McCormick, on Friday evening. A good programme was given by the members of the Band. Ice cream, candy and pop corn sold like magic. The bazaar table was well patronized. Proceeds of the evening will be devoted to Missions. The Band is very grateful to all who contributed in any way.—Mr. James McCormick spent a few days in Picton last week.—Mr. and Mrs. Earle Craig spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. A. Storey, of Morven.—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wartman, of Napanee, spent Friday at Mr. James Frink's.—Mrs. Ray Brown spent Friday at Mr. Jas. Mr. Merrick, of Morven, attended the Mission Band social, Friday evening.—Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Frink attended the funeral of Mr. Reuben Snider, in Violet, on Tuesday afternoon.—Rev. Mr. Terrill, of Napanee, occupied the pulpit here on Sunday morning.—Mr. and Mrs. Russell Craig spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wales.

Found Relief for His Kidney Trouble

That's Why Another Man Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills to Other Sufferers.

Mr. Eugene Provencher wants Everyone to Know the Benefit He Received from Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. Julien, Wolfstown, Que., Feb. 20th, (Special).—"It is with great pleasure that I tell you how much my health has improved since taking Dodd's Kidney Pills. They have done me a great amount of good. For a year I suffered from kidney affection and now I am quite well. This statement comes from Mr. Provencher, a well known resident here.

Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys, strengthening them so that they do their full work of straining all the impurities, all the seeds of disease, out of the blood.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are known all over Canada as a standard kidney remedy. They have made their reputation by their cures. If you have to suffer from any form of kidney disease,

Twenty Minutes' Record.

By controlling the speed of a revolving phonograph record, an English inventor gets twenty minutes of music on one side of a twelve-inch record, instead of the usual four minutes or thereabouts, according to Popular Mechanics Magazine. When the record starts recording at a uniform angular speed, as at present, the outer groove of the record moves more swiftly than any other groove that is nearer to the center. Thus, although the outer groove is about four times as long as the inner one, it can contain no more music, making necessary a variation in the recording speed. In the new method, the recording speed is made constant, and by electronically controlling the speed of the record, the impression upon it of a very much greater number of sound vibrations is made possible.

The Horseshoe.

The earliest form of a horseshoe was a leather boot worn by heavy war horses. The ordinary war horses of the Greeks, Romans and Persians were unshod, though methods of hardening the hoofs were occasionally resorted to. The very earliest record of metal horseshoes is found in a manuscript of Pope Leo VI., who died in A. D. 911, but it is known that they were used at a much earlier date, as real metal shoes of that character have been found in tombs known to date back to the sixth century. The oldest known forms of horseshoes were circular in shape and fastened with flanges which clamped on the side of the hoofs.

JEAN CHOWN.

Jean Chown, a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Chown, of Kingston, studied under the best teachers of her native city. She continued her studies in England under Madame Curnow, a favorite pupil of Trebelli. Her success abroad is proven by the fact that she captured three prizes from England, and carried off the first prize in the all-London Musical Festival. Her final appearance in England was as a Musicale held under the patronage of Her Royal Highness Princess Louise Duchess of Argyle, the Duchess of Norfolk, the Duchess of Somerset, and Dame Margaret Lloyd George. Since her return to Canada she has continued her studies under Miss Jenny Taggart, of the Canadian Academy, Toronto. She has been heard frequently at the Canadian Academy of Music, the Women's Art Association, and several miscellaneous concerts. She has also appeared before Lady Byng and in concerts in Hamilton, Ottawa, Kingston, Brockville, Renfrew and Simcoe. In all of these she has been accorded a most enthusiastic reception and, without exception, has received the most cordial appreciation and the highest

DESERVING TRIBUTE TO THE LATE J. F. WALSH.

The funeral of the late John F. Walsh, one of the oldest and most respected residents of Napanee, took place at St. Patrick's Church, on Tuesday, February 27th, 1923. The funeral was largely attended.

Rev. Father O'Connor delivered a deserving tribute to the memory of the deceased. He said in part:

"Be therefore always prepared and live in such a manner that death may never find thee unprovided". These words are taken from the little book, "The Imitation of Christ". To pay honor to the dead, we living are gathered here to-day.

My dear Christian friends in the mind and purpose of God and His Holy Church, in the hearts of all sincere thinking Christians a sermon that is a thousand times more eloquent than any human words can utter is preached from the coffin which encloses the form of every human being. The dead speak to us from the silence of their coffins a salutary lesson and warning conveying a truth absolute and inevitable in these words "Hodie mihi, cras tibi", "To-day it is I, to-morrow it is you", but, unfortunately for many the very commonness and familiarity of Death has nullified its purpose and has lost its great signification. However, my brethren, the Church has no particular service for any particular station in life. We all lack that perfection which entitles us to Heavenly citizenship and therefore we all need help, hence the usual silence of the Church, my dear friends, in the presence of the dead who lie beyond the reach of our feeble praise. Her service, my dear friends, is rather the ritual of prayer.

At the same time, my dear friends, the life and the practical faith of the late John Walsh was such as to call for recognition and appreciation from the Church he loved and served so well.

John Walsh had a good, honest, charitable heart and he meant well. He had his faults, but who has not? "He who is without them", said Christ the Saviour on one occasion, "let him cast the first stone". The deceased has to his credit a laborious and honest past. His life in private and public was replete with deeds that will count for much when the Score of Life is hung up on the final day of reckoning. Like many another man who rose to worldly success he was obliged to face the world single handed and alone with no better assets than a strong faith, a sound intelligence and unfailing honesty and an enterprising and ambitious spirit. He owed nothing to Academies or Colleges. His University was the school of the world where he learned events and where he met and associated with men.

My dear friends, throughout his strenuous and varied life, the character and personality of John Walsh remained the same, simple and upright to the end. Success came to him in abundance, but it left him as it found him, plain, honest, generous John Walsh.

In this parish where he was born and brought up his memory will remain precious and jubilee. To his pre-eminent liberality and unstinted and timely benefactions, the enlargement and adornment of this Temple of God, must in a great measure be justly ascribed; and my dear friends, as a final mark of his faith and of his devotion and affection for his estimable partner in life, who only a short time ago predeceased him, he donated to her memory the sweet toned organ of this Church. Oh, yes, my dear friends, the good deeds of John Walsh will live long after him, as they are now we hope and trust recorded to his perpetual memory in the Book of Life, and these records, my dear friends, of his Christian zeal and devotional service will I trust prove an incentive and inspiration for us all. May his deeds which he accepted with firm hope and holy resignation, prove a lasting comfort and consolation to his lonely sister and his dear relatives.

May God grant Eternal Rest and Peace to the soul of the faithful, generous and devoted John Walsh. Amen.

Prof. W. T. Baird very kindly assisted with the Music during the Mass and rendered very beautifully "The Dead March" and "In a Monastery Garden". He also accompanied Miss Frances Dwyer, who sang "Lead Kindly Light" and "Nearer My God to Thee", at the request of the relatives of the deceased, the two hymns being favorites of the late Mr. Walsh and his deceased wife.

In the death of Mr. John Walsh, St. Patrick's Church, Napanee, has lost its most generous benefactor, and the town and community has lost a splendid citizen.

HIGHER TEA PRICES EXPLAINED.

The Salada Tea Company, the largest distributors of tea in Canada recently announced an increase in price on each of their blends. This course was forced upon them, according to information received about the situation, in order to maintain the quality of "SALADA" Tea, when paying the highest prices ever recorded on the primary markets for the unblended leaf. The story of riots on the tea plantations, dock strikes in Calcutta to delay shipping, and the difficulty to obtain coolie labor to pluck the tea from the bushes, all bring home to us the fact that the social unrest that has been everywhere apparent since the war has spread even to the remotest tea gardens of India.

Employee Shareholders.

Something like 4,500 employees of the Bell Telephone Company are either shareholders, or are in process of becoming shareholders, in the company they work for. They will own, when their payments are completed, in the neighborhood of 22,650 shares, of a par value of $2,265,000. As explained in the Annual Report of the Company, telephone workers have been quick to take advantage of the opportunity offered them to purchase stock by deductions from wages. The resulting benefits, in the encouragement of thrift and saving and the stimulation of the sense of ownership of the concern they work for, would be difficult to over estimate.

GOLDEN WEDDING.

Fifty years of married happiness—the golden wedding—of Mr. and Mrs. Glasgow Winter, 1341 Princess St., was celebrated Saturday, January 27th, 1923. The eight children of the couple and numerous grandchildren gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ferguson, 3539 Fifth Avenue, Regina, where the anniversary was commemorated with a wonderful dinner, speeches and floral presentations. The feature of the event was the giving to the honored couple of a purse of gold, the gift of loving sons and daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Winter, who came to Saskatchewan in 1882, claim to be among the oldest pioneers of the Broadview district, where Mr. Winter and his stalwart sons farmed for upwards of twenty-four years. Both he and his wife were born in Napanee, Ont., the former in 1848, the later in 1850.

The eight children of the marriage are James and Andrew, Yellow Grass; Archibald, Avonhurst; Mrs. Isaac Jackson and Mrs. E. Ford, Indian Head; Mrs. (Rev.) J. G. Stevens, St. Paul, Minn.; Mrs. J. Ferguson and Mrs. J. L. Boyd, Regina. All of the children attended the golden wedding ceremony, and a number of the grandchildren (of whom there are 28) also were present.

The huge wedding cake provided for the anniversary celebration, occupied the centre of the groaning board at Mrs. Ferguson's home where the memorable dinner was served. Roses and daffodils were strewn on the cloth and arranged in vases in profusion. Streamers of golden bunting and paper contributed to the tasteful decoration of the room.

In the speeches made by the members of the remarkable family, love and loyalty were the predominant notes. At the conclusion of the dinner, a group photograph, with the elderly bride and groom in the places of honor, was taken.

WHALEN—CASSIDY.

A very quiet but pretty wedding took place in St. Anthony of Padua's Church, Centreville, on Tuesday, January 30th, 1923, when Miss Evelyn elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joan Cassidy, became the bride of Wilfrid Whalen, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Whalen. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father McCarthy. The bride was tastefully gowned in a navy velour suit, with grey fur trimmings, and wore a black picture hat. Miss Cassie Whalen, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. Clement Cassidy, cousin of the bride, ably supported the groom.

After partaking of a dainty wedding breakfast, the happy couple left amid showers of rice and confetti for Toronto.

OBITUARY.

Charles Morrow.

The death occurred on February 14th, of Mr. Charles Morrow, born in 1848 of Irish parents, who settled in Ashfield Islands. His father was the founder of the Orange Lodge in the Island.

Mr. Morrow in 1872 was married to Miss Elizabeth Goodhew and they moved to the Upper Valley Farm, where they lived until 1911, when they moved to Stirling. He was a faithful member of the Methodist church and by his life and example influenced many. He married is his widow, five sons and two daughters survive, Mrs. Jos. Reid of Stirling East, in the homestead at Upper Valley; Herbert at River Valley; Harry at Stirling and Charles at home.

AIR PILOT SAVES FOREST RESERVE.

Through the prompt action of one of the pilots from High River Air Station, Alberta, a large tract of valuable forest in the Bow River Reserve was saved from inevitable destruction late in October, 1922. The weather had been exceptionally dry for some weeks, and the pilot while flying over the Bow River Valley on the 25th of October noticed a small fire burning on the western edge of a large block of valuable timber. Realizing the danger he landed near the Indian Reserve at Morley to ensure that measures were taken to cope with it before it assumed large dimensions. With the help of the fire rangers and the Indian Agent a party of 40 men were despatched immediately to the scene of the outbreak and further help was sent for next day with the result that the fire was subdued before night.

Next day the strongest gale experienced during the season sprang up from the west and had the fire not been mastered it is certain that a very large tract of forest country would have been utterly destroyed.

In the opinion of the District Forestry Officer, the value of the timber saved by this prompt action more than justified the expenditure necessary to maintain the Air Station during the whole season.

"But, your Honor," protested the speeder who had just received a jail sentence, "you don't realize that my time is worth money."

"Oh, indeed!" said the Judge. "Well, if you can produce a single citizen who doesn't consider that his life is more valuable to him than your time is to you, I'll let you off with a thousand fines."

PREACHER AND FARMER

The Two Are Getting Closer Together Once More.

Many Prophets of Old Were Farmers —Preachers Have Done Much for Ontario Agriculture—O. A. C. at Guelph Was Planned by a Clergyman—Pastors Who Have Been In Pastoral Work Indeed.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture Toronto.)

The preacher and the farmer are drawing closer together. This is not surprising, for the former is usually a product of the soil. It is estimated that about 85 of our professional men, including clergymen, were raised on farms, and practically all of them have had to "do the chores" in their time.

Prophets of Old Were Farmers.

The Old Testament worthies were largely men of the soil. Abraham, Jacob, Moses and David were authorities in handling flocks. And was not Elisha famous for his record of following the plough "with twelve yoke of oxen before him." Amos went in for mixed farming — herds and fruits. Abraham Cowley quaintly remarks that the first man was a gardener, and it was only after the second fillip of the soil became a murderer that he began to build cities.

Clergymen Have Done Much for Ontario Agriculture.

Rev. John McCaul, an early President of the University of Toronto, was a great champion of farming, and read a paper before the Agriculture and Arts Association in 1853 on "Agriculture Among the Romans."

Rev. Egerton Ryerson, a celebrated Methodist leader, when Superintendent of Education for the Province, had new abstract books on agriculture prepared for our schools. If he were here to-day to behold the "new era" work of our model or junior agricultorists, both boys and girls, he would be very much astonished, and would perhaps recite a "Nunc Dimittis."

A Preacher Devised the Plan of the Agricultural College.

Rev. W. F. Clarke, a Congregational minister, is not the latter, may be termed the godfather of the Ontario Agricultural College. In 1866 he was appointed by Hon. John Carling, Commissioner of Agriculture, to visit the leading agricultural colleges of the United States—this very year—and report as to the possibility of such an institution succeeding in Ontario. His investigation was carefully made, and the scheme he recommended was so comprehensive and practical that it was adopted practically in its entirety, and was the foundation of the excellent college now in operation at Guelph. He edited the Canadian Farmer for many years, and was looked upon as almost omniscient in things agricultural.

Rev. Dr. Burnet, for over a quarter of a century a Presbyterian minister in Hamilton, was President of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association for nine years in succession (1889-1872), was a specialist in pear culture, and had a grape named after him.

A Clergyman Who Has Been a Public Benefactor.

Rev. Dr. C. J. S. Bethune, for years Principal of the Boys' College, Port Hope, (Episcopalian), and for some years a professor in the Ontario Agricultural College, has long been regarded as one of the leading economic entomologists of his time. The researches and observations of this able recorder have saved annually thousands of dollars to the Fruit and vegetable growers of the Province. For long years he was secretary of the Ontario Entomological Society and editor of the Canadian Entomologist.

The late Rev. Thomas Fyfe, of Ottawa was also a noted entomologist, with a delightful literary style.

Rev. E. B. Stevenson, of Guelph, a retired Methodist minister, has been reckoned, both in Canada and the United States, as a leading authority on strawberry growing.

A Preacher Who Managed an Experimental Farm.

Rev. Nelson Woodman, recently Principal of Woodstock College (Baptist), was for some years in charge of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Brandon, Man.

Father E. A. Barbe, a former editor of the Canada Ecclesiastic, has also been well known, particularly which residing in Prince Edward Island, as an instructive speaker at gatherings of farmers, especially on such topics as fruit and vegetable growing.

A Trio of Active Men of the Same.

Rev. A. H. Scott, of Perth, has been president of the Horticultural Society, and has given many helpful addresses on gardening, farm home and landscape.

Rev. James Anthony has made a reputation in rural leadership, and is a well-known writer and speaker on agronomics.

Rev. W. M. McKay, while pastor in Weston, made the record of having procured more members for his local Horticultural Society, pro rata of population, than any other man in the Province.

The New Agriculture and the Rural Clergyman.

Agriculture to-day has a new outlook, and it cannot afford to neglect the rural clergyman; and most assuredly the minister who has a country congregation, or even a suburban one, cannot afford to neglect the new agriculture, lest the very ground, yearning for fruitfulness and beauty, should cry out in protest against him.

A later article will show what the Ontario Department of Agriculture is doing to assist rural pastors in the solving of some of the problems of country life now confronting them.—Thos. Medlicott, Statistics and Publication Branch, Toronto.

BACK ACHED TERRIBLY

Mrs. McMahon Tells How She Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chatham, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a run-down condition after the birth of my baby boy. I had terrible pains and backache, and was tired and weak, not fit to do my work and care for my three little children. One day I received your little book and read it, and gave up taking the medicine I had and began taking the Vegetable Compound. After much better now and am not ashamed to tell what it has done for me. I recommend it to any woman I think feels as I do."—Mrs. J. R. McMAHON, 153 Harvey St., Chatham, Ont.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has for nearly fifty years been restoring health, aiding women to health and strength. It relieves the troubles which cause such symptoms as backache, painful periods, irregularities, tired, worn-out feelings and nervousness. This is shown again and again by such letters as Mrs. McMahon writes, as well as by one woman telling another. These women know, and are willing to tell others, what it did for them; therefore, it is surely worth your trial.

Women should write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for a free copy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women." C

WOMEN AS BEEKEEPERS

A Work That Will Suit Their Natural Disposition.

No Better Opportunity Offered Country Girls—Beekeeping Has a Fascination for Female Apiarists—Cost of Starting and Probable Profits—Male Experts Approve.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The historic riddle propounded by Samson: "Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the strong came forth sweetness," was answered by getting the lion and the honey; and even then there was a woman in it.

For years beekeeping for women was regarded as an unsolved riddle. To-day it is no puzzle, for both wives and maidens are making money at it. "Sweets for the sweet."

No Better Opportunity for Country Girls.

A few years ago the writer interviewed five women who had made a success of apiary work, and all of them were decidedly of opinion that there was a good chance for a girl or a married woman succeeding in beekeeping if she went about it the right way.

Miss Ethel Robson, of Iderton, said: "For the girl who wished to make her living in the country there is no business that affords a better opportunity that the keeping of bees."

Miss Margaret W. Scott, of Mcgerburg, went so far as to say that one believed beekeeping was an occupation for women rather than for men; that there is much to gain and little to lose in it.

The Work Suits Woman's Natural Disposition.

Miss M. B. Treverrow, of Meadowvale, observed that women were more and more turning to beekeeping. Much depended upon the individual. The work was healthful, being mainly out-of-doors during the summer. "Women's natural disposition to be careful, painstaking, watchful and energetic has full play in this occupation, as there is much to interest, to learn and to do in the work of an apiary."

Mrs. Fred. Ham, of Bath, most decidedly thought that a woman could support herself by keeping bees. "She who undertakes to do so should put as much energy, care and thought into the work that she would in any other occupation. Her heart must be in it."

Beekeeping Has a Fascination for Female Apiarists.

The late Mrs. G. A. Deadman, of Brussels, had a long experience in bee management. She said: "I love apiary, has a fascination for the woman who goes earnestly into beekeeping. It is a healthful occupation, for it is largely out-of-door activity, and it gives one a change of work and thought. Some heavy lifting is necessary now and then, although assistance is usually available. But a woman must make up her mind to give herself fully to her time to the work during the period of swarming and extracting—say June and July. After that there is bottling, packing, labelling, etc., although this may be localized by selling in bulk, which is the best way after all to dispose of surplus honey. But for those who regard the bees require little or no attention."

Some Apiary Costs.

Miss R. B. Pettit, of Georgetown, writing in January last, gives the following up-to-date information: "A woman can make it go, if she has sufficient initiative, energy and strength, and really it does not need much capital. Interest in the work and love of bees must be strong enough to overcome many difficulties besides the inevitable sting. A fruit farm is profitable, say two or three colonies, until she masters some of the mysteries of the hive, and the general principles of management.

It would be well for her to begin with standard equipment—the ten-frame Lanestroth hive with deep brood chamber—but would advise shallow supers, because of their lighter weight. The following list gives estimate of cost for start with two colonies:—

2 colonies bees with brood chamber bottom board and cover	$70.00
4 shallow supers with frames	14.20
2 complete hives for swarms	9.00
2½ lbs. light brood foundation	3.85
1 slice	1.85
1 lb. shallow foundation	2.10
No. 2 smoker, $1.50; hive tool, 60c; brush, 20c; spur wire embedder, 45c	2.75
A. B. C. of Bee Culture	2.00
	$105.45

Ontario crop reports show an average of about 55 pounds per colony; prices vary as with other products.

The number of colonies that can be profitably kept depends on the woman and on the location.

Probable Profits.

Miss Jessie Lees, of Erindale, also writing in January, says: "For a strong woman with nerve and determination, I consider beekeeping a good healthful occupation. Starting in a small way with two colonies, the latter having been used equipment for first year would be about $150, not including workshop. She could increase stock and equipment each year, according to her means, to fifty colonies, which would be enough for one woman to handle alone. From that number the net return should be from a year. This is only approximate, as prices and conditions vary greatly from year to year."

Male Expert Approves of Women as Apiarists.

Mr. Morley Pettit, of Georgetown, formerly Provincial Apiarist, says: "Through force of circumstances more women are actual beekeepers than the records show. There is no obstacle in honey producing that a woman cannot overcome with her ingenuity."—Thos. McGillicuddy, Statistics and Publication Branch.

Snows and Gales Have Come and Gone, and the Sun is Shining Warmer. It is Spring Right Now, and that old Winter Suit and that burly Ulster won't keep it away a day longer. There's only one thing to do—dress for Spring. Our Spring Style Show convinced everyone who saw it, that we are ready to supply all your Easter and Spring requirements.

For Past Weeks Stocks Have Been Arriving From the Largest Style Centres in Canada. You Will find it most charming, most wearable, and most in harmony with the present mode. It will be our pleasure to show you.

ALL SIGNS POINT TO A BIG DEMAND FOR SUITS. OUR VALUES RANGE FROM $25.00 TO $77.50.

This season it is pretty much a case of divided affection among Suit styles. Tailored and semi-tailored Suits are as much the vogue as the loose straight back and jaquette styles.

To many Suits a costumed blouse is a soul companion. It may come in gorgeously colored printed silks of exquisite geometrical design, or it may be created from plain shades of Crepe to match the lining of the Coat. Both types are decidedly fashionable.

Beautiful, unique, embroidery designs, fine ribbing and narrow tucks are employed to relieve the monotony of plain tailored styles. Excellent tailoring characterizes all our suits. You will also like the quality of the fabrics that we are using; they are the best, and we cannot say more. Navy, Black, Sand and Tweed mixtures are best colors. All sizes.

DRESSES HAVE RE-ACTED FROM NEUTRAL TONES AND ARE NOW SET OUT IN BRIGHT SHADES AND IN PRINTED PATTERNS.

Not being content by achieving many pleasing effects from color and color combinations, Fashion has introduced several new style features. Possibly the newest creation is found in her three and four tier pleated skirts. Hand-drawn effects on Wool Crepe is also another new whim of Fashion which has created a wonderful stir in dress circles.

Materials are also most important and such weaves as Alltyme Crepe, Velette, Vel-vey, Canton Crepe, Crepe-de-chene and Crepella are leaders. In colors the prevailing tones are Old Gold, Cocoa, Carmel, Sand, Brown, Navy, Capri Blue and Black. Dresses are very moderately priced this season.

Realizing that women of discriminating taste prefer seclusion when choosing their hats, we wish to advise our patrons that we have opened a French Room for this purpose.

Here you will find displayed a beautiful range of pattern hats which wonderfully expresses the newest style tendencies in Spring Millinery.

Here comfortably seated you may try on hat after hat, in color effect, color, until you have selected the model which best expresses your own individuality.

We have endeavored to achieve a quiet elegance in this new department, a place where artistic beauty outrivals price, where beautiful materials, where generous trimming, where wonderful colorings are unconfined in the production of fashionable head-wear.

EASTER COMES EARLY. OUR DRESSMAKING DEPARTMENT HAS AGAIN RE-OPENED FOR THE COMING SEASON.

Have your garments made to order! With such handsome materials to choose from, with such splendid work turned out by our department, there is no reason for delay in leaving your order. Let us estimate the reasonable cost of your new Spring Suit, Dress or Coat.

The New Suitings represent extra good value. We are showing all the wanted materials as for instance, Poiret Twill, Tricotine, Botany Serge, Velour, Novelty Tweeds and Homespuns.

New Dress Fabrics in Wool, Silk, and Silk and Wool, include the fashionable weaves for this season, Alltyme Crepe, Canton Crepe, Crepe-de-chene, Plain and Shot Taffeta, Satin Duchess, Silk Velvet, Silk and Wool Crepe, Wool Crepe, San Toy, French Surah Serge, Snow Flake Ratine. Rich Paisley effects in Crepe-de-chene, Karavan Crepe, Jacquard Canton, Krinkle Knit.

We are now booking orders for early delivery. You will have no difficulty in making a choice from such an excellent assortment as we are now showing.

As in past seasons, so this season, Robinson's show the newest materials.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH MY CORSETS? THEY ARE MOST UNCOMFORTABLE TO-DAY.

Has this thought ever passed unconsciously through your mind?

No woman should go one hour with uncomfortable corsets. From our present stock of corset models you can be fitted with a corset that has been expressly created for your own particular style of figure.

Our scientific method of measuring you also helps to eliminate possible mistakes.

Wearers of Front-Lacing Corsets can be as satisfactorily pleased as those women who place allegiance with corsets that lace in the back.

The large woman can have the same satisfaction as her slighter sister, it is a question of style and fit.

Our trained Corsetieres will gladly assist you.

Address and Presentation

A number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mrs. Chas. Histed, Camden East, on Saturday, March 3rd, and spent a pleasant evening with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Histed, before leaving for their new home in Toronto. The following address was read, and was ably replied to by Percy.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Histed,—

We, a few of your friends, having learned with regret that you are about to leave our neighborhood, have gathered here to spend a social evening with you before you leave us. We would like to retain, especially, our good quiet neighbors. Mrs. Histed will especially be missed by the choir and Sabbath School, and we have found Mr. Histed to be an honest, truthful, patriotic citizen, and we could not let the opportunity pass without showing in some way our respect for you and to express our wishes for your future welfare. We sincerely hope that wherever you make your home you may both enjoy temporal and spiritual blessings, and we can assure you that our prayers and good wishes will go with you, and we ask you to accept this purse, not for its intrinsic value, but as a token of our respect and good wishes.

Signed on behalf of the Church and Sabbath School.

R. J. GLOVER,
MISS A. WILLIAMS.

Camden East, March 3rd, 1923.

YARKER.

Last Sunday was a very quiet day in our village, owing to the heavy rain and slippery condition of the streets. It was scarcely safe to be abroad during the afternoon and night. — One of the worst snow storms of the winter paid us a sudden visit on Tuesday night and Wednesday forenoon, leaving the roads almost impassable for several hours. — We are sorry to report some new cases of illness, the following being confined to their beds: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Freeman, Mrs. Cambridge, Mr. A. D. Leonard and Mrs. H. Bongard.—We are pleased to report steady improvement in the case of Mrs. VanAlstine, who has been ill for weeks.—Mrs. (Rev.) J. W. Down has returned from Keene, where she spent a few days with her daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) A. McLauchlin.—A reception was held at the Methodist parsonage on Thursday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Holland, who were recently married. The event was attended by the near relatives of the bride and groom only.—Mrs. (Rev.) A. McLauchlin and family, of Keene, are spending a few days at the parsonage with her parents, Rev. Mr. McLauchlin having proceeded to Ottawa on special business with the Indian Department, and will spend the week-end at the parsonage on his return.

"FEELING" FOR LAYERS

This Method Is About as Certain as the Trap Nest.

Experiments With Capons — Feeding Costs—Excellent Flesh Produced Without Confinement — Handling Baby Chicks.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The writer carried on a series of experiments with poultry when connected with the Agricultural Experiment Station for Vancouver Island, Sidney, B.C., and presents the following notes as among those worthy of consideration:

DETERMINATION OF EGG-LAYING

A test was made of the feeling method, to determine its accuracy. Thirty hens that were under trapnest record were subjected to the feeling process for eight days: January 17 to 24.

The results of "feeling" were checked up and tallied perfectly with the "trapnesting," indicating that it is quite possible for any careful person to determine which hens are laying by feeling the bird for the presence of the egg in the oviduct, in the early morning before she leaves the perch. The method also has an advantage in that it eliminates the necessary confinement of the birds in a "trapnest" for a period which is frequently longer than is actually required to produce an egg.

The great disadvantage of the feeling method is that it is impracticable for pedigree breeding, inasmuch that the eggs from individual birds cannot be recorded.

CAPONS.

Thirty cockerels were operated on when twelve weeks old. These birds were a thrifty and well-grown lot, averaging 2½ pounds in weight. After caponizing, they were kept under the same conditions as the cockerels. The feed cost for a pound increase in weight was slightly more for the cockerels up to six months of age. At this time the cockerels and capons weighed the same. These birds were killed for Christmas trade when 264 days old, and weighed, plucked, 8 pounds 2 ounces. The percentage of offal was low, being but 18 per cent. of the total weight. The birds were not crate fed, but were finished on a liberal milk ration. The quality of the flesh was excellent, and the wholesale price received was 20 cents per pound. The advantages of caponizing are that an excellent quality of flesh can be produced without confining the birds in small feeding crates and the tender flesh can be retained to a greater age and weight. The cockerels make just as good gains, and when milk fed in crates for two weeks, produced the same high grade of flesh. Following is the feed cost of an eight-pound two-ounce capon:

Feed cost to treat to end of third month	21.26c
Feed cost for fourth month	16.2
Feed cost for succeeding fifth month	12.17
Feed cost to treat during sixth month	21.2
Feed cost for same during seventh month	21.2
Feed cost to treat during eighth month	20.4
Feed cost to treat during last seven days	11.4
Total feed cost	$1.21½

These birds were sold for $2.45 each wholesale, leaving $1.13½ per bird. From this we can deduct 20 cents, the price paid for the bird as a day-old chick, and have 91½ cents per bird for labor and shelter.

HANDLING BABY CHICKS.

In another experiment a thousand day-old chicks were procured from two reliable local breeders. The first day they remained in the incubator, and on the second day they were transferred to the brooder, but were not fed until forty-eight hours old. The following hints on general treatment are given:

Do not chill or overheat the chickens, or directions will be useless. If they pant they are too hot, and if they huddle together they are not warm enough.

Do not overfeed during the first week.

Change the water daily and see that it is perfectly clean.

Do not forget to supply charcoal, grit, and shell.

Make all change of food and feeding gradually.

Clean and disinfect brooder often.

Do not use damp, mouldy feed or straw.

Never allow chicks to crowd in brooders or colony houses.

Place chicks on the range in colony houses, after the eighth week.

A farm needs a windbreak in summer as much as in winter. Did you ever notice the difference in the garden and fruit plantation on two farms, one sheltered from the hot southwest wind and the other exposed to it? The windbreak pays in dollars and cents.

When a new house is built among trees, none should be cut except those under the house or very close. After the home is occupied, one can tell better which trees to retain for shade where it is most needed.

When our great-grandmothers were girls, tomatoes were called "love apples," and one or two plants were grown in the garden or flower beds on account of their bright red fruits. No one thought of eating them, for they were considered poisonous. When after a time it was found that they were not poisonous, people began to eat them and they soon became one of the standard garden vegetables.

Defies Rust!

There's one big point about "Toronto" Stable Equipment which makes us specially proud to sell it. It's the fact that the galvanizing thoroughly covers and completely coats both the inside and the outside of the steel tubing with pure zinc spelter. This "Quick" process makes it absolutely rust-defying and proof against strong stable acids for the maximum period.

This is a mighty valuable feature. Let me explain some of the many others. Or get some of the interesting Toronto Literature.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

"They say that man over there made a pile of money selling short." "What business, coal or gasoline?"

Why suffer from corns when they can be painlessly rooted out by using Holloway's Corn Remover.

Mother (to small daughter)—Oh, dear, why do you wipe your mouth with the back of your hand?

Nearly all children are subject to worms, and many are born with them. Spare them suffering by using Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, an excellent remedy.

Judge — Silence! The defendant will please remember that he is in a courtroom.

A Power of its Own.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has a subtle power of its own. All who have used it know this and keep it by them as the most valuable liniment available. Its uses are innumerable and for many years it has been prized as the leading liniment for man and beast.

Office Boy—Your wife telephoned that she'd like to see you about five, sir.

Boss—Did she say whether it was about five dollars or five o'clock?

When a mother detects from the writhings and fretting of a child that worms are troubling it, she can procure a reliable remedy in Miller's Worm Powders which will expel all worms from the system. They may cause vomiting, but this need cause no anxiety, because it is but a manifestation of their thorough work. No worms can long exist where those Powders are used.

The Judge looked sternly at the prisoner.

"It is very evident that you are a plain, no-account and shiftless person, Kaspar, and for this I am going to send you away for a year at hard labor."

"Please, Judge," interrupted Mrs. Kasper from the rear of the court room, "will yo Honnah jes' split dat sentence? 'Don't send him away from home, but jes' let dat hard labor stand."

Asthma Victims. The man or woman subject to asthma is indeed a victim. What can be more terrifying than to suddenly be seized with paroxysms of choking which seem to fairly threaten the existence of life itself. From such a condition Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has brought many to completely restored health and happiness. It is known and prized in every section of this broad land.

Little Johnny was seeking information from his father.

"Father," he asked, "freight is goods that are sent by water or land, isn't it?"

"That's right, son."

"Well, then, why is it that the freight that goes by ship is called a cargo, and when it goes by car it is called a shipment?"

Internally and Externally it is Good. — The crowning property of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is that it can be used internally for many complaints as well as externally. For sore throat, croup, whooping cough, pains in the chest, colic and many kindred ailments it has qualities that are unsurpassed. A bottle of it costs little and there is no loss in always having it at hand.

"How come yuh ain't walkin' to-day? Been fined?"

"No-suh. No suh! I walked for kinda reduced freight rates."

"Whatcha mean—reduced freight rates?"

"Resigned from befo' yuh knew."

"Uh-huh."

"How come yuh ain't walkin' yuh own self? Has yuh been fined?"

"N-n-naw. De company I walked for done went out of business."

"Which business is it yuhse out of?"

"De business of totin' me wuk for it lak I was."

A PENSION AND BENEFIT PLAN

As is well known, the Bell Telephone Company in 1917 set aside half a million dollars as a fund from which to provide pensions for employees of stipulated age and service and also to serve as a sick benefit and employees' accident fund. The plan, which calls for no contribution from the employees themselves, has worked out so far with immense benefit to telephone workers, and the directors of the company have each year appropriated sufficient from revenue to offset payments from the fund and restore it to the original half million dollar mark.

During 1922, payments from the fund to employees and dependents amounted to $200,780. These covered eleven death benefits, 348 accident benefits, and 1,902 sickness benefits. Thirteen employees were added to the roll of those receiving pensions, bringing the number of pensioners up to forty-three.

Agonising! Weakening!

Before finding a remedy in Zam-Buk, many piles sufferers say that they hardly knew where to put themselves for the agonising, itchy, burning pain. Loss of blood made others so weak and ill that they despaired of ever being well again. But inflammation, pain and swelling vanish under the influence of herbal Zam-Buk that is why it is such a fine soothing remedy for ulcers, abscesses, piles, boils, eczema, ringworm, poisoned wounds, burns, scalds, etc.

PILES

"I suffered the agonies of piles for a long time," says Mr. Jas. Ruddy, of Killaloe, Ont. "I wasted lots of money on proprietary pile remedies. But my weakening malady defied everything but Zam-Buk. To my joy, this great herbal healer speedily allayed the itchy, burning irritation. As I kept up the Zam-Buk applications the piles were gradually but completely banished."

Address and Presentation.

Mr. and Mrs. William Haynes.

Dear Friends,—This gathering of your neighbors and friends, in which we have had so much social enjoyment, reminds us of how many happy experiences there are in life, that magnify the value of friendship and friendly relations among neighbors. How true it is that "the words we speak and the things we do are not snowflakes dropping into the water, a moment white then gone forever, but are the beginnings of Immortalities."

We form friendships, cultivating the blessings and virtues thereof, and find that though sometimes time and space may decrease somewhat their formal expression, yet their true worth helps to develop that true character that wins the Divine approval. We are sorry that for the present your removal from our community will make less possible the enjoyment of your personal kindliness, counsel and association, yet we trust it will not prevent a further cultivation of all those graces and virtues which will make friendship to you and to us of eternal value.

We rejoice because we have had such pleasant associations with you in the past and trust that in your new home you may not only find pleasant surroundings and helpful associations but also many opportunities for loving service to neighbor, friend and God.

Before you leave us we desire to express in verbal form our appreciation of your fellowship and counsel in the past and associate with this expression this purse of money which, as you see, may be a happy reminder of pleasant associations in Camden Township.

May you have a good share in that noblest ministry on earth, that of standing by others in their times of joy and in their hours of faintness, and inspiring in all whom you meet noble thoughts, gentle sentiments, and uplifting influences, and afterwards in the great joy of the land where there is no sorrow or parting, but endless bliss, reap the true Christian's reward.

Signed on behalf of your many friends, on this 27th day of February, 1923.

Michel Roy Tells What Dodd's Kidney Pills Did For Him.

Quebec Man Who Suffered From Rheumatism in the Hip and Back Tells of Benefit he Received From Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lac Etchemin, Que., March 5th. (Special).—"In the Autumn of 1920, I suffered so greatly from rheumatism in the hip and pains in the back, that at times it prevented me from walking. Also seeing Dodd's Kidney Pills and have not regretted doing so."

Mr. Michel Roy, who lives here, makes the above statement. He feels that he owes it to other sufferers of rheumatism to tell how he found relief from his suffering.

Other cures from rheumatism tell of quick relief and health restored through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They act directly on the kidneys. They strengthen the kidneys and put them in shape to strain the uric acid out of the blood. Uric acid crystallizing in the muscles causes pains known as rheumatism.

Ask your neighbor if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the best remedy.

Massed Selling

by Long Distance

Right now, all over Canada, salesmen are making appointments with customers in distant cities, forestalling competition and getting the orders on the books.

At no time in history has it been more important to the business man to be in many places in one day. The more places he can be in, the more goods he will sell.

No man can be in two places at once except he use Long Distance.

In many cases the line that separates the efficient from the inefficient is the thin copper line of Long Distance.

"It Is All a Mistake".

On Monday evening last the Deseronto Theatrical Society gave the above play at Sand Hill to the complete satisfaction of all. Although the entire caste is amateur, each part was rendered with considerable skill, which left but little, if any, distinction between them and the more expert artists. Deseronto is to be highly complimented on turning out such a band of talented artists and particularly so as this society is ever ready to render a service to any who seek them. The caste is as follows: Miss Swarz, Miss Houle, Miss Given-eavy, Miss McCullough, Mr. C. Malley, Mr. V. G. Pearce, Mr. J. Dale, Mr. Mel. Warer. Mr. Bruce Stoddart, Director.

NEW ASSISTANT TO THE VICE-PRESIDENT.

For the purpose of co-ordinating the work of the Chief Engineer and in carrying out the extensive development plans of the Bell Telephone Co., including so large an expenditure of capital, Mr. H. E. Scott, General Superintendent of Traffic, has been relieved of his present duties and appointed Assistant to the Vice-President, reporting to Mr. Sise.

He will take charge of the co-ordination of the engineering in the different departments of the Company, the scheduling and delivery of work to be performed by the Northern Electric Company, and such other duties as may be assigned to him. Mr. Scott will have full authority over all other executives under the Vice-President's jurisdiction in charge as the above work is concerned.

There is general agreement throughout the field that for the difficult programme ahead, no better appointment could have been made.

The above is an extract from the official publication of the Bell Telephone Company. Mr. Scott is a former Napanee boy, the son of the late W. C. Scott and Mrs. Scott. The Beaver and a whole host of Napanee friends extend their congratulations to Mr. Scott on his promotion to this responsible position.

TAYLOR STATTEN.

Wednesday was a memorable day for the boys of Napanee. The occasion was a visit to the town of Taylor Statten, the International Secretary of Boys' Work. It may not be generally known that Canada in what is called the four-fold developement plan of religious education, has set a standard which has been adopted by all the progressive countries of the world in connection with the training of teen age boys. In the work of drawing up and adapting to actual conditions this scheme, no one has had a more important part than Taylor Statten.

The boys all over the country know him by name at least and by reputation. So it was an enthusiastic gathering of about a hundred that turned out to meet him on Wednesday at 3 p.m. In about an hour and a half Mr. Statten by the true Socratic method had secured a fairly good insight into the needs of the boy life in Napanee.

At the father and son banquet held later in the basement of Grace Church, at which about 200 were present, he used that information to impress on the elders, the need of a more thoroughgoing attention to the young manhood of the town. This banquet was an enthusiastic gathering, with the Walters' Orchestra leading in community singing which made the building fairly shake.

After the supper Mr. Statten addressed a public meeting in the main auditorium of Grace Church, where he spoke to the people of the town on the responsibility of church and home to the growing teen age boy.

Mr. Statten's enthusiasm was contagious, and he dealt with his subject in a masterly way. Nobody who was there could help but feel a deepened sense of the needs of the young men of the town and the necessity for some concerted action to meet their needs, and it is hoped that something definite will result from the gathering.

The meeting was well organized under a capable executive from the various churches of the town. Mr. Frank Bell was general convenor; Mr. Limbert Graham, convener of the refreshments, and with them were Mr. Wiseman, Mr. F. L. Hooper, from Grace Church; Mr. George Walters, from St. Mary Magdalene, and Mr. Charles Conway and Mr. George Howitt, from St. Andrew's. The way in which these men did their work left nothing to be desired from the point of view of efficiency and promptness.

CURLING.

Brockville defeated Napanee in the final play-off of the Senior series of the Central Ontario League at Kingston. The games were all remarkably close, two being tie scores and a one-point win and the other a three-point win, giving Brockville the victory by seven shots, the total being 55 to 48. STELLA.

The news of the death of Mr. R. A. Fowler, M.P.P., was a shock to his friends here, as it was not generally known that he had been ailing. Deceased was one of nature's gentlemen in every sense of the word and Amherst Island will be the poorer in the loss of their most honorable, loyal and kindly citizen whose influence for good will long be felt in our midst. Sincere sympathy is extended to his family who mourn the loss of their affectionate father and companion. Representatives of the Legislature, Lieut.-Col. Gray, M.P.P., and J. Denyes, M.P.P., accompanied the remains of deceased to their last resting place where the funeral was held on Thursday, March 8th, when Rev. Mr. McVear, of Bath, conducted the services, at the close of which a touching tribute was paid to the deceased by Col. Gray, M.P.P., voicing the sentiments of his colleagues in the loss of a worthy and honored member of the Legislature. Many friends of deceased, in his constituency, were present to pay their last tribute of respect to their leader. The remains were literally banked with beautiful floral wreaths from the Legislature, various organizations, relatives and friends.—Rev. J. Currie, of Kingston, supplied for Rev. W. T. McCree on Sunday last.—Mrs. Tom Glenn and Ross Filson were married at the home of the bride's parents, on Monday, March 12th, by Rev. W. T. Lee is visiting her daughter at Belleville.—The following are on the sick list, Miss Grace Milburn, Miss Annie Gray, Hugh Curran, Michahall Milsap, Percy Galbraith, Nelson Walker and Chas. Reid. All are improving.—Mrs. H. P. Lucas and Mrs. Graham, who have been ailing for some time, are not improving as rapidly as is hoped for.

YARKER.

We are still waiting for that January thaw. Although we have had considerable warm weather the winter continues to stay with us.—The C. N. R. bridge gang is re-covering the railway bridge, which is in first-class shape now as it was newly painted last summer.—Yarker can now boast of one real radio set, second to none, as concerts can be heard from a distance covering a radius of one thousand miles.—Earl Lee has returned from King-ston Hospital, where he underwent a serious operation.—Mr. Frank Martin received a telegram from his son, Kenneth, in Hamilton, saying he had just undergone an operation for appendicitis, but was getting along fine.—A. D. Leonard has been confined to his bed for several days with the "flu", and was relieved from his duties by S. Hart, who had to work a double shift, owing to the scarcity of men at present, there being so many sick.—Mrs. Cambridge is very low with pneumonia. She is being visited by her three sons.—Hiram Walker is repairing his house.—Spring will soon be here, as some of the women are housecleaning. Another good sign is the boys are talking baseball and laying their plans for the coming season, and unless the unforseen happens they will conquer everything in sight. Good luck to you, boys!

OBITUARY.

John H. Storey.

The funeral of the late John H. Storey took place from Trinity Methodist Church, on March 7th, at 2.30 p.m., and was attended by a large number of friends and relatives. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. A. H. Foster, who preached a very impressive sermon, assisted by Captain Harrison, of the Salvation Army. The remains were taken to the Riverview cemetery.

Mr. Storey was born in Enterprise, and lived there for many years, after which he moved to near Selby. For the past few months he has been residing with his daughter, Mrs. N. J. Babcock, East street. Mr. Storey was known in the community for his kindly disposition and will be missed by all who knew him.

He leaves to mourn his loss two sons, Byron D. Storey, Napanee, and William Storey, Verona, New Ontario; six daughters, Mrs. Miller, Harriston; Mrs. N. J. Babcock, Napanee; Mrs. E. L. Babcock, Wilton; Mrs. Frink, Yukon, New Ontario; Mrs. Hirt, Croydon, and Mrs. Baldwin, Verona, New Ontario; two step-children, John H. Craig, Switzerville; Mrs. Henry Reid, Moscow; four brothers, Benjamin Storey, Niagara Falls; Eurastus Storey, Deseronto; Peter Storey, Morven; Thomas Storey, Odessa; three sisters, Mrs. Wagar, Trent River; Mrs. Kouvert, Warworth; Mrs. German, Hastings. The pall-bearers were George Hartman, F. Cecil, T. Scrimshaw, Jas. Oliver, Harry Ballard and James Hartwick.

Mr. J. S. Benn.

The death occurred on Saturday morning last of an old and respected citizen of the town, in the person of Mr. James Samuel Benn. Mr. Benn had been suffering for some time.

The funeral took place from his late residence, Bridge street, on Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, and was attended by a large number of friends and relatives. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. A. H. Foster, who gave a very soothing address, and Miss Hestrice Bunting rendered a pianist. Two hymns, "Rock of Ages" and "In the Sweet By and By", which were favorite hymns of Mr. Benn, were sung.

Mr. Benn was born in Napanee, on August 14th, 1842, and spent his early days in the town, afterwards residing in Richmond, and later moved back to Napanee. He leaves to mourn his loss, a widow and four children, John Benn, Sharpe's Corners; Mrs. Annie Bunting, Benn, Napanee; Mrs. O. T. Southhope, Napanee, and Mrs. H. Walker, Napanee; and two brothers, Mr. Arch. Benn, Algonquin Park; Captain Ed. Benn, Brooklyn, N. Y., and one sister, Mrs. B. B. Fessenden, Condor, N.Y. The remains were taken to the Riverview cemetery, where burial in the family plot in May.

Mrs. Crowe.

Our friend and neighbor, Mrs. Crowe, wife of the G. T. R. agent at Ernestown Station, passed away on February 27th. She had been a great sufferer with asthma for years, and spent ten days before her death, heart trouble and complications developed. She leaves behind, her husband and five children, Mrs. Crowe hom: Emmett and Ian, employed by the G. T. R. at Ernestown; Mrs. Brown, at Mt. Tabor, Ont.; Mrs. Frank, despatcher at St. Thomas. Also one brother and three sisters, Mr. Dennis Farrell, Miss Mary Farrell, Miss Elizabeth Farrel and Miss Sadie Farrell, all of Guelph, Ont.

Drs. Worthington and Gibson were in attendance at the end. The esteem in which she was held was well and ably shown by the number of friends and neighbors who called to pay their last respect.

The hand of death had not greatly changed the expression on the beloved face, and after her beautiful casket. She looked like one fallen into a gentle sleep.

Mrs. Julia Black.

Died at Salmon City, Cal. on February 27th, 1923, Mrs. Julia Black, aged 73 years, wife of the late Wm. J. Black, and daughter of the late Allen Miller, of Newburgh, Ont. She leaves four sisters, Mrs. Lydia Hope, Newburgh; Mrs. Hannah Perry, California, Cal.; Mrs. Catherine Shields, Watsonville, Cal., and Mrs. Job Wood, Sacramento, Cal. She was a devoted member of the Methodist Church, and was buried on Mr. Perry's ranch, where she had lived for the past forty years. She was loved and respected by all.

CAMDEN EAST.

It turned cold again on Tuesday morning, and we had good sleighing again.—Mr. and Mrs. Percy Histed left last week for Toronto for a month.—Mr. Max Saul has gone to Havelock to spend a limited time with his sister, Mrs. Hart.—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Amey spent Sunday last at Violet with their daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Valentine, and family.—Fred Snider spent Saturday last in Napanee with his brother, Mr. A. D. Snider.—Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Youmans returned home from Collins Bay on Thursday of last week.—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Switzer entertained a few of their their friends on Tuesday evening last. A good time was enjoyed by the guests in games and music until the wee small hours of morning, when all departed with thanking host and hostess for the good time at their home.—Mr. Wright, of Newburgh, filled the Sunday pulpit here last Sunday evening, in the absence of Rev. Mr. Hoare, who was ill. He gave a nice discourse on Christian work.—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boulton are all smiles over the arrival of a wee little daughter, which came to brighten their home.

THE Quaker Flour motto means what it says. The Quaker standard is the highest in flour milling, and this standard is rigidly maintained in every bag. First comes the careful cleaning of the grain, then a milling process possible only with the most modern equipment, and finally the constant laboratory and baking tests.

"The happy baker uses Quaker"—because its consistent uniform quality guarantees unvarying success. Equally satisfactory for bread, cakes and pies.

"Much Ado About Betty"

A bumper house, packed to the door, and then some, greeted the Haydorn Athletic Club at Sillsville Town Hall, last Friday night, March 2nd, when they presented that truly pleasing drama, entitled "Much Ado About Betty". The parts were all well taken, Miss Anna Bella Dickson, the star, as Betty Campbell"; Ruth Dickson, as Linnie Monahan, Betty's maid; Mrs. Edwin Magee, as Violet Ostrich, the film favorite; Mrs. Henry Loyst, as Aunt Winnie Maguire; Jean Magee, as Mrs. Ebenezer O'Hare; the other nine-tenths, Mr. Henry Loyst, a sick man, and the submerged one-tenth, Gertie Magee, Ethel Kohler, Ruth Loyst, Mrs. Dizzino; Myrtle Dixon, as Daffodil Diggins; Ethel Garrison, Miss Chizzle; Ned O'Hare, a jolly young hoggmanager, Doctor M'Nutt, Lin Leonard, "One Best Bet", Major Vortex, "the Author", and his wonderful play, the Black Bell Boy, Officer Dunn, Officer Riley, together with Little Black Diamond," and the Little Violet, made up a program that was pleasing and entertaining. The play was, at a later date, and all those wishing to see a beautifully costumed play, should not miss it.

THE AIM IS SERVICE.

The public has heard and read a good deal of late concerning demonstrations, moving pictures and lectures, given by representatives of the Bell Telephone Company, and the existing of central offices has been an interesting feature in nearly every community. The idea behind this whole movement is explained by President L. B. McFarlane in his Annual Report just issued to Shareholders of the Company. Says he,

"To this principle that an informed public can be relied upon to be sympathetic and helpful in seconding our efforts to provide an adequate and satisfactory service, we have endeavoured to persistently tell our story, through the press, by lectures and public demonstrations, and by invite ing the public, subscribers and shareholders to visit our central offices. The result has been a widespread appreciation of the problems of modern telephone development and a growing co-operation with our employees in the every day work of giving telephone service.

HALF-A-MILLION TELEPHONES.

At the end of 1922, Bell telephones in service in Ontario and Quebec, as shown by the Company's Annual Report, were some 24,000 more than at the end of 1921. To achieve this net gain, more telephones were actually connected than in any other year in the Company's history. To be exact, 123,022 telephones were installed at new locations. Although this figure includes telephones moved and re-installed elsewhere, it gives an impressive idea of the immense amount of work and material necessary. At December 31st last there were actually in service in the two provinces 434,273 Bell telephones, and 119,821 on Connecting Company systems — a total of Bell and connecting instruments of 554,044.

A New York travelling salesman arrived late at night in a small Southern town where a group of citizen men were waiting the arrival of a certain agent of the Ku Klux Klan. When the drummer stepped from the train a man detached himself from the group, went up to the drummer and said: "Ku Klux?" "No", was the reply. "Klux and salts."

The place had been carved, and everybody had worked it. It was excellent. The negro minister, who was the guest of honor, could not restrain his enthusiasm.

"Dat's as fine a gosh a I ever set my teeth in, Brudder Williams," he said to the host. "Wot did you put on it?"

"Well, parson," replied the host, "I'll tell you. I just rubbed a little [illegible] and then I [illegible]."

"Whoa, you!" roared the parson. "Whoa, you! Stop right where you is! Don't you move another step! Don't you dare move another step! I'll get off and walk home!"

Year 'Round Comfort For Five Persons

The "Master Four" Sedan Model 23-37

The McLaughlin-Buick "Master Four" Sedan has all the conveniences, comforts and refinements of the finest closed cars.

The Fisher built body is upholstered in fine plush. Wide doors with windows adjustable to any position give easy access to both compartments. Silk shades, dome light and fine carpets such as is found only in high-priced cars.

Comfort is assured by a heater for the winter and by cowl ventilator and adjustable windshield and windows for the summer.

Marked refinements in chassis and by the famous valve-in-head motor make even more secure McLaughlin-Buick position as "Canada's Standard Car." McLaughlin-Buick cars carry class A insurance rating.

Convenient Gear Shift

In all McLaughlin-Buick models the gear shift lever has been lengthened, bringing it up to the level where the driver's hand will rest naturally when relaxed from the steering wheel. Changing gears can be done quickly without bending forward or groping for the lever.

There are 15 McLaughlin-Buick Models to Choose From

LETTER OF THANKS.

Tamworth, Ont., Mar. 5th, 1923.

To the Members of L.O.L. No. 159.

Mrs. Robert Close and family wish to convey to you their thanks and appreciation for the kind words expressed in the letter of condolence; and also for the floral tribute sent at the time of the death of husband and father. 11a

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. R. Richardson, who departed this life on March 18th, 1922.

Her weary hours and days of pain,
Her troubled nights are past,
Her ever patient worn-out frame
Has found sweet rest at last.
We mourn for her, though free from pain,
All earthly suffering o'er,
But hope to meet her once again
On that eternal shore.

Sadly missed by Husband and Children, Leslie, Tena and Lillian. 11a

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mrs. Isaac Cook, who died March 16th, 1920. Gone, but not forgotten. Three years have passed away since that sad day.
O, dear Maggie, how I miss you and always will.
11ap —Husband and Family.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad but loving memory of our dear son and brother, Malcolm A. McQuaig, who departed this life March 18th, 1921.

He will never be forgotten,
Never shall his memory fade;
Sweetest thoughts will always linger
Round his grave where Malcolm's laid.
11ap —Parents, Brother, Sister,

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mrs. Jane Yeomans, who passed away one year ago, March 18th, 1922.

One year has passed away,
Our hearts still sore;
As time goes on, we miss her more.
Her loving smile, her welcome face,
No one can fill her vacant place.
Her memory is as fresh to-day
As in the hour she passed away.
She departed without bidding farewell
And silently went home to Heaven to dwell.
One of the best that God could lend,
A loving mother and faithful friend.
11ap —Sons and Daughters.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad, but loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Wm. Whiteman, who passed within the pearly gates on March 8th, 1921.

Gently the stars are shining
Down on a silent grave,
Where lies our dear one sleeping
The one we loved, but could not save.
Two years ago she left us,
How we miss her loving face,
She left us to remember,
None on earth can take her place.
11a —Husband and Children.

Old Restaurants.

What is the oldest restaurant in the world now open for business? Paris has at least one restaurant, the Cafe de la Regence, which is more than 200 years old; the Mitre hotel at Oxford, England, is said to be 500 years old; the Rathskeller at Bremen was built in 1405; the curious little restaurant known as the Bartwurstelocklein, in Nuremberg, which is part of a church, has, it is believed, been serving roast sausages since the year 1400; and the Capello Nero restaurant, in Venice, traces its beginnings back to the year 1376.

Chinese Delicacies.

Chickens' tongues and unhatched chickens are Chinese delicacies; lamb wine, which is described as being very strong and having a disagreeable smell, is drunk by the Tartars; sloth is eaten on the island of Demerara, in the West Indies; a pale blue mole and two mice were the tasty supper that Livingstone's guide gave him one night after crossing the Kasai. Mice are eaten more in Africa than elsewhere; they are a favorite dish of the Mabari, in Borotse valley. Liberia is a country where they are eaten frequently.

A New Weighing Machine.

A new laboratory weighing machine can accurately weight 1-600,000,000 part of a single grain. Such refined weighing has to be done in a vacuum and the instrument is mounted in a container from which the air can be exhausted before the work begins. The actual weighing is done by measuring the vibrations of the balance by means of a spot-light thrown on a scale, which shows the actual movements of the balance enormously magnified.

A SUIT FOR SPRING IS THE CRY OF MOST WELL DRESSED WOMEN. "ROBINSON'S" SUITS EXCEL IN STYLE AND WORKMANSHIP

"Tailored-Mades" are the direct opposites to Jaquettes or Blouse-Back Suits, yet strange to say they are exceedingly fashionable. They are popular, too, because in the whole realm of clothes, there is nothing more practical or deserving as Tailored Suits for women. This season creators of Suit styles have added some very clever touches to the otherwise "straight-line" tailored suit. Chief among the newer features is found "pin-tucks. These usually run "up and down" on the suit or across the collar or around the cuffs. Narrow cloth straps of the material itself makes another attractive method of decorating.

"Embroideries" of rare design are employed on the occasional suit. Navy Blue and Black are the two best colors. Tricotine and Poiret Twill are the materials. Prices range from $25.00 to $57.50.

Your Easter Millinery Problems Will Have Prompt Attention at our Store. Already We Have Dozens of Individual Hats Prepared

"Class" will tell in Millinery as much as in anything else.

With us "Class in Millinery" embraces such features as smart and new style lines, proper colorings, correct materials, and skilled workmanship.

We know that our present stock of Spring Styles embodies all these essentials. We are confident that you will say so, too, when you come for your hat.

To-day our showing of Sailors, Sport Hats, Ready-to-wears, Made-hats and Pattern Hats is complete and unique in every possible way.

"Prices" are lower again this year. You will find our values unsurpassable anywhere. It will be our pleasure to show you.

COMBINING STYLE AND DURABILITY IN BOYS' CLOTHING

Boys still cling to the three-button, single-breasted belted suit that is so admirably adapted to the athletic figure of youth. The lighter shades, Greys, Lovats and Brown are favored for Spring, and the fanciful touches are to be found in treatment of pleats and pockets. In selecting our styles in Bloomer Suits, dependable materials and workmanship have not been overlooked. You can count on materials that will stand the hard knocks that only boys know how to administer. Bloomer Suits are priced at from $6.25 to $15.00.

BOYS' REEFERS

No. 500—Made from an All Wool Irish Serge, Navy Blue. Three-button, double-breasted. Box-back, side-vents. Lower pockets have flaps. Brass Buttons. Fancy ornaments on sleeves. Sizes 20 to 27 are priced at $6.00, and 28 to 30, at $6.50, for wool linings; for silk lined, $2.00 extra.

No. 1600—Material is All Wool Velour in a Sand shade. Has all-round belt, two button double breasted, lower patch pockets, fancy stitching at centre back to waist, followed by inverted pleat; fancy ornament on sleeve. Sizes 20 to 27 are priced at $9.50, and 28 to 30 at $10.00, with wool linings; silk linings are $2.00 extra.

Nos. 1602, 06 and 08—May be had in either of above models. All Wool Velour in three colorings of Tan, Blue Grey and Reseda mixtures. Colorings and weaves are such as will appeal to any person wanting something absolutely up-to-date. These are priced at $9.00, for any size from 20 to 30, with wool linings; silk lined would be $2.00 extra.

MEN'S TOP COATS.—The smartest of Top-Coats are the loose-back type, with regular or Raglan shoulders. A very attractive showing at from $20.00 to $32.50.

Owing to the limited quantity of yards and this extra good value we are compelled to place a limit of 10 yards to any one customer. Remember the date, Saturday, March 17th.

THE SUITS AND COATS THAT MEN WILL WEAR IN SPRING

For young men most of the newer models feature the longer and narrower lapel. As to colorings, the Greys and lighter shades predominate, in Checks, Herringbone and Fancy Weave.

A very popular young man's model is "The Allen", a two-button, double breasted, semi-fitted, of All Wool finished Herringbone Twill Worsted Serge, in medium Brown shade. May be had in sizes 35, 36, 37, 38 and 39. Priced at $35.00 the suit.

"The Bedford", an every day in the year model, a conservative three-button, single breasted coat. This style comes in plain Grey, plain Navy and fancy Checks and Stripes of pleasing weaves. Trousers may be finished plain or with cuff. Sizes from 34 to 46. Reasonably priced at from $25.00 to $37.50.

A feature worth knowing is that we have models suitable for practically every type of man. No doubt about being fitted properly.

EXTRA SPECIAL, A SILK LINED OVERCOAT AT $30.85

A Chesterfield Overcoat in spring weight of All Wool Cheviot, in a Steel Grey shade; splendidly tailored; lined all the way with Art Silk. One of the most dressy Coats to be had. Sizes 35 to 44, and very reasonably priced at $30.85.

STELLA.

The thaw of last week improved the roads and filled the wells. We are now getting more snow to make up for it.—On account of the storm on Wednesday the ice races were postponed until Friday. This day being ideal, a large crowd was in attendance and witnessed some of the best races of the season. There were three classes in which the horses could be driven. Mr. E. McGinn's horse broke a line and ran away from him, but was finally caught by one of the crowd. — A bridal shower was held at the home of the bride-to-be, Mr. John Glenn's, on Friday evening. A very pleasant time was spent by all. — On Monday, March 12th, 1923, at 12 o'clock noon, the home of Mr. John Glenn was the scene of a quiet wedding, when his eldest daughter, Christena, was united in marriage to Ross, second eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Filson. After the wedding, the guests sat down to a sumptuous dinner. The bridal party then left for their new home near Odessa. Their many friends wish them the greatest happiness and prosperity in their new home. —Owing to the condition of the roads the stage driver did not make his regular trips to Kingston last week.—The funeral of the late R. A. Fowler, M.P.P., was held from the home of his son-in-law, Mr. B. Hitchins, and was largely attended. The remains were placed in Glenwood vault. — A number of the Islanders are on the sick list.—Mr. and Mrs. Sills spent a few days at Mr. D. Caughey's.—Mr. F. Starr, Picton, is visiting at Mr. James McKeo's.—Mrs. William Glen, Jr., and daughter, Annie, are in Sillsville, attending Miss Edna Glenn, who is seriously ill. — Mr. John Glenn spent a few days of last week in Toronto attending the fire insurance meeting. — Messrs. S. Miller and S. Patterson spent a few days in Toronto recently. — Messrs. G. Brown and S. Pringle have returned from Kingston General Hospital. —Mr. and Mrs. A. Filson, Moosejaw, Sask., have returned to their home, after spending the winter with Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Tugwell.

CENTREVILLE

Who said Centreville is dead? Everything is booming. — We are glad to see T. E. McGill around, after a long seige of sickness.—Mr. Louis Breault has arrived home from the west with a charming bride. The whole neighborhood extends their heartiest congratulations.—Mrs. Mortimer Lochhead is visiting at her niece's, Mrs. Roy Freeman, in Yarker.—Mr. William Lochhead addressed a large gathering in the Town Hall on March 9th, giving an interesting talk on "Packing and Curing Meat".—Mr. Joseph Cavanaugh is doing a rushing business pressing hay around town.—Mr. John Clancy has bought out Joe West.—Mr. Edw. Weese spent Sunday at Fred. Brown's.—Mr. Percy Gerow at Samuel Doupe's. — Mr. Sam. Breault was the guest of Fred. Milligan.—Rumor says a wedding soon.

Suds all through

Cleansing soap in every drop of water

Put your hand in a tub of Rinso suds. You can feel that the water is actually soapy all through.

A few minutes at night—just the little time you need to put the clothes to soak in these rich suds—and Rinso suds work down into every fold and fibre, loosening the dirt without weakening a single thread.

Just a light rubbing with Rinso on cuff edges, neck bands and the like, gets them clean—the dirt is loosened.

Be sure to use enough Rinso to get the big lasting suds, that give the water a soapy feel all through.

Rinso is made by the largest soap makers in the world. It is sold everywhere.

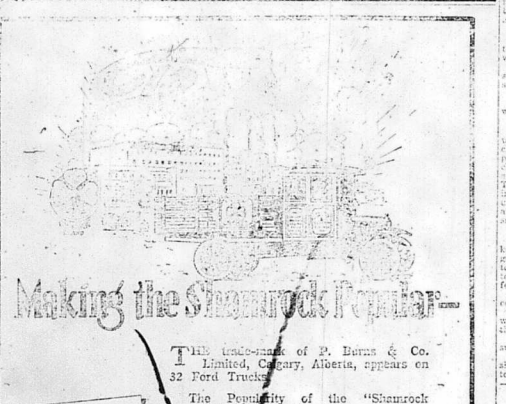
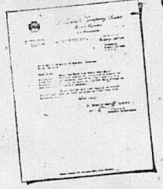
Making the Shamrock Familiar—





"When the Ford ton truck was first exhibited by Western Canada we purchased a number of them for use at Calgary, and this fact was readily added to until to-day we have thirty-two Ford Trucks in use throughout Western Canada.

Those Trucks are used mainly as retail deliveries, and for that purpose we find them very satisfactory."

THIS trade-mark of P. Burns & Co. Limited, Calgary, Alberta, appears on 32 Ford Trucks.

The Popularity of the "Shamrock Brand" has been established, and is being maintained throughout Western Canada by rapid and dependable delivery through the aid of Ford Trucks.

The Ford Truck has accomplished big things for hundreds of large Canadian firms.

The same economical and dependable service can be applied with equal effectiveness to smaller firms by the use of a Ford Truck.

Your order placed to-day will assure you one at the present low-record price. The one-ton truck chassis sells for $495 f. o. b. Ford, Ont. Government taxes extra. Standard truck bodies are available at low prices.

Singers—"The hills are tipped with gold."

Weary Waiter—Lucky hills! I wish I was.

Corns are painful growths. Holloway's Corn Remover will remove them.

Once there was a girl who received a diamond engagement ring and did not suffer with curiosity concerning its cost.

Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will drive worms from the system without injury to the child, because its action, while fully effective, is mild.

Prospective Guest—Why this room reminds me of a prison.

Assistant Manager—Well, sir, it's all a matter of what one is used to!

Sores Flee Before It.—There are many who have been afflicted with sores and have driven them away with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. All similarly troubled should lose no time in applying this splendid remedy, as there is nothing like it to be had. It is cheap, but its power is in no way expressed by its low price.

Satisfied Guest—That was a tip-top dinner, waiter. You know what that means, don't you?

The Oil of the People.—Many oils have come and gone, but Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil continues to maintain its position and increase its sphere of usefulness each year. Its sterling qualities have brought it to the front and kept it there, and it can truly be called the oil of the people. Thousands have benefited by it and would use no other preparation.

"Mildred's your wife, Blinkins," asked Jinks.

"Neuralgia?" queried Jinks.

Asthma No Longer Dreaded. The dread of renewed attacks from asthma has to hold upon those who have learned to rely upon Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. So safe do they feel that outright defiance is placed on the true specific with the certainty that it will always do all that its makers claim. If you have not yet learned how safe you are with this preparation at hand get it to-day and be your own guardian.

The police woman was describing to one of her colleagues a particularly weird and unbalanced person.

"I was just about to say," she concluded, "I have never seen a lunatic to death."

"Did you ever try?" asked the other.

"No, I was just next to ready to when the band came."

Ink and mistakes in the shape of worms in the stomach and bowels of children may be readily and surely removed by Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. Your child is a sufferer if it grinds the teeth, if red after nose, if not able to sit still. The child can be relieved from suffering and the cause made known by using this remedy by which so many worms, both large and small, have been destroyed.

A dealer in stuffed animals also keeps a few live creatures for sale and gave the following boy a canary to feed and care for. The next morning, eager for any of Fido's new antics, he rushed down to the shop. "You're wanted, sir," he called to his master.

"Who, I want a live monkey," answered the customer.

The boy stepped to the back of the shop. "You're wanted, sir," he called to his master.

District of Patricia Mapped by Seaplanes.

Toronto, Feb.—Eleven million acres of the forested area of Patricia, which will be tapped by the James Bay extension of the T. and N. O. Railway have been completely mapped by the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests. The information was mostly gathered by seaplanes last summer, observers sketching in the tree covered areas from aloft and later checking up the information by ground parties. The result has all the features of the standard survey method with the additional accuracy and remarkable speed which only the aircraft can supply. The entire job was accomplished in a fraction of the time formerly occupied by forest surveyors operating from the ground.

The Rising Price of Pulp Wood.

Ottawa, Feb. — The Ontario Paper Company, which is owned by the Chicago Tribune, recently leased 2,000 square miles of pulpwood lands from the Government of Quebec, on the Manicouagan River. The price paid is the highest ever recorded in the annals of Canada's timber industry. It works out at about $4.20 per cord of pulpwood "on the stump", which means in the form of standing timber. Added to this price is the actual cost of logging, plus transportation to a pulp mill, and the transport of the pulp to the paper mill at Thorold, Ontario. So scarce have pulpwood areas become that Manitoba, within limits, which are relatively remote, were keenly bid for by some of the largest newsprint corporations in the world.

Cultivating Young Forest Practitioners.

Ottawa, Feb.—The Canadian Forestry Association has just distributed $500 in cash prizes to 56 school children in eight provinces for the most creditable essays on the national importance of forest protection and the planting of trees. Although high school and public school pupils competed with each other, most of the prizes went to the primary schools on the ground of originality, simplicity, and the sufficiency of personal investigation of the meaning of forestry to their respective localities.

Canada's Maple Crop Worth 10 Millions.

Ottawa, Feb.—Given good weather conditions, the month of March should bring to Eastern Canada the largest maple sugar production in her history, as during the past year much new equipment has been purchased by Eastern Townships and Southern Ontario farmers. The maple bushes of Ontario and Quebec are worth over ten million dollars a year to their owners.

Lord Lovat Coming to Canada.

Ottawa, Feb.—The Imperial Forestry Conference which will meet in Canada at the end of July next for six weeks of conferences and investigation of Canada's forest conditions, will introduce to this country many of the most successful forest conservators and forestry leaders of the British Empire, including Lord Lovat, Chairman of the British Forestry Commission, who made a great record as head of the forestry operations in France during the Great War.

MOTHER OF TWIN BOYS

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieved Her of Inflammation and Great Weakness

West St. John, N. B.—"I was in a general run-down condition following the birth of my twin boys. I had a great deal of inflammation, with pains and weakness. Finally my doctor recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. He said that your medicine would be the only thing to build me up. I am sure he is right, for I am feeling much better and am gaining in weight, having gone down to ninety-three pounds. I was in bed for over a month, but am up again now. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to my friends and you may use my letter."—Mrs. Clarke A. Ritchie, 58 Rodney St., West St. John, N. B.

Thousands of women find their household duties almost unbearable owing to some weakness or derangement. The trouble may be slight, yet cause such annoying symptoms as dragging pains, weakness and a run-down feeling.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved those symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Ritchie's experience is but one of many.

ERNESTTOWN STATION.

There passed away at her home here, on Tuesday, February 27th, 1923, Mrs. E. B. Crowe, wife of the C. N. R. agent. Deceased had been in her usual health till about a week or ten days before her death, yet strong hopes were entertained for her recovery. On Sunday complications set in from which she could not rally, although Dr. Gibson, Kingston, in addition to their family Doctor, was called in, but of no avail. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, two daughters and three sons, Laura, Leo and Emmett, at home; Mrs. E. Breen and Frank, St. Thomas. Two sons predeceased her in 1918, a shock from which she never fully recovered. The funeral was held in the R. C. Church, Bath, which was packed to its utmost capacity. The remains were placed in Forward's vault to await interment. Deceased had been a resident of Ernesttown for over thirty years. The family have lost a loving wife and mother, the neighborhood a kind friend and neighbor. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the sorrowing family in their sad bereavement.—The recent snow storms would do credit to mid-winter instead of spring, the heavy fall having necessitated the breaking of the roads.—A number from here attended the horse races held on the ice at Stella, on Friday last, and report good races. — Bath and Portsmouth played a game of hockey at Bath, on Thursday of last week. Although the ice was a little soft, the game was good throughout. The score was 4-1 in favor of Bath.—Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Amey, Millhaven, (at his brother's, on Tuesday last. — Mr. and Mrs. C. Forward at Alfred Amey's, on Sunday.—Mrs. R. Leeming, Belleville, at Elmore Amey's, recently.—Mrs. J. Baker is ill, with Dr. Mabee in attendance.—Benjamin Shaver, the famous checker player is staying this winter with his uncle, Mr. N. B. Hamm. Our local talent is completely outclassed by the veteran master. Mr. Shaver is also a student of astronomy and a fine speaker.

Wallace's Drug Store, Limited

She—So your story was returned. It is too bad!

He—Yes, that's what the Editor said about it.

Sore Faces AND Rough Hands

THESE biting boisterous March winds mean discomfort for sensitive skins. Faces and lips soon get chafed and sore, hands and arms become red, rough and unsightly unless your skin has the aid of Zam-Buk to keep it healthy, smooth and flexible.

Zam-Buk bears no resemblance to the old-fatty salves and "beauty creams." These lie unnoticed on the surface of the skin, but Zam-Buk consists of rich refined herbal extracts, that are quickly absorbed by the pores. Thus Zam-Buk exerts a soothing, purifying power on all the tissue.

Soreness, irritation and inflammation disappear before Zam-Buk. It quickly removes the poisonous germs and clogging impurities, and as a soothing, powerful remedy for eczema, tetter, sore rheum, pimples, blotches, rash and other similar skin troubles.

Zam-Buk Made Her Skin Fine & Smooth.

Miss Rosa Wallace, Menie, Ont., writes:—"When my hands were made rough and sore by the Spring winds, I just applied Zam-Buk every night and my skin was soon all healed, fine and smooth. Zam-Buk is by far the best balm I have used. It is equally good for pimples and for healing cold sores."

ODESSA.

Mrs. Charles Kilgannon has returned from spending the past month with her daughters in Watertown.—Harry Ball, Hinchinbrook, spent the week end with his brother, Stanley Ball.—Miss Hattie York is visiting her sister, Mrs. Arthur Shane.—Miss Eliza Toomey left Tuesday to remain in the Hotel Dieu Hospital for treatment of her eyes.—Ye Olde Tyme concert given by the Community Club at the Methodist Church, last Tuesday night, was a great success, and was largely attended. About twenty-five actors in ancient costumes, afforded great amusement, which was followed by a supper, consisting of baked beans, brown bread, doughnuts and coffee.—The funeral of Mrs. James Murphy, who passed away in Kingston, was held from her late home on Wednesday morning, Rev. I. T. Dixon officiating. The deceased had reached her eighty-seventh year. The remains were placed in Wilton vault to be interred later in the family plot there. She leaves three sons and one daughter, James Murphy, Syracuse; William Murphy, London, and Dr. Henry Murphy, Veterinary, Kingston, and Mrs. Edward Toomey. The pall bearers were Robert Bennett, W. E. Topliff, George Burnett and Orange Babcock.—Mrs. Thomas Kineborough passed away at her daughter's home, Mrs. George A. Babcock, last Saturday morning, with whom she had lived for a number of years, having reached her seventy-ninth year.

Programme for Week of March 16th to March 23rd

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

Gold was his God until the love of a little child came into his life. Did it alter his heart? See "SILAS MARNER," a perfect screen version of George Eliot's great novel. Also a 2-reel Hall Room Boys comedy; and next episode of "In the Days of Buffalo Bill."

MONDAY AND TUESDAY.

HOBART BOSWORTH in "BLIND HEARTS." Don't fail to see it. He made no effort to prevent the legal murder of an innocent man. He despised his wife and hated his daughter, yet maintained both in luxury. Also a special Christie comedy.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY.

Goldwyn presents Rupert Hughes' laugh-fest, "LOOK YOUR BEST," a banquet of laughs, at which none of the family need hold back. Also a 2-reel comedy; and next episode of "The Timber Queen."

Black's Orchestra every Wednesday night.

OBITUARY.

Hugh McKnight.

Hugh McKnight was the second son of William and Nancy (Whace) McKnight. He was born in the County of Down, a short distance from Belfast, Ireland, on March 3rd, 1834. When a lad five years of age he came with his parents to Canada. Although so young he remembered distinctly the sailing vessel in which they came and that it was named Queen Victoria. The family landed at Quebec City and came up to Williamsville, near Kingston, in which village the father followed his trade of carpentry. Before long the father moved onto a farm, near to Tamworth. Here while a young man in his twentieth year, he was soundly converted to God and united with the church. In the year 1855 he married Martha Jane Barragar, daughter of Solomon Barragar, a well known and respected farmer of Sheffield. Of this marriage there are the following children, who survive their parents, Solomon B. McKnight, residing in Montana, USA.; Mrs. R. J. Wilson and Mrs. Adam Fingland, of Enterprise; Mrs. Jos. Tate and Arthur F. McKnight, of Selby. Mrs. McKnight predeceased her husband sixteen years ago. From Tamworth Mr. McKnight moved to Forest Mills, where he resided for forty years. About seventeen years ago he bought the farm three miles west of Selby, owned by the late John Wilson, and here until his death he lived with his son, Arthur F., and his family. He was a member of the Methodist Church and throughout the long years of his life he lived a consistent, helpful and cheerful christian life. He was also a member of the Loyal Orange Order. By all who knew him, young and old, he was very highly esteemed. He was an interested and intelligent reader of good books, the newspaper, and the Christian Guardian. During the last few years he was unable to attend the services of the church, but manifested a lively faith and zeal for the cause of God. He was very fond of the church hymns. It was a great delight to him when his pastor visited him to sing a hymn, have the scripture read and join in prayer. His last illness covered a period of three weeks and from the beginning it was evident to his family that he could not recover. In spite of several serious accidents which befell him in earlier life, he lived to within a day of being eighty-nine years old. A strong constitution aided by temperate living and added him to this long life. With all his family, except Solomon B., present, he peacefully fell asleep in Christ in the morning of March 2nd. His funeral service was conducted by his pastor, Rev. T. H. P. Anderson, assisted by Rev. Mr. Wright, of Selby, being held first at the home, and afterward in the Methodist Church at Selby. Two beautiful wreaths were the tokens of affection, one from his children, and the other from the children of Mr. A. F. McKnight, who were fondly loved by their grandfather, which affection was fondly and nobly returned by the children. The bearers were Messrs. W. E. Jackson, Harry G. Setzsmith, W. Wilson, Edward Lochhead, Horatio Bell and Jas. Boothe. All that was mortal was laid in the vault at Riverside, Napanee, until interment can be made at Reidville, where also are interred his wife and one son.

Mrs. Henry R. Savage.

Death came to Mrs. Henry R. Savage, at her home in Perth, on Tuesday, Feb. 28th, after a short illness, and her passing was a great shock to her family and many friends. Before her marriage she was Sarah Ann Lee, daughter of the late Richard and Mrs. Lee, and she was born in Bathurst 61 years ago. Deceased was married in 1880 to Mr. H. R. Savage in 1880, and resided there until seven years ago, when the family moved to Perth to take up residence. The late Mrs. Savage was a true Christian woman, a kind neighbor and friend and one to whom home and family were sacred words. Surviving are her husband, five sons, Messrs. John A., Horsefield; Wm. B., Cobourg; Lawrence E., of Brockville; George V., Belleville; Fred J., Perth; one daughter, Mrs. Robert B. McDougall, Perth; two sisters, Mrs. Jas. Morrison and Mrs. James Nagle, and one brother, Mr. Edward Lee, of Perth. The funeral was held on Thursday, March 1st, to St. John's Church and cemetery, Rev. Dean Hogan officiating.—Perth Courier.

ODESSA EAST.

March came in like a lamb, but by the looks of it since, it will go out like a lion.—Everyone is getting their wood cut and tie in for the summer. —Several are hauling logs to the mill to get cut into lumber.—The roads are in a very bad condition, for in so many places the roads were through fields, and now the fields are full of water.—Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Storey attended the funeral of their brother, the late Henry Storey, of Napanee, last week.—Mrs. Roy Rose and Lorne Halpenny spent Saturday and Sunday with her sister, Mrs. W. Erickson, below Odessa.—Mr. S. Harrington and Loren Halpenny spent last week at T. W. Storey's. — Everyone is getting ready to make sugar soon.—Hervy Smith and Thos. Storey spent Thursday in Kingston. —There has been a great deal of sickness around this vicinity this winter, and the Doctors were to be pitied as the cold weather and bad roads were not very favourable for them.—Our assessor, Mr. S. Clark, is out on his job again.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH CONCERT.

On Friday evening, March 16th, one of the finest concerts ever heard in Napanee, was given at St. Andrew's Church, the visiting artist being Miss Jean Cowan, of Kingston. Miss Cowan possesses a beautiful contralto voice, amazingly rich and full for one so young, and a marvellous talent for musical expression. Her several numbers received the keenest appreciation of her Napanee audience, who listened to every note with flattering attention. It would not be possible to mention each song, but some of the favorites were the two Arias—"Una Furtiva Lagrima (Beethoven) and Voce di donna, from "La Giaconda" (Ponchielia); "The Shepherd Song" (Elgar), and "The Three Fishers", which she gave as an encore with the most perfect sympathetic expression. Mrs. J. E. Madden was an ideal accompanist.

One of the great treats of the evening was provided by Mrs. Meyers, who played several duos with the organ and piano in such a perfect accord as to suggest one musical instrument possessing the qualities of an orchestra. Both Mrs. Meyers and Mrs. Madden were equally skillful at the piano and organ, and the encores they rendered would not be forgotten. One very appealing number was the Trio in which Miss Scott played the violin with the organ and piano accompaniment.

Mrs. Jamieson Wilson was greeted with enthusiasm, and gave two violin solos, which afforded the lovers of music a great deal of enjoyment. She was repeatedly encored. She was ably accompanied by Mrs. R. Black.

The entire concert was of unusual merit, and Miss Chown will always receive a hearty welcome in Napanee.

ACTION OF TRINITY CHURCH, NAPANEE

The Quarterly Official Board of Trinity Church, Napanee, at a recent largely-attended meeting, passed the following resolution, practically unanimously:—

"Moved by W. F. Hall, seconded by M. C. Boyce, that we, the Quarterly Official Board of Trinity Church, Napanee, at the regular February quarterly meeting of Trinity Church, on the evening of the 13th February, 1923,

Do place ourselves on record as follows: That whereas when we unanimously invited Rev. W. H. Tonkin to become our pastor last year, we did so believing that it was in the best interests of the work of God in our community in which we were deeply interested and in which we had spent freely of our only talent and money in building up an organization that was in splendid shape for aggressive work, and our only thought was to secure good and successful leadership.

"And whereas we did not at any time have an idea that we were doing anything that was wrong, we were certainly surprised, after having followed strictly all the usages of our Church, to find strong forces opposed to our action;

"And whereas we believe a serious mistake has been made, and we simply cannot so call as we are, and if we do defer, or make matters right, we feel sure all the interests of the church we love will suffer materially and the results be disastrous;

"And still believing that Rev. Mr. Tarttelin is best serving the interests of Trinity Church in Napanee, and can secure the best results;

"Be it therefore resolved, That we now extend to him a hearty invitation to become our minister, and we would respectfully ask and strongly urge the 1923 Stationing Committee to accede to our request and appoint him to Trinity;

"And accordingly we hereby invite Mr. Tarttelin to become our pastor, and we do hereby promise to support and give him our hearty support, and we pray God's richest blessing on our work. Note—The Executives of the following organizations of the Church,—Sunday School, Ladies' Aid, Women's Missionary, Society and Young People's Union, have all passed unanimously, resulting the factory into running condition in expectation of a busy season. Many friends and brother Orangemen attended the funeral of Mr. John Kellar, of Croydon.— Mr. Thomas Hamilton, from Kentucky,—Our genial mail driver is all smiles these days; it's a boy.—Mr. Joe Beave has taken over the carpenter and joiner job, and Mr. Percy Thompson is moving to Englehart soon, where he has a position.—Mr. and Mrs. Mr. T. E. McGill and Mr. Patrick Shannon have gone to California for a few months' rest and recuperation.—Mr. Patrick Evans and Mr. Fred Dickson are building new houses.—Mr. Bert Erickson, who has been ill for some weeks, is improving.—Mr. Hedley Carroll has undergone a serious operation in Kingston, and is recovering nicely.—Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Gerow and Grant were visitors in town last Sunday.—Mr. G. W. McGill has opened a new butcher shop in town.—Mr. Wm. Lochhead spent Sunday at Mr. James McGill's; Mr. Dale McGill at Mr. Bride Weese's; Roscoe Lockridge at Mr. Joe Doupe's.—Messrs. Donald Lochhead, Frank Cavanaugh and Sam Breault spent Sunday in Newburgh.—Mr. George W. McGill was the guest of Mr. Roy Milligan.

HOCKEY.

Napanee 12, Deseronto 5.

Perhaps the last hockey match of the season was played at the arena on Tuesday evening, when the old rivals, Deseronto and Napanee, crossed sticks to decide which team is the better, they having played a tie game earlier in the season.

A small crowd of the faithful were in attendance, and were well repaid for their trouble. Manager Blute had a splendid sheet of ice, and the enforced illeness of the last few days evidently did the local puck-chasers a world of good, for they were right in the game Tuesday night from start to finish. Scoring started early in the first period, Napanee netting two, followed shortly after by the visitors putting two on their string and evening matters up. Shortly before the period ended Napanee made it 3-2.

Smith, our reliable centre man, did not play in the first period, but came on early in the second and soon made his presence felt. The Spencer boys, Loucks, Babcock and Huffman, all played good games, but to Tufnnie (Hy.) Adams and L. Douglas belong the honors. Johnston outdid himself and played one of his best games. He is fast and a good stick-handler and led the Deseronto boys a merry chase, as did also Douglas. There boys are young in years and very light in weight, and another season should see them at their best.

For the visitors, F. Gaulin, who has been playing intermediate O. H. A. hockey for Oshawa during the past winter, was the star of the evening, his rushes in the first period were quite spectacular, but after a touche of outbreaks he was more subdued, and had considerable difficulty in getting past the defence, the scattering from outside, which is not the old time style of hockey. Sergeant played his usual steady game, but is showing up a little as is only natural in one who has played the game so long. Genereaux, G. Gaulin and C. G. Houle, forwards, gave good accounts of themselves, but were not as effective as upon their last appearance here. Marsele is real, had an off season in the second period, when the locals scored 7, but he redeemed himself in the final period, getting many shots that were labelled goals.

The score at the end of each period was as follows: 2-2, 10-2, 12-6, all in favor of Napanee.

Mr. Jack Adams referred the game. He had a happy manner of facing the puck without a moment's delay caught the crowd and made the game a pleasure to watch.

Deseronto—Goal, Marsele; defence, Grant and F. Gaulin; centre, C. G. Houle; right wing, W. Genereaux; left wing, G. Gaulin; spares, Coutes and Duffin.

WILTON.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Babcock spent several days last week in Napanee, and attended the funeral of Mrs. Babcock's father, the late John H. Storey.—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sills, of North Street, who moved away at her home in Wilton, on March 8th, was held on Saturday, March 10th, in Belleville Cemetery. Services were conducted by Rev. Sidney Dyer. The remains were placed in the Wilton vault. Mrs. Glover is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Wm. Hamilton, of Belleville, and Mrs. Arthur Davidson, Wilton.—Mrs. A. Gallagher, Portland, attended the funeral of the late Clark Wallbridge.—Mr. C. Booth, Toronto, spent a few days at the home of his father, Mr. Jas. Booth.—Mr. and Mrs. Ben Shipley, also attended the funeral of the late Clark Wallbridge.—The Ladies' Aid of the Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. Will Duff on Wednesday afternoon of last week, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—President, Mrs. Fred Cole; Treasurer, Mrs. Charles Stover; Secretary, Mrs. J. E. Miller. Mrs. Geneva Bebee, who has been confined to her home some weeks, returned from Kingston General Hospital, somewhat improved in health.—Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Farrell and family have moved from the Wesley Parrott farm to her farm on the Weeley Parrett farm.—Mr. Guy Low, Belleville, has purchased the farm on the Wesley Parrett farm.—Post of the Ward Farm, west of the village, has been sold. Mr. John Babcock purchased fifty acres, and Mr. Kenneth Babcock purchased twenty-five acres.

NEWBURGH.

Mrs. James Wales is at present very ill with pneumonia.

Mr. Archie Reid was taken to Kingston Hospital on Friday last, suffering from a severe type of gangrene, and word was received here on Monday evening that in order to stay the progress of the disease, it will be necessary to amputate his leg above the knee.

Mr. Allan Tompkins and Miss Rogers, of Napanee, visited with Mrs. Ferris and Mrs. King, on Sunday last.

On Thursday of last week the aged mother of Mr. Robert McGarvey passed into the great beyond. She had resided in Newburgh for the past four years, and was cared for by Mrs. Robert McGarvey. She had previously lived with her son, Mr. John McGarvey, at Camden East. Another son, George, of Point Ann, also survives. Her three sons and their families attended the funeral on Saturday morning, which was conducted at the house by the Rev. Mr. Nichol, of the Methodist Church, after which the remains were placed in the vault to await interment in the spring.

The Choir of the Methodist Church will hold a social in the basement next Wednesday evening, to which the public are invited. Program and refreshments. Admission 20c. and 10c.

Dr. Wilson has disposed of his practice here to Dr. Mallock, of Oshawa.

Newburgh may be said to be enfenced with cement walls at the present time. Surely the public can find a suitable and a manageable matter of prices as there is no lack of competition. The farmers are early inspired that Keg-ward for the past
